THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 14 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 2, 1958 | 14 PAGES — 10 CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

ONE OF THE HARDEST workers on The Herald staff is our society editor, Mrs. Dorothy Grigg.

Already loaded with writing chores, Dorothy has decided to take on "just one more."

We're certain our feminine readers are happy that Dorothy is such a willing worker and we know they'll enjoy the feature.

Dorothy is already busy tracking down some delicious items for future editions and, of course, she'd welcome your suggestions.

We know for sure that the rest of the staff greatly enjoyed the very first effort.

When the photographer returned from snapping his pictures, he was clutching a bag of cookies, the subject of this week's recipe, and a gift of the cook.

They made a real hit with our crew.

A REFLECTION OF INTERnational uneasiness and lack of vigorous Christmas weather caused the Yule season to be just a mite slower business-wise than usual.

But that's bound to happen every year or so and it makes us appreciate even more those banner seasons.

Probably as a result of this come some interesting opportunities for the sharp buyer in the form of January sales.

Take a look at our ads this week and you'll note that there are some wonderful bargains being offered by Tecumseh business places.

☆

Before it was completed, Charles Hanna, the owner, passed away.

This was to have been Charley's pride and joy. It's certainly too bad that Mr. Hanna didn't see the office as it is now —one of the finest in the midwest.

However, I think no finer memorial could be constructed in honor of a man like Charley Hanna, who guided a small enterprise into a flourishing business.

To his widow and the folks carrying on the Hanna Agency we would like to say congratulations on the lovely new office.

A MAJOR CHANGE IN MAILing of The Herald will take place in a week or two—and we ask your indulgence as we work out those little bugs we are sure will develop.

For probably the major portion of The Herald's 108 years of publishing, the sticker system was used.

Our new system will be by from a series of metal plates, each with a subscriber's name and address punched in it — much in the manner of the GI dog tag.

Plates for the various rural routes, post office boxes, mounted route, east and west sides of town are stored in separate drawers.

When it comes times to mail, say, Tecumseh Route 1, the container this route is in is slipped into the machine and, click, click, click, the papers are quickly addressed. (We're hoping that's the way we can do it.)

The old method was really tedious. Names and addresses were set into type, then galley proofs rolled each week, changes and new subscribers added in pencil.

These proofs were trimmed down to about two inches wide and pasted together, until we had a strip which would reach from Kroger's to Butler Motor Sales.

The roll of names was wound into a fiendish device known as "the wing mailer." It contains a bit of paste and snappy little blade which is supposed to crisply clip and secure name after name onto the papers.

Seldom does it every work properly—too much paste or not enough, tension too tight or not enough. Handling the wing mailer has been a task everyone did his best to avoid.

Our friend Marjory Wickwire has really helped us out on that score, volunteering to run the "wing" on numerous press days. And have we welcomed her.

But the "wing" will soon be a thing of the past and we can't say we're sorry to see it go.

'Burning of Greens' To Be Staged Sunday by Scouts, Brownies

Brownies and Girl Scouts will participate in the Burning of the Greens ceremony Sunday afternoon on the west end of Recreation Field from 4:30 until 5.

The girls are asked to be at the west ticket gate at 4:15 for instructions, since there will be no rehearsal.

In case of inclement weather, such as hard rain or sleet, the affair will be cancelled.

Each troop is responsible for having one used Christmas tree for burning.

Uniforms are not necessary for this occasion, but the girls, their leaders and assistants should dress warmly for they will be outside for one hour.

The program will consist of a processional, prologue, carols, inspirational poetry, burning of the trees, epilogue, benediction and recessional.

Although the affair is sponsored by the Tecumseh Girl Scout association, the program and details have been arranged by the Senior Scouts in Troop 9 with Mrs. John Cameron as leader.

They have been assisted by the Senior Scouts in Troop 7 under the leadership of Mrs. Julius Vincze.

There will be no charge.

While the custom is an old one, it is the first time for the Girl Scouts of Tecumseh to plan and conduct such a program.

ANNOUNCE ENGAGEMENT — Mr. and Mrs. Robert H. Moore announce the engagement of their daughter, Grace Elizabeth Moore, to James G. Wilson, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. W. Wilson of Outer Drive, Tecumseh. No wedding date has been set.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

Christmas vacation is about over and the town's teenagers soon will be going back to school to recuperate from it.

By the time spring vacation rolls around, everyone will be back in the normal state, healthy and glad to get out of school for a few days.

At this printing the joys of vacation will have dimmed considerably. Sunday is only a couple of days away.

On Sunday you can't put off that term paper or book report that you've been trying to forget for two whole weeks.

The teachers felt it would be a kindness to let the book reports, etc., be due after vacation. It really isn't. The whole time is spent in great discomfort because you should be doing it instead of watching American Bandstand or Bud Davies.

By the end of vacation a large guilt complex has developed. This results in many interesting New Year's resolutions, or even pre-New Year's resolutions.

Many kids swore up and down they would have that paper completely done before Christmas so they could enjoy themselves. Comes time to write it, where are they?

Well, gosh, they were demonstrating a new step on American Bandstand, and I just couldn't miss it. Every day you promise yourself that tomorrow you'll do it. Somehow that kind of tomorrow never comes.

The resolutions probably include: getting homework done in the afternoon (but American Bandstand and Bud Davies are on), oh, well, I'll do it after dinner, I'll read my book and get that report written early so I can get my sleep; I won't sleep in study hall; I'll try not to chew gum in Biology; start paying attention in Geometry.

Seventeen year-old Jackie Rucker will be spending her summer vacation traveling in Holland and Germany as a result of her voice trainin.

She will be traveling with the University of Michigan Choir under the direction of Lester McCoy with the sponsorship of the Washtenaw Council of Churches.

The 50 mixed high school seniors and 10 chaperones will leave June 23 and return August 23.

Jackie obtained the scholarship with the aid of Mr. Bennett. She auditioned for second soprano.

All of the choir was chosen within a 25 mile radius of Ann Arbor. Jackie has to go to Ann Arbor once a week on Saturdays for choir practice.

She also attended Interlochen All-State in the summer of '56 for two weeks. Last summer she spent three weeks at Eastern Michigan taking voice lessons.

At the high school she belongs to the chorus, septet, and Future Teachers as someday she hopes to teach voice in the public schools.

In the Senior play she was Mrs. J. Duro Pampinelli and a very good one at that.

As might be supposted her hobby is music, the piano in particular. She also sings in the Adrian Church of Christ youth choir.

The Teen Club is holding a dance with a band Thursday, January 2. It will run from 9 to 1 at the Wigwam.

If you'd like to lend a helping hand to about 200 handicapped folks in Lenawee county, give unused items in your home to Goodwil Industries.

The 200 are persons who want to be self-supporting and they can be by working on donated items obtained by Goodwill.

By calling Mrs. Carl Burch at 868, you can have the truck stop at your home. Mrs. Burch has been Goodwill representatives in this area for seven years.

Mrs. Burch states that there is an ever-increasing need for articles to be renovated and repaired. Magazines are also sought.

If Your Rugs Were Spotted Here's Help

The holidays may raise havoc with your rugs and carpets, says Lucille Ketchum, home management specialist at Michigan State University.

If your rugs have become spotted during the festivities, there are several remedies you can try at home to remove them, she adds.

Try to absorb as much of the stain as possible before it dries or sets. A clean slightly damp cloth, a piece of white blotting paper or a tissue will do a good job of blotting.

You can also use dry corn meal. Work it into the pile to absorb liquids and pick it up with the vacuum cleaner.

☆

REMOVE ANY spot that remains with a cloth wrung out of clear water. Wait until the water dries.

If the spot remains, a solution of mild detergent followed by a rinse with a cloth dampened in clear water may get rid of it.

Damp spots on rugs are hard to dry so raise the rug edge to expose more of it to the air.

If you turn an electric fan on it will dry faster. After this dries, if a spot remains it's probably best to call on a professional cleaner for help.

Chances are that you'll be able to remove the spot yourself if you work on it while it's fresh, says Miss Ketchum. Once it is gone, brush the pile lightly in it's original direction.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Oatmeal Drop Cookies

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Roscoe Hewlett is a well-known housewife in the Tecumseh area, especially noted for the delicious food she prepares, having assisted with great numbers of meals served to the public both by the Tecumseh Grange and the Baptist Church.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

Many remember the long hours she has spent behind the huge monster of a stove used at the Lenawee County Fair when the church served home cooked meals there.

Much of the success of this project is due to the cooking skill of this lady who reigned over the stove all during the long week.

Mrs. Hewlett has raised four children and now has 10 grandchildren of whom she is duly proud.

Like many grandmothers she is an expert at making cookies and the people at The Herald office will tell you that her oatmeal drop cookies are delectable.

2 cups sugar
¾ cup shortening
3 eggs
½ teaspoon cloves
1 teaspoon cinnamon
1 teaspoon salt
2 cups flour
2 cups oatmeal (quick, Mothers Oats—may need a little more.)
½ cup nut meats
Bake 15 minutes at 375 degrees.

ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

Church of Christ Started in 1952

The Church of Christ met for the first time in Tecumseh on December 7, 1952 in the basement of the home of L. S. Rucker. The church gathered here four months with about four families in attendance.

The former Knights of Columbus hall was rented in May of 1953, and services were held here for about one year.

Interest grew and the attendance increased to about eight families.

In July 1954, the building, formerly the St. Elizabeth Catholic church was purchased by the members.

Since the building was purchased, the basement has been partitioned for several classrooms an dauditorium for fellowship meetings.

TECUMSEH CHURCH OF CHRIST

WITHIN THE next few weeks new theater-type seats will be installed in the main auditorium which wil ladd to its comfort and beauty.

The Churc hof Christ does not regard the Reformation as a restoration of the "ancient order of things," but rather as an attempt to correct errors and abuses in existing religions communions.

The Church of Christ believes i na complete restoration of the church as it was in the New Testament days, using the Bible as the sole and complete source of Authority.

We proceed according to the prnicipie, "Where the Bible speaks, we speak, where the Bible is silent, we are silent."

It is not correct to think of the Church of Christ as having a peculiar "body of divinity." We accept the old and New Testaments as being inspired of God.

The New Testament is regarded as the only rule of faith and pjractice, no humanly devised creed or confession of faith is accepted.

Faith, repentance, confession (of faith in Christ), and baptism (a burial) are the conditions of salvation.

☆

THE ITEMS OF worship, engaged in each Lord's Day, are singing, teaching, contribution of money, prayer and the Lord's Supper. Instrumental music and missionary societies are rejected.

Each congregation is autonomous in character, presided over by elders and served by deacons. Preachers are under the oversight of the elders of the church for which they preach.

"You will find a hearty welcome at the Church of Christ. We are a fgriendly Church with a home-like atmosphere. Visitors are always appreciated," Rev. Greer Hendon, Jr. states.

Letters to the Editor...

The Lenawee County Humane Society will open it's new small animal shelter on Academy Road, shortly after the first of the year. This will be the first facility of this kind for Lenawee County.

The Society has today received a substantial check from the Tecumseh Community Fund. In addition to this, a number of private donors have been generous to this cause. Without the truly substantial help that has come from Tecumseh, I can say most emphatically that this new animal shelter could not have become a reality at this time. We feel that the good people who have been generous to this cause should be told this fact. We thank you most sincerely,

Lenawee County Humane Society
Ambrose C. Hamaker,
President

I have been wondering if the people living in Tecumseh realize how lucky our small city is to have such an excellent hospital when the time comes when it is necessary for us to go the hospital.

I know every one can feel sure that everything possible will be done for them at that time.

Our hospital has a very dependable staff of doctors and a wonderful staff of nurses and nurses aides under the supervision of Mrs. Miller.

They are all very friendly and anything they can do for a patient, to make them more comfortable, they are only too glad to do. They make you feel as though you are among friends and not strangers.

Then there are the very adequately equipped operating rooms and X-ray department. There are new additions being added, so they will be able to take care of more patients.

I am one of those that didn't know how lucky she was to have such a wonderful little hospital here until spending 17 days there.

Nell King.

Dear Sir:

Please hold our next issue of the Herald, as we are being transferred to Lincoln, Nebraska and as yet have no mailing address there.

We plan on spending the holidays with our parents in Tecumseh...so we will pick up our copies while there — if this is all right with you.

I must say, we enjoy The Herald more now than ever before, since we find more pictures of local people and really more human interest articles. It seems like more of a community paper.

We will be at home in Tecumseh December 17 at the home of Mr. and Mrs. William Fieldy, 217 North Pearl street and Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Snyder of 4061 Abersold drive.

We are to report January 20, to Lincoln Air Force Base Lincoln, Nebraska.

Thank you,

Going To Bowl 300? Wear Correct Shirt

If you intend bowling a 300 game in ABC-sanctioned action, be sure to wear a shirt made by Nat Nast Bowling Shirts, Inc.

Team shirts were purchased by sponsor Del King from Green's Men's and Boy's Wear. They were manufactured by the Nast firm.

Nast has a standing offer that should a bowler hit 300 while wearing one of its shirts, the company will present him with a $500 U. S. Savings Bond.

Besides the bond, Earl has received two other gifts as a result of the 300:

1. A diamond ring from the American Bowling Congress.

2. An Omega watch from the AMF Pinspotter Co., which makes the automatic pinsetters used at Airport Bowl.

CHRISTMAS GIFT — Mrs. Claude LaMay of rural Adrian was one of 2,800 Tecumseh Products employees who received hams or turkeys the day before Christmas as a gift of the company. This was the nineteenth year in which gifts were given. Of the total, 2,550 workers selected turkeys and the remaining 250, including Mrs. LaMay, went for the hams.

Acreage Signup Starts January 13

Signup for the 1958 acreage reserve program for spring-seeded crops will start January 13, the Lenawee County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announces.

Closing date is March 7.

"Allotment" acres of spring wheat and corn are eligible for the 1958 acreage reserve. These are the same crops which were eligible in 1957.

The new program seeks to remove a substantial number of acres of these allotment crops from production during the coming season.

While there are still several weeks before the beginning of the signup under the program, farmers should get in touch with their county ASC office soon if they are interested in taking part in the 1958 acreage reserve program.

AS WAS ANNOUNCED in the early fall in connection with the acreage reserve program for the 1958 winter wheat crop, each farm taking part in the program for spring-planted crops must have a "Soil Bank base" established for it, and this must be done before a program agreement may be signed by the farmer.

FARMERS WHO already have a Soil Bank base established for their farm under the conservation reserve or the 1958 winter wheat acreage reserve will use the same base in participating in the 1958 acreage reserve for spring-planted crops.

Per-acre payment rates for the 1958 program are somewhat higher for most crops than those which were in effect for 1957.

Farmers who put land in the 1957 program will be paid a 10 percent premium above the 1958 compensation established for their farm if they put the identical land in the 1958 program.

Young Grangers Invited to Hall Friday Evening

The lecturer presented the following program:

Group singing of Christmas carols, recitations by Ricky Patterson and Gary Wonderly, duet by Carol and Janet Bilby and a pantomine "Growing Up" by Harold Rhorback and daughter Judy.

Heat Water When Mixing Concrete Now

How to make good quality concrete during freezing weather is probably bothering many Lenawee county farmers right now.

Of course, it's best to do concrete work when the temperature is between 50 and 70 degrees.

But with Grade A milk inspection moving right along, some farmers may not be able to wait for warmer weather, says Louis G. Hall, county agricultural agent.

1—Heat water to be used in the mixture. Have it around 140 degrees.

2—Heat the aggregate. Sand and gravel will take a lot of heat out of the water so you'll want to heath both items.

3—Use a little calcium chloride to speed curing so the concrete won't have to be protected so long. Don't use more than two pounds per sack of cement.

4—Protect concrete with straw or hay to keep cold air off it.

ALSO, IF YOU know where you are going to put a building or do some other concrete paving, put a couple of layers of straw or hay bales over the area and beyond to keep soil from freezing.

But put the bales on before the ground freezes because the hay will hold frost in the soil.

Pfister suggests that where floors are poured, it's a good idea to check into using ready-mix concrete. Then you won't have to bother with heating large amounts of water and aggregate.

Sheep Gain Faster When Given Feeds That Are Pelleted

Farmers like the pelleted form because it gives them a chance to feed sheep the desired proportion of hay and corn.

Also, other ingredients such as molasses and antibiotics can be added easily.

Leonard Blakeslee, sheep researcher at Michigan State University has been working with pelleted feed for sheep.

☆

HE HAS compared a mixture of ground hay and corn with the same ingredients in pelleted form. Lambs on pelleted feed averaged about .45 pounds gain per day—about one-tenth a pound more than those on non-pelleted feed—and used 27% less feed during the test.

Pellets also tend to prevent digestive disturbances because sheep can't sort out the more tasty items and "hog" themselves on them.

Another advantage is that extra hay can be fed at the start of the period and be replaced gradually with extra corn near the end of the feeding period to slow up or speed up growth.

Because sheep gain faster and use less feed per 100 pounds of gain, Blakeslee says pelleted feed is ideal for pushing lambs to an early market.

The Michigan State Police closed its year's activities with a report that the state had well achieved its 1957 goal of a saving of 10% in lives lost in traffic accidents.

Projected figures show that 1,545 persons were killed, a reduction of 202 or 11.6% below the 1956 figure of 1,747. There were 59,500 persons injured and 192,500 accidents, reductions of 2.7 and 2.8% respectively.

The improved traffic record was attributed by Commissioner Joseph A. Childs to more and better enforcement, tighter driving license regulation, the unceasing safety efforts of press, radio and TV and other agencies, and, last but not least, more safety consciousness on the part of drivers and pedestrians.

The record was accomplished despite an increase in travel, which was estimated at 29 billion miles, or 2.5% over 1956.

Student's Letter Tells About South American Schools

When Mrs. Edna Wilcox of Kent, Ohio came to the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Sevedus Maples, for Christmas, she brought along a letter.

The Ohioian who teaches at Kent State University and in the Portage county system, was in a party of 43 educators who made a 30-day tour of South American schools last summer.

JUST BEFORE leaving Argentina, she met Dorothy Thierry, who is studying to become a teacher. After returning to Kent, Mrs. Wilcox received the following, carefully written in English, from Miss Thierry:

November 5, 1957
Bueros Aires

Mrs. Edna Wilcox

Dear Lady:

Remembering the pleasant moments we spent the afternoon before your departure in the Alvear Palace Hotel, I send you two Argentine newspapers. One of them is "La Prinsa," the most important newspaper of our country; the other is "The Standard," doyen of the Argentine press.

Shortly after you went to Chile, Spring came. September 21st is "A Student's Day" in Argentina; boys and girls do not go to school on that day. Some days before we decorated our classroom. We are 45 girls between 15 and 17. Everyone tried to do something. Some girls made little bunches of flowers which were stuck on the walls, others on the blackboard; some enthusiastic one drew so many pictures that they had to be hung all over the place they reached: from the windows to the benches!

In my country the secondary education has been divided according to the interests of youth: Bachillerato (5 years) which prepares boys and girls for university studies; Magisterio or Normal School (5 years) in which we become primary teachers, and may continue studying another four years to graduate as secondary professors; Industrial (6j.) Commercial (5j.) and Professional (4j.) schools which gave a specialized education.

I go to a Normal School, and attend classes from a quarter to eight to a quarter pass twelve a.m. everyday, except Saturday and Sunday. At school I have to study 13 subjects, which are included in the official programmes for the 4th year of Magisterio. They are: Mathematics, Spanish Literature, Argentine Geography and History, Pedagogij, Didactics, History of Education, Psychology, Music, Physics, Anatomy Gimnastics and Civil Education.

As you can see we receive a wide but deepless education.

This is compensate with our private studies. For example, I'm studying English with four friends and a very good teacher. I'm in the 6th year; it is the last, but I'll go on until I have white hairs. I like very much Drawing, Music and reading, specially the latter, but it's a pity that books cost so much here; I always buy one in two months.

May I ask you, dear lady, what you teach and whom? I would like to know it.

Now I think it's time to end this letter, . . . and the misftakes too.

I wish you the best with all my heart; the same to dear Mrs. Hellman.

A kiss from Dolly

MRS. WILCOX comments that along the Eastern coast of South America school systems are patterned after the European style and along the west after the United States.

All countries have begun to introduce the vocational course.

"Drop-outs" are fantastic. After only three years of formal education, about 80% of the students quit school, Mrs. Wilcox states.

Only about 5% of young people go into college in South America, she adds, even though they are free. Entrance requirements are high.

Mrs. Wilcox will make her home in Tecumseh when she finishes her teaching career. She has purchased a home at 408 Herrick Park drive, which is next door to her daughter's.

High Blood Pressure? Try These Resolutions

The thousands of men and women in Michigan who suffer from high blood pressure were urged by the Michigan Heart Association to subscribe to six New Year's resolutions:

Resolved, that in 1958, I will:

1—See my doctor regularly, and cooperate with him in carrying out his instructions.

2—Try not to worry. (Worry, nervous tension and emotional stress all help to push blood pressure up, the Heart Association points out.)

3—Get plenty of sleep—taking a short nap or two during the day if possible. (Blood pressure is lowest during sleep and rises during waking hours.)

4—Rest before becoming tired. (Avoid the tenseness and irritability that go with fatigue.)

5—Engage in mild exercise. (Avoid competitive sports in which it is difficult to quit when tired.)

6—Keep my weight normal. (Overweight overworks the heart.)

These New Year's resolutions are adapted from a new leaflet, "Your Blood Pressure," which is being made available by the Michigan Heart Association, by writing to "Heart," care of your Local Postoffice.

The Association reported that an estimated 5,000,000 Americans suffer from what doctors call hypertension, and that most of them can be helped by proper medical care.

High blood pressure, or hypertension, is a leading cause of heart and blood vessel disease. However, the cause of hypertension is in most cases unknown.

In its leaflet, the Heart Association points out that research scientists are working constantly to find these still-unknown causes.

Case History of Ok Hi Is Fascinating

Here is the fascinating case history of Ok Hi, the little Korean girl a Tecumseh couple has "adopted."

The family was in the middle-class bracket while the father was living, for he had a good position as an engineer with a shipping company in Pusan.

They were leading a happy life until the father developed a stomach ailment and after being seriously ill for nine months, died in 1952.

The mother then started to peddle vegetables, hoping to be able to feed her three children.

When she discovered she could barely scrape together two meals a day, she gave up selling vegetables and began doing needle-work.

Ok, his brother, works as a shoeshine boy during the day and attends junior high at night, so that he can contribute to the family's support.

The sister helps the mother with the housework, but has not as yet found a way of earning a living.

For over four years now the family has endured incredible hardships. They know only too well the fear of hunger and cold.

Education is of primary importance in Korea and Ok Hi's mother is doing her best to keep her son and younger daughter in school.

Tecumseh Couple 'Adopts' Ok Hi, 9-Year Old Korean

Mr. and Mrs. Robert F. Stone, Route 2, Tecumseh, have financially "adopted" Kong Ok Hi, a 9-year-old Korean girl, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Fourth Avenue, New York City.

The Foster Parents have promised to contribute $15 a month towards the child's support for at least one year.

Foster Parents' Plan, which has rehabilitated more than 76,000 children on a personal basis since its founding in 1937, is now helping 11,150 youngsters in Greece, Italy, South Korea, France, Belgium, Viet Nam and in the DP camps of Western Germany.

Over the past 20 years, more than 600,000 individuals and groups in America have helped needy children overseas through Foster Parents' Plan.

PLAN HAS JUST launched an Emergency Winter Drive to find Foster Parents for the thousands of children in Europe and Korea who will suffer from hunger, disease and frostbite when cold weather comes unless they are helped immediately.

"We are indeed grateful to Mr. and Mrs. Stone for giving Kong Ok Hi this wonderful gift of hope and help," declared Miss Gloria C. Matthews, Director of Plan in the United States and Canada, "and we prayerfully hope that many others who read this will also extend a helping hand to a distressed child.

"We shall be happy to send full information on how to become a Foster Parent to a child in Europe, Korea or Viet Nam to any individual, school or group writing to Foster Parents' Plan, 352 Fourth Avenue, New York City," Miss Matthews added.

Foster Parents' Plan is a non-profit, non-propaganda, non-sectarian, independent, government-approved relief organization which provides children who are orphaned, distressed, or otherwise made destitute with the care, education, and moral support they need.

"Adoption" through Plan is financial, not legal. The Foster Parent promises to contribute $15 monthly for at least one year.

Of this sum, the child receives $9 each month as an outright cash grant. The remainder is made up of periodic food and new clothing packages.

☆

BECAUSE EACH CHILD is treated as an individual, any special needs that arise are taken care of by Plan from its General Fund. This fund is made up of contributions from the public.

To encourage a warm, personal relationship between Foster Parent and child, the Foster Parent receives a history of the child and a photograph and correspondence through the Plan office is translated both ways.

This exchange bridges the gap between Foster Parent and child and gives the youngster the feeling of security and love he needs.

However, all the schools require a small tuition, plus the cost of books and supplies and part of the family's small income is spent on education.

☆

Fortunately, Ok Hi can look forward to a brighter future.

She is a lively, delightful youngster who is described as being of normal height and weight. She is an alert child and likes the fourth grade of primary school where her curriculum includes Korean language, arithmetic, social studies, science, drawing, singing and hygiene.

She has ambitions of becoming a teacher.

Ok Hi's goal may some day be realized. The knowledge that she has far-off friends interested in her welfare will be a constant source of hope and courage to the child and her loved ones.

Toys Can Cause Eye Injuries, Offical Reports

Toys that appear harmless can cause serious eye injuries in children if the children don't handle the toys properly, according to Miss Caroline Austin, chief of the Vision Section of the Michigan Department of Health.

"The number of serious eye injuries in children usually increases during the Christmas school vacation," Miss Austin said, "and many of these injuries could be avoided if children were taught to use toys safely."

She said toys that make use of projectiles or have sharp edges are the most dangerous.

☆

PROJECTILE TOYS heading the danger list are air rifles, bows and arrows, spring pistols that shoot sticks with rubber suction cups, and sling shots.

Sharp-edged toys that rank high as injury causes are darts, homemade swords, and screw drivers from mechanical kits.

"We are not trying to reduce or limit the sale of these toys," Miss Austin commented, "but we most emphatically urge parents to make sure their children know how to use a potentially dangerous toy before they start playing with it.

"A little advance instruction," Miss Austin concluded, "will keep Santa Claus' annual visit from being followed by a tragic eye injury."

Marjorie Papp of Eastern College of Ypsilanti is vacationing with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Michael Papp and sister, Janet.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton F. Moore went to Lansing Sunday afternoon and visited the Clifford Bruder family. Their son, Richard, returned home with his parents, he had been spending a few days with his cousins.

REALTY VIEWS

The phone rang and a lady said: "It's me again, Mrs. Buckley. Your old nuisance. Have you got any outstanding bargains to show us? We are ready to take our annual house hunt with you."

Confidenitally, she wasn't joking. I had showed them homes every fall for four straight years.)

"We've got some nice values," I replied. "When will you be in?"

"Right away," she said.

I showed the Buckleys several homes. Only one appealed to them—and it was a home I had urged them to buy a year ago. It had been improved, but was priced $1,000 higher than before.

"I never realized how easily it could be improved to make a lovely home," said Mrs. Buckley.

Naturally, they were reluctant to buy at the new figure—even though they couldn't find anything better for less money.

Finally, I said, "You've been looking for a good home for five years. Every year you think they are too high. Yet, each year, the type of house you want is higher in price. However, the acerage you own has also risen in value proportionately to offset much of this extra cost. So why wait another five years? Why not buy a home now before they get still higher?"

The Buckleys agreed and bought!

Good, late-model homes are not getting any cheaper. There's nothing to be gained by waiting. Why not let us find YOU a home you'll truly enjoy throughout the coming years?

GULF — TIPS

By CLARENCE RANDOLPH

Don't get caught with your oil down this year.

That's good advice — make a resolution to drive in and let us give your car a "regular" check-up. It will add miles for economy and greater driving pleasure during the coming year.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH !

THE PROFESSOR

It's not so many years since I played in the Friday Afternoon String Quartet at Professor Johnson's house. I'm the one by the bookshelves, with the violin.

During those sessions, I sometimes wished I were outdoors kicking a football around. Yet if the Professor had told me to go, I would have been disappointed.

Even as a kid, I realized what a good and kind man Mr. Johnson was. We used to see him in Church every Sunday—I don't think he ever missed—and he did so many fine things. When he died, our minister said that he had been truly humble, and therefore truly great.

Our minister is a wonderful man, too. I should know—I've been going to his church all my life . . . Our church!

These then have been the three great influences in my life—the professor, our minister, and my parents. They have placed my feet on the path I hope to follow always.

Now the rest of the way, with God's help, is up to me.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

'Research for Tomorrow' Will Be Theme of Week

Farmers' Week will be held on Michigan State University's campus January 27 to 31.

The theme of the event is "Research for Tomorrow's Agriculture" and is based on Michigan's Blueprint for Rural Progress.

Highlights of this year's Farmers' Week program include a look at the rural church and layman's responsibilities, a survey of youth's problems, and programs depicting scientific developments in agriculture.

Sunday dinner guests of the Ray Kohlers in Monroe were Mr. and Mrs. Earl Bennington and family, Mr. and Mrs. James Bennington and daughter Jody, the Carl Gritzmakers, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Shull and children of Ann Arbor.

Nothing Can Take Its Place . . .

Yes, nothing can replace kindness, dignity, and consideration in our service to your family, when needed.

Rather than coldly efficient and impersonal, our services are at all times considerate of your wishes, and with a warm, friendly quality that is a help in your hour of grief.

NO ELEMENT OF CHANCE

"Calculated risk" seems to be a popular phrase for old-fashioned "gamble." But there's no place for either in preparing or dispensing pharmaceuticals.

Ever notice the letters U.S.P. or N.F. on a medicine label? The letters represent two official books that are recognized by federal law — the United States Pharmacopoeia and the National Formulary.

Together, they are the pharmacist's "bible." They give approved standards of the quality, purity, and potency of most medicinal agents.

Jens Touberg Bags Black Lion in Africa

Ever since he was a boy in Denmark, Jens Touborg fostered a dream to hunt big game in Africa.

Two years ago he and his wife, along with a couple from Denmark, made a safari into Kenya Colony of British East Africa.

For Mr. Touborg it was everything he had ever hoped such a junket could be.

Even Mrs. Touberg, who doesn't hunt, was excited by the experience. Color slides and motion pictures they took made the trip come alive many an evening — and then the trophies arrived.

Before they were all in place — the busts of antelopes, a buffalo, rhinoceros, skins of a lion, alligator, ostrich, and leopard — the Touborg recreation room was jammed.

☆

BUT THERE SEEMED TO BE something missing, mused Mr. Touberg. It was the skin of a black lion, the variety with a large bushy mane. Now, he hadn't shot one, he just decided he should have one to make his collection complete.

The black lion is found in Tanganyika Territory, which is south of

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

HISTORY IS ONE OF MAN'S most fascinating studies.

Whether we go back to ancient Greece, or Russia during the Revolution, or America when the Pilgrims landed . . .

. . . or Tecumseh early in this Century . . .

. . . it's absorbing to most folks, especially if we can refer to drawing or photographs made during these eras.

And pictures of our city, made 30, 40, 50 years ago, are equally absorbing, even to the newcomer in the area.

They've had them re-photographed and made into black-and-white slides, which when projected onto a screen make absorbing viewing.

They certainly tell the story of old Tecumseh . . . one picture shows folks awaiting a train with the first load of returning Civil War veterans . . . another, cars line up on E. Chicago boulevard, bumper-to-bumper, from curb-to-curb, for the old Wednesday night outdoor movie . . . President Harding's campaign train stopped at the main intersection in town . . . the old Opera House . . . first gas station in town . . . and dozens of other equally entertaining and educational scenes.

Did you ever think of the rich tradition and history this area holds?

Wouldn't it be wonderful if some of the folks who knew and love Tecumseh, people like Clara Waldron and Beth Satterthwaite, could put together a history of the community?

We know that Miss Waldron for many years was with The Herald and that she's a veritable reservoir of information when it comes to lore of Tecumseh.

Miss Satterthwaite's lineage runs back to some of the community's earliest settlers and Tecumseh has always held a warm spot in her heart.

There are, no doubt, many others who could also contribute considerable information about the days of yore.

☆

He had a point, and we agreed.

First of all, we want and do print farm news.

Each issue will normally find three or four stories for our farm readers. These are furnished by extension specialists.

It is our plan to have more and we'd like to have them local . . . when the day comes that we have some time to get out and track them down.

Until then our rural friends can give us a hand by calling tips on unusual happening around their farm or those of neighbors.

As we build from this direction, we may soon have that full farm page.

Benefit Dance

The Grange Youth organization is sponsoring a donation dance for Jim and Ann Squires who recently lost their home and furnishings in a fire. The dance will be held January 18 at the Grange Hall with Duane Bock donating his services as caller for square dancing.

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

EXCELLENT SKATING — All over the area the ice has been perfect for skating and hockey, as these two youths discovered. They're Tom Smith of 505 Seminole drive and Tim Sisson of 3624 Munger road. They used a pond northwest of Indian Acres. Ice was also in A-1 condition on Red Mill and Globe ponds. Additional winter sports pictures can be seen on inside pages of this week's edition.

Lecture with Slides Will Be Given About Dead Sea Scrolls

The Tecumseh Area Ministerial association has arranged for Rev. C. Umhau Wolf, pastor of Toledo St. Paul's Lutheran Church, to give a lecture with slides on the discovery and significance to the Dead Sea Scrolls.

The lecture will be on January 28 at 8 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Tecumseh.

Dr. Wolf is a noted Old Testament scholar, a former Professor of Old Testament interpretation at Chicago Lutheran Seminary and has studied in Jerusalem.

Attendance of this event will be promoted through churches in the area in the hope that everyone possible has the opportunity to learn of this religiously significant discovery in the part of the world which has such political significance currently.

Tavern Scuffle Ends in Arrest

Lee Walden of rural Clinton was arrested by Tecumseh police Tuesday night on an assault and battery charge filed by Lester Sweet of 208 S. Adrian highway.

The complaint grew out of a 1:45 a.m. Saturday tavern fight in which Sweet suffered a cut requiring three stitches.

After All, It's Her Second Time

Ice skating is a most popular sport with the young fry in Herrick Park these days. When young Sammy Brooks tried his new skates last week he made very good progress, but he was outdone by a little lady named Francie Carpenter. His comment as his friends exclaimed over Francies dexterity was "Well, this is her second time out."

Tax Payment Deadline Will Be Late February

Time to make Tecumseh real estate and personal property tax payments, originally scheduled for January 10, or earlier, has been extended to the latter part of February.

The welcomed news for many was released by city officials.

Although the notices sent out in December notified residents of a January 10 deadline, a state law prohibits attaching a penalty for late payment until payments are due at Adrian, which is on March 1.

However, city officials hope resilents will not wait until the last week to pay their taxes.

Off-Street Parking Session Set

Tecumseh business and professional people will be informed Tuesday, January 14, about the plans of the off-street parking commission, William Wright, commission chairman, announces.

The meeting will start at 8 p.m. at the American Legion hall and all businessmen and women and professional people are urged to attend.

Tuesday night in council chambers the Planning Commision gave the new commission authority to function.

Mr. Wright says the reason for next Thursday's meeting is to explain the commission's purpose, how it plans to increase parking facilities for downtown shoppers and the manner in which its work will be financed.

Plans drawn now show possible parking lots behind businesses in all four blocks composing the downtown district.

Dick Eggleston Named Chairman of Federation

Dick Eggleston of Eggleston's Jewelry has been named chairman of the Tecumseh Chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business, states Joseph Sanzo, district manager of the Federation for this area.

Each business member is polled by ballot each month on bills and issues that affect independent business enterprise in the nation.

Businessmen will express their personal opinion on the ballots and turn them over to Mr. Eggleston, who will make a tabulation of the totals.

Inasmuch as this action takes place before Congress votes on these legislative issues, it is one manner in which it is possible for Congressman Meader to know the personal opinions of his independent business constituents in an organized and united manner, states Mr. Sanzo.

The Federation is a non-profit organization that has the largest individual membership of any business organization in the United States.

Independent business and professional men of every vocation participate with voting memberships, regardless of the other civic or trade affiliations.

Tingley Is Freed

☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆ ☆

Mrs. Staulter Drops Charges

Embezzlement charges against James Tingley, un-ordained minister of the Jackson Spiritualist Church, have been dropped.

Mrs. Edna Staulter of Tecumseh withdrew her charges Wednesday in a hearing at Jackson county justice court.

The session had been twice postponed and Mrs. Staulter's change of heart knocked the pins from under the case against the 34-year old preacher.

The specific charge was for $375, which Mrs. Staulter said she loaned Tingley, although she has stated she had given him $15,000 since last January.

When called to the witness stand Wednesday Mrs. Staulter said she didn't remember giving testimony against Tingley last fall and she was "sorry to have had him arrested."

THE ORIGINAL evidence was presented December 3 to the office of the Jackson county prosecutor, Russell Noble.

At the time, Mrs. Staulter filed a complaint against Tingley and gave Noble a paper signed by Tingley which had assigned $23,000 to the Tecumseh woman, supposedly owed to him by the University of Miami in Florida for lectures he said he made there.

As a result of the complaint and the note, a warrarnt was sworn out for Tingley's arrest.

At Wednesday's session, Mrs. Staulter was on the stand about 10 minutes. She admitted loaning Tingley the $325, but added she was not relying on the note from Tingley, simply was taking a chance the money would be repaid.

☆

SHE CONTENDED when she signed the complaint that she was confused and didn't understand it.

Justice John Dalton interjected that when the warrant was sworn out last month he read and explained it to her and at the time she said she understood the charge.

Tecumseh police chief George Kilbourn then testified that on the day he brought Mrs. Staulter to Jackson she was rational and reasonable.

Following Wednesday's hearing, George Beach, Jackson county chief assistant prosecutor, stated that all testimony and evidence will be studied and a statement issued in about a week.

Only 2 Accidents Reported in Area During Past Week

Despite poor driving conditions the past week, only two minor automobile acidents took place in the area.

The left front of the car was damaged.

In a parking lot mishap, Benjamin Ruffer of Adrian, backed his 1958 Dodge truck into a 1957 Buick driven by Thomas McCann of 212 N. Maiden Lane.

Skating conditions at both are reported by city manager Ed Nelson as being excellent.

Turkey for Eleven

Entertains Roomers and Friends

Mrs. Ralph Westgate is a thoughtful woman.

For many years now she has operated a sparkling-clean and inviting rooming house at 212 E. Kilbuck street.

Sunday, she again proved it's fun for her to do things for other folks.

In an A&P Christmas promotion she won a 21-pound turkey. Her husband had previously received one from Tecumseh Products and so that gave the Westgates twice as many as they could use.

So Mrs. Westgate struck upon the idea of a dinner for her roomers and several others who also normally have to eat in restaurants.

Also attending were Mrs. Addie Turpin, Jim McKenzie's cousin; Kay Raymond, Dave Jakubczak's fiance; Mrs. Jane Wray, Mrs. Westgate's next-door neighbor; and Lee Gerweck of Monroe, Mrs. Westgate's brother-in-law. His wife has been deceased for 10 years and he lives alone.

It was a gay affair and you'll agree when you read the spread Mrs. Westgate prepared:

Apricot nectar with orange ice, roast turkey and dressing, mashed potatoes and gravy, hot rolls, banana bread, anise apples, cranberry relish, molded frosted lime salad, relish plate, creamed melody of vegetables, pumpkin, lemon and fresh peach pie and coffee.

It's certainly nice to know the community has among its citizens people like Mrs. Westgate.

125 in 'Burning of Greens'

About 125 Brownies and Girl Scouts participated in "The Burning of the Greens on Twelfth Night" ceremony at Recreation Field Sunday.

Many of the parents, relatives, and friends were present to witness the ritual.

This old custom has the religious significance of being the symbol that God is the Light of the World.

☆

ALL OF THE arrangements were made in detail by the Senior Scouts of Troop 9 under the direction of Mrs. John Cameron, and they were assisted by the Senior Scouts in Troop 7 with Mrs. Julius Vincze as leader.

The ceremony opened with the processional of the scouts across the field, each troop bearing a fir tree for the burning.

A semi-circle was formed around the fire spot and, upon a signal, all troops moved forward, tossed their trees on the pile, and then moved backwards to their original places, a safe distance from the fire.

☆

THE PROGRAM included Scripture reading by Ann Cameron; Prologue, Grace Dennis; Song "O Christmas Pine" by the Scouts and directed by Janice George and Janet Harris; inspirational poetry, Judy Moynihan; carol "We Three Kings of the Orient Are," all Scouts directed by Janice and Janet; Epilogue, Sonja Oyer; benediction, Judy Truesdale, and the recessional.

The prologue gave the history and meaning of the ceremony and the epilogue pointed out the ways in which the lives of the Girl Scouts could be effected by this symbol.

26 Boy Scouts Participate in Klondike Derby

Twenty-six boys, representing four patrols, participated. Each patrol built an Eskimo Konsatik, which is an Eskimo-type sled.

This event was a rugged cross-country sled race with the patrol leader acting as the driver and the other patrol members as sled dogs.

After getting their "Grubb Stake" they made stops at outposts, "Knot Hole," "Yukon Belle," "Lost Valley," "Broken Back Bend," "Lake Ice Flo," "Valley Forge," "Latitude, 42 degrees," "Longitude, 83 degrees," and finally crossed "Trails End".

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Home Made Bread

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Our cook's favored recipe this week is white bread.

She is Mrs. James Tressler of 501 W. Brown street and the Tresslers have three children, Tom, a student in Tecumseh high school who will be 18 next month; Mary, 10 years old, and Patty who was recently two years old.

Mr. Tressler is employed by the Tecumseh Products Company.

The family has lived on Brown street almost a year and reports that they do much enjoy the neighborhood. The Dillons on one side and the Goodmans on the other are fine neighbors.

Mrs. Tressler enjoys cooking and is always trying something new to surprise her family.

She reports a recent huge success with this bread recipe that is printed below and she says its very easy to prepare.

Mrs. Tressler says she remembers when the situation was reversed and the family enjoyed a loaf of store bread because it was so much different from what her mother made.

Mrs. Tressler lived in Deerfield before her marriage.

She states that "though the bread takes some part of a day to make, it works in easily with the rest of her work as she waits for it to rise in the various stages."

☆

WHITE BREAD—Makes four loaves.

Soften 2 pkgs. Red Star dry yeast in ½ cup very warm, not hot, water, or you may use 2 cakes of compressed yeast.

Combine in large bowl
⅓ cup shortening
⅓ cup sugar
2 tablespoons salt
2 cups or 1 pint hot scalded milk

Stir to melt shortening, cool to luke warm by adding 1½ cups cold water

Add to softened yeast and mix well. Blend 11 to 12 cups or about 3 lbs. sifted flour to form a stiff dough.

Knead dough on floured surface, fold toward you, push away with a rotating motion using heels of hands. Turn dough one-quarter the way around on the board and repeat folding. If dough sticks add a little flour and knead until dough feels smooth and satiny, five to ten minutes.

Place in greased bowl and cover. Let rise in warm place 85 to 90 degrees until double in size about two hours.

Punch down, folding edges toward center, turn upside down in bowl and cover. Let rise in warm place for ½ hour. Take dough on board and divide in four parts. Mold in balls.

Allow to rest for 15 minutes. Shape into loaves and place in greased 9x5x3 pans and cover.

Let rise in warm place until dough fills pans and centers are well above tops of pans, about 1½ hours.

Bake in moderate oven, 375 degrees, 45 to 50 minutes. Do not store until cold. For two loaves divide the recipe in half.

Mrs. Tressler butters the tops of the loaves soon after removing them from the oven to achieve a nice buttery crust.

Kenya.

That was the beginning of plans for a second African safari for the Toubergs. It began last October 29 and ended December 12.

Tanganyika proved fertile ground for the black lion — and also the Tsetsa fly, which has great fun feasting on humans.

Two days before the Toubergs arrived, three lions wandered into a camp set up by their White Hunter, or professional guide. He killed them all, but not before one walked up to within a foot of a sleeping native, who was awakened by the cat's snorting, opened one eye to see him, then pretended he was asleep.

The first day out found Mr. Touberg nailing his black lion.

He spied it behind a tree, drawn to the area by buzzards circling over a dead buffalo. His first shot dropped the cat and the party rushed forward to make sure it was killed and not just wounded.

When they found it to be dead, they moved over to the buffalo and discovered it had been killed by the cat — most unusual feat.

The lion had leaped onto the buffalo's back, held fast with one paw and its jaw. Then with the other paw, he reached around and grasped the snout of its prey and twisted it until the buffalo's neck was broken.

☆

MR. TOUBORG also brought down a variety of antelopes in Tenganyika while Mrs. Touberg was scoring many direct hits on the Tsetsa fly.

This fall's safari covered 3,500 miles over African trails. As in the previous trip, they started from Nairobi.

This time, the Tecumseh couple also visited the island of Zanzibar, which is the chief source of the world's supply of cloves.

A number of the 200 color slides made by the Touborgs on this junket were taken in Zanzibar.

Mr. Touberg also shot about 1,300 feet of color film, which he is now in the process of editing and forming into a story of the trip.

Trophies of the 1957 safari won't be arriving for another year yet. But about the time they do, Mr. Touberg will suddenly remember he missed something and plans will begin for Trip No. 3.

"The ice is safe, the ice is safe" and the children and the ice fisherman are exceedingly happy about the cold, cold weather.

New skates are in use as well as the insulated boots and new red coats with warm parkas.

Every little pond is swarming with children and the hills of Recreation Field provide many afternoons of fun for the young people.

Mothers, of course, are the ones kept busy trying to get the wet things hung and dried out before the kids are warmed up and ready to make another expedition to the hill or the pond.

WINNER, THIRTEENTH AAA TRAFFIC SAFETY POSTER CONTEST

Almost two out of three persons killed in traffic accidents in cities are pedestrains. In too many cases, the victims crossed the streets at midblock instead of at corners. Automobile Club of Michigan urges all pedestrains to start 1958 right by resolving to "CROSS ONLY AT CORNERS." The advice is particularly vital in winter when drivers have little chance to stop in time. To bring the message to the state's children, Auto Club has distributed almost 11,000 copies of this poster to schools throughout Michigan.

Indian Trail Hit Tipton, Tecumseh, Britton

LANSING — The Sauk Trail of the Indians — the Chicago Turnpike of the pioneers — more closely follows a present-day highway than any other early thoroughfare in the state, according to the Michigan Historical Commission.

Dr. Lewis Beeson, commission secretary, says records in the commission's archives show that ancient trail is, for all practical purposes, present-day US-112.

"It was even 'dual lane' in some places," he says.

The commission plans to place one of its series of metal green and gold historic site markers early next year to this historic route as part of its extensive historic site-marking program.

☆

THE SAUK TRAIL originally entered southwestern Michigan near Niles, converging on that location.

The trail gave Indians of that locality easy access to the buffalo country of northern Illinois, and communication with the Calumet River and thence to the Illinoise River and the Mississippi.

From Niles, the trail swung through the future sites of Edwardsburg, Adamsville, Union, Mottville and White Pigeon, in and near which were numerous Indian mounds and villages.

It then twisted through Sturgis, then just south of Burr Oak, then through Bronson, at which prehistoric earthworks of some ancient peoples were located, then on through Batavia and Coldwater.

☆

AT COLDWATER the trail split — became "dual highway," so to speak. It then plunged on to Quincy, then "dualed" again to Allen, Jonesville and Moscow, with one fork going down to Middle Lake.

The trail forked around Somerset, then through numerous Indian village sites in extreme northwestern Lenawee county, continuing on to Tipton, Tecumseh, Britton, Dundee and Monroe — the "Frenchtown of the early settlers.

The other fork of this trail continued on to Clinton, Saline and Ypsilanti, where it crossed the Pottawotami trail which went to Ann Arbor.

From Ypsilanti, it ran through Denton, Wayne and Dearborn to River Rouge.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

All over Southeastern Michigan pencils are being sharpened for last minute entries in the 1957-58 Southeastern Michigan Scholastic Writing Awards.

The awards contest, which is regionally sponsored by The Detroit News and nationally by the Scholastic Magazine, is going into its twelfth year.

Don't think to yourself," Oh, I'm not eligible for it. Why worry?"

Everyone living in Southeastern Michigan in these seven counties — Lenawee, Livingston, Macomb, Monroe, Oakland, Washtenaw and Wayne and attending a private, parochial, or public school from the sixth to twelfth grades is eligible.

Not much excuse, is there?

For the students that graduated last June or this January a special provision has been made. You may enter the contest if your entries were completed prior to your graduation.

☆

THE CONTEST'S purpose is to stimulate interest among high school students in "effective creative writing."

Many kids do not even have to write entries especially for the contest as quite a few local teachers gear their writing assignments to the main contest classifications.

Often a paper written for a history class or citizenship or almost anything can be juggled into some contest category.

Last year, nearly 7,000 manuscripts were received. This year almost 8,000 are expected.

Over 120 teachers and school officials will spend a lot of time reading your manuscripts. At least three judges read every entry.

To show that everyone has a good chance of winning, out of the nearly 7,000 submitted last year almost 1,000 received awards. Thirty-six got national awards.

☆

ALL THE ENGLISH teachers at Tecumseh have received rule booklets, entry blanks, and full information on the program.

Any questions would happily be answered by them or by Mrs. Service who is on the advisory committee for the contest.

In the Senior Division there are many different classifications. The headings are from short story to original radio scripts.

Last year Tecumseh had eleven award winners. They were: John Dewey, a key for his short story, honorable mentions went to Astride Freimanis for her autobiagraphical article; Greg Mason for his short story; Jane Hodges for her essay; David Grigg for his letter; commendations went to Jon Cook, Marilou Leyton and Joan Mumaw for their essays; Barbara Bayliss for her autobiographical article; Richard Meads and Rudite Roberts for the one-act plays.

Award winners will be notified by postcard first. Then they will receive a letter telling them what they won and containing their tickets to the awards ceremony. About this time the winners are also published in The News.

Let's have a lot of kids enter this year to keep up Tecumseh's standards. We've won over ten awards consistently each year for about five years now. You might win yourself a key and a dictionary.

Cub Scout Show Is This Saturday

Annual Cub Scout Show for Lenawee District will be held Saturday, January 11 in the Tecumseh Products Union Hall at 7:30 p.m.

The show will consist of displays and skits from various Packs in the Council.

Pack 73 will be hosts this year. Pack 4 was host for last year's show.

ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

12 Started Christian Science

HELEN YUNGLING

Late in the fall of 1917 a few students of Christian Science in Tecumseh, Michigan began to meet in a private home for Sunday services.

The following year, on March 29, 1918, they drew up their by-laws and rented the Universalist Church, located on N. Union street.

The Universalists were no longer holding services.

The early students or charter members as of March 29, 1918, were:

Mrs. Nellie B. Zeluff
Mrs. Blanche A. Fisher
Mrs. Catherine Boyce
Emily D. Baily
Lester J. Heesen
Harvella Widney
Allan Eccles
Mrs. Anna B. Coller
Mrs. Mary E. Forsyth
Gertrude Kriedler
Bess Pulver
Mrs. Mary E. Whiting

☆

THE EDIFICE which is of sandstone and brick, measures 48' in length and 34' in width, seats 120 people in the auditorium and 30 in the balcony.

The building has eight beautiful stained glass windows, which were installed by the Universalists in 1854.

This Society sponsored its first lecture on September of 1930 given by Gavin W. Allen of Toronto, Canada. It also sponsored one in 1932 by Paul Harsch of Toledo, and one in 1953 by Mrs. Claire Rauthe of London, England.

☆

IN MAY 1941, through the donations of the church members and the help of the Cornish estate, as well as the trustees under the will of Mary Baker Eddy, the church building was purchased by the Society, and the dedication service held.

During the last few years the church was redecorated and a rest room, gas furnace and new modern lighting was added.

Headquarters of the Christian Science movement are in Boston where the Mother Church is located. It is known as The First Church of Christ Scientist, founded by Mary Baker Eddy.

The Christian Science Publishing Society is also located there and the publications of the church emanate from there. They are The Christian Science Monitor, a daily newspaper; the Sentinel, a weekly publication; the Journal, a monthly; the Herald which contains German and French translations of Christian Science articles; the Quarterly; as well as other authorized Christian Science literature.

☆

A committee in Boston draws months periods under subject up lesson-sermons for three-headings which were designated by Mrs. Eddy, and they are printed in the Quarterly.

The congregation studies the lesson-sermon for a week and on Sunday two readers, who are elected by the membership from the members, read the chosen selections.

At present, Mrs. Doris Day is first reader, and Mrs. June Stone is second reader in the Society in Tecumseh.

They and all the members extend a cordial invitation to anyone to visit the church services which are held at 10:45 on Sunday mornings, at 8 p.m. the first Wednesday of each month.

The Sunday School convenes in the balcony at 9:30 Sunday mornings and young people up to the age of 20 years will be welcomed.

Constant Need for Safe Water, Official Warns

"Recent occurence of new typhoid cases in two southern Michigan counties points to the constant need for safe water supplies and sanitary disposal of sewage," states C. H. Niggeman, director of the division of environment health for the Lenawee County Health Department.

Through mid-December, a total of 12 cases of typhoid were reported to the Michigan Department of Health.

"Typhoid fever once caused many deaths and much sickness in Michigan," Mr. Niggeman said.

"It was brought under control by a combined program of filtrating and chlorinating public water supplies, building efficient sewage disposal plants, and prohibiting typhoid carriers from working with food.

☆

"WE MUST KEEP these controls in effect at all times," Mr. Niggeman said, "or typhoid will spring back at us at the first opportunity.

He said the persons most vulnerable to typhoid fever are those who are served by private wells and private sewage disposal systems.

He urged these people to take special care to keep surface water out of the wells.

"If there is any question about whether a well is safe or not, the owner should request from the local health department a sterile water sample bottle, for analysis of the well water. Private water supplies should be checked at least once a year," he said.

☆

TYPHOID IS spread by water or food contaminated with excreta from persons who are ill, or have been ill with typhoid.

Some people who recover from typhoid continue to pass the typhoid bacillus, and these people are known as "carriers".

Law requires carriers to register with the State Health Department and they are restricted as to the kind of work they can do. At the present time there are about 260 registered typhoid carriers in the state.

Cucumber Cultivation Is Changing

Deep cultivation may be on the way out, at least for cucumbers, says Lenawee county agent Louis G. Hall.

Stanley Ries, horticulture specialist at Michigan State University, has compared five methods of weed control with cucumbers. He used chemicals, black plastic, hand weeding, deep cultivation and shallow cultivation.

Yields were about the same on all the plots except those where deep cultivation was used. Yields were 17% lower on the deep cultivation plots than on the others. That works out to 64 fewer bushels per acre.

Mr. Ries believes shallow cultivation with sweeps of at least eight inches in width, along with chemicals, is the most practical weed control method.

The decrease in yield was apparently due to the root damage caused by the four to six inch cultivation. Broken roots were found as are often seen in commercial fields.

Deep and frequent cultivation such as many growers practice is harmful to the root system of the cucumbers which have a much more extensive root system than their top growth indicates.

A cucumber plant four-weeks old has lateral roots over two feet long mostly in the top eight inches of the soil.

Dinner guests Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. Everett Exelby were Bill Holt and children, Pamela and Ricky of Chelsea.

Cubs Tour Strand

LEARNING ABOUT 'MOVIE MAKING'

Forty-one Cub Scouts were guests of Walt Nichols in a tour of the Strand Theatre Saturday afternoon.

They learned behind-scenes facts about the motion picture business from Mr. Nichols.

First he explained about screens — Cinemascope, Vista-Vision and the conventional type.

Mr. Nichols explained that the Strand is equipped to show every type, simply by changing masking devices at the sides and top and bottom of the screen.

The Cubs were taken behind the screen and Mr. Nichols took them one by one to the giant speaker system, which contains various outlets for different tones.

Next the youngsters went into Wayne Sparks, a student at Ad-Wayne Sparks, a stucent at Adrian College and Strand projectionist, explained the workings of the two 35mm projectors.

The visit to the Strand was in conjunction with the Cubs theme for January, "Movie Makers."

Arrangements were made by Cubmaster Wilmer Kiser, who was assisted by Neri Collingsworth and Mrs. Opal Dickinson.

WOW! — This might be the reaction of Glenn Barton, 515 W. Pottawatami, as he stands next to the speakers at the Strand Theatre while owner Walt Nichols explains their function. To the left is the show's giant silver screen. Glenn was one of 41 Cub Scouts who toured the theatre Saturday afternoon as guests of Mr. Nichols.

REALTY VIEWS

While I was walking down the street not long ago, a young carpenter working near the top of a building leaned down and yelled, "Say, what have you got in the way of a 3-bedroom house that $1,000 will handle?"

He climbed down the ladder as I replied, "We'll find you one. What is your present housing situation?"

"I own a 2-bedroom house," he said, "with about a $4,000 equity. But I figure I'll have to give good terms on mine, so I'll have to buy the same way."

"Not necessarily," I said. "We may be able to work out a trade for you. That way you can trade in your full equity. At the same time you'll get rid of the problem of disposing of your home. In effect, you can both buy and sell at once—and you can do it NOW."

"Sounds good," the young man said. "I'll show you my house, then you decide the best way to handle the deal."

While a couple of weeks we located a suitable 3-bedroom home and arranged a trade. Everyone was well pleased.

You don't have to shout at us from the top of a building to start us on the way to solving your home problem. Merely come into our office—or just give us a call!

Farmers Should Have Easier Time with Tax

There are no major changes in tax forms, laws or regulations affecting farmers this year.

Farmersr are reminded that there are two possible filing dates.

If at least two-thirds of a farmer's gross income is from farming and, the taxable year starts January 1, he can file the return and pay the tax by February 15.

Or, he may fire an estimate of the tax and pay this amount by January 15. Then he can file the complete return and pay any balance due by April 15.

☆

IF THE BUSINESS year does not start January 1, the return may be filed an dtax paid by the fifteenth day of the second month following the end of the taxable year.

Otherwise ,the farmer can file an estimate within 15 days and a return within three an da half months after the end of the business year.

Farmers who don't get tax return forms in the mail may get them by contacting their local Internal Revenue Service office. Get two copies and keep one on file.

To help with income tax reporting, the Internal Revenue Service has prepared a bulletin entitled, "Farmer's Tax Guide." Copies are available at the county extension office in Adrian.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 15 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 16, 1958 | 16 PAGES — 10 CENTS A COPY

RESIGNS — Bob Breniff, head football coach here for the past three years, has resigned from the Tecumseh schools to enter into a business partnership with his father in Toledo. His resignation is effective at the end of the school term in June.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

A LETTER ARRIVED FROM the Michigan Press Association last week and we'd like you to see it.

The note read:

Dear Tom and Jim:
You will be glad to know that your newspaper was among the winners of the 1957 General Excellence Contest.
A certificate citing your accomplishment will be presented at the All Michigan Dinner, January 25. I hope that you can be present to receive it.
Best regards,
Elmer White,
Secretary-Manager

Naturally, we're pleased. We'll have more to report, after the dinner and annual State Press meeting in East Lansing next weekend. Both Jim and I will be attending.

The issue judged in this year's contest was the third week in October, which was the third Herald we produced.

☆

BOOBOO DEPT.—First of all, the lion that Jens Touborg shot in Africa was a Black Mane Lion, not just a Black Lion.

And the bridegroom who had an emergency appendectomy on his wedding trip was Gordon Dean Collins.

In the rush of things we incorrectly said the victim was Russell Collins, who is Gordon's father.

A grinning Russell Collins dropped into the office to tell us of the error, reporting that he had been happily married 24 years and so it couldn't have been him.

☆

NOT ENOUGH SPACE DEPT. —That was last week's paper when we had more stories than we had room in which to run them.

We die a thousand deaths when this happens and it's bound to occur every once in a while. And there'll always be a good reason.

You might be interested to know how we choose the number of pages we run each week.

This is done along about Tuesday afternoon and is based on one major point—the amount of advertising.

In order to break even financially, there must be at least 55% of our columns filled with display and classified advertising in every issue. Fall below this percentage and we're in the red.

Naturally, we attempt to keep higher than the "break-even" point—say about 58% to 60% ads.

Last week, when it came time for the decision, we found enough advertising in for just over 12 pages, but not enough for 14. Since it's quite difficult to go to 13 pages, we settled on the even dozen.

That meant considerable copy, prepared as early as the previous Friday, had to be put on hold over—several pictures, too.

We picked extremely carefully to make sure all "must" stories were in and that those we held could be used this week.

The results were about right except in the case of the piece about the Tecumseh Congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses being host last weekend to the Watchtower Society's Circuit Ministers.

That was left out and it shouldn't have been. To the folks of that congregation we would like to say we're sincerely sorry.

Since Jim and I assumed ownership in October we have geared our efforts to a 16-page issue each week—even going under the percentage of no return several times to do it.

Let's hope in the future we'll hit the perfect combination every time.

Band Boosters to Kickoff New Uniform Campaign

The Tecumseh Band Boosters Club will kickoff its second annual drive Friday to raise money for replacing old and tattered uniforms now worn by many members of the high school band.

Ladies in the club will canvass Tecumseh, Holloway, Tipton, Macon and Ridgeway, selling listings for band calendars.

Name listings will cost 25 cents each and the calendar for 50 cents. Listings will include birthdays, anniversaries, memorials, men in service and dates of meetings of various organizations.

The opening date of school and school vacations also will be listed. Large families, six or more, may have a complete listing of their members and receive a calendar for only $2.

All listings except dates of meetings for organizations must be in by Feb. 1. Local organizations have until March 1.

The Boosters raised enough money last year to purchase 13 uniforms. Funds through sales of listings this year will again be used to purchase identical uniforms, each of which costs about $70.

The club met at a tea last Friday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Fred Dixon the organization's publicity chairman.

'Are You Man with Light?' Ladies Ask

The pilot light had gone out in the dishwasher at the Methodist Church kitchen Tuesday evening as the women of the Mable Lawrence Circle were serving a Rotary dinner.

Rev. James Nixon was summoned and since he could not find the trouble, offered to call a repairman.

"Are you the man with the light?" one of the ladies eagerly asked.

"Well, I don't know," replied George Wahr Sallade, State Representative from Ann Arbor, "I am the speaker of the evening, but I don't know whether I am going to be able to throw any light or not."

When found, the owls had two claws tightly gripped together.

A short developed and current stopped in about 20 or 30 homes in the area.

The transformer was located on the farm of Mrs. Gladys E. Harris along Newburg road.

Burglars Hit Three West End Business Places

For the second time in over two months, burglars hit Bailey Oldsmobile Sales, Schneider Bros. Garage and the Tecumseh Finance Company.

Karl Schneider, manager at the finance company, reports $311.46 taken there, plus destruction to the rear door and door frame. Wrecking bars were apparently used to pry off the door, smashing the door, frame and part of a wall.

Besides taking $10.50 out of a petty cash box, the burglars lifted about $170 in tools belonging to one of the garage employees.

Burglars took approximately $13 from the cash drawer and from the Coke machine. They also pried open owner Keith Bailey's strong box and desk drawer.

About two months ago the three businesses were hit with Schneider Bros. Garage losing a set of tires from a new Chevrolet.

130th Anniversary of Church Founding Being Observed Sunday

Tecumseh Methodists observe a birthday in the service of worship Sunday—the 130th anniversary of the founding of the church.

Rev. James D. Nixon's sermon, "A Man, A Church and Worship", will refer to early Methodist beginnings.

In 1826 Tecumseh was a preaching-place for the Methodist circuit-rider of the Monroe Circuit.

In that year it took the preacher three weeks to make the rounds of 16 preaching places.

In January of 1828 the Methodist society was founded in Tecumseh with 11 charter members under the leadership of the Rev. George W. Walker.

Later that same year a regular Methodist pastor arrived in the person of the Rev. Joseph Bangs.

"Tecumseh Methodists will be remembering the sacrifices and labors of their spiritual ancestors as they come to this special anniversary service next Sunday," states Rev. Nixon.

Giving $1,100 to Foundation

The Wesley Foundation Capital Fund Drive got under way in Lenawee county Methodist churches with a special meeting in Adrian Monday.

The Wesley Foundation Capital Fund Drive is a cooperative effort by all Michigan Methodist churches with the goal of $1,000,000 to be raised for new buildings and facilities on ten Michigan campuses.

☆

THE TECUMSEH Methodist Church has pledged $1,100 in support of this work. It will be a part of next year's budget.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Ginger Ale Salad

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Our cook this week is Mrs. Fredrick F. Dickinson of 514 W. Pottawatamie street.

She is shown making a gelatine salad, which many people have enjoyed at one dinner or another about town. This week we'll give her recipe, but first we'd like to tell about our cook.

Mrs. Dickinson takes an active part in the Scout program having one son, Tom, in Boy Scouts and a younger son, Tim, in Cub Scouts.

She is now working in her fourth year as a den mother, making every effort to see that her "boys" get the most out of Scouting both in fun and education.

She has taught Sunday School in the Presbyterian Church for the past nine years.

Mrs. Dickinson has a talent for organizing a program and carrying it out. This has benefitted many of the groups in town, the latest being the Band Boosters, who are at present launching their annual calendar sale.

She is also president of the local Service Club spending many hours working with this group, especially just before the holiday season.

She seems to be rewarded for her efforts with the satisfaction of a job well done, because she is always willing to lend a hand with another worthwhile project.

☆

NOW FOR the salad.

The flavor of this salad is real tangy, says Mrs. Dickinson and here is the recipe:

Ginger Ale Salad

2 pkgs lime gelatin
2 cups boiling water
2 cups ginger ale
Few grains salt
1 cup grapes
¾ cup crushed pineapple
½ cup nuts

Dissolve gelatin in boiling water and salt. Add ginger ale and let cool. When it begins to congeal fold in halved and seeded grapes, crushed pineapple and shredded nuts.

Turn into a ring mold.

DAR Hears History of Scouting

A complete history of the Girl Scouting movement was given by Mrs. R. T. Rentschler at the Friday meeting of DAR in the St. Peter's Parish House.

Mrs. George Elliott had charge of the program with Mrs. Cecile Smith, who introduced Mrs. Rentschler.

In her history Mrs. Rentschler told the group that Tecumseh has 30 Troops made up of 450 girls with 100 adult volunteers, working without salary.

She also said that Scouting originated in England 46 years ago and now there are three million members in the organization in the United States.

Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw, vice regent, presided in the absence of Mrs. Arthur Brown, who was ill. Mrs. Liadlaw presented the slate of officers as chairman of the nominating committee.

☆

Regent—Mrs. Arthur Brown.

Vice-Regent — Mrs. Herbert Newman.

Second Vice-Regent — Mrs. Clayton Greenwald.

☆

MRS. FRED DICKINSON, good citizenship chairman, presented awards to Julia Boyce, Roselia Valli and Linda Witherell.

A tea will be held in their honor February 14 at the home of Mrs. Roy Whiting with both the girls and their mothers as guests.

Mrs. A. H. Brown, Mrs. Herbert Newman and Mrs. Joseph Rice were elected delegates to the National Conference in Washington, D. C.

Delegates to the State Conference are Mrs. Brown, Mrs. Louis Schneider, Mrs. Paul Keyser, Mrs. Newman and alternates, Mrs. Fay Whelan and Mrs. D. F. Wright.

Following the business session and program, refreshments were served from a tea table decorated with a pink and white centerpiece and pink candles by Mrs. Cecile Smith, Mrs. Elliott, Mrs. Neil Pearson, Mrs. Whiting and Mrs. Fay Whelan.

Mrs. James D. Nixon, Mrs. Raymond Hatch, Bertha LaPointe and Mrs. Joseph Poley are leading the children's study. Rev. James Nixon is in charge of the class for youth and adults.

☆

THIS WEDNESDAY evening, Mrs. Wilfred Waldron and Mrs. Leslie M. Bennett were to assist in the adult class.

On January 22, Rev. William DesAutels will give a lecture on Japan, illustrated with colored slides.

Selective breeding can mean bigger sirloin and T-bone steaks for the nation's dinner tables, say Michigan State University beef researchers. A study of the loin eye area — where these steaks come from — indicate that most of the variation in size is due to breeding.

TUESDAY EVENING the troop visited the doll hospital on Sutton road near Adrian. They were accompanied by Mrs. Robert Custard, Mrs. Harold Simmons and Mrs. Charles Beland.

The hospital has all kinds of dolls and the girls enjoyed their trip very much.

—*(Author's Name Below)—

When reading about the symptoms of a disease some people fear they may have that particular sickness. Such a fear may actually induce illness.

Do not ever believe that you have a serious ailment unless an examination by your physician confirms it. Don't worry about it, just visit your physician for authentic advice. If treatment is needed he will prescribe medication that will help you.

BLISSFIELD—A fund for Bill DeLoach, son of the weekly publisher here who suffered a broken neck last summer, has reached $3,000.

The money will be used to further Bill's education when he is able to resume studies.

Bill was a seminary student home for the vacation when the accident happened. While swimming, he dove into a shallow area, striking his head.

For several weeks he was in critical condition in a Toledo hospital.

Paralysis had engulfed his body.

Later, Bill was moved to University Hospital in Ann Arbor and showed marked improvement.

About a month ago he was brought home, although he was still unable to use his lower body.

In a hospital-type bed, Bill has worked hard to use his hands and his progress has been remarkable.

Wearing a Bisgrove splint on his right arm, Bill is now able to sign his name and with the use of two clamp-like affairs on his hands he can type.

Twice a day now, Bill is lifted into his wheel chair and can roll himself about 25 feet to the dining room table, where with the aid of a small band which fits over one hand and holds a fork, he can feed himself.

Shaving himself is the latest art Bill has mastered, using the Bisgrove splint to hold his electric razor.

Mrs. Garlicks Mother Dies Here January 11, Following Long Illness

Funeral service was held for Mrs. Susanna Sinclair, mother of Mrs. Gordon Garlick at 113 N. Democrat street Monday.

Mrs. Sinclair passed away January 11 at the home of her daughter.

She had been in failing health since November.

She was born June 13, 1881 in Cass City, the daughter of William and Margaret Armstrong Patterson.

She married William J. Sinclair December 7, 1904 and he preceded her in death in 1946.

Her parents, four brothers, two sisters and a son also preceded her in death.

☆

MRS. SINCLAIR is survived beside her daughter, Mrs. Garlick, by one son, William J. Sinclair of Detroit and two grandsons, Gordon W. Garlick of Wyandotte and Douglas W. Sinclair of Detroit.

Mrs. Sinclair had lived in Detroit for 26 years before moving to Tecumseh in October. She was a member of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit.

Rev. Paul Brantingham of the Tecumseh Friends Church officiated at the funeral and the Rev. David Kerr, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church of Detroit, officiated at the graveside service which was in the Parkview Memorial Cemetery in Livonia.

Chairmen Named for Polio Drive

Organizations in Raisin township are asked to contribute and can send their donations to the co-chairmen.

The Mother's March will be held January 31.

Vaccinations Check Disease Won't Eliminate

LANSING—Immunizations and vaccinations are capable of holding communicable diseases in check but they aren't capable of eliminating them completely, according to Dr. F. S. Leeder, head of communicable disease control for the Michigan Department of Health.

"Disease flareups such as the current diphtheria outbreak in Detroit should remind all of us of two vital facts about immunity," Dr. Leeder said. "They are:

"First, the general availability of vaccines and the high level of immunity in Michigan will not protect us personally unless each of us is vaccinated.

"Second, once we become vaccinated we must restore and reinforce our immunity with periodic booster shots. For continuous protection against diphtheria, boosters should be administered every five years."

DR. LEEDER explained that persons who have little or no immunity against diphtheria are jeopardizing their health and lives because diphtheria can always be brought into Michigan from other states.

In Michigan, Dr. Leeder said, the people most vulnerable to diphtheria are those between the ages og 18 and 35.

Persons under 18 usually are still protected by immunizations received in childhood.

Persons over 35 probably acquired lifelong immunity by being exposed to the disease during the high incidence era before diphtheria was brought under control in the early 1920's.

"In case you have any doubts about your protection," Dr. Leeder suggested, "see your physician to have your immunity checked and brought up to date if necessary.

☆

"AND WHILE you're in his office," he continued, "you can also receive a tetanus booster if you haven't had a tetanus shot in the last five years. The two boosters can be given to you in just one injection. And in the other arm you can receive a polio shot if you need one."

Through December 10, a total of 41 cases of diphtheria had been reported this year to the Michigan Department of Health, including 35 in Detroit, two in Lenawee county, one in Genesee county, and two in St. Clair county.

Broiler-fryer chickens are plentiful on the market now. You may want to use them in your holiday menus.

BRITTON — In a ding-dong basketball game, the Britton Baptist Church edged North Adams Baptist Church at Clayton, 63 to 61.

Three overtimes were needed to reach a decision, the final one being a sudden death.

In the tipoff to start the session, Ray Sluyter tapped the ball to Leonard Penrod, who dribbled towards the basket. As four North Adams men converged on Leonard, he tossed the ball to Glenn who stood all alone under the hoop.

This win gave Britton a 4 and 1 record.

Bedford Is Next for Tecumseh '5' after Airport Win

A driving Tecumseh five, trailing by as much as 10 points in the fourth quarter, rallied to edge visiting Airport last Friday night, 46 to 45.

The local five travels to Bedford this Friday night before starting a series of five home games next week.

Against Airport, the winning drive caught fire shortly after the final stanza opened with the Indians at one time tallying 12 straight points before the visitors netted a single marker.

☆

COACH VIC LAWSON'S club, gaining a three-point lead with just over three minutes left on the clock, pulled a successful stall, holding onto the ball until the final seconds when Airport gained possession and narrowed the margin to one point.

The final few minutes of play nearly got away from the officials and the game ended in confusion.

John Elliott, top local scorer, also pitched in six points in the last quarter and 12 of his total 15 points in the second half.

Airport, controlling the boards through the first three periods, except for a few minutes shortly after the half, dominated the game until the Indians started their surge late in the game.

Tecumseh trailed the visitors by nine points just after the second half started and then hit for eight straight points before falling behind to trail by nine points at the end of the third quarter.

In Business You Make Your Breaks

Many words in the English language are repugnant to hear. To the businessman, probably the worst is "recession." He can stand most, but that's one which literally leaves him cold—and at a time when he probably should be at least luke warm.

The Herald is not attempting to be cute, especially at a time when sober thoughts have to be expressed.

If there is a recession—and we fear there is at least a mild version of one—Tecumseh business folks should start getting luke warm and eventually red hot on an offensive against a slack economy.

We're not attempting to spread a layer of gloom on current conditions, merely analyzing some obvious facts.

To begin with, business folks will have to think in aggressive terms, not sit on their hands and hope something good will happen. In the world of business, as in the world of sports, if you're going to be a winner you must make your own breaks.

These come as a result of hard work and positive thinking.

Holding still is probably the worst thing that can be done. The situation calls for action—and in business this usually means aggressive selling and promotion.

It means making your business appealing to potential customers, it means pricing merchandise competitively, it means giving just that extra effort to please the customer.

As mentioned above, promotion is a key.

We should think of Tecumseh as one unit—the market basket for this entire area. If there is appeal for the town in general there is appeal for each store in particular.

When the town prospers, every business prospers.

Of course, one of the best ways to get united action is through a Chamber of Commerce. Here is a mechanism which can draw businessmen together. It can start the ball rolling in the direction of success.

A Chamber can accomplish a whale of a lot if the majority of merchants will lend it genuine support.

Sure there'll be bickering and petty complaints, there always are when something is being accomplished. But that's the price of progress—and a mighty small one when you get right down to it.

The Herald understands on good authority that a small nucleus of business folks is going to put the wheels in motion toward the formation of a new Tecumseh Chamber.

We're 100% for it and hope their efforts are received favorably by city business folks at large.

If we're going to fight this thing called recession, let's get together and fight it as a team.

Number Changing and It's Results

Some of the residents in Herrick Park are upset over the house number switching.

We're sympathetic to the inconvenience it has already and will be causing.

We especially feel sorry for Jack Metcalf and the fellows and gals at our post office, who probably are suffering the most from the change.

But there's a reason and we're sure the Herrick Park residents will go along when they know all the facts.

Basically, the situation is this: house numbering on east and west streets begins from Evans street with 100.

When Herrick Park citizens sought consolidation of E. Brown street and Outer drive into Herrick Park drive, they helped to create a secondary situation. At the time house numbers grew scant attention. Until then, the main project was to have the street name changed.

In a few months everything should be settled and the current switch will be just something to chuckle over.

7 Area Farmers Nominated for Jaycee Award

The Tecumseh Jaycee committee of Merlyn Downing, Bob Wallace, Charles Wheeler and Dan Reed hope more farmers are nominated and names turned into them.

All nominations must be in by next week.

Judges for selecting the local outstanding farmer are Paul Burns, Tecumseh high school agriculture teacher; Russ Spalding, Britton-Macon school agricultural teacher; and John Thompson, president of the United Savings Bank.

ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

Macon Church Formed in 1831

BY MRS. HAMILTON F. MOORE

Families began settling around the vicinity of what is now known as Macon in 1830.

By the autumn of 1831 enough families had come to form a small congregation and so, one Sunday they gathered together in the home of Peter Sones.

Joseph Bangs, a Methodist local preacher, and at the same time a farmer and blacksmith living near Tecumseh, came and preached the first Methodist sermon in the community.

Services were held in the various homes and the school house, through the years. Michigan at this time was a territory and the territory was known in the Methodist Circles as the Detroit District of the Ohio Conference.

METHODIST POLICY at that time, was to organize an evangelistic class and place over it one of their own members as class leader, upon whom was placed the responsibility of direct spiritual oversight for the group.

In 1833 such a class was formed in Macon. There were nine members with James Dennis as leader. It was placed on the Tecumseh circuit.

In 1837 a class was organized in South Macon as well and this became a part of the circuit.

Jessie B. Coller gave the land for the Methodist Church.

The exact information as to the time of the building of the church is not known. But on Christmas Day 1868, a paper was drawn up covering in detail the specifications of the material to be used in the church.

It was soon built and under the pastorate of C. T. Allen.

Down through the years several ministers have served the Macon Church. In 1916 the church was remodeled and enlarged.

It was dedicated by Rev. Eugene Moore, who formerly had been a minister in the church around 1897.

☆

THROUGH THE passing of time Macon had been connected with the Ridgeway circuit and the Clinton charge.

In 1956 the church congregation had grown large enough to be a church by itself, so at the Conference in June members realized a dream of many years by having a full time minister, Rev. Donald Bates, who is at present serving the church.

Within the last few years, an oil furnace has been installed, two rest rooms, a new concrete floor in the basement and tile covering for the dining room, downstairs annex and hallway and the rest rooms.

The church has a senior choir of 20 members and a junior choir of 10 members.

Church membership is 120, with an active Sunday School of 125 enrolled.

There is both a Senior and Junior Methodist Youth Fellowship, which meet every Sunday.

In the summer of 1957 another dream of many was fulfilled, when the church purchased a parsonage, and on November 3, an open house was held.

Sunday School service is at 10 and church service at 11. "Everyone is welcome and if not connected with any other church we invite you to attend ours," states Rev. Bates.

When you buy sheets, thread count tells you the number of lengthwise and crowsise threads in a square inch of fabric, say specialists at Michigan State University. Better muslin sheets are about 140 count and medium quality is 128 count. Percale has finer thread, so runs 180 to 200 count per inch.

Superintendent's Desk

By JAMES McDOWELL

The board of education and administration are now formulating additional plans for the renovation of the Central school as a junior high school and the augmenting of the present junior high curriculum to more adequately meet the needs of the youth of Tecumseh.

With the completion of the area elementary schools for occupancy by September 1958, the Central elementary school will be renovated and opened exclusively as a junior high school as originally planned by the board before annexation of the 17 rural districts in 1956 and 1957.

Since the building was originally constructed as a combined high school and elementary school, converted totally to elementary use in 1951, it will not be too difficult to convert it for use as a Junior High.

The balcony which occupied considerable space and limited the use of the gymnasium to one group at a time, was removed last summer to make way for the installation of folding doors, similar to those used to divide the high school gymnasium into separate boys and girls areas, so that both boys and girls gym classes may be held at the same time.

This division is absolutely necessary as there will be over 400 pupils in the seventh and eighth grades next year and each must take physical education instruction.

The stairs which were installed in 1918 and were worn and dangerous were repaired last summer and the exterior received two coats of paint.

Other necessary installations for home-making, shop, and science classes will be made this summer and other classrooms made ready for junior high use in September.

TENTATIVE PLANS have been completed by the Board of Education, administration, and faculty for a more adequate educational program for the seventh and eighth grades in their new quarters.

At an early date, the administration will send postal cards to all parents of children now in the sixth and seventh grades requesting their attendance at a meeting to discuss these tentative plans and make suggestions toward their improvement.

The board of education has selected David Dick who has been with the Tecumseh public schools for 15 years as junior high principal.

He has a Bachelor's degree in Science from Eastern Michigan University and a Master's degree from the University of Michigan in Administration and Supervision.

Others of the present staff who will form the nucleus of teachers at the Junior High level are Leslie Bennett, Don Johnson, Don Berkley, Mrs. Roy Cadmus, Mrs. Cole LaMasters, Mrs. Harold Naser, Mrs. Dermont Poley Jr., Mrs. Robert Ries, Mrs. Sam Sisson and Ray Hickerson.

It is planned that classes will be reduced in size to not more than 25 to 35 pupils each and that supervised study will replace study halls as such.

Each pupil will attend six classes per day of one hour each. At the discretion of the teacher in academic subjects, pupils will have supervised study for 20 to 30 minutes of each periods.

Seventh grade pupils will all have two semesters of academic classes in English, Mathematics and Science, and a semester of Michigan History and a semester of U. S. Geography. Each pupil will also have a period consisting of a combination physical education and life adjustment, each meeting with separate teachers.

DAVID DICK

To make up the sixth class, each pupil will either choose to study a musical instrument in the band for the year or will be offered four nine-week exploratory courses consisting of home-making, shop, vocal music and art.

A special help group will be formed for those pupils who may find seventh grade work difficult and remedial reading will be required of those who cannot meet seventh grade reading requirements.

☆

EIGHTH GRADE pupils will all have two semesters of academic classes in English, Mathematics and Science and one semester each of home-making and shop.

Each pupil will also have a period consisting of a combination of physical education and life adjustment, each with separate teachers.

For the sixth subject, each pupil will choose either two semesters of band, or one semester of art and one of foreign language, or one semester of vocal music and one of foreign language.

The foreign language courses will be largely exploratory in nature with the emphasis on the spoken language.

The junioh high will have a complete program in athletics, consisting of team participation in foothall, basketball, baseball and track.

A junior high band will evolve as well as a junior high chorus. Other extra curricular activities will be organized.

What Car Has The Best Brakes?

Read this

"After testing a 1958 CENTURY, one of four Buick Series (all but the SPECIAL) equipped with new deeply-finned aluminum front brake drums, it is our agreeable duty to report that these are the best brakes on a Detroit sedan by far that we have tested, and that they are, conservatively, a 100 per cent improvement over conventional Detroit brakes."

Direct quotation from the new issue of SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED in a report entitled: "THE SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED 1958 AWARD IN RECOGNITION OF OUTSTANDING ACHIEVEMENT AND SIGNIFICANT CONTRIBUTION IN THE AUTOMOTIVE FIELD PRESENTED TO THE BUICK MOTOR DIVISION GENERAL MOTORS CORPORATION, FOR MAJOR ADVANCES IN BRAKES."

Every window of every Buick is SAFETY PLATE GLASS

As a result of this grueling brake test, SCI stated: "We find it the rule for Detroit sedans to brake quite efficiently for the first few stops, but then they deteriorate rapidly." But here's what happened in the Buick CENTURY: 22 "crash stops"* were made from 60 MPH, and afterwards, the brakes were still fully effective. Says SCI: "This was by far the most severe test we ever have submitted a sedan's brakes to, but after it was over the Buick's brakes functioned perfectly . . . Buick has done it, has achieved a much better product, and has set a new standard of brake quality for Detroit."

MACON NEWS

MRS. HAMILTON MOORE, Correspondent
Phone 10-F-3

There will be a Family Dinner at the church on Sunday. A co-operative dinner will be served at 12:30. Each family is to bring table service, a dish to pass and either rolls or sandwiches. This is to be a special gathering as it is to be a farewell for Mr. and Mrs. Howard Henry and daughters, who will be moving to their new home near Grand Rapids. The Alice Jane Circle will make the coffee and help with the serving of the meal. The day group of the WSCS will plan a program. We are very sorry to have the Henry family move. All of their friends are encouraged to come.

The Macon Community club will meet January 21 with supper at 7. Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton Moore will be the hosts.

Mrs. Melvin Travis entertained the Women's Society of Christian Service on Tuesday afternoon. Mrs. Emogene Morden conducted the meeting. It was decided to entertain Ann Arbor District ministers and their wives in April, providing other plans have not been made. The annual District spring meeting was announced to be held in Wayne Methodist Church on April 15. It was voted to give the parsonage Fund $100 towards the $500 they are raising. February 25 was the date set for the Father and Son Banquet. The ladies have vanilla and the church birthday and anniversary calenders for sale. Mrs. Margaret Hall read the devotions. Mrs. Lina Kuder had the program on missionaries in Japan and the country of Japan. Mrs. Blanche Osborne and Mrs. Mildred Moore reported on the workshop they attended Tuesday morning in Ann Arbor. They showed how depth study could be used in devotions and programs to make them more interesting. Mrs. Herbert Morden also attended the morning meeting. Dessert was served by the hostess and her sister, May Baker.

The Macon Polio Drive will be held in Macon township the last two weeks of January. Because of the uncertainty of the weather and road conditions, it was decided not to wait until the last Friday in the month which is January 31st, when most of the county will be collecting. We hope you will be generous in your giving as it is still needed to carry on the work. So please greet your solicitors with a smile and contribution. Mrs. Mildred Moore is chairmen for Macon township.

Mrs. Ray Williams opened her home to the Alice Jane Circle on Tuesday evening. Mrs. Francis Collins, the president conducted the meeting. Members decided to have a public cafeteria supper on Saturday, February. They will help with the Fellowship dinner on Sunday. They are planning a Easter sunrise breakfast on April 6. The Senior Youth will plan the program. Mrs. Marion Ayres gave a talk on the Women of the Bible. She choose Eve, Sarah, and Lot's Wife. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Mrs. Joseph Sherward is improving from virus pneumonia. She is at home. Mrs. Cecil Neal of Adrian spent Thursday with her.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Dean Collins returned home on Friday from their wedding trip. Mr. Collins spent most of the week in the hospital where he had his appendixs removed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Robison have a baby boy.

Mike Papp flew to Boston, Mass. on Tuesday and returned on Friday. He went on Ford Motor Company business.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon of Saline were Tuesday evening callers in the John Taylor home.

Movies of Europe Shown 35 Members of Wit & Wisdom

About 35 members were present.

After Earl Greene had conducted the business meeting, Carlos Jones, program chairman, introduced Joe Rice, who showed a number of reels of moving pictures taken on his European tour.

These pictures were of Venice, Florence and Rome and the interesting commentary on the historical background of the buildings made it graphic for the audience.

The hosts served the refreshments assisted by Mr. and Mrs. Mel Partridge.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Hoyt Whelan.

BIRD SEED COMPANY SOLD

Flourished Since 1952

The Nicodemus Bird Seed Company has been sold.

This fascinating business was started by Nicky Touborg, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jens Touborg, in 1952.

The sunflower seeds were packaged in boxes designed by Nicky which he had made from cuts he paid for himself.

In fact the whole business was his own and he had the name registered.

☆

THE NAME WAS selected by Nick because his good friend, the late Dr. H. H. Hammel fondly called him Nicodemus rather than Nicolai or Nicky, as he is known by many of his friends.

Since Nicky is now a freshman at Amherst College in Massachussetts he has sold his business to Teddy Kempf, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles L. Kemp, who own the Tecumseh Saw Shop.

The sale was negotiated in September and Teddy, a str[illegible] at Tecumseh high school, will be glad to deliver the seed to those who want it.

He is now doing the packaging in the Kempf basement and carries on as did his predecessor.

IT IS A KNOWN fact that the cardinals, titmice, bluejays and nuthatches will pick sunflower seeds out from the rest on a feeded and also will travel long distances to get them as is stated on the attractive box designed by Nick.

It is hoped that this item of human interest will make known the place where these delicacies for the feathered friends of Tecumseh citizens may be obtained.

In low-income families, men spend more for clothes than women and girls, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. As income rises, the women and girls begin to spend more.

Late- Summer Chicks Offer Best Prospects

If you haven't ordered chicks for laying flock replacements yet, Michigan State University farm economists say you may gain by holding off until late summer.

Late-summer chicks now offer the best income prospects for flocks kept through a full 12-month laying period.

Waiting until July or August to start replacements looks like a good bet this year if you can keep the laying house reasonably full with layers now on hand.

☆

Total receipt from eggs sold from July hatched birds are higher partly because of higher average prices for all sizes of eggs and partly because of higher production.

January-hatched pullets seem especially prone to slacken their production during unfavorable weather in mid-winter. But as yearlings, the July-hatched birds will complete their 21 months of lay before the unfavorable production months of October through December.

This means the average monthly production of July birds will be slightly higher than for yearlings hatched in January or March.

Corn Allotment Needed If You Seek Price Aid

Do you intend to plant corn in 1958 on a farm where there was no corn acreage during the years 1955, 1956, or 1957?

If so, you must apply for a corn allotment if you desire price support or if you want to participate in any other phase of the Soil Bank Program other than the Acreage Reserve Program for corn in 1958.

Arthur Capper, chairman of the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee, made these announcements.

Marketing quotas do not apply to corn, the chairman explained. However, under the present program, the production of corn in 1958 on a farm which has no corn acreage allotment would make the corn produced on such farm ineligible for price support in 1959 as well as affect his participation in the Soil Bank Program.

Application forms for a corn allotment are available at the ASC county office. January 31, 1958, is the last day such applications may be filed.

Beef Cattle Should Be Sprayed for Lice

Beef raisers who haven't sprayed their cattle for lice yet can still do the job, says Clayton C. Ingerson, Lenawee county extension agent.

Mr. Ingerson explains that lice aren't particularly destructive, but they irritate animals and slow up gains.

He feels spraying is the most effective but says self-treatment or dusting can be used in areas where winter weather is more severe.

Plan to do the job on a sunny day when the temperature is above freezing. Spray cattle during the forenoon so they can dry off by late afternoon when temperature starts to fall.

☆

AFTER SPRAYING keep windows and doors open so animals can come and go and so air can circulate to dry out the barn.

Finley says U. S. Department of Agriculture entomologists recommend one pound of a 25% wettable lindane powder in 100 gallons of slightly warmed water for the job.

Yields of Early and Late Corn

Early maturing corn hybrids yield just as well or better than late maturing hybrids, according to Elmer Rossman, farm crops specialist at Michigan State University.

Many farmers compare corn by the size of the ear which is often misleading, Rossman says.

Late maturing corn retains moisture longer than early corn and the higher moisture content makes the ears larger and heavier than the drier early corn.

Ears over one-half pound indicate the corn was not planted thick enough to get the top possible yield so large ears may actually indicate lower total production than a field with smaller ears.

To accurately compare yields MSU has carried on tests at several locations in Michigan and measured production on plots planted side by side for 15 years.

Only by correcting for moisture content can yield per acre be accurate. Judging yield by looking at it may result in a 25 bushel per acre error.

Rossman says late frosts in past years have lured many Michigan farmers into using later maturing corn hoping to get higher yields. Killing frosts near the normal frost date the last two years have pointed out the problems of handling immature wet corn.

Early maturing corn offers several advantages:

1—Dried crib storage due to lower moisture content.

2—Earlier harvest which means less harvest loss from lodging and bad weather.

3—Mature corn is better feed than soft corn.

5—Less expense for drying.

Expert States Stains Come Out Easier When Fresh

If you treat stains while they're fresh, they'll be easier to remove, points out Bernetta Kahabka, extension clothing specialist at Michigan State University.

Candles used in a centerpiece may drip on the tablecloth.

Then place the stain between two clean white blotters, cleansing tissue or paper towels and press with a warm iron.

Change the blotters as they take up the stain and become soiled.

After wax is absorbed sponge with carbon tetrachloride or other grease solvent. If a color stain remains, sponge with a liquid made of 1/3 denatured alcohol and 2/3 water.

☆

FOR MEAT JUICE or gravy stains, sponge the spot with cold or luke warm water. Then launder in warm soapy water.

Lipstick may appear on napkins. Loosen the stain by rubbing petroleum jelly or glycerine into it, then launder.

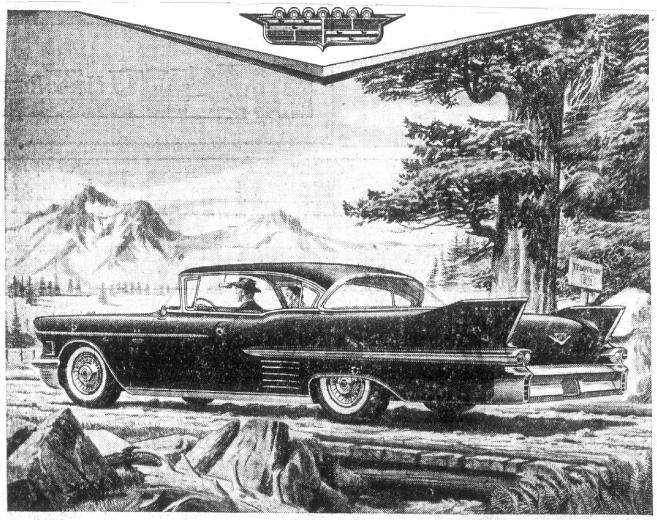
For chocolate, scrape off excess with a dull knife before washing. If a stain remains use a sodium perborate bleach and rinse thoroughly.

For coffee or tea stains on table linens, pour boiling water through the stain from a height of 2 to 3 feet. Then wash in warm soapy water. If a stain remains use a sodium perborate bleach and rinse thoroughly.

Cadillac



World's Best Answer to a Detour!

Pretty rough road, you'd say? Well, you certainly wouldn't be aware of it if you were sitting where these happy travelers are.

Just what is this special Cadillac magic that works such wonders on a rough roadway? Well, let's take a look and see what happens to a bump when it meets the wheels of a new 1958 Cadillac.

First of all, it is softened by those big, buoyant, full-sized Cadillac tires

. . . then it is gently cushioned by those massive, perfectly balanced Cadillac coil springs

. . . or, if the extra-cost option of air suspension is present, it is subdued by that miraculous cushion of air that cradles the entire frame

. . . then it is diminished still further by Cadillac's new hydraulic shock absorbers and by its specially engineered system of rubber body mountings.

And, of course, should any suggestion of it still remain, it meets its final demise in those deep, luxurious, Fleetwood-crafted seat cushions . . . and in the car's marvelous steadiness and balance.

All in all, it's the reason why a journey in a new Cadillac is the finest distance between any two points.

We invite you to try it for yourself—and to get the full facts about all of the beautiful Cadillacs, including the distinguished Eldorado Brougham.

Special Oil Will Keep Egg Quality High

Egg buyers are continuing to put more emphasis on quality, according to Larry Dawson, poultry researcher at Michigan State University.

Egg quality depends on the content of carbon dioxide in the egg. As the carbon dioxide content goes down, so does the quality.

☆

A SPECIAL egg oil can be used to help seal the egg shell to cut losses of this gas. Egg oils are available at some poultry supply houses and all oil companies.

They are odorless, flavorless, tasteless and lightweight.

Eggs may be either dipped or sprayed. Dawson says dipping is a little more effective but spraying is easier and costs a little less because less oil is used.

The idea of using oil on eggs to slow carbon dioxide loss has been used for many years on eggs placed in cold storage.

☆

DAWSON STATES that it has just been adapted to maintaining high quality of fresh eggs. Many producers in Iowa, Minnesota, California and Washington have used the oil for about two years.

Preference panel obresvations indicate that consumers do not object to the oil because it does a good job of keeping the quality of the eggs high.

Other practices essential to high quality are gathering eggs several times a day and cooling them to about 55 degrees within a few hours after being laid.

The first landing by U. S. Marines in what is now the Republic of Nicaragua, was made on January 8, 1852.

Builder Reports on Construction

"America's No. 1 housing problem today is how to keep home prices within the ability of its people to buy," states Jack Shutt, owner of Tecumseh Homes, Inc.

For a large number of families, inflation has caused the cost of new houses to spiral beyond the point where they can make the monthly mortgage payments, he goes on.

To meet this challenging situation, builders are coming to rely more on modern manufacturing methods. They are using home "components" produced in factories under conditions which insure high quality and low cost.

In the continual struggle to control costs, they are adapting to home building the assembly-line techniques that have produced 125,000 houses since and given this country the highest standard of living in the world.

REALTY VIEWS

Shortly after an owner listed his downtown building with us, I called upon Tom Wickham, an ambitious young businessman, to explain why he should buy the property.

"I wish you hadn't dropped in," he said jokingly. "You've got me excited. I've never thought that I could buy a building downtown on such good terms. Oh, someday, I had hoped to own one—but that was just a vague dream."

"Think it over," I said.

The next day I visited Tom again.

"I didn't sleep much last night," he said. "I tossed and turned to the tune of 'figures' dancing in my head."

"Buying a property is an exciting adventure," I said.

"I just can't get over it," Tom said. "I put up a $5,000 down payment, and then the rentals will pay off the contract, plus paying the taxes and upkeep. If all goes well, I'll only actually have my down payment in it—the rest will be earned by the building itself."

"Yes," I replied, "that's right. You put up $5,000 and 10½ years later you'll have the entire property free and clear—worth $25,000 or more."

"Not ony that, but most of the income from the building is deductible for income tax purposes. You'll charge it off to interest, property taxes, insurance, fuel, and maintenance."

Tom shook his head. "It's amazing. Thanks a lot for giving me the chance to buy it—I'll take it."

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

I FEEL TO REVIEW A BOOK, play, movie, or record you should go into it with an open mind. I really mean open, not with the doors shut even a little bit. This is often hard, sometimes almost impossible to attempt.

I concentrated my best efforts on this one.

As every Tecumseh teen knows "Jailhouse Rock" was here last week. The attendance at the movie may have been cut down by the ball game and dances on the weekend, but I doubt it.

The word went out that the Pied Piper from Tupelo was appearing for the cultural benefit of teenagers via the silver screen.

Even when I saw the long line waiting to spend its money on this phenomenon my mind was still wide open.

The movie started ordinarily for a Presley movie. The producers made you wait all of three minutes before Elvis showed up jouncing along on a bulldozer.

The plot wasn't any steal. It was the story of Vince Everitt—or Jerk to heel and back again. He continually made his leading lady grovel in the dirt around his two-tone shoes.

The acting, if you could call it that, was what you might expect. What there were of good lines were handily ruined by Elvis.

To me the best part in the whole picture was where he was getting beaten up. This stayed my closing mind somewhat.

Towards the end I got the distinct feeling I was watching a life story being shaken out in front of me.

But at the end when Elvis embraced Miss Tyler after his successful throat operation and they faded away into the sunset to live happily ever after there was a clear and ringing clang in my head as the doors closed completely.

I tried to keep an open mind, but there's no percentage in keeping it so open that your brains fall out.

☆

OUR DEBATE TEAM SPLIT with Wayne last week. The affirmative team of Marilou Layton and Greg Mason won, while the negative of Astride Freimanis and Jane Hodges lost. There will be a debate with Ypsilanti here January 28.

☆

THURSDAY EVENING MIKE Walters, varsity basketball player, had his appendix out in an emergency operation. As it had not quite ruptured his condition was good.

☆

INTRAMURAL BASKETBALL practice started in the middle of the week. The boys are divided into two leagues with six teams apiece. This program includes all boys not on the varsity teams and the junior high.

☆

BUILDING THE NEW WING of the school has forced the southeast door to be closed indefinitely. Only the north and northeast doors are now in use during the regular school day.

This inconvenience will be worth it when we have the new cafeteria and more space. Mr. Hart hopes that it will be completed in time for school next fall.

THERE IS A WRESTLING match with Adrian here on January 16 at 7:30.

☆

THE FRESHMAN BASKETball team beat Manchester last week. The Frosh play Morenci there on Friday, Boysville on Monday and will play Adrian junior high January 17.

☆

AT THE PEP MEETING FRIday the cheerleaders used the New Year theme. Karolyn Mueller, dressed as Old Father Time, led off by introducing Suzie Rohweder as Baby 1958 (pink diapers and safety pins).

The four New Year's resolutions were: Team Work (Mary Colgrove), Determination (Carol Spangler), School Spirit, Jeanie Hohenstein), Victory (Donna Nixon).

The cheerleaders wore their new skirts for their first home game. We won over Airport in both games.

☆

THE CHEERLEADERS SPONsored a record hop after the game. There was a good crowd. Mr. and Mrs. Beattie and Mrs. Naser chaperoned.

SATURDAY EVENING THERE was a Teen Club dance previously advertised in the Teen Club Tattler published on Friday afternoon.

There was dancing from 9 until 12.

A good crowd was present to hear the Teen Band of Bill Fiddler, piano; Dick Stephenson, saxophone; Ted Harvey, saxophone; Lee Britton, saxophone; Tim Toetsma, saxophone; Gary Abner, drums; Nancy Day, cornet; Roger Mead, cornet; and Larry Titley, trombone. They played for free.

Pelleting of Hay Is Hot Farm Topic

Pelleting of hay continues to be one of the hottest topics of discussion and areas of research in agriculture.

The process consists of compressing hay into disks that may range from about ¾ to 2 inches in diameter and ½ to 2 inches thick.

Farmers are interested in the idea because it may eventually allow them to feed hay automatically. Hay pellets can be moved on conveyor belts just as corn is now.

AN EQUAL quantity of hay in pelleted form would take about half or less the storage space needed if the hay were in baled form. There are also some indications that animals on pelleted hay may gain a little faster than those on loose hay.

Agricultural engineers at Michigan State University, as well as at other colleges and at implement companies, are working on the pelleting process.

They eventually hope to build a machine that can pellet hay in the field after about one day of drying.

MSU agricultural engineers will have an exhibit on hay pelleting at the 1958 Farmers' Week. That's scheduled for January 27 to 31, on the campus at East Lansing.

Engineers are currently investigating size and hardness of pellets, at what moisture content that hay can be pelleted best, and pressures needed to make pellets. Rsearchers need this information before a field machine can be designed.

There is one big disadvantage to the process: It takes a lot of power to pellet the hay. This will be a cost factor farmers will have to consider. But it may be that the added cost of pelleting would be more than offset by savings in costs of storage and feeding.

Small Business Tax Guide Has 46 New Rulings

A new and larger edition of the Internal Revenue Service's Tax Guide for Small Business is now available for business proprietors who need ready answers to tax problems growing out of their operations.

A. M. Menninger, district directors, pointed out that 46 new rulings are explained in the new booklet and many new examples and illustrations have been added.

He reminded small business taxpayers that the previous edition of the guide met with a ready response for its extensive coverage of typical business tax problems.

As with the previous edition the guide contains a tax calendar for 1958 which indicates what to do and when to do it in relation to Federal taxes becoming due during the year.

The booklet also contains a check list of special interest to anyone just starting in business. Also answered are numerous questions on corporations, partnerships, and sole proprietorships.

The guide is priced at 35c a copy and may be obtained from the Internal Revenue Service office in Detroit.

More Details of United Fund for Lenawee

Each community should be expected to give according to its ability and benefit according to its needs, Howard White, chairman of the Lenawee County United Fund development committee, says.

The formation of a county wide fund raising program will make it possible to collect the funds necessary to provide for the services by voluntary agencies and make it possible to provide countywide services, he said.

The quota for a county fund campaign would be set by the directors and quota committee of the county fund.

It will be a summation of the budgeted needs of the agencies as determined by the local community chests, found approved for the county chapters of state and national agencies by the county budget and admissions committee, and the county fund administrative and campaign expenses, Mr. White said.

☆

THE LOCAL CAMPAIGN quotas will be determined by the county quota committee and will be based on the giving potential of the community and its population and past giving experience in the community, he said.

The local chests and the county fund campaigns will be conducted simultaneously.

Determination of whether local industries and employees will be included in the local campaign or in the county wide campaign still must be made.

The only campaigning by the county fund will be industrial solicitation and the "out county" area. This will include solicitation at residences outside the areas of affiliated and unaffiliated community chests, Mr. White explained.

☆

THE PRIMARY objective of the county fund will be to obtain contributions from subscribers at their place of employment.

However, some will be solicited at their place of residence the first year because they are self employed or information is not immediately available on their place of employment, he said.

The local chest president or the campaign chairman will acknowledge contributions from industrial employees outside of their community of residence.

A special "thank you letter" would be sent for those contributions received through the county fund for the local units.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 16 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 23, 1958 | 14 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

FISHERMEN ARE FOREVER being accused of spinning yarns about the phantoms they didn't quite net.

Now we have a newspaperman doing it.

Let me tell you about our "big one that got away."

The ill-fated story made its start Saturday morning in a telephone conversation from Detroit between my wife and her mother.

Mom proudly told daughter that she had been named to a 10-woman committee to choose the 1958 Michigan Mother of the Year.

She added, "And in our meeting I learned that the first Mother of the Year came from Tecumseh."

But daughter misunderstood and thought Mom had said something like this, ". . . the Mother of the Year comes from Tecumseh."

Of course Cherie's first question upon hearing this was "Who is she?"

Mom said she didn't recall the name, but that she had it downstairs and would relay the information when next she visited us — and this happened to be Sunday.

Cherie relayed the fact to me that "Tecumseh has the Mother of the Year" and like the zealous fisherman, I begin to dream of the wonderful story I thought was about to be landed. I even figured out a picture idea to run with the story.

When Mom arrived Sunday she hardly got out of the car when she was asked,

"Who is the Mother of the Year?"

She stared blankly for a moment, then rejoined,

"For 1958? Why she hasn't been picked, won't be named until Mother's Day."

She saw our faces drop as I mumbled, "We thought you said she was from Tecumseh."

"No, I said, the first one chosen — that was in 1945 — was from Tecumseh."

Pop went the "big-story" bubble.

And all this, after we had been telling friends Saturday and Sunday that we'd soon know who the '58 Mother of the Year was and that she lived in Tecumseh.

In case you might be wondering, Mrs. Perry Hayden of 512 W. Logan street was the mother so honored 12 years ago.

On second thought, maybe all is not lost and possibly our community can well be home for Michigan's 1958 Mother.

The annual contest is just starting and the committee will soon be accepting entries.

Along with other Michigan newspapers, The Herald will be sent complete information about the event and the qualifying requirements.

We're sure that there are any number of area mothers, who like Mrs. Hayden, would be given serious consideration in this contest.

Mom tells us that winners in each state will be sent to Washington, D.C. for a round of ceremonies and also to have one of their number picked as the National Mother of 1958.

All of which makes the possibilities most exciting.

☆

CAN ANYONE TOP THIS? Willis F. Smith of rural Tecumseh has been faithfully reading The Herald for 60 years.

Mr. Smith will be 90 in July and he has to use a magnifying glass in order to read. He states he enjoys the paper very much.

Always nice to hear such kind comments.

☆

WE'RE CERTAINLY pleased by the comments received on Mary Seager's "With Tecumseh Teens" column — especially on the review of Elvis Presley's latest movie.

Mary is building up a real following — and not all among teens. Many of her regular readers are moms and dads in the community.

☆

YOU SAY YOUR PAPER WAS a day late in being delivered?

Gosh, that's not so bad — that is, if you'd like to consider the plight of an out-state subscriber. In fact, an out-USA one.

Through the lovely Mrs. Gayle Dean Skinner of 305 W. Pottawatamie we learned her husband, stationed in Korea, waited a long time between Heralds—then received five at one mail call.

So, for Sfc. Gayle Skinner, there was considerable hometown reading that night.

Earl Always Met 'Em with a Smile

No matter how hard you have worked, it's doubtful if you ever put in three tougher years getting started in business than Earl Updike.

The 81-year old Mr. Updike, who has long been a familiar figure around Tecumseh, is retiring this week from service station chores he began in 1929.

And what a beginning that was.

The depression was about to engulf this country when Mr. Updike leased the White Star station at Chicago and Ottawa streets.

He grins now when he says he didn't have any money and to make ends meet his operation had to be one-man.

For his first three years, Mr. Updike labored 18 hours a day, seven days a week. All his meals were brought to him and he seldom left the station.

In 1933, Mobilgas took over White Star and about then the business was running pretty well. The long grind was paying off and Mr. Updike was able to taper off to 12 hours a day. Some tapering!

But the gasoline and oil operation wasn't the only item on Mr. Updike's agenda—he opened a restaurant next door and hired a manager to run it.

Off-Street Parking

★ ★ ★ ★ ★

AAA Will Survey Tecumseh's Needs

A complete survey of parking needs in downtown Tecumseh will soon be started by the Detroit office of the Automobile Association of America.

The project comes at the request of the city's off-street parking committee, which staged a meeting with merchants last week.

Encouraged by reaction of the 45 business people attending the session, the committee announced it would request the AAA survey.

☆

COMMITTEE chairman Bill Wright also stated that this spring the first phase of a master plan to give Tecumseh's downtown area more than 500 off-street parking places would be started.

This will consist of hard-topping present city-owned parking lots behind three of the city's four main-intersection blocks. Later they will be metered.

Affected will be spaces now being used for parking behind the present city hall, in the rear of Butler Motor Sales and the general area behind Adrian Federal Savings & Loan.

How this phase of the proposed overall plan will be financed has not as yet been decided. One possibility could be that business places in the immediate, adjoining land would chip in, states Mr. Wright.

Financing for the entire setup will probably be through revenue producing bonds — which will be paid off through monies collected from the meters.

Mr. Wright adds that no part of the cost will ever be borne by tax assessments.

☆

GUESTS AT LAST week's gathering included Richard Camburn and Gaylord Baker, members of the Adrian off-street parking group.

Mr. Camburn, who is chairman, explained the problems faced there, including purchase of property and arranging financing.

Adrian uses the revenue-producing-bond plan, which is working well there, Mr. Camburn stated.

Also on hand were representatives of city government—city manager Ed Nelson, city attorney Jim Beardsley, city engineer Cal Zorn and Bob Bonner, chairman of the planning commission.

Members of the off-street parking committee, in addition to chairman Wright, are Mrs. Marv Watkins, Mrs. George French, Claron Rex and Wes Proctor, who represent each of the four major business blocks.

MEETING CHANGED

The meeting of the Sharecroppers Farm Bureau was postponed last week and will be held this Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Smith.

Residents, Council Have Different Ideas on Naming of Street

City Council and a group of Herrick Park residents Monday night debated what has now developed into a headache for both parties—how far should Herrick Park drive (formerly Outer drive and E. Brown street) be extended through Herrick Park.

Council members told the group that it was their understanding of the petition, submitted last fall by many of the area's residents, and the published resolution that the name Herrick Park drive would extend into Herrick Park to the point where Outer drive and Center drive meet.

The residents said the new stre et name should stop at the south end of Inner drive, or about two city blocks south of where council understood it should stop.

The group wanted the "loop" to remain Outer drive and reportedly had received the approval of the planning commission, although a recommendation from the commission was not submitted to the council.

No action was taken by council to alter its plans which include the loop or that portion of Outer drive as part of Herrick Park drive.

☆

THS LOW BID by Rosacrans & Son for draperies at the new city hall was accepted, and the appointment of Perry Satterthwaite and Lillian Service to the Election Commission was approved.

A resolution pertaining to curb and gutter improvements was adopted as was a resolution regarding changes in the zoning ordinance.

A public hearing on the zoning changes is scheduled February 3 at 8 p.m. at the council chambers.

Nelson Ladd Home Partially Burned in Tuesday Blaze

The family was reported to be in Florida.

Cause of the fire was not known.

Sunday morning, the Tecumseh smoke eaters were summoned to the Lewis Lake residence on M-50 when a flooded oil burner started a fire.

There was no damage.

'Dead Sea Scroll' Lecture Is Tuesday at Baptist Church

A lecture on the Dead Sea Scrolls, open to the general public and free, will be given by Rev. C. Umhau Wolf of Toledo Tuesday evening at 7:30 in the Tecumseh Baptist Church.

REV. C. U. WOLF

The Dead Sea Scroll discovery is regarded as one of the most important events in the field of Biblical study during the past century.

Dr. Wolf was professor of Old Testament at the United Lutheran Seminary at Maywood, Illinois from 1944 to 1953.

He has studied in the American University of Oriental Research in Jerusalem, and is the author of articles in this field.

He has degrees from The Lutheran Theological Seminary of Capital University, Columbus, Ohio, Ohio State University, John Hopkins University, and Hartford Theological Seminary.

He is pastor of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Toledo.

Board Is Granted Approval to Sell Five Area Schools

The Tecumseh school board was granted authority in Tuesday's election to sell the Bird, Brownville, New Bird, Centennial and Holloway school buildings.

The vote cast individually was overwhelming in favor of selling.

The Gloria Dei Lutheran church has negotiated with the board for the Brownville school and has offered $17,500 for the building and one and one-half-acre lot.

Negitiations are expected to be completed at the February 10 meeting.

Pupils from the Brownville schol will be moved to the new Herrick Park school, probably in March, with the church taking over the old building shortly afterwards.

Mrs. Ernst Surprised by Relatives, Friends

TIPTON — Mrs. Kenneth Ernst was surprised Saturday evening when a group of relatives and friends arrived with full baskets to help celebrate her birthday.

Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Harold Ernst and family of Royal Oak, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Ernst and family, Mr. and Mrs. Warren Gurk and son of Ann Arbor, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Smith and family of Adrian.

Also on hand were Mr. and Mrs. George Kramer and family, John and Velma Crittendon and Michael Robison of Macon, Gerry Fryer of Detroit and George Ernst.

3 Auto Accidents Reported in Area

Mrs. Janice Campbell of 303 E. Logan street was taken to Herrick Memorial hospital when her car collided with a tractor-truck Tuesday afternoon.

Trucker Milton H. Ries of Oxford, Michigan was ticketed for failure to yield the right-of-way as he attempted to turn onto E. Chicago boulevard from N. Evans.

Mrs. Campbell was going north on Evans when the vehicles met at the intersection. Her left side was bruised and after emergency treatment, she was released from the hospital.

☆

AN AUTO DRIVEN by John Beardsley of Detroit flipped over Sunday morning at 3 just as it crossed the Red Mill bridge going north.

John told police he dropped a lighted cigarette into his shirt, attempted ot retrieve it and lost control of the car. It slid into a speed-zone sign and overturned.

☆

COURT C. RASOR of Onsted drew a ticket when he turned into Mrs. Leora K. Brooks of rural Tecumseh Thursday afternoon at the junction of W. Chicago and Union street.

Neither party was hurt.

Police issued a ticket to Alvah E. Holbert of New Boston, Michigan Tuesday for going 50 miles an hour in the 35-mph zone along W. Chicago.

Thurman Courington of 207 S. Van Buren was charged with drunk driving Tuesday and was arraigned Wednesday.

Candelario Sanchez of 231 E. Cummins street was stopped by police and charged for driving without a license. It had been revoked previously for drunk driving.

Population: 6,178

City of Tecumseh population, as of November 1, 1957, was 6,178. This figure is reported by University of Michigan statisticians working on the Tecumseh Community Health Survey. Total area population included in the study totals 8,604.

Folks Extend Their Thanks for Skate Rink

Folks who live on the west side of town are giving—great big thanks yous to—C. F. Sage of 117 Park and Tecumseh city government.

Mr. Sage gave a plot of land at intersection of Sunset and Park streets and the city has been doing a lot of work to make it into an ice skating rink.

Some use was derived from it last year. Ed Nelson tells us that it was fine until the weather warmed up.

Then, owing to the gravel bed, when the ice melted the water drained away easily.

Last summer some grading was done, sides banked and a good clay base was put down.

After cold weather set in—four nights of flooding were sufficient for a nice smooth surface.

Mrs. Oscar Bryan leads the people of the area in saying "thank you."

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Slush, slush, slush. The childrens delight at the snowfall Tuesday was short lived, many of them felt as little Peggy Loughney when she and her mother dropped into the office that afternoon. She said,

"I'm mad at this rain. Mother promised to make snowmen with me."

Several young men about the city took advantage of the weather and grabbed their shovels to make some extra money. Heavens, what is it the rock and roll gang call that green stuff these days?

Despite the weather, Tecumsehites keep busy coming and going. The Ted Templeton family returned from Fort Lauderdale, Florida this past week, stating that the weather there was delightful though somewhat cold for that part of the country. On Wednesday they enjoyed swimming and then, Saturday, here at home they went ice skating.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr. entertined at a family dinner in honor of the thirteenth birthday anniversary of their daughter, Brenda, Monday evening. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Sr. and son, Eugene, of Adrian were guests. A decorated cake was featured and Brenda received lovely gifts.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gould of Hudson are spending some time in the home of their daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Dillon, on W. Brown street. Mr. Gould was recently a patient in the hospital in Hudson and Sunday, January 19, celebrated his birthday anniversary.

Mr. and Mrs. LaVern Seizert were in Blissfield Sunday to attend the birthday dinner in his honor at the home of his mother, Mrs. May Seizert. Other guests were his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Seizert.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bonner and son entertained her sister, Mrs. Dwight Gilbert, and daughter, Judith, over last weekend.

Ed Nelson and John Kopka went to Lansing last week to attend the Inner Service Training Course on Water Works Supervision.

Mr. and Mrs. William Snook and family will move Saturday to New Holstein, Wisconsin where he was transferred some time ago. Their address is 1816 Illinois avenue. Their many friends here are sorry they are leaving this community.

S/1c Thomas Rudd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rudd of 560 Parkway Court, was home for two weeks over the holidays and left January 1 for California where he expects to be sent to the Pacific area for duty with the Coast Guard.

A/3c Pat Fero arrived home Saturday morning from Lackland Field in Texas. He expects to be home until February 6 when he will go to Syracuse University, Syracuse, New York to study Russian.

Mrs. John L. Hamaker and children, Stephen and Lisa of San Diego, California are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Hamaker.

A/3c Warren Naugle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Naugle, is expecter home Friday from Sheppard Field in Texas. He will be home until February 20.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Bryan in Brandenton Beach, Florida write "This is the life" and they have been taking in many sights, including a chrysanthemum farm where they saw seven acres of the lovely flowers. They also see lots of gulls, pelicans, ducks and fish. Some the largest they have ever seen.

Among those attending the golden wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Filter at the Lutheran church on Ridge road Sunday were Mrs. Earl Beevers, and Mrs. Elmer Bieschke of Blissfield, Mr. and Mrs. William Spreeman and Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Spreeman.

Rev. B. O. Bashore and John Saling attended a Civil Defense meeting in Detroit Tuesday.

WITH A SMILE

The food service adjunct lasted 26 years and although Mr. Updike wasn't working in the kichen, he would do the buying. When it came to things like poultry, he'd also clean and dress birds from flocks of 50 to 100 he'd buy, pick as many as he needed any given week.

His brother-in-law, the late Floyd Williamson, operated a garage in conjunction with Earl's station for 18 years and Mr. Updike's son, Burt, had a body shop there 15 years. Burt sold out to Butler Motor Sales three years ago and joined the Butler staff.

What does the future hold for Earl and his wife, Edna, who at 80 is spry and healthy as her spouse?

"We'll have some good times," Earl says. "When it gets warm weather, take some trips . . . to my brother-in-law's at White Cloud . . . to the Mackinaw bridge.

"We've got a lot of friends in Florida and may go there, too." And Earl gets a far-away look in his twinkling blue eyes.

The station is being taken over by Harry Reidy of rural Britton, who donned his Mobilgas cap officially Wednesday morning.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

'Real' Fried Cakes

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Neil Pearson supplies us with her recipe that never fails —"real" fried cakes.

Printed below you will find directions for them and she says they also freeze very well.

We, in The Herald office, can recommend this recipe very highly because we have partaken of the finished product.

Many Tecumsehites will know Mrs. Pearson better for her gardening ability.

She is an expert with Iris and speaks on this subject as well as other gardening phases frequently. Her African violets are among the finest in town.

With her, gardening comes next only to her family; which consists of three sons, one daughter and five grandchildren.

Richard is a lawyer in Concord, New Hampshire; Gordon is with IBM in Farmington, Michigan, Curtis is in Fort Smith, Arkansas with the wholesale Hobby Craft Co. and Ella Louise is the wife of Mr. Stanley Cook.

Mrs. Cook lives at 401 Seneca street here in Tecumseh with her four sons.

Besides being a member of the American Iris Society, Mrs. Pearson belongs to the Tecumseh Garden Club and the Abi Evans Chapter of the DAR where she gives a helping hand through the year.

☆

HERE IS the recipe:

¾ cup sugar
3 tbles shortening
3 eggs
1 cup thick buttermilk
1 tsp salt
1 tsp nutmeg
1 tsp vanilla
¾ tsp soda
4 cups flour

Cream sugar, shortening and ad deggs one at a time alternating with the sifted dry ingredients including flour.

Roll ½ to ¾ inch thick, cut and let stand ½ hour. Fry at 385 degrees about 45 seconds.

The time element was supplied by our photographer, who came in yum-yuming about these goodies.

Those of you who have tried fried cakes before will appreciate this tip from the "big boy" who, just like Mrs. Pearsons grandchildren, wanted more.

Mothers March for Polio Drive Is January 31

Mrs. Purnell Osburn of the American Legion Auxiliary and Mrs. Earl Kruger of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary are co-chairman on the Mothers March for Polio.

The March will take place Friday, January 31, with volunteer workers convassing the town.

Anyone wishing to volunteer their assistance with this project is asked to call one of these ladies or Mrs. Harold Easton who is city chairman for the drive.

Though members of the two veterans auxiliaries do this work each year anyone is welcomed to help.

It will be appreciated if these calls are made early because the chairman wants to have the routes for each worker already set up so that no delay is experienced the night of the march.

Workers will meet at the Legion Home at 5:45 p.m. and the march will be between 6 and 7 p.m.

Mrs. Robert Custard is secretary for the Tecumseh March of Dimes and would be happy to be called about Polio benefits being held in the city.

It is hoped that a calendar of these events may be made up for next week's issue of The Herald.

These students were selected because of their high academic aptitude and achievement.

This test is a part of the testing program to determine the winners of 800 merit scholarships given by 65 major industries in the United States.

Although there was not a semi-finalist in this year's group, the test scores show that the Tecumseh seniors did quite well in comparison with other seniors from all over the country.

There were 255,817 students tested nationally; 129,825 boys and 125,992 girls.

The test is divided into two parts, quantitative and verbal.

National average percentiles were: 27.1 on the verbal section and 30.0 on the quantitative.

The averages for the Tecumseh seniors who took the test were; 63.5 on the verbal and 54.1 on the quantitative.

The test results are another aid in helping the guidance program of the high school assist the students in evaluating themselves in regard to their capabilities and aptitudes so that the students may receive maximum benefit from their high school education.

This is the second year that the Tecumseh seniors have participated in this program.

Classifieds Sell

Tecumseh Herald classified ads really do the job—often much sooner than hoped for. Mrs. E. G. Harris had some alfalfa hay, first and second cuttings, she wanted to sell and ask us to carry an ad three weeks. Monday she called to cancel the second and third insertions—all the hay had been purchased after the first ad appeared. So pleased by the experience, she decided to run a hammer mill for sale this week.

Rated 5th in State, Britton Guns for 10th Straight Victory

For two weeks they have been rated fifth in the state among Class D schools.

Riding the crest of a nine-game winning streak, the Tories will journey to Ida Friday in quest of No. 10.

Tuesday, the Tories disposed of Cement City, 54 to 44, in a battle that was close until the final period.

At halftime, Britton-Macon led 19 to 15 as both clubs started cold. The Tories found themselves in the second stanza to roll up their ninth win. Ronnie Richards topped scorers with 14 points.

The Tories JVs won, 36 to 44.

Going into that one, the two schools were deadlocked in the Tri-County loop with five wins apiece. Coach Bill Hetrick was mighty happy after the victory over CC, which put his club into first place all alone.

It was a low-scoring affair, mainly because of poor shooting percentages by both squads—CC had 19% accuracy and Britton 25%.

Defensively and offensively, it was Britton's Jerry Benedict who stood out. He netted 11 points for Torie individual top man and held CC's Dick Szeman to 11.

At halftime, the Tories led 20 to 15, and going into the final stanza, Britton clung to a slim 25 to 24 margin.

Tecumseh Hoopsters Open 5-Game Home Stand Friday

Tecumseh's chances for a 2-2 mark in the Southeastern League slipped Friday night when Bedford upset the local five 56 to 53.

Opponents here during the next three weeks also include Monroe, Blissfield, Monroe CC and Milan.

At Bedford Friday night Tecumseh faltered in the second half after holding a four-point edge at the end of two quarters.

The victory was Bedford's first in league play. The loss dropped the Indians to a 1-3 mark in the league and 4-4 for the season.

Bob Breniff collected 16 points in the win.

Knights Travel to South Lyons

In action last week, Pinckney ran away from the Knights, 84 to 46, despite Tony Mata's 21 points and 17 by Luis Taylor.

It was a League-of-the-Lakes game.

Baptist Cagers Win Another

'Put Me Down for Chamber'

"Put me down for your Chamber of Commerce," the man said as he scurried into our office Monday.

We hastened to inject that it was not our Chamber, although we added The Herald will lend its complete support to the effort of revising the Tecumseh C. of C.

The gentleman, a professional man in the community, stated that he was all for a Chamber, which probably means there are plenty of others who feel the same way.

We wonder if there is a method—which would not be binding in any way—whereby business folks could also signify that they were interested, too.

One idea, which comes to mind, is that they be sent double post cards with the question, "I am interested/am not interested in a Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce," on the one to be sent back. Those receiving cards would check it one way or the other and return to some central point.

Or, another way might be for the people wanting a Chamber to send a card on their own.

For lack of any place else, we'll volunteer to serve as a temporary clearing house—then turn over all such information to the committee which is expected to get the ball rolling one of these days.

Scout Program 48 Years Old

Boy Scouts of America observes their group's 48th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, by launching a year-long nationwide Good Turn.

The Safety Good Turn, undertaken at the suggestion of President Dwight D. Eisenhower, will find 4,700,000 boys and leaders engaged in promoting traffic safety, outdoor safety and home safety.

We are accustomed to great achievements from our Boy Scouts. Their outstanding work in the 1952 and 1956 Get-Out-the-Vote campaigns, their Conservation Good Turn in 1954, their collection of nearly two million items of clothing, foodstuffs, and supplies for the needy in 1934, and other activities in behalf of their fellow Americans have given us approximately twenty million past and present Boy Scouts who have learned the real meaning of service.

Calling the Safety Good Turn "an opportunity for service to your country in the highest tradition of the Boy Scouts of America," President Eisenhower said, "We must seek new ways to save the basic resources of our Nation: its people."

He told the Boy Scouts that he was encouraged by the splendid results of their Conservation Good Turn. "I now urge you," he wrote, "to adopt Safety as your service project for 1958. Through the concerted action of your members, and in cooperation with other organizations, you can alert the public to the urgent need for reducing the tragic toll of accidents."

We congratulate the Boy Scouts on past achievements and wish them well as they undertake this great public service to the community, state and nation.

For 1958, We'll Just Remain Mum

This is the season of peeking into the crystal ball to learn what the coming year holds for business.

We have some ideas on the subject, but being so new to Tecumseh, we'll remain mum during the 1958 prognosticating season.

Instead, we'd like to quote from an analysis by the National Chamber of Commerce, based on reports from spokesmen of 14 leading trade associations.

These folks should know of what they speak and we might add, we hope their thinking will become reality before '58 draws to a close.

Here is how they foresee prospects in their fields:

ELECTRONICS—An 8 to 10 per cent increase in factory sales.

CHEMICALS—A 5 per cent sales increase.

DRY GOODS—No sharp rise in sales or profits next spring.

FOOD—A 5.3 per cent rise in retail sales.

CONSTRUCTION—A 4 per cent increase.

HOUSING—About 1 million starts, a slight increase.

RAILROADS—A 5 per cent drop in freight and passenger traffic.

TRUCKING—"Guarded optimism."

AIR TRANSPORT—Improved earnings needed to finance the Jet Age.

HOME FINANCING—An 8 per cent increase in mortgage credit.

CONSUMER CREDIT—A 10 per cent increase.

FOREIGN TRADE—A drop between 5 and 10 per cent.

AUTOS—About 6.1 million units, a slight increase.

STRENGTH FOR THESE DAYS

From the Bible

And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God . . .—(Romans 8,28.)

It is wonderful to meet, on memorable occasions that are all too infrequent, a person who truly loves God and obeys His commandments every hour of every day. Such a one radiates love and joy, peace and harmony, strength and goodness, and is really blessed and fulfilled. We can all be like that—why aren't we?

Mary Higgins Is Veteran West Coast Reader

One of The Herald's most loyal out-of-state subscribers is Mrs. Mary Higgins of Los Angeles, California.

The Herald decided a story about Mrs. Higgins was in order so a special "West Coast Correspondent" was sought to furnish material about Mary.

Our special writer is Frances Higgins, daughter of our subject. Here is her story—and a most interesting one, we might add.

MRS. MARY EXELBY HIGGINS has been a continuous reader of The Tecumseh Herald for many years.

She remembers that her parents, Jesse and Susanna Exelby were subscribers when she was a little girl.

Her parents lived near Ridgeway where her father ran a sawmill and here she was born on September 6, 1869, the oldest of five children.

Some years later they moved to a farm on the "Prairie" and then to Deerfield where she attended high school.

The whole family was active in the Methodist Church, where she taught a class and played the organ for Sunday School.

In 1897 she was united in marriage to William Higgins.

They had one daughter, Frances.

☆

THEY MOVED from Deerfield to the Harrington farm on Ridge Road and then to the Martin farm near Ridgeway.

Later they bought a farm southwest of Saline. Here she helped organize a Sunday School which met on Sunday afternoons in the Hammond school.

This continued until most people had automobiles and no longer considered five miles too far to drive to church.

She was a charter member of the Willing Workers, which has been meeting through 45 years.

The family attended the Macon Methodist Church for many years.

IN 1920 THE FARM was sold to Clarence Carr and they moved to Ypsilanti where I attended the Normal College. William Higgins died in 1921.

Mary Higgins and her daughter moved to California in 1926 where the daughter is a children's librarian in Los Angeles.

Though they have lived in California more than 30 years Mrs. Higgins still looks forward to reading the Britton, Macon and Ridgeway news in The Tecumseh Herald each week.

ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

Britton Methodist 50 Years old

1908 — 1958

In the year 1892 there was only one church in Britton, the fast-growing village surrounded by fertile and prosperous farms.

In the spring, Rev. J. Gulick, pastor of the Macon Dutch Reformed Church, decided to hold missionary services in Britton.

The idea was popular with the Macon congregation and all helped eagerly. Because of the great interest shown in Britton and neighboring countryside, it was decided to start a Dutch Reformed Church in Britton.

This was formally brought about in July, 1893, with the help of several Dutch Reformed ministers throughout Michigan.

Rev. Rederus was elected first minister, coming from Milwaukee, Wisconsin. He was a tireless worker, not only in Britton but the surrounding countryside.

☆

REV. REDERUS was instrumental in obtaining a charter and constitution from the Dutch Reformed Church of Michigan, for Britton.

On the evening of July 29, 1893, eight members were received—Ellen Aten, Mrs. M. Borden, Nettie Ballon, Mrs. Flora Exelby, Mr. and Mrs. William Drake, Mrs. Minnie Francis, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Gibson and Mary Gibson.

In 1896, Rev. Norman F. Nickerson was installed as second pastor. Through his untiring efforts a half acre of land was purchased and a new church was built in 1898.

Third and fourth ministers were Rev. Garrick Koviker and Rev. T. Mulder.

DURING THE SUMMER of 1907 the Britton Dutch Reformed Church proposed to the Michigan Conference of the Methodist Church that it assume an $800 mortgage, held by the board of missions of the Reformed Church of America, against the church and properties in Britton.

The Britton Reformed Church would then transfer, by deed, to the Methodist Church all its properties.

On January 3, 1908, the deed was signed. After taking the covenant for membership, the Dutch Reformed Church became the Britton Methodist Protestant Church.

The membership at this time was 41.

This was 50 years ago.

☆

THE NEW CHURCH prospered in the next few years under the expert leadership of Rev. E. Dorn, Rev. G. C. Launderslager, Rev. Ernest Benedict and Rev. H. B. Hayes.

Rev. Hayes did a great deal for the young men of the church in the Epevorth League and Young Men's Conferences.

He also taught school in Britton for two years. Many new members were added to the roll.

Church sheds were built to accommodate the horses and buggies.

☆

SO FAR THE ministers had lived in rented homes. An eight-room parsonage was finshed at a cost of $1,915 in the year 1915. Except for bathrooms, furnace and a modern kitchen, it remains the same today.

Rev. Samuel Tamblyn, pastor until 1921, and his family were the first to live in the new parsonage.

Rev. R. C. Powell followed. Then came Rev. and Mrs. C. F. Stroup, who were both ordained ministers. He did evangelical work throughout Michigan while she preached at home.

IN 1929 REV. TAMBLYN returned as pastor. He lived in the parsonage until his retirement in 1937.

Rev. Donald Rescott and Rev. Ellis Hart were here, each serving one year. Many special meetings were held during their stay, and more members were brought into the church.

In 1940, under the leadership of Rev. and Mrs. Burch, the church merged with the Methodist Episcopal.

This merger entailed many changes. The Ladies Aid and Missionary Societies were combined and called Women's Society of Christian Service.

☆

MEMBERS OF Britton and Ridgeway churches decided to have one minister between them. Rev. A. B. Johns and his family came and lived in the Ridgeway parsonage, while the Britton parsonage was rented.

The next minister was Dr. F. B. Clifford, an instructor at Adrian College, with the church until 1952.

Rev. U. B. Arnold served in conjunction with the Springville Methodist Church.

In the summer of 1953, Rev. B. Woodall came and was responsible for obtaining new Hammond organ.

New front doors were added, also a beautiful brass altar.

AT THE CLOSE or 1956 we had 94 members.

Two new oil furnaces were installed for $2,200.

Rev. Thurston Taylor, the present pastor, is married and has two daughters.

"As we travel over our fair land, we will find much larger and wealthier churches than this one. However, none seek to be more beloved or closer to our Savior than our little white church in Britton," state the women of the church who prepared this history.

"... We Need 'em Fast!"

THE SCENE IS the traffic department of any of the hundreds of manufacturing plants in Michigan. The time is 4:00 P.M. on any day of the week. The traffic manager is talking long distance to a supplier in another state about some parts needed for production.

"Send 'em by truck," he says, as he prepares to hang up, "we need 'em fast!"

He knows from experience that motor transport is the fastest link between shipping and receiving. He knows he can depend on it. In fact, he and thousands of his fellow traffic managers have been the men most responsible for the rapid growth of motor transport. Once they experienced the efficiency and speed of trucks, there was no satisfying them with anything less — and today their companies could not operate successfully without truck transport!

That's something for every wage earner in Michigan to think about.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

AS YOU READ THIS (IF you're a teen), you are either finished with semester exams or going into the home stretch. The tests were set for Wednesday and Thursday with teachers spending last week reviewing.

How did you prepare for them? Did it go something like this?

For the last week or so you've been promising yourself that on the weekend you'd really buckle down.

It seems like a mountainous task, all the semester's work. How on earth am I going to be able to pass that math or Biology, all those hideous notes with the unpronounceable names to memorize.

I won't sleep for three nights before the exam. Then when the exam rolls around I won't be able to stay awake.

I saved all my tests from most of my courses, but somehow at exam time they've just become so much waste paper. None of them mean a thing two days after I take them and after six weeks . . . . I-y-i-y-i!

You stay up late to memorize important dates for the history test. Comes the exam, it's mostly essay.

The teachers unerringly manage to concentrate on the few hidden things you didn't study.

No matter how much you covered, they all seem to find the particular thing that always gave you trouble.

In these cases there is something for everyone. Never fear, they won't forget you. Good luck!

☆

THOSE OF YOU WHO attended the game Friday night probably remember the poor sportsmanship of our opponents. Since we lost I saw no reason for this.

There is nothing but praise for the way the Tecumseh cheerleaders and teenagers handled themselves in the face of this.

Once at a bad decision, a universal groan came from the Indians. Our cheerleaders held up their hands for silence and got it.

For cheerleaders to be able to have that much faith in their crowd's sense of fair play and sportsmanship is a wonderful thing. Undoubtedly the school has been helped by the cheerleaders' own feelings.

Three cheers for them and the Indian fans.

TECUMSEH KIDS HAVE started practicing for the District Forensics Contest that is held every March. This contest is open to everybody who is interested in it.

There are five areas of entry with a contestant for each one: Humorous reading — Ann Marie Haughn, Dramatic reading — Marilyn Helzerman, Extemporaneous speaking — Greg Mason, Declamation — Marilou Layton, Oration — Sharon Muhn.

Mr. Babcock is coaching them.

THE JUNIOR CLASS HAS chosen three one-act plays instead of the usual three-act play.

There will be a comedy, a mystery, and a drama.

The try-outs will be held after semester tests. The plays will be given sometime in March with Mr. Babcock directing them.

☆

THE TEEN CLUB HELD A Membership and Polio Drive, Thursday, Friday, Monday, and Tuesday. The Polio Drive became more successful when they came around for donations instead of waiting for them. Fortune cards were given to kids who donated.

Rising costs hit the Teen Club Tattler last week. Friday's copy sold for a nickle. But now they have added two pages which include a sports page and a chess section.

"The famous biologist," Mr. George Tatar was interviewed by the Tattler in the last issue.

REALTY VIEWS

When it comes time to sell a business, many otherwise "businesslike" owners act foolishly. They list their businesses with high-pressure, out-of-state firms who charge an "advance fee" for advertising for buyers in the national market. The results are invariably POOR. In effect, the owners make a "gift" to these firms.

Don't take my word for it! Read the recent complaints lodged against such firms by the Federal Trade Commission. Among the charges: "A person who has property for sale is told his asking price is too low and should be upped, so as to boost the fee collected."

The complaints further allege: "Property seldom, if ever, is sold as a result of these companies' efforts."

The FTC states: "Although the seller is told otherwise, an advance listing fee is not refunded if his property is not sold within a short time."

In one instance, the Commission said one firm "had no prospective buyers, and no financial department able to finance buyers."

So, beware of these "advance fee" artists.

If you wish to sell your business, come in and talk things over. If it is not one we can handle, we will direct you to a competent firm that will help you.

And, you will pay no "listing fee." Your sole charge will be a commission ONLY after RESULTS!

Farmers' Tax Guide Can Be Obtained Free

It has been some time since the frost hit the pumpkins and about time to get all your records up-to-date. For what? For income tax.

If you had gross income of $600.00 or more during the year, your must file an income tax return even though no tax is due.

Gross income for farmers, either on the cash receipt or the accural basis, is defined in the Farmers' Tax Guide.

Get the Farmers' Tax Guide from your County Agricultural Agent or from the Internal Revenue Service. This is a free booklet and a big help in preparing your tax returns.

Boosting Dairy Income on Agenda at Farmers' Week

Corporation type farming and how to boost dairy income are two topics that are getting top billing at Michigan State University's Farmers' Week this year.

Farmers' Week is January 27-31 on the MSU campus at East Lansing.

The current talk about integration, contract farming and the disappearance of the family farm has prompted a discussion entitled "Where do we go from here?", scheduled for Wednesday morning, January 29.

MSU agricultural economist Glenn Johnson will outline the probabilities of the development of corporation type farming and contract farming and how fast they will come.

Another agricultural economist, Art Mauch, will list some of the choices farm people have before them today.

☆

MANY AGRICULTURAL leaders have presented plans which they feel would raise dairy income and stabilize the industry in Michigan.

On Thursday morning, January 30, an agricultural economist, two farm organization heads and a dairy marketing group president will tell how they think dairy income might be boosted.

Appearing on the program are: John Doneth, MSU agricultural economist; John Spoelman, president of the Michigan Farmers' Union; Glenn Lake, president of the Michigan Milk Producers' association; and William Brake, master of the Michigan State Grange.

Visitors will have a chance to quiz the speakers on their views.

Britton Pair Attend Young Farmer Course

EAST LANSING—Luis Loesch and Don Dickerson, both of Britton, are among 23 winter-term students on a Bankers' Scholarship for the young farmer course in agriculture at Michigan State University.

The scholarship is coordinated by the Michigan Bankers association through the Lenawee County Bankers association and the Monroe County Bankers respectively.

The short course is designed for young men who expect to become farmers, farm foremen, herdsmen or farm managers.

Each year of the 16-month program is divided into two terms of eight weeks duration, one term coming before Christmas and the other after Christmas vacation.

Usually there's no need to buy extra vitamins for the diary cow. Michigan State University dairy specialists say only vitamins A and D are not produced by the cow. Good roughage supplies enough of these two vitamins. Vitamin D also comes from sunlight.

A message from Ralph Hodges, "Your Pharmacist"

WHY DO PRESCRIPTIONS COST SO LITTLE?

Most people forget, that to the cost of drugs, must be added the time necessary to select the ingredients, compound them when required, carefully check them, type the labels and record them.

PLUMBERS, TELEVISION and SERVICE MEN HAVE A MINIMUM FEE.

They must charge from $3 to $6 for minimum time. To this they have to add the cost of materials plus a profit.

AVERAGE CHARGE FOR PRESCRIPTIONS IS LESS THAN $3.

Most of them still are about $2. A small percentage with very expensive ingredients costs more. Pharmacies do not charge a minimum fee.

YOUR OTHER PURCHASES LOWER PRESCRIPTION CHARGE.

Service to the sick, requires pharmacies to be open long hours each day. During that time you can also get from us your home remedies, health-aids and toiletries. The profits on these sales reduces our overhead costs. Without them a minimum fee, for prescriptions, would have to be charged.

PHARMACIES DO NOT CHARGE MORE.

Our prices are not more than market or variety stores. Our pharmacy training enables us to protect you and answer questions. We carry a greater variety of stock. Therefore . . .

BUY ALL MEDICINES, HEALTH-AIDS and TOILETRIES FROM YOUR PHARMACY.

Since these purchase enable us to keep prescription costs lower, — why should any thinking person get them elsewhere?

No. 4 and 5 Corn Now Eligible for Support

The Department of Agriculture has broadened the price support eligibility for 1957-crop corn to include No. 4 and No. 5 because of damaged kernels, including heat damage.

This action will afford greater price support protection to producers for this year's corn crop, which has a larger than normal proportion of damage because of the wet harvest and high moisture content.

The CCC maximum moisture requirements for corn will remain in effect.

Special discounts in addition to other applicable discounts and/or premiums will be in line with those generally used by the trade and will be used at the time the loan is made.

☆

PRIOR TO THE relaxation of the program provisions corn was required to grade No. 3 or No. 4 on test weight only to be eligible for price support.

Special discounts will range from 1 cent for total damage up to 7% to 13 cents for total damage of from 14.1% to 15%.

Discounts for heat damage will range from 3 cents for damage from .6 to 1% to 13 cents for heat damage of 1.1 to 3%.

GI Known Here Helps To Save Lives, Planes

S/Sgt. Thomas E. Burkett of Milan and with many friends in Tecumseh has been commended and received two letters of recommendation for his part in an emergency air refueling operation of two B-47 jet bombers enroute from Thule AFB, Greenland to Goose AFB, Labrador.

Sgt. Burkett's aircraft was assigned to alert duty on Greenland when the emergency mission was called in, the aircraft was launched with weather conditions on the ground being zero zero in ice fog.

AFTER TAKEOFF and flying under hazardous and adverse conditions contact was made with the two B-47 bombers and the transfer of 37,500 pounds of fuel was accomplished by Sgt. Burkett.

In the words of the bomber pilots, this operation meant life or death to planes and crews. On returning to their base in Greenland with less than 20 minutes of fuel left on board, the crew was received and commended by the Wing Commander.

Sgt. Burkett attended Adrian high school, joining the Air Force in July, 1951. He has served in England and Greenland and at the present time is stationed at Lincoln Air Force Base.

Corn Cobs Good Hay 'Stretcher'

According to research at Michigan State University, ground corn cobs can be used as a substitute for hay.

Dairy researcher Charles Lassiter reports that ground corn cobs, properly supplemented with a 21% protein mix, are about equal to medium quality alfalfa hay up to the limit of cows to consume the cobs.

In MSU tests over two years, researchers found that Holstein cows will eat about 20 pounds of finely ground cobs per day.

Cows wont eat as much cobs as hay, but up to the limit, Lassiter says there is no difference in feeding value.

Herald Judged as 'Best in Michigan'

In the annual Michigan Press Association "General Excellance Contest," The Tecumseh Herald was named best weekly in the state among 2,000-to-4,000 circulation papers.

This was the first time in The Herald's 108 years of publication it has been so honored.

In 1956, under the editorship of Marjorie Wickwire, the Tecumseh weekly was judged third in its class.

Second place in the 2,000-to-4,000 class went to The Northville Record and third to The Romeo Observer Press.

In other classifications, first-place winners included:

Metropolitan weeklies—The Birmingham Eccentric.

Over 4,000 circulation—Lapeer County Press.

1,275-to-2,000—The Frankenmuth News.

Up to 1,275—The Marysville Journal.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 17 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, JANUARY 30, 1958 | 14 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

WOW!

First in the state.

Please don't pinch us, we might wake up and discover it's all a dream.

The Herald gang is still a mite numb following the news our weekly had been chosen best among Michigan papers of the 2,000-to-4,000 circulation class.

Jim and I were in East Lansing for the annual press meeting to accept the certificate.

There were about 900 publishers and their wives, celebrities — such as Ann Landers, Gov. Williams — on hand as we sprinted to the speaker's table to be given the award.

The Michigan Press association president told the assembled audience that the issue of The Herald judged in the contest was taken from among ones published the first month we were in Tecumseh.

Yes, it's all like a dream — but certainly one of the most pleasant in our memories.

We intend to keep right on digging in, continue to utilize every facility and talent at our disposal to give the area the very finest newspaper we are capable of producing.

Gosh, I didn't intend to make a speech.

Maybe I'd better tell you a little more about the main speaker — Miss Landers.

To start with, she is about five feet tall, with jet black hair and the deepest dimples ever. Her smile is magnetic.

She stole the collective heart of those attending as she went back over her amazing career, which started just a little more than two years ago.

Never having been trained for newspapering, not even having written a letter to her editor, Ann walkd into a Chicago daily and offered her services — to replace the tired old love-lorn columnist, whose Model-T style was badly outdated.

Ann got the job and almost over-night was a smash.

She told us that her work day lasts 10 to 11 hours and keeps four secretaries running — and she loves the grind.

Every letter crosses her desk. Each one with a return address gets a response. Many of the desperate writers are directed to service agencies, via a card file of all such units in every town in which her column appears.

Sometimes, the writer is enmeshed in such despair, Ann will wire advice.

Humor is an important adjunct of Miss Lander's column — actually she's a Mrs. with a husband who gives her suggestions and a 17-year-old daughter, equally well versed — but never at the expense of a troubled writer.

Ann believes a chuckle is often the best reply and if one can't laugh off some of these problems and forget them, the only other thing to do is cry.

An interesting side note, which of course wasn't mentioned in East Lansing, is that Abigail VanBuren, who writes an identical column in Hearst newspapers, is a twin sister of Ann Landers.

No wonder so many of their suggestions to troubled people sound so much alike.

As youngsters, the pair always dressed alike, were inseparable, thought and talked alike.

They married and this split up the act, Ann moving to Chicago and Abigail to San Francisco, where she entered the field shortly after her sister did.

As Ann strolled down the corridor in Kellogg Center, and we passed her going the other way, it would have been fun to ask her about Abigail.

But from good authority, I understand the girls are distant in more ways than geography, and bringing the subject up to a guest would be poor taste.

It would have been fun, though.

ANOTHER COLUMNIST JOINS our growing stable this week and we have a feeling you're going to like her offerings.

The regular feature will be entitled "Through My Window" and is being written by Marda Gene Duncan. It appears on page 4.

Marda Gene must really be loaded, she has her own secretary, this even before her first piece is in type. Mrs. H. H. Hanna is the Gal Friday and she's handling the typing chores.

Hope you'll enjoy, "Through My Window."

Bees Keep Tipton Man Busy, Happy

TIPTON — There's a date — June 10, 1950—that Floyd Allen of this community will never forget.

Floyd was working at Tecumseh Products then, had been there three years.

His health was average—until that Tenth of June.

That morning he couldn't get out of bed. Doctors said he had several ruptured discs which were pinching a nerve in his spinal chord.

FLOYD ALLEN of TIPTON

"They removed the discs," Floyd smiles, "But I don't know what became of the nerve. That hasn't come back yet."

Floyd was in University Hospital at Ann Arbor for two weeks and then in bed six months.

He was able to use a wheel chair and has ever since, but he still wonders about the nerve.

☆

WHAT BOTHERED Floyd as much as anything else was the idleness brought on by the mishap.

Rehabilitation people tried to get him interested in leathercraft, but this held no real interest for Floyd.

Later he made candles.

Then alone came a project, about three years ago, which was perfect for Floyd—in fact a honey of a deal.

He secured a bee colony and went into honey sales. It blossomed nicely under Floyd's guiding hands and soon he was shipping truck loads to Detroit, Pittsburgh, Columbus and Cleveland. Each load contained about seven tons.

He also was manufacturing wooden "queen keepers." These are about the size of two match boxes, placed end to end. A queen bee is placed inside, covered and shipped.

☆

QUEENS, Floyd explained, are shipped north in the spring from southern colonies so that operations may be started in April, whereas it is June under normal northern climates.

Floyd says he makes and sells about 50,000 keepers a year.

Pulling for Floyd in the hopes that "that nerve" will some day be found are his wife, Helen; son Jack, 16, and daughter, 13.

Oh yes, and the family's four cats, who do a good job of keeping Floyd company when his wife is at work and the children in school.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Barbarcue Sandwiches

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Here it is, the recipe many of you have been waiting for—barbecue sandwiches as only Mrs. O. W. Laidlaw can make them.

This sandwich is well known to Tecumseh residents because it was the favored dish of most students who attended high school here when Mrs. Laidlaw was the home economics teacher.

The recipe has traveled to far away places, mainly through the Laidlaw's oldest son, David, while he was in the armed services.

He also gave it to the cooks at the forestry camp he served and in the dorm where he lived at Michigan State College.

Then too, one of Mrs. Laidlaw's former students, Gay Larsen, now Mrs. Peter McGee, was in the woman's department of the Detroit Free Press and the barbecue recipe has appeared in that paper twice.

WE WILL PRINT the ingredients and directions following a brief item about this beloved lady.

She graduated from MAC—now Michigan State University—in 1916 as a home economics major.

She set up that department here in Tecumseh high school and introduced the hot-lunch program.

Girls in class prepared the meals and the boys would help with such chores as mashing potatoes. Many of these lads still remember and always greet her with a cheery "Hi" when they meet on the street.

The only help hired for the lunch program was a dish washer.

MRS. LAIDLAW states that she has made as many as 500 barbecues for the school lunch and this writer well remembers her happy smile as she stood nearly the whole noon hour wrapping sandwich after sandwich for the hungry customers. (Makes my mouth water to think of the lusciousness of those sandwiches. &

Mrs. Laidlaw has recently been honored as the first woman to be elected to the vestry of the St. Peter's Episcopal Church.

Besides taking part in all phases of church work, she belongs to many patriotic organizations and has held many state offices as well as local ones.

Her hobbies are collecting antique emerald green glass, bridge and golf.

She has nine grandchildren and little Tommy—(not quite three years),—son of Dr. and Mrs. Bob Laidlaw, just last week started off down the lane to grandma's house all by himself. What for? Why cookies, of course.

☆

HERE IS THE barbecue recipe.

2 cups cold roast meat, (beef, pork or veal or one 12 oz. can roast beef)
½ cup finely chopped onions
1/3 cup tomato catsup
½ cup cup broth or water
10 drops tobasco sauce
1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. vinegar
1 tsp. brown sugar
salt and pepper

Slice meat thinly, add the other ingredients and simmer until the onions are cooked and the meat has absorbed the liquid. Serve on warm buns with chopped pickle relish.

Cubs Stage Take-off on TV

Cub Scout Pack 4 presented a take-off on TV shows and commercials Monday evening, with Mrs. Richard Dustin and Mrs. John Dennis, idea chairmen, in charge.

The meeting was opened with Den 10 presenting the flag. Den 2 took charge of the stage properties, cameras and the "idiot" cards.

☆

LADIES DAY with games and prizes was aptly done by Den 5 and at this time the cameras spanned the audience for "It Could Be You" and "Strike It Rich."

Awards were presented to those in the camera eye.

Following the presentations, Den 9 did "The Mickey Mouse Show" and Den 8 dressed as Mexican Troubadours complete with mule and cart rendered "The Faygo Uptown Seranade."

"I've Got a Secret" by Den 6, a Maypo commercial by Den 10 and a satire on the late, late movie featuring short, short movies and long, long commercials was presented by Den 1.

☆

ANNOUNCEMENTS were made including the Blue and Gold Banquet to be held February 24 in the Baptist Youth House served by the ladies of the church.

The banquet will again be limited to the Cubs and their parents and tickets will be sold.

Knots including the clove hitch, fisherman's knot and bow line are the ones the boys will be working on this month.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Great hilarity was enjoyed by those attending the meeting of Pack 4 of the Cub Scouts Monday evening when an unscheduled bit of comedy took place during the program of "take-offs" on TV shows and commercials.

In the presentation of the "Sage Brush Shorty" show, the Cubs were playing a potato game taken from musical chairs when the voice of the Cubmaster, Dr. Richard Dustin, interrupted loudly

"Will the audience please rise and face . . ."

A few seconds of silence and many mystified faces were apparent before a great burst of laughter broke out and the embarressed doctor rushed to turn off a tape recorder, which is used for opening and closing ceremonies of the pack.

The unexpected happenings lend spice ot the every day life in Tecumseh along with the many activities of the residents. A number of parties with the proceeds for polio have been held including one given by the city chairman.

Mrs. Harold Easton entertained three tables of bridge players Thursday evening. Winners were Mrs. Ben Gillies, Mrs. Dudley Hain and Mrs. June Green.

Mrs. Robert Custard has also scheduled a Polio bridge party for Monday, February 6, at her home on Shady Lane.

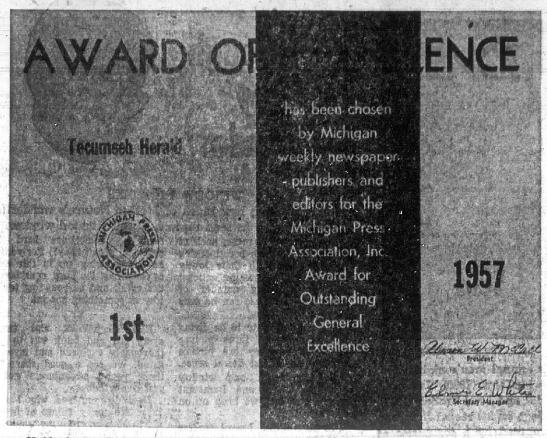
Accomplished: Half of Our Goal



Half of our goal was accomplished Saturday night when the president of the Michigan Press Association presented us with the above certificate.

We were grateful to be judged first in the state in our classification. The judges' comments:

". . . . The Herald in the opinion of the judges, won this by a nose. And it was a case of generally excellent news coverage along with editorial comment and community leadership that made the fraction difference . . . pictures were on a par. However, judges felt that an editorial page that was prominent and easily-found, a good society touch and emphasis on local news coverage rather than the crutch of handouts made for an outstanding newspaper. Front page pictures were exceptionally fine, and there was a modern touch to typography without a loss of good taste. A nice job all the way around."

BUT — the award was only half our goal. The readers of a newspaper are the best judges of all. The greatest honor we can receive is to have our weekly rate first place in the hearts of Tecumseh area folks.

If readers like their paper, they subscribe and thereby increase circulation. An upward circulation trend gives the advertising merchants increasingly better coverage, the publishers confidence that their paper is wanted and accepted.

About 9,000 local and area people read The Herald every week, 52 yeeks a year, the most widely circulated newspaper — daily or weekly in Tecumseh. During the past four months, the circulation has increased by nearly 200—a rather phenomenal growth for any weekly newspaper.

We hope circulation continues to climb. A steady growth indicates to us that you like The Herald, the newspaper we want to rank as tops among our readers here.

WINDOW PICTURES

It's amazing how much of Mother Nature's wonderful phenomena can be seen through a well situated window.

The seasonal changes, each of which has it's own breath-taking beauty; birds with their lovely coloring and interesting actions; and a surprising number of animals — all these can be ours just for the looking.

We are fortunate to be living in a room with three picture windows and they are picture windows in a most literal sense.

To the south one window overlooks Logan and Democrat streets and thus we keep up on the 'city life'.

To be truthful, I must confess that this time of year the north window rates very little attention. It looks out on a screened porch which, although lovely in summer, is depressingly barren when the cold north winds blow.

Is anything more deserted and uninteresting than a screened porch in winter?

☆

WINDOW-WISE, our pride and joy looks to the west. Any season of the year, any hour of the day, the west window presents a view that is delightful.

Evans Creek twists and turns its way through our "window picture." The tree lined banks and the creek itself, rippling over rocks at the bend and peacefully sliding over the deeper spots always presents a restful, soul satisfying scene.

Hustle and bustle are forgotten, the tensions of the day are absent, and here, at the west end of Logan street, the view from our window makes it hard to realize that we are but a short seven blocks from downtown.

For all it's soothing effect our view to the west is by no means a "still life."

There is action and action aplenty! Feeding stations right outside the window are well patronized. There is a constant coming and going of both birds and squirrels. After a free meal the many trees and shrubs along the creek make wonderful playgrounds.

In addition to wild life the creek also attracts children (the two are sometimes hard to separate, aren't they?) For years, anyone growing up in this end of town has, I'm sure, considered the creek and surrounding territory as something special.

☆

EVERY TWIST and turn, every hill and bank has to be thoroughly explored and investigated. We see a good share of these young adventurers going past our window.

Now do you see why I say there are many things of interest to be seen from my window? In the coming weeks I hope you'll let me share some of my adventures with you.

Moving — But with Regrets

In police work, one comes to expect tragedies — and Fred O'Donnell had his share during 21 years with the State Police.

The most heart-rending of all happened last fall when Dugald Pellot of Tecumseh was killed by a crazed gunman. When it happened O'Donnell was about five feet away.

"All your life you dread having to tell a trooper's wife that he has been shot.

"It happened to me twice that day," he said.

Now the tall lieutenant — recently promoted from sergeant — has been transferred to Paw Paw and a well-earned promotion.

LT. O'DONNELL is now assistant commander of the 5th District, which encompasses six posts. He ran the Clinton post three years.

"We hate to move," Fred told The Herald last week and his family nodded in agreement.

Residents of Herrick Park for the past three years, the O'Donnells really enjoyed Tecumseh and specially its people.

This makes the ninth time Lt. O'Donnell has been moved.

During Lt. O'Donnell's three-year stint as commander of the Clinton, it grew from a seven-man unit to 21.

A new post was constructed and moved into just a few days after his term was completed.

Mrs. Leonard Ramage Now Practical Nurse

The exercises were attended by her immediate family and friends from Britton, Tecumseh, Farmington and Flat Rock.

Mrs. Alma Baughey of Ypsilanti, a sister of Mrs. Clarence Herford of Britton, was also a graduate and Mr. and Mrs. Herford attended the xercises.

Indians Seek No. 6 Here Against Monroe

Tecumseh gained revenge over Hillsdale five Friday night with an impressive 62 to 46 victory.

The win moved the Indians up to third spot in the Southeastern League behind Hillsdale and Monroe Catholic Central.

The Indians' record is now 5-4 and could be 7-4 after meeting a weak Blissfield team here next Tuesday night.

☆

TECUMSEH JUMPED to an early lead over the visiting Hillsdale team which had whipped the Indians by 20 points last December.

Larry Yoakum and John Elliott captured scoring honors with Yoakum ripping through the Hillsdale defense for 27 points. Elliott pitched in 21.

A tight Indian zone defense which collapsed on Hillsdale's 6-6 center Dave Granger, limited the visitors' star scorer to 18 points.

Tecumseh's performance was probably its best of the season. Not only did the local team defeat Hillsdale, but did it soundly.

☆

The Indian defense forced Hillsdale to shoot from the outside, and without much scoring success.

Uncle Hermie Sez--

After watching our high school girls play basketball last week, we submit that there should be a gals' game played some evening when our young men perform.

Maybe the girls could play their first half at the intermission of the varsity tilt, then finish up right after the lads are done.

The girls would really love playing in front of a large crowd — and the spectators would enjoy it just as much.

Jaycee '5' Plays in Benefit Game

The Tecumseh Jaycee basketball team will play the Clinton Jaycee five in a polio benefit game Thursday night in the Clinton gym at 8.

Yoakum Under Knife

Lary Yoakum, scrappy and high scoring guard for the Tecumser high school basketball team, underwent an appendectomy Tuesday afternoon and will be lost to the team for several weeks.

SAY, THAT HURTS — Essie Johnson, Willow Run 155-pounder, finds himself in the firm grop of Tecumseh's Tony Kasik. Essie and Tony staged three exciting rounds and their bout ended in a draw.

Wrestling Is Exciting Sport

High school wrestling is a little-known sport, but we'll wager it packs as much excitement as any of the popular scholastic contests.

Bob Breniff has done a fine job at Tecumseh, building a hustling mat team in its first season of real competition.

Crowds who come out to matches soon learn that this is as exciting to watch as a basketball game.

LAST WEEK, Willow Run edged Coach Breniff's charges, 30 to 20, but not before local fans were treated to a thrilling win by Indian heavyweight Charley Baird.

Charley pinned his opponent, 200-pound James Moore. This is comparable to a boxer knocking out his foe.

It was the evening's final match and when referee John Kosieh of Adrian signaled "pin" —the stands exploded.

Team-mates and fans rushed to Charley in a scene of bedlam in which the defeated Moore almost was trampled.

☆

COACH BRENIFF has two youngsters who have turned in exceptional records so far this winter. Both are serious state championship threats.

Dennis Ireland, at 95 pounds, is unbeaten in five duel meets.

Ron Johnson, 145-pounds, has a record of 4 and 1, losing only to a matman who was runner-up in the state meet last year.

All of Ron's victories were pins.

THURSDAY, THE Indians play host to Toledo Catholic Central's unbeaten squad at 7 p.m. in the local gym.

Tecumseh seeks revenge for its early-seasnn defeat to CC by a scant 25 to 18 margin.

If you have never viewed high school grapplers in action, why not plan to see this match or one of the remaining meets:

February 6 — Sylvania, here, 7:30 p.m.

February 11 — at Toledo Whitmer.

February 13 — Adrian, here, 7 p.m.

February 20 — at Willow Run.

February 26 — Adrian, here, 7:30 p.m.

NO SMILE, THIS — Ivan Halberstadt of Tecumseh isn't grinning. That's a hard-bitten session of teeth-clenching as he battles to keep Ken Jefferson of Willow Run from pinning him. This 165-pound clash went to Ken by a 9 to 2 decision.

Unbeaten Britton '5' Still 5th in State

State-ranked Britton-Macon copped its 10th straight win last Friday night at Ida with an easy 54 to 35 victory.

The Tories, rated fifth in the state, meet Deerfield on the local court Friday night and then host Pinckney next Tuesday evening.

Merl Sanch and Jerry Benedict sparked the Tories to the romp over Ida in the third period when the winners moved from a four to a 21-point lead.

Sanch collected 17 points to edge Benedict by one point for scoring honors.

☆

THE 6-4 SANCH and 6-2 Benedict controlled the boards so effectively that Ida usually got only one shot at the bucket.

The tallest Ida player was Bob Loga at 5-11. He was on the bench in Britton's big third period with four fouls.

The win gave Coach Bill Hetrick's five a 7-0 mark in the Tri-County League, best in the loop.

GIRLS' VARSITY — Unbeaten in three seasons of play is Coach Carol Sheffer's Tecumseh high girls' varsity. With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

The GAA BASKETBALL teams added two more victories to their continuous winning streak.

The official records of this winning record go back unbroken for three long years.

Latest victims were Airport varsity and reserve teams Thursday night. Tecumseh's reserves won 24 to 6 and the varsity, 27 to 13.

The Airport teams were met by the welcoming committee about 6:30 and the junior varsity game started at 7.

The local team, dressed in white with Tecumseh emblems on their jerseys led the Airport girls all the way. The aggressiveness of the Indian guards was a contributing factor to the victory.

Other Tecumseh forwards and their scoring went like this: Yvonne Morningstar—4, Sharon Ries—1, Mary Colgrove—4, Joyce Partridge—4, Doris Oliphant—1, Carol Spangler—8, Kendra Ringman—2. Peggy Robinette and Mary Roberts didn't tally.

Guards who never shoot in girls basketball, were Joan Wing, Grace Dennis, Suzie Rohweder, Linda Hanna, Sandra Howard, Johanna Young and Jane Spreeman.

There was a Tecumseh cheering section of almost 20 girls led by the impromptu cheering of Joyce Stuart, Kendra Ringman, Suzie Rohweder, Janice Waggoner and Jean Hohenstein.

The Tecumseh forwards were led by Julia Boyce's 12 points.

Sherry Tucker had 2, Martha Owen—3, Marcia Kunkle—10, Joyce Partridge, Mary Colgrove, Carol Spangler also played, but didn't score.

Varsity guards were Carol Kapnick, Johanna Young, Joan Johnson, Joan Wing, Jane Colgrove and Linda Hanna.

You probably noticed some girls' names appearing twice in the listings. Those girls played for the JVs and the varsity, doing a great job both times.

The officials were Betty Dusa and Janice Ferry from Adrian College.

Jane Dillon and Mary Lou McConnell were the timers. The scorer was Astride Freimanis.

After the games everyone enjoyed having barbecues, relishes and milk in the cafeteria.

Last year's friendships were renewed while the food was being eaten. The Airport girls left for home sometime after nine. There will be a return game in February.

'Dutch' Hurls 300 on Legs of Rubber

It isn't often that a bowler as skilled as Darwin Creger gets rubbery knees when he steps onto the alley to throw.

But he had them last week—and this by his own admission.

He was rolling for the Des Ermia Furniture team, one of four crews he plays for each week—this, while compiling an aggregate average of about 195.

But back to that tenth throw. His teammates thought he wasn't going to try it as "Dutch" meticulously searched out his regular starting spot—and patiently waited for his legs to turn back into flesh and muscle.

☆

Two more direct hits and "Dutch" had his 300.

It was the first perfect game rolled in ABC-sanctioned play in Adrian, the third 300 in Lenawee county. Both of the other games came at Tecumseh's Airport Bowl.

☆

"DUTCH" GIVES credit for the development of his game to Cliff Preston, just as Tecumseh's other 300 performer, Earl Cook, did last fall.

Cliff is also a member of the Des Ermia squad and along with others on the team and friends in adjoining alleys, was peppering "Dutch" with vocal assistance.

He was notified Monday that because his team wears Service Bowling Shirts, distributed by Johnston & Powell of Toledo, he is being given a $1,000 U. S. Savings Bond.

Johnston & Powell also is presenting "Dutch" with a miniature gold bowling ball, a gold lapel piece and a gold certificate.

☆

"DUTCH," WHO helped Tecumseh high school win two football championships and then played three years of semi-pro ball, is a husky fellow, well capable of hurling a mean bowling ball.

Both he and his wife, Mary Helen, are employees of Tecumseh Products. She also is a bowler and really appreciated her husband's outstanding feat.

Doris Bilby was home for the weekend and Kenneth Naguson of Detroit also spent Sunday in the Bilby home.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

It's in the Bag

Out-of-towners must have wondered what was going on last Tuesday. Every parking meter was covered by a paper bag lettered "Free Parking."

Tuesday was officially designated "Free Parking Day" by the Town Council as a reward for going a year without a traffic accident.

"Traffic safety, like virtue, is its own reward," said Judge Cunningham as he proposed the motion. "But let's show our drivers we're proud of 'em!"

From where I sit, a little praise never hurts—in fact, that's why I talk in this column about the nice, fair-minded people I meet. Folks who live—and let live . . . who don't care whether you like beer or buttermilk at dinnertime. I say real neighbors never try to "park" their ideas on others!

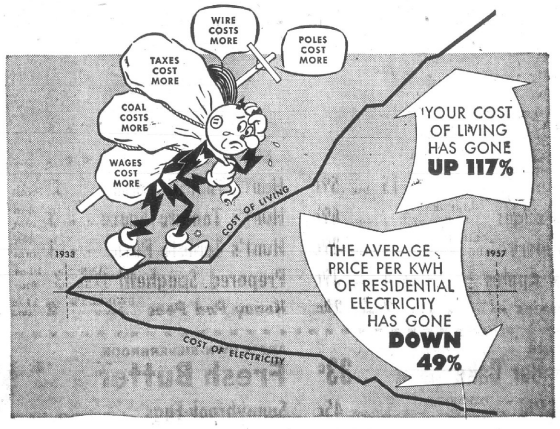
To keep on serving you well Reddy Kilowatt needs a raise

AND HE WANTS YOU TO KNOW WHY



CONSUMERS POWER COMPANY is asking the Michigan Public Service Commission for an increase in electric rates. If approved, it means the electric bill will go up only 3 to 4 cents a day for the average home. For families with electric living standards higher than average, the increase will depend upon how much electricity they use.

The drawing tells the story. Year after year while the cost of materials and the cost of living went up and up, the average price of electricity went down and down. The reason it went down was because everyone used more of it and the more electricity a customer uses, the less he pays per kilowatt-hour. There has been only one rate increase of a general nature in 36 years. That was in 1950 and it interrupted the downward trend in the average price of electricity only briefly.

We built bigger, more modern power plants that got more electricity out of a pound of coal. We put radio dispatching on our trucks to save time and lost motion. We centralized certain state-wide operations to reduce costs. We invented and developed prefabricated substations with interchangeable parts to reduce the investment. We stretched our dollars every way we could. But costs continued to go up.

Earnings Are Down

Everyone wants more electricity. We are selling more electricity than ever before. In spite of that, the rate of return on our property has been going down. That is because the cost of service has gone up while the average price we receive for service has gone down.

We have had to invest more than three hundred million dollars ($300,000,000) of additional money in the past 10 years to take care of the increasing needs of our customers for more electricity.

In the next five years we will have to raise hundreds of millions more of new money to invest in plants and equipment to take care of the expected needs of our electric customers. We can not hope to attract that much new money for investment unless we can show the investors that they will receive a fair return on their money. Our present earnings are not high enough to attract this new money which is needed to build facilities to serve the growing electric needs of our customers.

Electricity Still A Bargain

Electricity will still be a big bargain even after the proposed raise. The average dollar spent for electricity will still buy more than twice as much electricity as a dollar bought 30 years ago — when hamburger steak was 12c a pound.

And there will be plenty of electricity for all your future needs. We will continue to expand our plants, increase the capacity of our lines and substations, to guarantee all our customers an ample supply of electricity for all the wonderful and exciting new developments that lie ahead.

Only 3¢ to 4¢ a day more for the average home

Electricity Does So Much . . . Costs So Little

CITY MANAGER ED NELSON REP ORTS

Many Things Accomplished in 1957

Here's the annual report of progress made throughout the city during the past year, as seen from this office.

All city departments have covered considerable ground in the ever-present race to keep pace with the growth of this community.

One of the most important projects completed strengthening of our water system — something which has long been of concern to city officials.

Having adequate water pressure and stand-by capacity means a great deal to a community.

To guarantee Tecumseh's first-class rating in these matters, an additional well — capable of producing 700 gallons a minute—was drilled. It goes into service this winter.

Another key item was the new equipment purchased for our fire department. A new pumper and expansion of the fire house will add to the community's fire safety.

As important as the equipment is our fine group of regulars and volunteers who make up the department — in the opinion of many, one of the best in the state.

☆

CONSTRUCTION of the new $90,000 city hall was started in 1957 and the structure should be ready for occupancy in February.

This is one of the Tecumseh government's biggest accomplishments. A dedication in which we'll go all-out will be staged about March 1.

As soon as we're moved in, the doors will always be open for informal inspection tours by area folks. We hope you'll all be as proud of this new center for your city government as we are.

IN 1957, WE installed more than 14,000 feet of curbs and gutters. This project, which has been going on the past five years, is beginning to pay dividends in lowered maintenance costs.

We hope it will be possible to continue with this program for several more years and I feel that eventually, upkeep costs will be cut in half.

Sanitary sewer was installed to the north end of Murray drive, starting at Pottawatamie.

We had hoped that Tecumseh Acres would be partly covered with sewers, but it just couldn't be fitted into the busy public works schedule. It probably will be completed during 1958.

IN THE 12 MONTHS of '57 there were 74 new homes built in the city at a cost of $733,085. Twenty-five garages were constructed for $27,442.

Commercial building permits issued were valued at $155,000 and church construction at $19,600. Repairs to homes came to $65,107.

Tecumseh has some wonderful schools of which we can all feel justly proud. Expense incurred, reflected in tax duplicates, caused some comments, but in order to have these A-1 facilities for our children we have to meet their costs.

Another vital item for area citizens is the addition to Herrick Memorial hospital, which was begun last summer — at no cost to citizens.

☆

IN SUMMARY, I would say that for the past five years we have been going through a "catching-up" program. Although there are many problems still to be fixed, it looks like the big items are well behind us.

Our program in the future will be to do many of the smaller things that we were unable to tackle when we were so engrossed in these of the king-size variety.

Tecumseh is as good a town in which to live as any in Michigan. If we continue to work together we can always keep Tecumseh on top.

President Is Detroit Edison Chosen Chairman

Three-day Machinac Bridge dedication ceremonies scheduled to start June 26 and climaxed by the official dedication on Saturday, June 28, will be headed by Detroit Edison President Walker L. Cisler.

Prentiss M. Brown, chairman of the Bridge Authority, stated that the objective of the celebration will be three-fold:

1—To give our state added national recognition as a leader in economic, industrial and agricultural development.

2—To join the two peninsulas in a far-reaching program to stress the outstanding resources of our people, our land and our industries.

3—To highlight the recreation advantages of Michigan's vacationland.

Mr. Brown said: "We have in Walker Cisler one of our state's strongest supporters, and as an active member of the Michigan Economic Development Commission, he will have the support throughout our industrial and civic communities in making the Mackinac Bridge known everywhere as a living symbol of Michigan's forward progress."

Small Fry Are Delivering Snow on 'Mail Route'

Tecumseh residents have been getting a lot of snow in their mailboxes and it is not compliments of Uncle Sam's Postal System, according to Jack Metcalf, postmaster.

It seems that the smaller of the male species has been observed carrying out this indelicate task.

It is requested that parents try to put an end to same.

Mr. Metcalf warns that an investigation may be made.

REALTY VIEWS

An energetic young man hurried into our office and said to me excitedly, "How would you like a hot deal? This one is really a scorcher."

"Sounds good," I replied. "Tell me more."

"I really want to sell a duplex I own. I'll price it so I can get out in a hurry and so you can make a quick sale. You see, I have a chance to buy into a business. That's something I've always wanted to do. But I need to raise some money. And the only big savings account I have is the equity I've built up in the duplex. So let's unload it. Do you think it will sell right away at an appealing price?"

"Let's take a look at it," I replied. "I can tell better then. However, even with price appeal, it often takes several weeks or more to dispose of a good property. On the other hand, if we are lucky, we might sell it the first week or two."

The duplex proved to be in good condition — and in an acceptable district.

"Didn't I promise you a hot deal?" the young man asked enthusiastically.

"It should sell," I replied. And, in less than a month, it DID.

May we help you SELL too? We don't require a "Hot Deal." Just a sincere and cooperative seller. Why not call us TODAY?

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 18 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 6, 1958 | 14 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

WELL, GIRLS, THE BRANIGIN home — that beautiful colonial home on the site of the new Kroger store — has been sold.

The buyer is Charles Irelan, former owner of a used car lot here who moved to Saline a week ago.

It's still not known what the fate of the house will be because Mr. Ireland hasn't as yet decided if he'll move it intact to a new location, or have it pulled down for salvage.

We'll keep you posted.

☆

TIPTON HAS A NEW CORRESPONDENT — Mrs. Fay Luce, local telephone operator, who can be reached by calling Tipton 15.

Mrs. Luce is replacing Mrs. Williams Grigg who decided she couldn't continue to fit newspapering chores into her busy schedule.

We are sorry to lose Mrs. Grigg, who did such a fine job of covering the Tipton area.

We're real pleased that Mrs. Luce is able to take over. Folks from that community should call Mrs. Luce when they have news — large or small.

CLASSIFIED ADVERTISING often provides some of the most interesting reading to be found in a newspaper — any paper, whether it's The New York Times or our weekly.

Because of this, classifieds get tremendous results.

The classified section is the market place for the individual in his quest to sell a used car or a toaster, to rent an apartment or seek a job.

For the newspaper, the classified ads provide small but vital revenue and over a year's time contribute a considerable amount to the column on the annual Profit & Loss Statement called "Gross Income."

But you can imagine the bookkeeping entailed in running the classified section. tl often gets to the point, for a paper like The Herald, of being just too much. The few pennies of profit on individual classifieds can easily be lost as they wend their way through the bookkeeping channels.

Therefore, so that we will not have to increase the rates on classifieds, all individually-placed want ads must be paid in advance beginning next week.

Business places, on open account, which regularly run classified copy will be billed at the end of each month, as always, along with their display ad charges.

BY GEORGE, WE DO HAVE some long-time Herald readers.

Mrs. Will E. Allen of Detroit noted our column of January 26 in which we stated that Willis F. Smith, 90, has been reading this weekly for 60 years.

She wrote:

"So as I am a long and faithful member of 66 years please have my name added to your list. I wear glasses and see very good, also hear and write."

Mrs. Allen, who will be 91 years young March 22, is now a member in good standing of our "Veteran Readers Club."

Any others?

☆

WE RECEIVE ODDLES OF free publicity every week—sometimes so much we hardly have a chance to read but a few lines.

Most of the stuff hits File 13, that's the one which opens from the top.

One recent handout started so cute we had to pass along just the first sentence to you.

The release, from the Michigan Tourist Council in Lansing, went on for several pages about winter sports in our state, much too long for us to run.

But here's the opening:

☆

OUT AT BOYSVILLE — THE home for about 125 young men who come from broken families —there is considerable emphasis put on after-school activities.

The lads display real senses of humor when it comes to naming their teams.

In the major division the "Mau Maus" (leading with six wins) are an example.

Playing in the same circuit are the Eagle Beaks, Sneaky Six, Swivel Hips, Bombers — and then for a change of pace, I guess — the Boys.

In the minor group among the crews are the Sputnicks, Shorthorns, Might M's and Zombies.

New Allotment Is West of Red Mill

A new housing allotment, called Red Mill Subdivision, is planned by Town and Country Homes, Inc., Detroit, Glenn Kohler, local realtor, announces.

The plat was presented to council Monday night and accepted.

Architect's Death Causing Pay Delay to City Hall Builder

City Manager Ed Nelson told council Monday night that the new city hall is nearing completion and officials would probably start moving in about the middle of February.

Departments of Tecumseh government contemplate being in and ready to do business in the new city hall on February 17.

The sudden death last week of Lyle Sissler, the building's architect, has presented a problem in approving work completed and delayed a payment due Max Elliott, contractor.

Mr. Elliott, who attended the meeting, asked council to appoint another architect who would approve construction.

He said that council could not lawfully pay him until the work had been approved by an architect.

A special meeting is planned, probably this week, to secure an architect's services and pay Mr. Elliott.

☆

HERRICK PARK residents, living on the "loop" of Herrick Park drive, received council action to change that section of the street back to Outer drive.

Both council and residents admitted there was a misunderstanding.

Council adopted the curb and gutter and zoning resolutions presented at the previous meeting with the exception of parts pertaining to zoning on N. Union street and the erection of signs by realtors after selling a house.

Realtors Jack Osburn and Glenn Kohler said such "sold" signs would be up for only a few days and that it was good advertising for their businesses.

The advertising sign question and N. Union street sections of the resolution were tabled.

Ralph Atchison of 207 East Kilbuck street passed away January 27 at the Herrick Memorial Hospital where he had been a patient for one week.

Uncle Hermie Sez:

We're pleased to see plans are in the works for a blow-out to show off our new city hall. Might your uncle Hermie add one suggestion? How about a banquet, invite governmental dignitaries from the area, maybe even Soapy. After all, our town doesn't get a new municipal building every year.

'Martin Luther' Will Be Shown at Local Church

The "Martin Luther" film will be shown in the Baptist Youth House, Sunday evening.

This film, depicting the Protestant Reformation, has been arranged for by Gloria Dei Lutheran Church. The Baptist Church has made its facilities available.

"There will be various church groups attending and it is hoped that the people of the community will take the opportunity to see this popular presentation," states Rev. Robert Bergman.

Everyone is invited and admission is free."

A few years ago this movie was shown in the theaters throughout the country with record attendance.

It presents the story of the Reformation in an authentic and appealing manner, giving both historical and religious value, according to Rev. Bergman.

Mothers Net $1,211

Volunteers soliciting were well pleased with the effort since last year's total was $1,079.

Tecumseh citizens may well be proud of this accomplishment as only one other area in the county was able to increase their giving above last year's.

The time has been extended to February 15 so that all benefits and collections scheduled may have time to make their contributions.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Well, button up your overcoat and plan for some added money for the fuel company because the ground hog certainly saw his shadow Sunday and there's no doubt about it.

Six more weeks of this cold and we will be shivered apart at the seams I'm afraid. Perhaps some of the flu germs will turn up their toes and croak and then Tecumseh residents won't be plagued with so much illness.

Spring is on the way though, Mrs. Max Elliott tells that her mother who lives in the southern part of Oklahoma writes that spring is there and the shrubs and trees are already green and pretty.

Mrs. Earl Woods is going to a warmer clime to spend the next two months and get away from the cold. She left this week for Elkton, Florida.

Mr. and Mrs. E. H. McConnell, who planned to return from Bradenton by plane, came home instead with Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Gilman last week by auto. Some people just don't like to get their feet off the ground, and it's certain the McConnells were glad to cancel the reservations.

Among the many who enjoy the sermons of the Rev. Blair Bashore is young Dennis (The Menace) Puffer, five-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Warren Puffer. Sunday morning he greeted his mother with the question, "If I don't shoot off my big mouth, can I go to church with you and her Rev. Bashore's sermon?"

Donna Cleveland of Dearborn spent the weekend with her mother, Mrs. Mary Cleveland.

Mrs. Frank Klapperick from Newport, Rhode Island is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jens Touborg, for a month while her husband is on sea duty.

Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Milheim entertained with a pool party Saturday evening. The guest list included Dr. and Mrs. Carleton Cook, Mr. and Mrs. Don Ketteman and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hammack.

Mrs. Milheim has been keeping in touch by phone with her father, Jess Sheets in Decatur, Indiana whose condition is improving following a stroke he suffered recently. He is able to be up in a chair for ½ hour intervals. The Milheims are going to Decatur to be with the family this weekend.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer House attended the North American Beauty and Fashion Show at the Sheraton-Cadillac Hotel Sunday. They were overnight guests of his brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin House.

LaVern Seizert has been ill with the flu at his home on North Adrian road.

Master Guy Bruce Manwaring is recovering nicely following a tonsilectomy Monday morning, but he was irate at having to miss his breakfast that day and didn't get over the interruption of his regular meals until he had breakfasted on Tuesday. Such inconsideration of a little man's tummy.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Woodward of Decatur, Illinois spent the weekend with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Woodward and Mrs. Perry Hayden.

Ed Beal is feeling just a little better each day, but is not to bear weight on his injured leg for two more months.

Mrs. Elizabeth L. Wing, Mrs. James E. Blocker and Dr. Arthur H. Brown returned Monday from Chicago where Mrs. Wing and Dr. Borwn have been attending the annual clinics of the Chicago Dental Society.

Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Brazee are recovering at their home on N. Maiden Lane following a bout with the flu. The Rev. Fred Ambler from Brooklyn, Michigan, a retired Baptist minister, filled the pulpit Sunday morning in the Iron Creek church.

Don Brazee was absent from school three days this past week, confined with the flu and Mrs. Neal Brazee has also been suffering from the same ailment.

Neal Brazee returned Tuesday by plane from Bridgeport, Connecticut where he has been on business as purchasing agent for the Bridgeport Brass Company in Adrian.

Lee Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Marsh of 400 Outer Drive, and Ed Covell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Covell of W. Logan street, left Wayne Major Airport Monday night for San Diego, California where they will enter the U.S. Marine Corps. Their parents and Mrs. Robert Billow and children accompanied them to the airport to see them off.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

THOSE OF YOU WHO ATTENDED the game Friday night saw a phenomenon not seen in Tecumseh for nigh onto 20 years.

J. J. Walper appeared wearing a real, "live" raccoon coat, full length, yet.

It caused a minor sensation among the spectators. It turns out that he bought this coat second-hand in Ann Arbor.

Most of the kids thought, "has he lost his mind?"

Not me. Hey. Dad, you wouldn't have one of those things stashed away in the attic, would you?

After the game a percentage of the total class members present at the game. The trophy has been ordered. The main trophy will start next year if it works well this year.

So far the seniors have won it once, with the junior class winning it twice. The rest of the percentages haven't been figured out yet.

OUR GAA BASKETBALL RECORD is still intact.

High scorer for the Tecumseh JV's was Yvonne Morningstar with 9. The other scoring ran as follows: Joyce Partridge, 6; Carol Spangler, 3; and Mary Colgrove, 2.

TEMPORARY BRIDGE — Traffic on N. Evans street was routed across the wooden bridge over Red Mill dam beginning Monday. It's two-lane and contains a walkway and at least one motorist has mused it's better than the old passage. Workers are now in the process of tearing it down and should have the task completed by the end of next week. Forty-five feet pilings will then be driven for the new bridge, which probably will be finished in early spring.

From the

Superintendent's Desk

By JAMES McDOWELL

A group of over a hundred parents and teachers met in the high school study hall Monday evening to discuss plans for the new junior high.

Postal cards inviting parents of all sixth and seventh grade pupils brought representative group from all over our district.

David J. Dick, who has been chosen as the new junior high principal, and I answered questions.

A resume of the specific educational objectives of the Tecumseh public schools from the kindergarten through the twelfth grade was represented.

In the junior high, which will consist of the seventh and eighth grades, the pupils move from teacher to teacher, each a specialist in the field in which the pupil is to study.

This is quite a change from the elementary school and pupils are given orientation in the early days of their Life Adjustment classes in the seventh grade.

Six classes of one hour each are planned with approximately half of each period being given over to supervised study.

Mr. Dick presented the proposed junior high curriculum.

Each seventh-grade pupil have two semesters of English, two semesters of Mathematics, two semesters of Life Adjustment combined with physical education, two semesters of science, two semesters of American and Michigan History, and either two semesters of band, nine weeks each of home economics, vocal music, art, and shop, or two semesters of remedial reading.

Each eighth-grade pupil will have two semesters of English, two semesters of Mathematics, two semesters of Life Adjustment combined with physical edlcation, two semesters of Science, one semester of home economics, one semester of shop, and either two semesters of band, one semester each of foreign language and art or one semester each of foreign language and vocal music.

The major improvements planned for next year over the present junior high program are:

- Addition of a sixth class to replace the present study hall period.
- Cutting down of class size in both the seventh and eighth grade from better than 40-per-class to approximately 30-per-class.
- Addition of two semesters of American and Michigan History in the seventh grade, and foreign language in the eighth grade.

The home economics, shop, vocal music, art, and foreign language courses are exploratory courses for the purpose of helping the pupils determine their future plans for high school and to give a well rounded rudimentary training in these fields.

Remedial reading will be required of pupils whose reading levels test lower than fifth grade. These pupils will receive special training in reading and will be allowed to choose a different class as soon as their reading ability has reached the proper level.

Monroe CC, tied with Hillsdale for top spot in the Southeastern League, defeated Tecumseh at Monroe last month.

Next Tuesday evening, the Indians meet the Milan team here in a non-league encounter.

Foul Shooting Provides Bulge

Tecumseh, hitting on 30 of 45 foul attempts, handed visiting Monroe high its eighth straight basketball defeat last Friday night, 52 to 47.

Both teams were ragged and wild in their play and the Indians' performance especially was far below par. Both clubs missed easy scoring opportunities.

John Elliott paced the Tecumseh scorers with 18 points. Bob O'Neill and Dave Elliott, each netting only one field goal, tallied 14 and 12 points respectively.

Tecumseh moved ahead by two points at the end of the first quarter and never relinquished the lead. Monroe pulled to within two points numerous times although the Trojans usually trailed by five to seven points.

TWICE EARLY in the fourth stanza Monroe pulled to within two points but were never able to get closer.

The Indians forced the visitors to come out of their zone defense in the final stanza with a stall. However, the local players then missed repeatedly easy shots near the bucket and even missed from the foul line where their victory was actually gained.

In the reserve tilt, Coach Doug Murdoch's team scored a 12-point win, 54 to 42. Bob Dick hit for 18 points, Jack Sisson 12, and Tom Walters 11 for the Indians.

Blissfield High Falls on Tuesday for Win No. 7

Sand Creek comes to Britton Friday evening as the Tories set their sights on Victory No. 13.

Pinckney fell Tuesday by a wide, 58 to 33 margin. Jerry Benedict dunked 17 and Merl Sanch 13 for the Tories.

Jerry dropped in 31 points.

Playing on their home court, the Tories were never in danger while posting their 11th straight.

At the half Britton-Macon led 30 to 21.

The Junior Varsity has caught the win fever, posting a 31 to 9 edge.

Junior High Notes

By ARTHUR J. COLLINGSWORTH

NOW AFTER THE SEMESTER tests, we may rest easier. Our final results will appear on our report card.

☆

THERE WAS A JUNIOR HIGH basketball game recently at Addison. The first game was with the eighth grade.

Eighth-grade scorers from Tecumseh were John Britton, 10 points, Tim Whitney, nine points, Gale Miller, two points, and Eugene Verrier, one point. The final score was Tecumseh 22, Addison 21.

Seventh-grade scorers from Tecumseh were Craig Rosacrans, three points, Kent Lucas, four points, and Max Quinn, two points. Final score was Addison 11, Tecumseh 9.

The teams were both working under the handicap of only having one official. There was a fairly good turnout of Tecumseh junior students, for an out-of-town game.

☆

Seventh-grade scorers from Tecumseh were Jack Dick, two points, Tim Sisson, two points, Craig Rosacrans, eight points, Kent Lucas, two points, Bradley McCombs, two points, Max Quinn, 10 points, Jack Rutherford, two points, and Mike Deaner, one point.

Final score was Tecumseh 29, Clinton 20.

Eighth-grade scorers were Tim Whitney nine points, Gale Miller, six points, John Britton, nine points, John Baker, two points, James LeBaron, two points, and Raymond Yenor one point. Final score was Tecumseh 29, Clinton 19.

Mr. Dermont Poley II and Mr. Carl Hale were officials. Mr. Gross's eighth team has won all four games. Mr. Berkley's seventh grade team has won two of their four games.

THERE WAS A JUNIOR HIGH game last Friday at Milan.

Scorers for the seventh grade were Jack Dick, two points; Craig Rosacrans, six points; Philip Radant, five points; Tim Sisson, two points; Kent Lucas, four points; Bradley McCombs, four points; Tom Smith, one point and Max Quinn, four points.

The final score was Tecumseh 28 and Milan 27. The last three minutes showed a lot of action, on the part of Tecumseh. Our players came up from behind to win. They have won three games and lost two.

The eighth-grade game ended in their first defeat. During the last quarter, Tecumseh played almost helpless. Milan came from about five behind to thirteen ahead. Still Mr. Charles Gross's team has won four out of five.

☆

THIS IS SIXTH IN A SERIES of interviews with different junior teachers. This week we shall interview Mr. Leslie Bennett. Mr. Benentt is head of the Tecumseh junior and senior high school music department.

Mr. Bennett was born at Janesville, Wisconsin. He attended different rural schools, in the adjacent area for his elementary education. For his junior and senior high school he attended the Fort Atkinson, Wisconsin schools.

He lived on a dairy farm. His entire family was a musical one. His father was a tenor, his mother a singer and piano player, his older sister piano, flute, and singing, his younger brother sang and played a baritone horn, his younger sister piano, singing, and cello, and he played violin, oboe, piano, singing, sousaphone and a string base.

He said that his family gave small performances.

He then went to Milton College at Milton, Wisconsin, for a year.

The then enlisted in the Air Force for service during World War II. He flew a B-52 and was mostly in service at the Pacific. He held the rank of first lieutenant.

He won the soldiers cross, for being a hero while not in combat. He was in Hawaii when a member of his crew survived a plane crash. Twelve different parties tried to reach him, but were unsuccesful.

He had landed on a small ledge, with a thousand foot drop on one side. After two days of vain rescue, Mr. Bennett took it upon himself to crawl down a narrow ledge and reached him. They both went out together.

He went to the University of Wisconsin where he received his degree in agriculture. He decided to study music, and he came to the University of Michigan.

He attended the music school there for three years. Then he finished his last year at Eastern Michigan.

He directed the Air Force ROTC, Glee Club ,sang with the Michigan Singers, Michigan Men's Glee Club and many others.

Hometown Seldom Notes Greatness

It takes people from another state or a different city to point up and honor his achievements.

So it is with Ray Herrick.

Adrian's Chamber of Commerce staged its annual recognition banquet last week and the person its members formally applauded was our own Mr. Herrick.

Citizens of Tecumseh are pretty familiar with the philantrophy of Mr. Herrick, the founder of Tecumseh Products, and with the formation 10 years ago of his Herrick Foundation.

But it was Adrian's Chamber which put these things together and came up with the plaudits for Mr. Herrick.

To many old-time Tecumsehites, the various acts of philantrophy made over the years by Mr. Herrick become vague and sometimes forgotten.

But to the newcomers, like your present publishers, who learn of them all at once — well, it's a pretty overpowering record, certainly one that would match anything done in a similar vein any place in this nation.

Tecumseh has a million-dollar hospital, thanks to the Herrick Foundation. It's an institution for which taxpayers have never had to contribute one cent.

This alone is a great gift. Just ask someone in a town this size with an inadequate one.

But there are many other — the new city hall, the bulk of cost of our swimming pool, the city's second police cruiser, fire fighting equipment, country club.

There are dozens of smaller donations, ones we'll never know about, only the folks in the small country churches and families which Mr. Herrick assisted will know and when they received the funds, it was always with a promise that the donor be anonymous.

Mr. Herrick's philosophy of giving is a simple one:

"God has been good to me. It's my duty to help others."

His charity carries one stipulation: do everything in your own power to help yourself, now and always.

The theme that motivates Mr. Herrick's action are in his words: "Try to leave this world a little better than it was when you arrived."

Whether we are rich or poor, this same outlook would serve all of us well as we move down the path of life.

ANOTHER IN AREA CHURCH SERIES

Founded Fall, 1939

The Britton Bethel Baptist Church was founded in September 1939 by 39 former members of the Rea and Cone Methodist Protestant churches under the leadership of Rev. Edwin H. DuBois.

The present building was purchased in October of that same year and the new church incorporated under the name Beth-El Independent Tabernacle.

In 1942 the building was raised and a basement constructed for Sunday School class rooms and an addition added.

In 1950 the church became associated with the General Association of Regular Baptist. At that time an amendment was made changing the name of the church to the present one.

Rev. Edwin H. DuBois continued as pastor until January 1956.

THE PRESENT pastor Rev. Jack Sorensen was called to minister in April 1956.

As a New Testament Church, Regular Baptist Churches possess these distinctives:

1. Christ is its Head: (Ephesians 1:22; Clossians 1:18;)
2. The Supremacy of the Scriptures: (1 Timothy 3:15, 16 & 17;)
3. Soul Liberty;

(a) Every man accountable to God; (Romans 10:14;)

(b) Every man has the right to private judgment; (Galatiens 6:4 & 5;)

4. Separation of church and State; (Matthew 22:21;)
5. Regenerate church membership; (John 3:3; Acts 2:41-47;)
6. Baptism by immersion in water; (Acts 8:26-39; Romans 6:4;)
7. Autonomy of the local church; (Matthew 18:15-17; Acts 15:22;)

MISSIONARY TWINS — Mrs. Marian Neff, left, and her twin, Norma, who is Mrs. Charles Anderson, are both in foreign missionary work The Neffs are in Africa and the article accompanying these pictures is about them. The Andersons are in Londrina, Brazil. In another issue, there will be a story about them.

Dale Neffs Report

By MARY SEAGER

Dale and Marian Neff of the United Missionary Society arrived safely at Lagos, Nigeria, West Africa, from Liverpool in early October with their 14 pieces of luggage intact.

Mrs. Neff is the former Marion Comfort, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Comfort of Rogers highway and a graduate of Tecumseh high school.

This article is based on a series of letters the Neffs have been sending to her parents.

Sheep and goats were common but lizards of all shapes and sizes were more so. A red and purple, foot-long style is particularly popular with the lizard clan. As the houses don't have window coverings lizards have free run of most of the homes.

☆

THE WEATHER was cool enough for several blankets at night, but Mr. Neff seriously doubted that this would continue throughout the year.

As the rainy season had just ended, everything was a brilliant green with a lot of beautiful flowers in bloom. Gorgeously colored birds are seen often.

During the return drive from the United Missionary Conference in Tungan, Magajiya they drove the several hundred miles home on deep-rutted roads, covered with a red dust. Monkeys occasionally skittered across the road. They also saw huge anthills that reached a height of 10 or 15 feet.

Their home in Igbetti via Ilorin is a mud mansion of 11 rooms. The walls are plastered inside and out with concrete. The roof is grass and they have concrete floors.

There are no glass windows to wash and only three rooms with screens. Some of the 11 rooms are used mostly for storerooms.

The house has a large lawn with a shade tree. It was under this tree that they killed two very poisonous Spitting Cobras.

Oranges, lemons, grapefruit, bananas and coconuts are eaten almost all the year. The soil is quite fertile and a garden should be easy to grow.

☆

ACROSS THE ROAD from their home there is a large granite mound on which monkeys and baboons play all day.

A 70-year-old man patiently teaches them the difficult Yoruba language necessary in their missionary work.

The Neffs both feel they will grow to love their beautiful Nigerian countryside. They are also very hopeful about the success of their mission.

All their old friends in Tecumseh are wishing them the best of luck in this new mission.

Off to the villages!! Marian, Dorcas, and Eileen Lageer. (They surely didn't look this spry when the returned.) Note pump between bars of frame with these English valve stems, you really need a pump along.

Sealed bids for the purchase of 1957 Motor Vehicle Highway Fund Bonds to be issued by the City of Tecumseh, County of Lenawee, Michigan, of the par value of $30,000 will be received by the undersigned, at the City Hall in the City of Tecumseh, Michigan, until 5:00 o'clock p.m., Eastern Standard Time, on Monday the 17 day of February, 1958, at which time and place said bids will be publicly opened and read.

Said bonds will be dated 15 January 1958, will be coupon bonds in the denomination of $2,000 each, will be numbered consecutively in the direct order of their maturities from 1 to 15, both inclusive, and will bear interest from their date at a rate or rates not exceeding 4½ per cent per annum, payable on 15 July 1958 and thereafter semi-annually on each January 15 and July 15. Each bid shall state the annual interest rate or rates upon which it is submitted, expressed in multiples of 1/4 of 1 per cent. The interest rate for each coupon period on any one bond shall be at one rate only. Accrued interest to date of delivery of such bonds must be paid by the purchaser at the time of delivery.

Said bonds will mature serially $2,000.00 on the 15th day of July in each year commencing 15 July 1959 and ending 15 July 1973. Bonds are subject to redemption by the City prior to maturity, in inverse numerical order, or any one or more interest payment dates on and after 15 July 1959 at par and accrued interest plus a premium on each bond in accordance with the following schedule, to-wit:

$30.00 if called to be redeemed on or after 15 July 1959 but prior to 15 July 1961.

$20.00 if called to be redeemed on or after 15 July 1961 but prior to 15 July 1964.

$15.00 if called to be redeemed on or after 15 July 1964 but prior to 15 July 1966.

$10.00 if called to be redeemed on or after 15 July 1966.

Notice of redemption shall be published not less than 30 days prior to the date fixed for redemption, at least once in the Michigan Investor and in The Tecumseh Herald. Both principal and interest will be payable at such bank or trust company as shall be designated by the original purchaser of the bonds.

Bonds are to be issued under Act 175 of Michigan Public Acts of 1952, as amended for the purpose of defraying the City's share of the cost of constructing a new bridge over the River Raisin in the northern part of the City and situate on M-52 pursuant to contract with the Michigan State Highway Department. The principal and interest on the said bonds are payable primarily from the proceeds of revenues derived from State collected taxes to be returned to the City for major street purposes pursuant to law. The full faith and credit of the City is also pledged for the prompt payment of said principal and interest when due.

For the purpose of awarding the bonds, the interest cost of each bid will be computed by determining, at the rate or rates specified therein, the total dollar value of all interest on the bonds from March 1, 1958 to their respective maturities and deducting therefrom any premium. The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid on the above computation produces the lowest interest cost to the City. No proposal for the purchase of less than all of the bonds or at a price less than their par value, will be considered.

A certified or cashier's check in the amount of $3,000 drawn upon an incorporated bank or trust company and payable to the order of the Clerk of the City must accompany each bid as a guarantee of good faith on the part of the bidder, to be forfeited as liquidated damages if such bid be accepted and the bidder fails to take up and pay for the bonds. No interest shall be allowed on the good faith checks and checks of the unsuccessful bidders will be promptly returned to each bidder's representative or by registered mail.

Bids shall be conditioned upon the unqualified opinion of the purchaser's attorney, approving the legality of the bonds, the same to be procured at purchaser's expense. The cost of the printing of the bonds will be paid by the City. Bonds will be delivered at Tecumseh, Michigan.

The right is reserved to reject any or all bids.

Envelopes containing the bids should be plainly marked "Proposal for Bonds."

Any interested bidder will be furnished, upon request, a report of the essential facts pertaining to the financial condition of said City. Such request should be addressed to J. Dean Stanley, Financial Advisor for the City, 404 American State Bank Building, Lansing 68, Michigan.

A CHRISTMAS PRESENT RETURNS

Several weeks before Christmas we began noticing a new bird at our feeder. It looked much like a miniature nuthatch. He had a long narrow pointed bill, a round head, a square rather compact body and a short blunt cut-off tail.

His actions, too, indicated membership in the up-side-down clan. Size and coloration, however, were different.

Whereas the white-breasted nuthatches are about six inches in length the newcomer could not have been more than four and a half inches long.

And while the common nuthatch has very definite and distinct markings on his back this little one's back was an all over dark bluish-grey color.

He also wore a black cap and a white band encircled his head just above eye level. His front was a definite reddish color. An immediate search through bird books and several telephone calls confirmed our suspicions—we did indeed have a bird new to us. A Red-breasted Nuthatch!

☆

THROUGHOUT THE holidays we enjoyed the antics of this newest guest at our feeding stations.

His darting quick comings and goings, his insatiable appetite and his acrobatic-like movements never failed to entertain and amuse.

From his favorite upside down position on the limb, which is attached to the feeder, he eagerly gobbled suet—he also showed a great partiality for sunflower seeds.

As suddenly as he had come he was gone. With no preliminary warning, one day the little red-breasted nuthatch was not around at all.

How sad we were and how empty the feeder seemed. After several days and still no "red-breasted," we had begun to give him up. Although a regular migration hadn't been listed in the books maybe his stay with us was only a temporary stop over.

Whimsically, we began to think of him as a Christmas present. Maybe the other birds, in appreciation for a well stocked feeder had banded together and decided to please us with a visit from an entirely new and unfamiliar bird.

SEVERAL WEEKS ago, as Mom was opening the drapes one morning, she casually looked at the feeder and joyously exclaimed, "He's back again!"

And back again he was—we are still enjoying his daily visits!

Although it's not definite, there is a creeping suspicion that we have discovered the reason for his sudden absence.

Perhaps his first visit was merely a scouting operation and having found the neighborhood to his liking, couldn't it be that he went back for his mate?

We have not as yet seen two red-breasted nuthatches together, but I'm sure it is more than wishful thinking when we seem to detect a slight difference in the breast coloration.

Sometimes the red-breasted nuthatch has a front of soft reddish coloring, while again it seems that the reddish tint is darker—almost with a black mottling.

Wouldn't it be wonderful if we had a pair of "red-breasteds" living at the west end of Logan street!

'21 THS Graduate, Now at Pontiac, Helps Give Car

PONTIAC — A former Tecumseh resident, Mrs. Harry G. Dernberger, played a part in the presentation of a GMC station wagon to Pontiac State Hospital in the name of the Foundation for Aid to Emotionally Disturbed children.

Mrs. Dernberger was Margaret Marsh, daughter of Mrs. Fred Marsh of 108 E. Kilbuck street. She graduated from Tecumseh high school in 1921.

For many years she has been a resident here and secretary for the Foundation.

Mrs. Vivian Tubbs, field director of the Oakland county Extension groups, represented the organizations which purchased the vehicle.

It will be used to transport children, who are patients at Pontiac State Hospital.

The Foundation is engaged in a program to secure financial and material aid for the children who are committed, such as books, paper, materials needed in school work, play equipment.

The groups' series of field trips can now be expanded with the station wagon.

The Foundation is interested in providing items not included in the budget provided by the state.

Tardy Guest Explains He Got a Ticket

A traffic safety award was presented to the Lenawee County Extension Clubs January 23 when nearly 100 members of the clubs attended ceremonies held in the Presbyerian Fellowship Center in Blissfield.

R. H. Stine, public relations manager for Shell Oil Co., made the presentation to Mrs. Ward Bettis, county president.

The award was authorized by the National Safety Council for the work done toward traffic safety by the ladies.

☆

MR. STINE stated that he felt that the efforts of the ladies had helped to make folks in Lenawee county much more traffic conscious.

Mr. Stine was late for the meeting and the ladies were amused to hear him explain rather shame-facedly, "I got a ticket for speeding through Allen, Michigan."

The Raisin Green Bees of Tecumseh were among the clubs cited for their safety projects — their project being a "slow" sign for a highway in their neighborhood where 28 children live in a half mile area.

NATIONAL ELECTRICAL WEEK
FEB. 9-15, 1958

This week is National Electrical Week. It's a good time to ask yourself whether you are able to take full advantage of the benefits of today's wonderful electrical living. The fact is that new developments in home appliances, radios, television, lighting, heating and air conditioning that have been made in the last few years have outmoded the wiring in most homes. If old-fashioned wiring is keeping you from enjoying the convenience and comfort and safety of electrical living, make a point during National Electrical Week to have your wiring checked. Ask your wiring contractor what can be done. He'll be glad to explain how easy it is to live better . . . electrically with full HOUSEPOWER.

Three Folders on Dairying Are at County Office

● "Feeding Dairy Cows" is the title of Extension folder F-252.

Producing feed for dairy cows, using roughage in the ration, best feed buys, minerals and vitamins are all discussed in the publication.

● A second folder, F-253, offers tips on managing dairy heifers and dry cows to make the dairy operation more profitable.

Feeding, management and health are topics covered. The folder points out that heifers ready to go to work at freshening time are an asset to any milking herd.

● The third folder, F-254, is "Raising Calves to Improve the Dairy Business."

Dairymen will find suggestions on preparing the cow for freshening, handling her at calving time, feeding the young calf.

Successful calf raising results in more calves to choose from for upgrading the herd, greater income from calf sales, herd replacements when they are needed, no cash layout for herd replacements and no danger from buying disease troubles.

All three folders were written by Don Hillman, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State University.

Swine Directory Is Now Available at County Office

The new 1958 Michigan Swine directory is out, according to Clayton C. Ingerson, associate county agricultural agent.

It lists name, address, phone and location of almost 175 of the state purebred swine breeders.

Breeders of Berkshire, Chester White, Duroc, Hampshire, O.I.C., Landrace, Poland China, Tamworth, Yorkshire and Spotted Poland China are listed.

Mr. Ingerson says such a list offers county swine raisers an excellent chance to become acquainted with sellers of purebred animals.

Copies of the 1958 Michigan Swine Directory are available at the county Extension office in Adrian or from the Animal Husbandry Department, Michigan State University, East Lansing.

Conservation Means $$$

A soil conservation plan means dollars to the farmer, according to E. C. Sackrider, state conservationist.

A conservation plan provides for the use of every acre within its capabilities to meet the needs of the land for protection and improvement while meeting the farmer's personal needs and objectives.

Mr. Sackrider referred to a recent survey of a large number of farms with soil conservation plans which indicated that farmers who adopted soil conserving practices has higher incomes than before adoption of the practices.

Yields of crops were 8% higher for each three years of conservation farming.

☆

ON A CROP-ACRE basis, farm income and farm expenses, as well as net income, were highest on farms with a good, well-established conservation plan and lowest on farms with weak conservation plans.

Net income on farms with a good conservation plan averaged $1 per acre for each year of conservation farming.

The survey further showed that farmers believe that on-the-farm technical assistance is necessary for adequate conservation planning.

Such assistance is furnished to farmers in soil conservation districts by technically trained conservationist of the Soil Conservation Service, Mr. Sackrider said.

☆

FARMERS INTERVIEWED said that two of the most important soil conservation practices were crop rotations adapted to the capabilities of the land and pasture improvement.

Another interesting and important conclusion by farmers is that seldom are single or unrelated practices sufficient to do the job.

In other words, the "plant engineering" side of soil and water conservation must involve different combinations of various crops and practices to protect the land from excessive loss of soil, water and plant nutrients and at the same time maintain or improve soil structure and tilth.

The objective of conservation planning everywhere is a sound soil and water conservation program coordinating the physical, economic and human resources of the farm.

Over 17,000 farmers in Michigan's 76 soil conservation districts now have such soil conservation plans which have been developed by the farmer with the assistance of the local soil conservationist.

In the Lenawee Soil Conservation District 12 farmers have developed conservation farm plans with the assistance of the local Soil Conservation Service personnel and Woodrow H. Barclay, Work Unit Conservationist states that another 30 have indicated they want help in developing such a plan.

HELPERS?—Cake decorating is a fine art, as these three ladies agree, but at the same time two are willing to needle the working member of the trio, Mrs. Judson Miles of 201 S. Union street (at right). Doing the good-natured "helping" are two sisters from Manchester, Mrs. Robert Difenderfer and Mrs. Elmen Kopka. All three are members of cake decoratiing class conducted by Mrs. Frank Wroblewski at the Methodist Church each Monday evening.

Soil Test Tells Important Story on Fertilizer Need

Three items—the crop to be grown, soil type and the soil test—tell you how to select which fertilizer to use.

When the "right" amount of a fertilizer is being determined, the desired yield of the crop must be considered. Nutrient needs vary with different crops. A 120 bushel per acre corn crop, for instance, requires more than twice the fertilizer needed for a 60 bushel crop.

Soil characteristics such as color, texture, organic matter content, structure, drainage and chemical composition have important effects on crops.

A soil test, made from a properly taken soil sample, tells how much nitrogen, phosphate and potash there is available in the soil for plants to use.

The department of soil science and horticulture at Michigan State University have revised Extension Bulletin 159 titled "Fertilizer Recommendations for Michigan Crops."

Poultry Booklets Are Farmers' Aids

Two new bulletins just received in the Lenawee county extension office should prove to be of much value to county poultrymen.

● "Poultry Feeds and Feeding," has convenient, practical information on feedstuffs and poultry feeds. Large scale poultry producers who have to face many of the practical problems in feeds and feeding and who are interested in recent advances in poultry nutrition will find the bulletin particularly informative, believes Agent Ingerson.

● "Poultry Mash Formulas," gives assistance in preparing feeds from ingredients which are usually available locally. Formulas are suggested for turkey and chicken mashes for birds at all stages of growth.

Copies of either bf these extension bulletins may be picked up free of charge at the Lenawee county extension office.

Hay Mixture Rates Best Roughage Crop

Hay mixtures of alfalfa, bromegrass and ladino clover make up the champion roughage crop on most Michigan farms.

In 1957, about one and a half million acres of alfalfa and alfalfa mixtures were grown for hay production in Michigan.

State farmers liked these mixtures because they are high yielding and, providing the crop is harvested at the "right" time and without weather damage, the forage is of top feeding value.

Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent, thinks that farmers buying seed now for spring planting will want to plan for more legumes in order to cash in on their top feed value.

☆

IT'S ALSO NOT too early to organize the haymaking system to get high quality forage, Mr. Hall feels.

A ton of hay or grass silage that is harvested at one-tenth to one-third bloom contains about twice as much protein and is 30% more digestible than a ton of the same crop that is left until full maturity before it is harvested.

Weather is something farmers have to keep an eye on. Generally, weather conditions are often more favorable for haymaking during early June. This is when hay should be harvested in most of Michigan, Hillman states.

One way to avoid the hazards of weather damage and leaf loss is to put up part of the crop as grass silage or dry the hay in the barn.

Listed Among Best in Lenawee County

Among the outstanding dairy herds in Lenawee county, averaging more than 300 pounds of butterfat, according to the Extension office are:

Roy Hess, Tipton, 464 pounds.
R. VanValkenburg, Tecumseh, 428.
Raymond Platt & Son, Tipton, 412.
Earl Wingate, Britton, 403.
Lyle Whelan & Son, Tipton, 378.
Henry Bros., Tecumseh, 362.
Virgil Bortel, Britton, 342.

Tax Booklet Is Aid to Farmers

Farmers, cannot use the short form, must use the Form 1040.

Farmers have to file the Schedule F with the Form 1040. That schedule is the one on which you show your farm income and expenses.

The "Farmers' Tax Guide" has some sample forms filled out which should be a big help when preparing your own tax returns.

Get the "Farmers' Tax Guide" from your county agricultural agent or from your local Internal Revenue Service office.

REALTY VIEWS

"Please sell my house" read a letter we received from a former resident of Tecumseh. "It's been rented ever since I left, but I'd like to find a buyer and let someone else take over. I'll make very good terms. $750 down is okay. Balance like rent."

The small home was in fairly good shape, in the $9,000 price class. We learned on inspection that the same tenant had rented it for 4½ years. Logically, therefore, we approached the tenant and asked him to buy.

"I don't have enough money for a big down payment," he replied. However, he appeared more interested when he learned $750 down would buy it, and the monthly payments wouldn't be much more than rent.

His wife put an end to the discussion. "It's out of the question," she said. "My husband has promised me a new piano and he doesn't have enough saved for a house down payment, too."

Chances are good this married couple will always be renters — because there will always be something which DOWN PAYMENT MONEY will buy.

The key to financial success is to put FIRST things first. And high on the list of FIRST things is YOUR OWN HOME. Nearly every financial adviser agrees. In this case, it would be much better to buy the house and rent the piano. Or, go without the piano until more savings accumulated. They had already paid $3,510 in rent for the house—yet had not even ONE CENT of equity.

Put first things FIRST. Let us show you a nice home with a reasonable down payment!

Arlene Le Baron Wins Title Here as 'Homemaker'

Arlene Delores LeBaron has been named the Betty Crocker Homemaker or Tomorrow in Tecumseh.

She received the highest score in a written examination on homemaking knowledge and attitudes taken by graduating girls in Tecumseh high school.

Her examination paper now will be entered in competition with those of 387 other school winners to name this state's candidate for the title of All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow and will also be considered for the runner up award in the state.

EACH STATE Homemaker of Tomorrow will receive a $1,500 scholarship and an educational trip with her school advisor to Washington, D. C., Colonial Williamsburg, Va., and New York City.

A $500 scholarship will be awarded the second ranking girl in each state. The school of the state winner receives a set of the Encyclopaedia Britannica.

A record 327,000 young women in 11,800 of the nation's public, private and parochial high schools participated in the fourth annual Betty Crocker Search sponsored by General Mills.

This year's huge entry brings the four-year participation over the million mark.

A total of $106,000 in scholarships will be awarded this year.

The national winner will be named April 17 at a banquet in the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel in New York City.

The scholarship of the All-American Homemaker of Tomorrow will be increased to $5,000.

Girls who rank second, third and fourth in the nation will receive $4,000, $3,000 and $2,000 scholarships, respectively.

We now have laws that protect you by only permitting a physician to practice medicine and a pharmacist to dispense medicines. Any medicine can be harmful if improperly taken.

Four your own safety, depend on your physician to advise you what medicine to take and always secure any medicine from a pharmacist.

Dairy Herds Need Regular Mastitis Tests

Regular tests will help dairymen keep mastitis from getting out of hand in their herds, a Farmers' Week audience was told this week.

Dr. Albert Drury, veterinary scientist at Michigan State University, declared that team work between, dairymen, veterinarians and laboratory technicians is the first step toward preventing losses from mastitis.

Mastitis costs dairy farmers $220 million each year. This is a greater total than tuberculosis, brucellosis and vibriosis, the next three leading diseases, put together.

The condition of each cow's udder should be checked and a survey of facilities and equipment should be undertaken.

Often carrier cows have hidden infections which cause spread of the disease to the udders of susceptible cows.

Checking the herd every three to five months by laboratory tests will enable the dairyman to control mastitis in well managed herds.

Drury said the farmer must keep in mind the fact that mastitis is a herd problem and not a disease that will confine itself to any individual animal.

"Scientists, like other citizens, should be motivated by love of our country under God, and that love is best developed through a study of the history of this country."

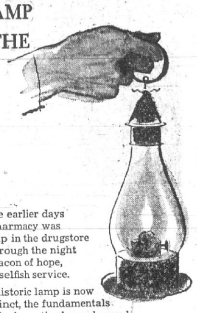
THE LAMP IN THE WINDOW



Symbolic of the earlier days of American pharmacy was the lighted lamp in the drugstore window. All through the night it glowed, a beacon of hope, a symbol of unselfish service.

Although the historic lamp is now practically extinct, the fundamentals of pharmaceutical practice have changed but little. The responsibilities of the pharmacist are greater today than ever before — he is a vital factor in medical care.

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

DAVE SHRADER OF 1205 Russell road phoned Monday night to report the Northern Lights were never more beautiful.

Well, Dave was certainly right.

Maybe the bitter cold weather had something to do with making them so brilliant, probably more eye-catching than this writer has ever seen.

There were pinks and blue and a streak of rose which seemed to ease out of the northwest right over Tecumseh.

Thanks, Dave, for calling.

☆

WE HAD PLANNED A lengthy column this week on what goes on in the Tecumseh high school locker room during the halftime intermission of a basketball game.

That old bugaboo "not enough" space dictated that we hold this opus until next week—and settle for the thumbnail size this edition.

$500 in Damages Caused as Pipes Burst in School

There was about $500 in damages, states Fr. Tom Collins, when two classes were flooded with about an inch and one-half of water. A considerable number of text books were ruined by the flooding.

The loss is covered b yinsurance.

St. Elizabeth's has a hot water heating system with water forced through the pipes in four zones by pumps.

☆

ONE OF THE pumps was accidentally switched off Monday night and the water which normally passes through circuits in the third, fourth, fifth and sixth rooms froze.

The pipes burst Tuesday during classes and water poured into the rooms.

Classes were dismissed for the day, as plumbers labored to repair the system.

Students were back Wednesday as usual. Sessions for two grades were held in the school's auditorium.

Police Crack Down on Double Parking

Double parkers, beware!

Tecumseh police are going to crack down on this practice, as of this week.

Double parking, which gets most critical Fridays and Saturdays, makes the offender liable for a $2 fine.

Police suggest that when there isn't a place to park, drivers go behind Chicago boulevard where considerable free off-street space is available.

Local Teachers Granted Raises

The Tecumseh school board approved a hike in the base pay of teachers with four-year degrees here Monday night, raising the base pay from $4,100 to $4,200, effective next September.

The wage increase will amount to a $220 raise for most teachers, since it will be coupled with their annual increment of $120.

The base salary is the highest in Lenawee county at the present, although Hudson is known to be considering a $4,200 base pay.

The State Department of Public Instruction recommends a base salary of $4,500 for a 10-month school year. Tecumseh, on a nine and one-half month basis, is nearing the recommended starting pay.

☆

IN OTHER board action, prospective income from state aid sources and local taxes was discussed. The amount of money levied for bonds next year is less than levied for the 1957-58 term.

Supt. James McDowell reported the amount of money levied for operating expenses for 1958-59 could be increased and still give an overall reduction in property taxes.

The school head cited needs necessary for next year. He said the high school is over crowded, 40 to over 50 pupils in some classes, and that the North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges and the University of Michigan Accrediting association insist the number in classes be decreased to not more than 35 when the new elementary schools open.

Meeting the associations' requests will necessitate hiring seven additional junior high teachers and two high school teachers.

☆

THE OPENING of the elementary schools also means employing two additional elementary physical education instructors, an instrumental music teacher and the transfer of a certificated librarian from the present teaching staff.

Mrs. Elnora Blanks, second grade teacher at Central, is to be transferred from the library.

Employment of teachers, including a head mentor and an assistant football coach, was discussed by the board, principals and the superintendent.

Dermont Poley Jr., assistant grid coach last fall, will be transferred to the junior high level where he will take over the athletic program.

Mrs. Pearson's Starling Proves 'No Bird Brain'

Mrs. Neil Pearson reports to The Herald office about a smart little bird, a starling, who discovered heat coming out of the chimney on the home of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sisson on South Van Buren street.

All day Monday, he sat perched on the edge of the chimney, leaning over occassionally to catch all the warmth he could.

The people who use the term "bird brain" could well employ more discretion in the future.

Presented Charter

The Veterans of Foreign Wars presented the new charter to the Explorer post 87 Wednesday.

Bob Long Named Farmer of Month

Tecumseh's Future Farmer of the month of February is Bob Long.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert W. Long of 6630 Stone highway, location of their 200-acre farm.

Bob, a senior in Tecumseh high school, holds the office of sentinel in the Tecumseh FFA chapter and has served as assistant chairman on the recreation committee.

A member of the Ridgeway Methodist Church and the Macon 4-H club, he also belongs to the Tecumseh high school Varsity Club.

His dairy projects include two aged cows and three heifers.

He also received a pig from the Tecumseh FFA pig chain this year.

Bob went to Chicago with his ag class to the Livestock International in 1956 and attended the Michigan Association of Future Farmers of America Convention at East Lansing last year.

☆

HIS SUPERVISED farming projects include three acres of tomatoes, three acres of alfalfa, three acres of wheat and four acres of oats.

Spaghetti Dinner is Sunday Night

$500 in Damages

Tecumseh firemen extinguished a fire in the Turpin home, 104 S. Division street, late Monday afternoon, with damages estimated at $500.

Fire destroyed a davenport and mattress and damaged walls and ceilings. The loss was partially insured.

Tingley Again in News — This Time on Fraud

The Jackson minister, pastor of the Goodfellow Spiritualist Church, is in jail there to face two charges:

1. Defrauding the Hotel Hayes of $36.45.
2. Escaping from city jail.

Tingley, who last month was released on an embezzlement charge which was filed and then dropped by a Tecumseh woman, escaped police by a ruse.

☆

ARRESTED ON Saturday, Tingley was taken to police headquarters.

His attorney asked if Tingley and he could confer and the request was granted.

Tingley, apparently in no mood for chit-chat, ran to the rear of the station and disappeared down the back stairs.

Jackson police caught up with him at the rear of the Lee hotel a short time later.

☆

The actual charge was for $325, but Mrs. Staulter had said she gave him $15,000 all told.

The case was dropped in January, when she withdrew charges.

Foreign Nurse Studies in Tecumseh

By MARY SEAGER

There's a new face ministering to the sick at Herrick Memorial Hospital.

The face belongs to Nasra Aboudi, R.N. of Amman, Jordan.

She will be here until the first week of March. After that her six-month stay in the United States will end and she will return to Jordan to put in practice what she learned.

Prior to coming to Tecumseh, she was in Washington, D. C., Cooperstown, N. Y. and Chicago.

Her introduction to small town mid-western life is through Ann Carson's front door on 509 East Logan where she is staying.

She told us that actually her home town in Jordan wasn't a whole lot different in climate than Tecumseh.

Amman is cold in the winter with occasional snows that last only a few days. In the summers it is hot and damp, somewhat similar to muggy mid-western weather.

Major difference is that there are seven hills on which Amman is built.

☆

ACCORDING TO Miss Aboudi, our hospitals are well equipped in comparison with Jordan's. She knows now the Jordanians that told her America is rich were right.

When we asked if anything amusing had happened in connection with her travels in the U. S., Mrs. Helen Miller, Director of Nursing here, smiled and reminded her of her arrival by train in Ann Arbor.

The big dimples in Miss Aboudi's cheeks deepened as she told us.

It seems that when she got off the train, some Arabian students from the University of Michigan recognized her as a fellow Arab.

Speaking in their native tongue, they asked her if there was anything they could do, insisted on helping her with her luggage.

When Mrs. Miller and Orrie Gilbert arrived, everything was well under control.

AS A STRANGER in town she will be well entertained by friendly Tecumsehites.

By the time she finishes the rounds of Hospital Auxiliary, staff meetings and Future Nurses Club session she will have a very good idea of how Americans live.

Her plans for the month in Tecumseh include sight-seeing trips around southern Michigan. She visited Adrian Friday and spent the weekend in Detroit.

☆

AFTER THAT she was sent to Cooperstown, New York and then on to Chicago.

Out of her Chicago visit came her comparison of large and small cities. Chicago was as confusing to her at it is to many Americans.

She likes small towns much better because there is less rush and strain.

She learned English as a second language at school in Jordan, polished it during a seven-month stay in London and Nottingham. She, therefore, is completely at home in English.

MISS ABOUDI is here to study administration techniques, under the auspices of the Public Health Service and the International Cooperation administration.

She took her nurse's training under the British system and is now learning the American type.

On her return to Jordan she will take over her former job as Matron of the Government Hospitals and teacher of practical nursing. Her main field of interest is administration and new staff scheduling techniques.

Jordan's gain of new technical knowledge through Miss Aboudi's training will certainly be Tecumseh's loss in international friendship and pleasantness.

Herman Dick Chosen 'Farmer of the Year'

Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce honored Herman Dick last Thursday night at the VFW Hall, naming the 27-year-old farmer as the Tecumseh Farmer of the Year.

Mr. Dick, who was selected over seven other entries, farms 232 acres on Robbins road.

Last year he marketed 24,000 fryers, is now raising 2,700 laying hens and 100 Western breeding ewes besides doing the normal farm chores.

He is a graduate of Tecumseh high school and is active in FFA work. The local Jaycees will enter him in the state contest at Adrian, March 15.

OTHER FARMERS in the contest were Charles Bishop and James Squires, Ridgeway; Willis Davenport, Richard Smith and Wesley Whelan, Tipton; and Fred Feight, rural Tecumseh.

Judges for the contest were John Thompson, president of the United Savings Bank; Russ Spalding, Britton-Macon superintendent and ag teacher; and Paul Burns, Tecumseh ag instructor.

Brandt's 5 & 10c Is Observing 25th Year

One of the oldest businesses in Tecumseh is observing its 25th anniversary this month.

Brandt's 5 & 10 Store on East Chicago boulevard gained the distinction of 25 years in business February 1.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Brandt, managers of the local store, acquired the business from the Tribolet Company in 1933.

The Coldwater company owned numerous chain stores, several in which Mr. Brandt worked and managed.

The present store was originally opened by the late Percy Heidenreich in 1915. The Tribolet Co. later bought the business, and from 1923 to 1926, employed Mr. Brandt as manager.

There have been several managers here and three owners since the store was founded, but none as long as the present owners.

Since taking over in 1933, the store has undergone extensive remodeling at various times.

Mr. and Mrs. Brandt have two children: Max, who was with his father here for several years and is now manager of a new D & C store at Grand Rapids; and Dorothy Jean, now Mrs. Ivan Gofr of Temperance.

Fred Pokorny Is Newest Citizen

Mr. Pokorny was born in Turkey of Czechoslovakian parents and came to this country in 1948 to get his master's degree in engineering at North Carolina State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Pokorny have lived in Tecumseh about a year and he is employed in the engineering department of Tecumseh Products Company.

120 Are on Hand for Auxiliary Meeting

Nasra Aboudi of Amman, Jordan spoke of her homeland to the 120 ladies of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary Tuesday evening.

A style show was also presented, featuring hair styling, figure control and spring hats.

During the meeting an amendment to the by-laws dealing with membership status was voted and approved.

Attend Funeral

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Sheldon were in Rochester, Michigan Tuesday attending the funeral services of Alan McNeil, their nephew.

Mr. McNeil was born in Newburg and lived in the Tecumseh area all during his boyhood.

150 Attend Rotary Ann Banquet

It was the Tecumseh service club's annual Rotary Ann banquet.

Mr. Phillips, former Olympic 440-sprint champion and track coach at Butler and Purdue universities, spoke from vast experience in handling children.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Blueberry Pie

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Tecumseh's postmaster and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Metcalf, suggested the name of our cook this week and we at The Herald Office know that they made a good choice.

After taking the picture of Mrs. Rose Service in her kitchen, Tom brought back to the office a most delicious blueberry pie made from her recipe.

Mrs. Service is one of those cooks that never measures. Having baked all her life she knows exactly what the dough or mixture is supposed to look and feel like. So she puts in a little more of this or that ingredient until it is just right.

This recipe is one she has tested and we all found tasty.

☆

AS A LITTLE girl of 12-years-old, Rose made her first batch of bread and a three-layer cake, thus starting off a hobby of baking that she has kept working at through the years. It no doubt came in very handy with her family of 11 children.

Three of her daughters, who are all excellent cooks, live in Tecumseh. They are Mrs. Milburn Brooks, Mrs. Ormand Socks and Mrs. Herman Dick.

This writer can think of no greater heritage a mother can give a daughter than to teach her to cook well.

Beside her 11 children Mrs. Service says she has 27 grandchildren and four great-grandchildren.

☆

MRS. SERVICE bakes many different items for the people in her neighborhood, including potato doughnuts, cinnamon rolls, candies, and bread, as many as 10 loaves a day—and one little loaf for herself, which she often gives away, too.

She makes as many as five loaves of bread a week for one family and the birthday cakes she gives to her friends in great numbers are so pretty.

Mrs. Metcalf tells of her generosity here.

For two weeks before Christmas she was so busy she just couldn't catch up with herself, so after the holidays she spent three weeks in Florida with a friend, Francis Rowaldt Irish, who is a former resident of Tecumseh.

☆

HERE IS the recipe:

Blue Berry Pie Crust

2 cups sifted flour
2/3 cups shortening
1 tsp. salt
6 tbsps. water

Cut in shortening with pastry blender or folk, mix well but lightly, add water and mix until all is moistened.

Filling

2½ cups fresh or frozen berries
1 cup sugar
¼ cup flour
dash salt
2 tbsps. butter
1 tbsp. lemon

Combine berries, sugar, salt, flour, lemon juice and fill crust. The least you work pie crust the flakier it is, moisten the edge of the under crust, put on top crust and bake at 375 degrees 40 or 50 minutes.

Pythians Celebrate 94th Birthday

The Knights of Pythias Lodge 190 and the Pythian Sisters Josephine H. Hall Temple 99 will attend worship service Sunday at the First Baptist Church in celebration of their 94th birthday.

The Pythian Order was founded on friendship, charity and benevolence.

Its founder, Justus H. Rathbone was born in Deerfield, New York, October 29, 1839.

He attended various schools in the vicinity of Utica and graduated from Madison University at Hamilton, N.Y.

He loved music, played a number of musical instruments, was a composer, a writer and had great dramatic ability.

☆

IN THE SPRING of 1858 he went to Eagle Harbor, Michigan, on the shores of Lake Superior to teach.

While there he organized the Stevens Dramatic Society and from this sprang the drama, "Damon and Pythias".

It based its lessons and ritual on the familiar story of Damon and Pythias, who were historical characters living about 400 years before Christ.

They were members of a school founded by Pythagoras, who was known as the father of Greek philosophy.

Rathbone was impressed by the story and was determined that all men follow their example.

Thus, at the little school house at Eagle Harbor he wrote the Ritual of the Pythian Order.

In May, 1861, Rathbone returned to Washington, D.C., where he was connected with various government departments.

Rathbone became acquainted with Robert A. Champion, who read the ritual and together they planned to form a lodge.

On February 15, 1864, he called four friends together, took from his pocket a Bible given him by his mother, administered to the friends the obligation, and read to them the ritual.

☆

ON FEBRUARY 19, 1864, in the city of Washington, D.C., assisted by his four friends, Washington Lodge 1 with 13 members was instituted.

The Supreme Lodge was organized August 11, 1868.

Rathbone passed away on November 9, 1889, at Lima Ohio, while on a lecture tour for the Order.

He was buried with full Pythian honors in New Forrest Cemetery, Utica, New York.

There are numerous Pythian Lodges in the State of Michigan, almost every state in the Union, Canada, Alaska and Hawaii.

The little school house at Eagle Harbor has been made into a Pythian Shrine. It is visited yearly by Pythians and their friends.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"The winter air is crisp and cold" certainly describes the weather in Tecumseh this week, but it's just what the skaters and the ice fisherman want.

Every available ice pond is being used by the young fry and a good sprinkling of the older element, too.

And the lakes, my, the population inhabiting the little villages of fishing shanties is surprising.

Even the ladies have taken to the ice with lanterns, minnows and bundled until their figures are more disguised than if by the very new "chemise."

They are catching fish, too, and seem to enjoy the sport just as much as those who participate in the indoor sports, such as basketball and bowling.

The Rotary and their wives enjoyed the annual Rotary-Ann banquet Tuesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. George Schumm will be out of town for the next two weeks attending educators conventions in Indianapolis and St. Louis.

"Peso" the happy little dachshund owned by Buck Maynard will not be seen jumping joyfully about his friend, Rebel, a German Shepherd, any more. He must have eaten some poisoned food, because he died at the veterinaries. Randy Maynard, small son of the Maynards, still keeps calling for Peso, and the whole neighborhood will miss the antics of this strange combination of dog friends.

2 THS Graduates Join Marine Corps

For his own sake, it is important to find a Marine's mettle early in his career. That is why Marine boot training is tough, bringing out the best in every recruit.

Marine Staff Sergeant Ronald R. Robinson, local recruiter who works out of the Eagles Hall in Adrian every Tuesday from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m., told this to three local youths during his visit last month.

Two of them, Lee Marsh and Edwin Covell, both 18, decided they could take anything the Marines could dish out. They enlisted and they are now undergoing recruit training at the Marine Corps Recruit Depot, San Diego, California.

Marsh, a graduate last year of Tecumseh high school, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence M. Marsh, 601 Herrick Park drive.

Covell, also a 1957 Tecumseh high school graduate, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Horace D. Covell, 507 W. Logan.

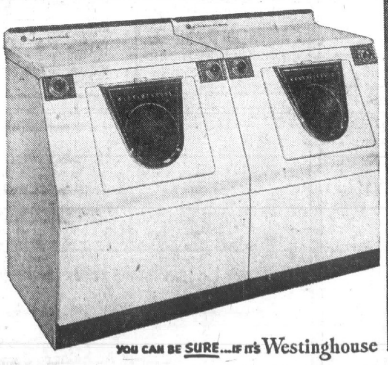
Get clothes cleaner than ever before!

WESTINGHOUSE LAUNDROMAT

WASHES CLEANER, RINSES BETTER, CLEANS ITSELF!

The Revolving Agitator does it! . . . Here's how:



YOU CAN BE SURE...IF it's Westinghouse

WASHES CLEANER! There's no old-fashioned center-post. Clothes are placed inside the all-new Revolving Agitator which lifts and plunges them 50 times a minute . . . washes all the clothes all the time.

RINSES BETTER! Equals 1500 hand rinses. Revolving Agitator lifts clothes while dirty water drains away from, never back through them. Center-post machines strain it back through clothes.

CLEANS ITSELF! Because of the patented design, the Laundromat cleans the clothes better, then automatically cleans itself—ready for the next load. All lint, sand and scum go down the drain.

Indian '5' Travels to Airport Friday

Any hopes of Tecumseh raising its position in the Southeastern League were removed Friday night when the visiting Monroe Catholic Central Falcons trounced the Indians, 74 to 52.

Coach Vic Lawson's team travels to Airport Friday evening. A victory over the league's cellar five would assure Tecumseh of a winning season.

The Indians now hold an 8-5 record for the season with just Bedford and Addison remaining after Friday's engagement with Airport.

A surprising full court press befuddled the Indians into wild passes, steps and other infractions as the Falcons sparded to a 23-11 first quarter lead.

☆

TECUMSEH CLOSED the gap to eight points in the second period, only to have the Falcons romp in the third and fourth quarters.

Tecumseh's clash here next week against Bedford looms as the battle for third spot in the league. Both teams hold 2-4 marks in league play.

Tecumseh had little trouble racking up its eighth victory of season Tuesday night, defeating the visiting Milan team, 55 to 43.

Coach Vic Lawson substituted freely, especially in the final period when the Indians at one time boasted a 12-point lead.

Duke Elliott topped the local scorers with 18 points. Steve Kruger netted 15; Bob O'Neill, 10; Dick Stephenson and Dave Elliott, five each, and Gary Hanna, two points.

Milan's Schmenk tossed in nine goals and four fouls to capture scoring honors with 22 points.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

By MARY SEAGER

FRIDAY AFTER THE GAME with Monroe CC the Future Teacher's sponsored a dance. Records were played from about 10:30 until one.

The Teen Club held a record hop Saturday night from nine to one with good attendance.

☆

ALL OF THIS WEEK HAS BEEN devoted to the strange activities that make up "Sponge Week."

During this period, the girls trade places with the boys, opening doors for them, carrying their books, etc. Everything will be climaxed by a dance Saturday night.

At any other time eating in any place but the cafeteria is strictly forbidden.

"Old Clothes Day" fell on on Tuesday. Second to "Gum and Candy Day," this is most popular because for the rest of the year the pupils are expected to dress well. But on "Old Clothes Day" comfort's the thing.

"Dress-Up Day" was Wednesday with the girls wearing their best. The boys appeared in slacks and sport coats. At the end of the day groans were heard from many of the girls who'd worn unaccustomed heels.

Thursday will be "Off-Color Day." This produced outlandish color combinations. It's like a contest to see who could outdo the other.

Friday will be combination, "School Color" and "Senior Honor Day." This will be very popular with the seniors who think every day should be "Senior Honor Day."

The seniors will wear name tags so that underclassmen may treat them with greater respect and call them by name.

Saturday the Sponge Dance will be held. It will cost the girls $1.50 single, and $2 a couple. Harold Broderick and his orchestra will provide music from nine to one at the high school gymnasium. Good clothes will be worn.

Sponge Week and the Sponge Dance were sponsored by the Student Council.

The Student Council at Tecumseh high helps govern (with Mr. Hart's frequently used veto power) the student body.

It holds meetings twice monthly that are run according to parliamentary procedure and the Council constitution. Mr. George Tatar (biology teacher), Council adviser, sits in on the meetings to see that all goes well.

The Council sponsors all of the Homecoming activities, all of Sponge Week, the programs for football and basketball, the basketball hat-check, the professional assemblies (about six a year), the spirit trophy, and any unsponsored football and basketball dances.

The president is elected in a special spring election with a candidate from the sophomore and junior classes. There are nominating speeches and speeches by the candidates. Then all-school voting determines the winner.

This year's officers are John Elliott, president; Ray Miller, vice-president; Jane Colgrove, secretary; Mike Walter, treasurer.

The junior class representatives are Mike Walters, Greg Mason, Grace Dennis, Sandra Ross and Nancy Day, alternate.

The sophomores have Doris Oliphant, Jon Cook, Mary Colgrove, Steve Kruger and Kendra Ringman, alternate.

The seventh grade's representatives are Nancy Nixon, Jack Rutherford, Mike Cook and Mary Ann Mead.

All the high school clubs also have Council members. For the Varsity Club, Ray Miller; GAA, Sarah Wright; Spanish, Linda Godfrey, FNC Mary Lou McConnell; FFA, Darrell Lowry; FHA, Barbara Gebarowski, FTA, Joan Johnston and Chorus, Sondra Hathaway.

With Mr. Hart's help the Student Council does a fine job as the student government body at THS.

You Can Serve Your Town

Wanted—men and women, 21 years of age or older, residents of Tecumseh with average or above intelligence to serve on council. Petitions available at clerk's office, city hall, to be completed and returned by February 17.

One of our many privileges, and duties, is to serve the community in which we live. One of these obligations can be fulfilled by serving on the council, the pinnacle of our local government.

Unless there's a rush for petitions and filings made, Tecumseh won't even have a contest for council, let alone enough candidates to fill the four seats up for election this year.

There are many qualified Tecumseh residents who should consider devoting some of their time to the community, serving on the council, and acting upon local legislation governing our city.

Give it some thought, won't you but act quickly. There are only four days left to file.

Housing Continues to Boom

One of the most fascinating things about this community is its construction of new housing. As city manager Ed Nelson pointed out in his annual report, 74 new homes were built in the city during 1957.

And they continue to go up, continue to be purchased.

As you'll note by reading our advertisements, there are three major subdivisions rolling along at a steady pace—Indian Hills, a Templeton Construction Co. development; Sunset Meadows, Tecumseh Homes, Inc.; Indian Acres, Town & Country Homes, Inc.

In addition, there are several other independent contractors putting up homes.

One might get the idea that the competition could be so brisk, everyone would be hurt.

Actually, it's just the opposite—one development compliments the other. We'll explain what we mean.

Most people who don't own homes probably would like to. These folks are always on the lookout for something that their family would enjoy.

Then comes a sight-seeing tour as mom and dad and the kids motor from one subdivision to the next, tramp through the various model homes—compare the features.

Maybe it was an Indian Hills ad which started the family on the junket and maybe after they made the "swing," end up buying one of Jack Shutt's.

With the next sale it could be exactly the opposite—and no doubt often it is.

As our subdivision developers work furiously to sell homes in their own layouts, they're helping to sell them in the others, too.

And in our mind, that's all to the good.

They're doing a grand job in pointing up the benefits of picking Tecumseh as a place in which to own a home.

Do You Recall 'T' Day?

"The Chamber of Commerce is planning a 'T' Day Celebration which is to be one of the biggest civic affairs in Tecumseh's history."

This item appears in our feature, "From Heralds of Bygone Years," originally was printed in 1948.

We skimmed through copies of those exciting days, learning about the Tecumseh of a decade ago.

Many of you will remember "T" Day, the giant promotion coordinated by the city's old Chamber.

There was a job to be done and "T" Day did it.

At the time, the Products employed just over 2,000 and only a small percentage actually lived here. Prosperity was rolling in like a tidal wave onto a beach—and in the not-too-distant future the payroll of $7,500,000 annually would be nearly doubled.

Chamber members were anxious to see as much of that cash as possible stay right in Tecumseh. New housing and a new high school could help to provide the answer.

Working closely with Products officials, they struck upon an extravaganza and called it "Tecumseh Day."

● Four executives—Ray Herrick, Jens Touborg, Curtis M. Brown and the late Frank Smith—would give $145,000 towards construction of a new $400,000 high school. At the time the school board was accruing $80,000 in its sinking fund, so the taxpayers were asked to bond themselves for $175,000. (They later did and it was off in 1953.)

● Mr. Herrick stated that the Products was giving 200 lots to employees in Herrick Park, plus $200 each to help cover construction costs of new homes.

This was a tremendous boost for the town.

The thing which caught our fancy was the fact that the city's Chamber had been instrumental in development of these ideas.

The Chamber had a vital function then—and it was completed. There are many such vital items to be tackled in 1958.

Several weeks ago we wrote about this subject and mentioned that business folks might make their thinking made known by dropping The Herald post cards.

We received several. The one we'd like to comment on said, "I am not interested in a Chamber of Commerce." It was not signed "A Tecumseh Businessman" — but carried no name.

Of course, we wondered who it was, mostly because we would like to chat face-to-face with this person and learn why he didn't want a Chamber in Tecumseh.

We've heard numerous reasons why we should have one—and we can think of quite a few ourselves.

But the other side of the coin just hasn't been flipped over for us to see. Folks have told about the difficulties faced by a Chamber, but they always top off their comments by adding, "But we sure need a Chamber.

We're always open to comments—whether pro or con—so please keep them coming.

But we'll have to admit our thinking leans heavily to the positive approach which concludes that our town would be much better off if we could work out something on a team basis.

4,320,000 Babies Mean More Nurses

TOLEDO—A total of 4,320,000 babies for 1957—up nearly 100,000 over 1956.

These figures, indicating that the baby crop for 1957 will reach a new high for the seventh wear in a row, reveal one important reason why the demand for graduate professional nurses is always on the increase.

Interpreting his need, Edna E. Sharritt, director of nursing education and service, at the Toledo hospital, says:

"As our population grows—with more births on one hand and with people living longer on the other—we must educate more professional nurses each year just to hold our own.

Complete information about a nursing career can be obtained by writing Miss Sharritt at Toledo Hospital.

FOR ALL WE HOLD SACRED . . . ATTEND CHURCH !

There's a tingle of excitement in that word limited as long as we're describing a train.

But if we were speaking of the boy —describing the effect which spiritual neglect has on the development of the character of a child—that's a different matter! There's nothing thrilling about a soul that has been limited in its opportunity for religious expression and growth!

The churches of our community are here to give ALL our children religious training . . . to help ALL our families foster a spiritual atmosphere in their homes.

As we make use weekly of the opportunities our churches provide, the potential Christian growth of the child, the family and the Nation becomes UNLIMITED.

HOLY BIBLE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

REALTY VIEWS

"Why don't you sell my house for me?" asked Ted Morton who had moved to Wisconsin.

"We will," I replied, and took the listing. It was valued at $16,000.

Within a month, we presented Ted with an offer to exchange. He would realize $8,000 in cash, but have to take an $8,000 house in trade.

"Why doesn't he sell his house and then buy mine?" Ted asked.

"He wants to move NOW while he's in the notion. Also, he is willing to consider yours on a trade basis. But if he had all cash he might do a lot more shopping around."

"But," Ted protested, "I'd rather take $1,000 less for it than acept a trade. I don't want another house in your town."

"True," I replied. "But this way we get your price. It shouldn't take long to sell his house if you'll give good terms. It sounds more complicated than it is."

"Sure does," Ted added. "You really think it's the best solution to my problem?"

"At the moment, yes. And we learned long ago, a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush. Put your fate in our hands the same way you would rely on a physician for the answer to a health problem. With your confidence, we will work it out satisfactorily."

And we DID.

May we SELL or TRADE your property?

THOMAS EDISON OPENED A NEW FRONTIER

Imagine what your life would be like without electricity. Imagine a world without electric lights, radio, television, motion pictures . . . without electric appliances . . . without X-ray and electrocardiograph equipment . . . without whole industries that are dependent on electric power.

How different a world it would be from the one we know! So different it's hard to realize that it has been only 78 years since Thomas A. Edison invented the first practical incandescent lamp and paved the way for the harnessing of electricity.

During this week people in all the various groups that make up the electrical industry unite to pay tribute to Edison and other pioneers of electrical progress and to rededicate their industry to continuing progress and service to the nation.

Clinton Post Offers Newest in Michigan

The new brick and frame building to house the Clinton State Police Post was completed recently with opening ceremonies by its new commander, Sgt. Carl Anderson.

With 3,000 square feet of floor space, the new building is vastly different from previous quarters —two rooms in the old township hall in downtown Clinton.

The post employs 21 men. Several live in Tecumseh, and five troopers, all bachelors, reside at the new building.

Features of the post, erected at a cost of $66,000, include a large waiting room, private offices for the commander and detective, a squad room, interrogation room, and a garage equipped to wash patrol cars.

The building has a five-unit heating system so that five different temperatures may be maintained all at the same time.

New commander Sgt. Anderson, successor to Lt. Frederick O'Donnell, plans to move his family here after locating a house. Besides his wife Geraldine, there are three children, Joyce 13, Denise 10, and Carl Jr., 5.

He was located at East Lansing, Flat Rock, Detroit and the Stevenson Posts before taking his new assignment.

The personnel at the Clinton Post has tripled since 1955. Last year the post handled 2,5000 complaints and made 12,000 arrests.

Local Druggists Attend Mid-Year Pharmacy Meet

Bill Wright of Wright Drugs and Stephen Walsh of Hodges Drugs attended the 20th annual mid-season meeting of the Michigan State Pharmaceutical association at Dearborn Inn February 6.

More than 400 pharmacists met to discuss the "Responsibility of Pharmacy as a Member of the State Health Team," the theme for the meeting.

The MSPA Council, composed of state-wide membership representing each local organized drug association in Michigan, heard of full report for a revised "Code of Ethics for Pharmacy."

A general discussion by Ted Swift, attorney from Lansing, pinpointed legal pitfalls for druggists in the display or sales of literature falling into the unfit category.

Reports from council delegates on their particular problems with magazine "package deals," as well as general problems and suggestions, followed Swift's discussion.

Presentation of ten "50 Year Certificates" by Stuart Steffey, Jackson, President, Michigan Board of Pharmacy, highlighted the afternoon's schedule.

TREE ROADS

Now, when all the branches are bare, we have an excellent opportunity to observe the activity in these busy, busy places, the tree tops.

In the sumer they are all banked-in with lush green foilage and we get only an inkling of what goes on, but now, with the "bare boughs of winter" we have front row seats.

The birds, of course, are the principal players. They use the trees for perching places, observation points, home-sites and food sources.

They must, however, share their domain with the squirrels —these soft-furred, long-tailed acrobats uniquely equipped for tree dwelling.

☆

WHEN WE FIRST started watching the squirrels scamper through the trees it appeared that their progress was a rather hit and miss, un-planned.

A little closer observation proved just the opposite. Depending on mood and purpose there is a planned advancing from one limb to another—"tree roads," we call them.

As the squirrels fly from branch to branch and from tree to tree there is a definite pattern of progress.

If our nut-eating friend is in a serious mood he takes a comparatively sedate route.

When danger threatens or the problem of finding food is uppermost in his mind the big sturdy branches offer the most direct road.

If, however, there are no pressing problems and a rosy, all's-right-with-the-world mood prevails, a much more exciting and daring route is desirable.

As they go to the smaller, more flexible limbs, long leaps and precarious footholds seem to be fun. They almost regard it as a challenge to their daring.

We have watched them cross from one tree to another with such show-off jumps that we actually held our breath in fear of their falling.

☆

THE CREEK, of course, is lined with trees. Elm, maple, an occasional walnut, many willows, a few mulberry and the sometimes undesirable box elder all grow close together and afford long exciting tree roads.

In Dr. Marsh's yard and in full view of my window is a large stately elm.

The squirrels spend hours running and jumping and playing all sorts of squirrel games along the rangy, twisted and crooked limbs.

At present we have four, possibly five squirrels in our trees. I'm sure they have found that it's easy living here at the west end of Logan street.

Everyone in the neighborhood, at least those of us who live on the creek, maintain feeding stations.

The corn and sunflower seeds found on these feeding trays whet the appetite of all self-respecting free loading squirrels.

There are also nuts to be had for we have two walnut trees in our yard—such excitement these invoke as the nuts ripen.

Although the squirrels are sometimes bothersome—they do steal much food that is put out specially for the birds—they are nevertheless, great fun to watch.

We hope they continue to use their present tree roads for a long, long time.

Kiwanis Square Dance Slated for March 2

Chairman Fred Hadley announced that the Tecumseh Kiwanis Club will hold its second annual square dance jamboree Sunday, March 2, from 2 to 6 p.m.

It will be at the United Products Workers Hall and music will be furnished by Alex Rice and his Ranch Boys.

The hall is being donated by the United Products Workers Union and the proceeds will go to the Tecumseh Teen Club and the Forney W. Clement Foundation. The latter is for playroom for child patients at the University Hospital in Ann Arbor.

Callers will be from Morenci, Hudson, Adrian, Sand Creek, Britton and Tecumseh.

Tickets will be a donation of $1. per person.

Troop 4 Camps Out During Snow Storm

Members of Tecumseh's Boy Scout Troop No. 4 have been busy with many activities the past few weeks.

And they plan more.

January 24, 25 and 26 boys spent at a cabin on the farm of Ray Shelton with Scoutmaster Glen Work and Clyde Cook.

The boys prepared their own meals and worked on their advancement to the various ranks.

Things were calm until the big snow storm. Battles raged with all thought of advancement forgotten.

☆

FEBRUARY 7, 8 and 9, the boys were at Kensington Memorial Park near Milford, Michigan with Dr. Robert Laidlaw, Dr. Richard Dustin and Mr. Work.

Winter sports were enjoyed including ice fishing, skating and tobogganing.

February 15 the boys will hold a bake sale at the Michigan Producers Dairy on Maumee street beginning at 9:30 a.m.

On March 1 they plan to have a drive for scrap newspaper and magazines. These two fund-raising events will help to swell their treasury.

The Scout Show will be held February 22 this year.

Some Farmers Fail to Obtain Complete Irrigation Benefits

Some Michigan farmers are failing to get the full benefits of irrigation because they don't use enough seed or fertilizer, believes Ray Hoglund, farm economist at Michigan State University.

He cites the experience of a Montcalm county potato grower to support his belief. This farmer grows 40 acres of irrigated and 40 acres of non-irrigated potatoes.

On the non-irrigated potatoes, he used about 28 bushels of seed and applied 800 pounds of 5-20-20 fertilizer at planting time and 100 pounds of ammonium nitrate as a side dressing.

ON THE irrigated potatoes, this farmer used only six bushels more seed and 200 pounds more 5-20-20 fertilizer. All other practices were the same for both crops.

The irrigated potatoes yielded 460 bushels per acre—140 bushels more than the non-irrigated.

Irrigation, then added about $3,200 to net income on the total 40 acres.

But, Hoglund points out, if this farmer had used more seed and fertilizer and possibly one more application of water, he could have boosted yields to 500 bushels and added $550 more to net income.

Cows getting silage free choice still need at least eight to 10 pounds of dry hay every day, say Michigan State University dairy specialists.

'58 Pork Will Please Appetite, Pocketbook

Pork will please your pocketbook as well as your appetite in these first months of 1958, says Faye Kinder, associate professor of foods and nutrition at Michigan State University.

It will be one of the most plentiful and inexpensive of the meats on your grocer's counter.

To take advantage of all the good pork buys will take some ingenuity on your part. You will find pork a versatile meat, however, that lends itself to many variations.

☆

WHAT CUT TO buy will be one of your first concerns. If your family likes pork chops, but your budget is limited, choose rib-ends or shoulder chops. They are less expensive than center-cut and loin chops.

Pork roasts are generally cut from both the shoulder and from the loin of a pig, although fresh ham roasts are often available. The Boston butt is a shoulder cut and costs less than either loin or fresh ham.

After you get the meat home, store it in the refrigerator in the clear paper in which you bought it. Fresh pork can be stored for two or three days without losing any of its flavor.

☆

WHEN IT COMES to cooking pork, try using a few new recipes. For instance, almost everyone knows how to barbecue spare-ribs on a rack in your roasting pan.

Arrange pineapple, a few prunes and some apple quarters over the meat. Sprinkle brown sugar over the top and cover with another piece of rib. Bake in a moderate oven (350 F.) for two hours. "It's easy and oh-so-good!, says the nutrition worker.

By paging through your cookbooks, you will find many other ways to cook pork. Pork chops cooked with apple quarters and sprinkled with brown sugar are another "mouth-waterer."

Pork has so much flavor in itself that you don't need to doctor up many of the cuts. Pork roasts are good roasted as they are. However, hams lend themselves to "fancier" cooking.

Whatever cut you choose and whichever way you decide to cook it, make pork one of the mainstays of your winter meals.

NEWS OF THE FARM

One of the biggest reasons why some farmers don't get full returns from irrigation is that they don't use enough seed and fertilizer, say Michigan State University farm economists.

Michigan State University poultry scientists have developed an all-in-one emulsion for washing, sanitizing and preserving eggs. The material is now ready for large scale commercial tests.

IN AVERAGE LIFETIME

Heart Beats 3 Billion Times

(This is "Heart Month" and here is the first of a series of articles presented by the Michigan Heart Association about the progress being made in the fight against heart disease.)

The heart that beats inside your chest is a fist-sized, four-chambered pump—in the course of a Biblical lifespan beats almost three billion times.

Equally miraculous is the circulatory network through which it pumps your 11 pints of blood at the rate of 166 gallons per hour, delivering food and oxygen to the billions of cells which make up your body.

☆

IT IS A BEAUTIFULLY organized refueling and waste-disposal system. Yet, either wholly or in part, it is not immune to sickness and disaster.

The extent to which this is true is mirrored by some grim statistics: Diseases of the heart and circulation, now responsible for about 54 percent of all deaths, affect more than 10,000,000 Americans, among them 500,000 children of school age.

They constitute America's foremost health problem and the leading medical challenge of our time.

Until only two or three decades ago, the view was widely held that "nothing can be done about heart disease," which was seen as an inevitable forerunner of death — something quite beyond the reach of medical science.

☆

IN YEARS PAST, this same fatalistic viewpoint prevailed regarding such "epidemic" diseases as smallpox, typhoid and yellow fever, diphtheria and bubonic plague.

As the infectious diseases succumbed to medical science, so have many other disorders of the body seen remedied or cured by new advances in drug therapy and surgery.

Pessimism and despair are now being replaced by hope and assurance that medical research, in the not-too-distant future, will provide the knowledge needed to control most diseases of the heart and circulation.

Brilliant victories already have been scored in the diagnosis and treatment of heart and circulatory diseases.

There is today a general awareness that some forms of heart disease can now be prevented, a few can be cured, and that almost all cases can be helped by proper treatment—especially after early diagnosis.

As a result, people now realize that no medical problem — and this specifically includes the heart diseases — is necessarily beyond solution.

☆

FURTHERMORE, public confidence is increased because there now exists the machinery for a concerted and planned all-out assault upon the heart diseases—a nationwide program of research, education and community service, spearheaded by the American Heart Association and its affiliates and chapters.

In this fight, the stakes are large. The right answers can mean the difference between adversity and prosperity, sickness and health, life and death for many millions of Americans — including generations not yet born.

The door is wide open for every man, woman and child to have a part in the fight against heart disease. This opportunity is opened to you through your support of the Michigan Heart Association.

The Tecumseh Cylinder Heade met with Fred Long recently. Members tackled their work books and there was a demonstration on "How Easy a Tractor Would Tip Over."

The Holloway Homemakers met with Mrs. Jim Mitchell and Mrs. Lawrence Young, February 3, at the home of Mrs. Young. Roll call was answered by "Dream House of the Future." Members worked on their projects.

Mrs. Calhoun's Future Sister-in-law Visits

Mrs. Leslie Calhoun of North Rogers highway, has a weekend guest Patricia Douthit of Chicago, who is engaged to Mrs. Calhoun's brother, Eduardo Davila of Mexico City.

Miss Douthit is employed at public relations of Pan-American Airlines, Chicago and her fiance is head of public relations for Pan-American Airlines, Mexico City.

Cows Getting Silage Need Dry Hay, Too

Cows getting silage free choice still need at least eight to 10 pounds of dry hay every day.

Don Hillman, extension dairyman at Michigan State University, explains that cows need at least two-and-a-half pounds of dry matter for each 100 pounds of body weight to maintain milk production and body weight.

They won't get enough dry matter from silage alone, he says.

Grass silage that is poorly preserved may be unpalatable and as a result cows won't eat a lot.

In such cases, Hillman recommends dairymen feed additional hay or grain to hold up milk production.

☆

YOU CAN figure that three pounds of 70% moisture silage contain about the same amount of dry matter as one pound of hay.

Corn silage is both a roughage and a grain. Hillman reminds that the grain part should be considered part of the total grain requirement.

Eight to 10 pounds of well-eared corn silage will contain about one pound of grain. So, if a cow needs about 10 pounds of grain a day, she may be fed four to five pounds less grain if she is getting about 40 pounds of well-eared corn silage.

Hillman adds that dairymen should build the ration around roughage. Grain mixtures should be fed only to provide nutrients not supplied by the roughage.

North Adrian Grange Coming to Tecumseh

North Adrian Grange members will be guests and bring the traveling gavel and program.

Tecumseh members will furnish the hot dishes and North Adrian will bring the dessert.

Supper committee is Mr. and Mrs. Clare Gillespie, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Hendershott, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gray, Mr. and Mrs. Dean Moore, Mrs. Beatrice Gilmore and Mrs. Gertrude Birdsall.

Death Takes Judge

G. A. Rathbun Buried Wednsday

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Tecumseh Baptist Church for G. Arthur Rathbun, who passed away in his home at 315 West Shawnee street on Sunday.

Judge of the Lenawee circuit court for 23 years, until his retirement in 1953, he served employees of the Tecumseh Products Company as counselor on business and property matters.

Judge Rathbun had been in failing health for last couple of years and was recently a patient in Bixby Hospital. He was released from there February 8 and returned to his home in Tecumseh.

Well known about the state, Judge Rathbun had always been interested in the community affairs of both Tecumseh and Adrian.

Before his election to the Lenawee circuit judgeship, Judge Rathbun practiced law in Tecumseh for nearly 20 years. He was elected in April of 1929.

☆

BORN IN DUNDEE, on May 30, 1884, the son of George H. and Sarah Prindle Rathbun, he attended Dundee elementary schools, Ann Arbor high school and graduated from the law school of the University of Michigan in 1909.

This same year he married Lelia M. Geddis of Chelsea.

He and Mrs. Rathbun came to Tecumseh in July of that year where he formed a partnership with the late J. W. Wightman.

Three years later Mr. Wightman retired and Judge Rathbun continued practice alone until October 1917 when he associated himself with Fred B. Wood, forming the law firm of Wood and Rathbun.

☆

FOLLOWING HIS election, the Rathbuns moved to Adrian where they lived until his resignation five years ago, when they moved back to their home here.

Judge Rathbun was a life member of the Tecumseh Masonic Lodge, the Order of the Eastern Star and of the Eagles. He was a member of the Tecumseh Club, Tecumseh Country Club, Lenawee Country Club, Elks, Moose, Devils Lake Yacht Club, Lenawee Bar Association, Michigan State Bar Association, Michigan Judges Association and he was a charter member of the Tecumseh Rotary Club.

☆

HE IS SURVIVED by his wife; an uncle, Horace Prindle of Friendship, New York; two nieces, Mrs. Walter Nelson of Indianapolis and Mrs. Russell Carey of Tecumseh and two grand-nieces, Mrs. Donald Hollings of Indianapolis and Mrs. Donald Oesterle of Mason, Michigan.

Rev. B. O Bashore officiated and was assisted by Rev. Peter Carroll of Christ Episcopal Church of Adrian.

Bearers were Harold Easton, R. W. Herrick, Virgil Tucker,

PLAQUE — Tim Harvey and Charles Randolph hold the plaque which will be placed in the entrance of the new $90,000 Tecumseh municipal building. Moving into the city hall began Wednesday afternoon. Additional city hall pictures appear on inside pages of this section.

LAST LOOK — It was late Tuesday evening when City manager Ed Nelson made a final check at the new city hall, a few hours prior to moving. Most of the old furniture has been replaced and the bulk of items being transferred are city records. The new layout offers the finest in facilities — spacious offices for mayor and city manager, (in background) 22x47 council room with a $620 raised desk for councilmen, office for the city engineer, wing for police with two jail cells. Records will be kept in two walk-in safes.

LONG & SHORT OF IT

What Goes on During Halftime Intermission?

THE HORN SOUNDS AND the first half of a Tecumseh high school basketball game is over.

Your writer slips in, relaxes in a corner to transcribe notes for a report to you.

The sweat-soaked young men seat themselves quietly along two benches, which face one another. At one end of the room is a blackboard.

Coach Vic Lawson strolls in, picks up a piece of chalk.

"They're using a zone, forget the rocker step and start moving the ball. Our foul shooting is the only thing that's keeping us in the ball game."

(Explanation: Vic's offense centers on the rocker step. Guards bring the ball down the floor, pass into a forward. He rocks his body toward the hoop. If the man guarding him sinks back, the Tecumseh lad will rock back and fire a long one-hander. If the opponent leaps frward, our boy will attempt to dribble around the foe and drive in for a short shot. Simple?

(However, this doesn't work against a zone defense, where the five opponents are responsible for specific "zones" and never move out of them.)

There isn't an awful lot of time during the intermission—10 inutes to be exact—and Vic has to put across his ideas in a hurry.

"Bob (O'Neil), get in by the board," Vic tells his husky forward.

"Steve (Kruger) take a few shots. Last night in practice you were really hitting."

Vic looks for statistics on Steve, begins counting, "One, two, three, four. Steve, you only shot four times. Take a few more the next half."

"Keep that ball moving," Vic makes his main point again. Being a teacher by profession, he knows that it takes repetition to convey an idea.

He motions to the manager again, this time asks for the score book.

The boys, some mopping their neck and shoulders with towels, but looking mighty calm after tearing up and down the long Tecumseh floor for the better part of 20 minutes, keep their eyes glued on their coach.

Again adding out loud, this time the free throws, he repeats that charity tosses are indeed keeping Tecumseh in the ball game.

The intermission is up — it seems all too soon.

As the players hop up and start through the door, Vic chatters, "Let's pry the lid off that hoop."

(Explanation: There actually is no lid on top of the basket, but sometimes there seems to be. Shots rolls in and out and that's what was happening to the Tecumseh cagers.)

The managers hurriedly pick up the towels and head out behind the players, anxious to be in their seats for the tipoff.

The room is quiet, then the muffled sound of the crowd filters down the hall. The thump, thump, thump of the ball being dribbled on the hardwood floor is like a series of cannon shots behind a distant hill.

A spamodic roar means a field goal has been scored.

The writer hurries out to the gymnasium.

Standard Oil Seeking New Station Here

An issuance of a building permit for a Standard Oil Company service station at the northeast corner of Evans street and Herrick Park Drive was sidetracked temporarily at least — at city council meeting Monday night.

Jack Osburn, local realtor handling negotiations for the company here, asked council to approve the permit.

Several councilmen said people in the area are opposed to anymore gas stations in Tecumseh.

Mr. Osburn pointed out that the 100x125-foot lot was zoned commerical and would be in the same vicinity with the new A&P super market, a restaurant and other businesses.

It was also pointed out that Standard Oil would probably tear down its station on E. Chicago boulevard, if a permit were issued for a new station.

After considerable debate, council voted to hold a public hearing, March 3, at the next council meeting.

New Herald Press Runs 150,000 Pieces in Day

A German-made, high-speed press was installed in The Tecumseh Herald plant last week.

It will be used in the job printing department, giving The Herald two automatic presses for producing letterheads, statements, envelopes, brochures and the like.

The newest addition—on Original Heidelberg—can make 5,000 impressions per hour on stock up to 10x15 inches in size.

Thus, on an order of 5x7 advertising pieces, four could be printed at once, giving the press a near 20,000-hourly output—or more than 150,000 in a single work day.

The Heidelberg is a post-war venture developed by the German brain which has won wide acclaim in world graphic arts circles. Hundreds of thousands have found their way into American printing houses, large and small.

☆

DELIVERY TO The Herald brought to three the number in weekly shops in Lenawee county. Others are located at The Blissfield Advance and The Morenci Observer.

The Heidelberg is ideal in a busy shop. It's a fast set-up press —that is, the printer can take type for a job, lock it up, slip it into the press and have it going in a matter of minutes.

This saves time—cuts costs to the customer.

Once the press is running, the printer turns to other chores as the quiet, regular clicks tell the story of work going through letter perfect.

In event a sheet accidentally misfeeds, the press stops itself immediately.

☆

ONE FEATURE the printer really enjoys is the automatic wash-up. When the day's work is done, or the pressman wants to switch to a different color ink, he merely drips a few drops of a special solvent onto the ink plate, turns on the press and in minutes it is entirely clean.

Hospital Is Now Using South Wing for Patients Again

Roland Wittrup, business manager of Herrick Memorial Hospital, announced Friday that the south wing of the hospital is again in use.

During the construction period rooms 17 through 23 could not be used.

He wishes to thank the people who helped during the problem and again announces visiting hours from 2:30 to 4 p.m. and from 7 to 8 p.m.

Only two visitors are allowed per patient at any one time. Children must be at least 12 years of age to visit in the medical and surgical rooms and age 16 to visit in the maternity rooms.

Visitors are again asked to use the east front entrance as they did before the reconstruction period. It is expected that the new addition will be in use by early summer.

Worst Monday in Years

This week's bitterly-cold weather brought a rash of car trouble, closed schools and telephone calls.

All elementary schools outside Tecumseh were closed Tuesday. St. Elizabeth pupils had Monday off.

Some high school students in the country were able to attend classes, if they happened to be close enough to cleared roads where buses could run.

Local telephone calls went up 40% Monday—14,113 were made. Long distance increased 30%.

Tipton's switchboard operator, Mrs. Fay Luce, reported, "Monday was the busiest day in seven years. About 30 calls to pull cars out of ditches and start stalled vehicles were made. Frozen pipes also had the switchboard busy."

The Herald made a check of automobile service agencies in the area to determine car troubles—and there were plenty.

EASTON'S FRIENDLY SERVICE—38 calls Monday, not so many Sunday. Dead batteries, frozen fuel lines and radiators. Not so many radiators because people take pretty good care of them. Afternoon spent testing radiators, adding anti-freeze, worse than last year. Two years ago, March 3, was worst.

JOHN & BILLS—Pushing and starting 100 or more cars in Tecumseh Products parking lot.

HOOTEN'S CITIES SERVICE—40 or 50 trouble calls. Storm more troublesome this year. Stranded in snowbanks, wouldn't start. Worst in seven years.

MORLEY'S GULF SERVICE — 25 wouldnt' start, stuck in drifts. Just like any other year.

BEACH'S SERVICE — Two trucks going all day. Refused a lot of calls. Most cars wouldn't start.

BUG'S SUPER SERVICE — 18 stuck and failure to start.

CLARENCE TEXACO SERVICE — 75 calls. Been in business five years. Worst can remember, phone was rining from 6 a.m. Monday, still calls to make Tuesday.

RANDOLPH'S GULF — 15 to 20 failures to start. Station thermometer registered 14 degrees below last year as the coldest. This year is was only 8 below.

PURKEY'S GARAGE — Had better than 100 calls. Started Saturday night, worked all day Sunday, that night, Monday and Monday night and at 3 p.m. Tuesday had five calls yet to make.

SCHNEIDER BROS. GARAGE —"Froze us to death pushing cars all day." Many cars were brought in for motor tune-ups. The 1946-47 ice storm was worse, lights were off for three days.

WILSON MOTOR SALES — Mechanics were kept on service calls all day Monday and Tuesday — 25 or 30 trouble calls.

Cars' Collisions Caused by Cold

Snow and ice are blamed for six minor accidents occurring in Tecumseh since the cold front hit here about five days ago.

Kenneth McEnroe, 38, skidded into Guy E. Belding, 85, on Tuesday and was charged with failing to have his vehicle under control.

Sunday, Neva I. George, 52, and Douglas F. Aylesworth, 23, collided at Maumee and Chicago.

In three accidents last Saturday, Marvin C. Bacon, 37, and Deward F. Gaydosh, 32, both of Tipton, bumped together at Logan and N. Union; Charles M. Manley, 27, and Glenn D. Cupp, 20, both from Adrian, were in an accident when Manley slid into Cupp; and Kathleen May Seitz, 32, skidded into Walter S. Robinson, 55.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Hunters Dinner

Mrs. Robert Gillespie presents her recipe for Hunters' Dinner this week and a very delicious dish it is, as many Tecumseh people already know.

It is impossible to write about this delightful lady without also writing of her husband, since the two are inseparable. The story of them is most appropriate for Valentine thinking, and they present a splendid example to other married couples.

They have an unusual interest in young people, and their understanding help and advice are so much appreciated by this age that their home is frequented by teenagers and young marrieds.

Mrs. Gillespie makes wonderful use of color in her dress, about her home, and in presenting programs, mostly for her beloved church where both Gillespies are very active in all phases of church life.

This appreciative sense of color has been passed down to their two attractive, auburn-haired daughters, Mrs. George VanCamp, Jr. and Mrs. Harold Easton, both of whom are well known in Tecumseh.

Linda and Gary Easton and Craig Van Camp, grandchildren of the Gillespies, never miss an opportunity to visit "Mommee" and "Papa," as they call them, and often are seen assisting "Mommee" about town or the church.

Mrs. Gillespie lost her eyesight several years ago but despite this handicap she is amazingly independent doing her own housework and taking part in many social activities. She often assists the ladies of the church in preparing meals both for the public and the church members.

This recipe is a favorite with her family and they were all home to enjoy it one night last week following the taking of her picture as she made it.

Mrs. Gillespie states that it came by this name because one has to hunt to guess what is in it. Here is the recipe:

Hunters Dinner

1 can lima beans
1 large can mushrooms

$500 Memorial Fund Given Mrs. Koczman by Britton Friends

By THERESA CHEEVER
Herald Britton Correspondent

BRITTON—Residents of the Britton-Macon school district presented Mrs. Rudolph Koczman, widow of the school's superintendent who died December 29, with a $500 memorial fund check this week.

Between 200 and 300 residents of the community contributed to the fund in lieu of other expressions of sympathy at the time of Mr. Koczman's death.

Almost every class and school organization made a contribution to the fund.

The note to Mrs. Koczman, which accompanied the check said:

"The people of the Britton-Macon school district and the community of Britton are presenting this gift to you and the children as a small but tangible evidence of our appreciation of the fine and unselfish service Rudy gave to 'our' school, town and church. No one can count the things he did for all of us even when he was not really able to do them."

Mrs. Koczman expressed her thanks publicly to all donors today because of the virtual impossibility of reaching each one individually.

"I am most grateful," she said, "for the gift and also for the sentiment behind it. I didn't want our friends and neighbors to do so much, but they would have it no other way. They have overwhelmed us with kindness and helpfulness and understanding."

'Area' Added to Name of Ministerial Group

It is planned of hold the service at Hidden Lake Garden again this Easter.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Has it ever been this cold in Tecumseh? With the cars objecting to starting right and left these wintry mornings and all the difficulty created by below zero temperatures, I wonder.

Knights in shining armor may have gone with the passing of the ages but the gallantry of these gentlemen is still with us as can be maintained by this writer, recently rescued from a busy intersection by Larry Coscarelli.

The weather has not stopped the comings and goings of Tecumseh residents very much as will be established by the following items.

No Dust Is Settling Following Election

The dust is settling from the inevitable turmoil of the yearly election of officers, but certainly none is settling on the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary.

The biggest year ever is planned.

Developing leadership and public relations are the elected themes for the year.

The board of officers met in the home of the new president, Mrs. Richard Coak, in January, and plans for the year are well under way.

It was decided that the board of officers will meet each month, one hour before the general meeting, to determine what business should be presented to the membership for consideration and vote.

This will expedite the business of the organization and allow ample time for the fun-filled and informative entertainment scheduled by the new program chairman, Mrs. Harry Richard.

☆

IN MARCH, Civil Defense will be the timely subject presented by Rev. B. O. Bashore and Dr. Richard Coak.

The April meeting will host Allan Seager, local author and professor at the University of Michigan, as guest speaker.

It shows local persons and personnel in the process of making blood donations and shows the laboratory work involved.

☆

JUNE PROMISES an interesting meeting. The board of officers will act as hostesses and will present a play for the amusement of members and their guests.

Fall programs will be announced in September as the auxiliary does not meet in July and August.

The Committee on Public Relations to Herrick Memorial Hospital is the formal title given to a newly-formed committee with Mrs. Charles Mensing as chairman.

The committee is one which the Michigan Association of Hospital Auxiliaries is stressing as a necessary part of all hospital auxiliary work in its 1958 program.

The latest register lists 440 women as Auxiliary members and an increase is expected this year.

With the new wing of the hospital nearing completion, the board of officers anticipates a growing need for women to help with new projects.

"MY DOCTOR..."

This possessive phrase is familiar to all. It represents the profound confidence American people have in physicians. But do you really have a family physician?

Even though you may have been fortunate, not requiring medical care, it is stitch-in-time wisdom to establish a "family doctor" relationship.

Simply contact the physician of your choice, requesting that you would like him to serve your family should the need arise.

And if such a need arises, our prescription department is prepared to serve you and your family.

Tories Cop Title, Near Perfect Season

The state ranked Tories not only established themselves as one of the best teams in Michigan but copped the Tri-County League championship for the second year in a row by whipping Waldron.

Only North Adams stands in Britton's path towards an unbeaten season Friday night on the Tories floor. And, Friday night's visitors have won only one league tilt.

Coach Bill Hetrick's team rolled to a 38 to 15 lead over Waldron before the coach substituted freely in the second half.

Merl Sanch netted 27 points to pace the Tories with teammates Dean Clement and Jerry Benedict tossing in 14 and 10 respectively.

Airport Upset Ousts Tecumseh from 3rd Place

Unpredictable Tecumseh tumbled from third spot in the Southeastern League Friday night as winless Airport upset the visiting Indians, 63 to 54.

The victory gives Airport a 1-6 record in the loop and drops the Indians to a 2-5 mark. Tecumseh could cop at least a share of third spot here Friday night by defeating Bedford.

Tecumseh rallied in the closing minutes against Airport to close a 17-point third quarter gap to four points. Airport then rallied in turn to win by nine points.

John Elliott again paced the local scorers with 24 points. Larry Yoakum, in his first game since the appendectomy four games ago, tossed in 15 points, and Bob O'Neill tallied 10. Steve Kruger netted five points, the only other Indian to score.

The hot Tecumseh reserve team won its 12th game in 14 outings with an easy 52 to 39 decision.

Tecumseh-Bedford Clash for 3rd Place

The final league game of the season looms as mighty important for the Tecumseh Indians — third place in the Southeastern League will be riding on the outcome.

The Indians close out the league schedule here Friday night against Bedford. A Tecumseh win would assure the local club of at least a share of third place, and a Bedford victory would give the visitors clear claim to third position behind Monroe CC and Hillsdale.

Bedford nipped Tecumseh in their previous meeting, 56 to 53, overcoming the Indians in the second half.

Coach Vic Lawson's team wends up the regular season here next Tuesday night against Addison. Two victories at the season's end would boost the Indians' mark for the season to 10-6 — not bad for a team many fans predicted would be lucky to win half of their games this year!

Through My Window

WINTER'S FAMILY AT THE FEEDER

Seed catalogs, garden magazines and fashion books are all proclaiming the arrival of spring. A look out the window, however, shows that there is still much winter ahead of us.

A check of the thermometer and a glance at the calendar tell the same thing. The birds at the feeder are also indicative of the prevailing season, we are still playing host to winter's family!

Juncos and black-capped chickadees share the feeder with nuthatches and woodpeckers. The tufted titmice are here in full force—each day we have five or six of these neat little grey birds.

In addition to the winter vacationers we are also entertaining the year around faithfuls—bluejays, cardinals and, of course, the ever present sparrows.

☆

THE CHICKADEES and juncos are true children of the winter. Arriving sometime in the fall, they consider this their southern vacation resort. We had the pleasant experience last year of encountering the juncos during their migration. The second week of October found us marveling at the breathtaking beautiful fall colors in the Upper Peninsula.

While driving through McLain State Park, on the western side of the Keeweenaw Peninsula, we noticed hundreds of these slate-colored juncos.

Whether flitting through the maple trees, then turned gold by Jack Frost's nightly visits, or hopping over the leaf strewn ground, the black head, the grey vest and the two white outer tail feathers were unmistakable.

The juncos followed us home and since the middle of October have partaken of our free lunch.

☆

THE BLACK-CAPPED chickadees, cute little animated bits of energy, arrived later—much later to our feeder.

Although others reported seeing them earlier, they only got to our feeding station six or seven weeks ago. Fond of suet, they will, on a good feeding day, be on or around the food trays from morning 'til night. Such big appetites for such little birds!

To our way of thinking the word which best describes the chickadee is "cuddly."

Little, with a rounding head and body, he is just right size to hold in the hand. I imagine, however, there would be serious objection to such treatment.

☆

ALTHOUGH NOT strictly a winter bird, because we do not see them throughout the whole year, the tufted titmice seem to be more numerous and come to the feeder oftener when the snow flies.

Pert little birds, about six inches long, they are a trim grey—dark on the back, light underneath.

Orange under the wing patches and cocky little top-knots are identifying characteristics. Big, bright eyes give them an alert, ready-for-anything look. Whether tearing at the suet or expertly cracking sunflower seeds, they are a joy to watch.

☆

WHITE-BREASTED nuthatches, large when compared to the little red-breasted, but small when the whole bird world is considered, must also be listed with the regulars.

Social and gregarious they are often seen in the company of tufted titmice and black-capped chickadees.

Not so friendly are the bluejays. Aggressive and self-important, they dine alone!

When Mr. Jay comes to the feeder everybody else leaves.

Mourning doves, downy woodpeckers and prettiest of them all, the cardinal, help fill our feeder guest book.

Thus you have met some of winter's family as we know it. There are others, of course, but these occasional visitors, who only drop in for a snack now and then, must be left for another time.

Knights of Pythias Selling Maple Syrup to Maintain Center

The Grand Chancellor of Knights of Pythias, Andrew Jackson of Ann Arbor, was in Tecumseh, Tuesday evening to present the Grand Lodge project for under-privileged children.

The proceeds will make it possible for many of these children to attend summer camp at the Pythian Recreation Center at Burt Lake.

Two officers not present at the installation, John Stephens, inner guard; and Glenn Wood, prelate, were installed to their respective offices by Grand Chancellor Jackson with Ernest Van-Vleet acting as grand prelate and Henry Kempf as grand master at arms.

During the meeting members voted to cooperate with the Band Boosters calendar program and that all Knights of Pythias, Pythian Sisters and their families would attend the worship service at the Baptist Church Sunday, February 16 to commemorate the ninety-fourth anniversary of Knights of Pythias Founders Day.

The next meeting will be held February 18, preceded by a pancake supper.

Lunch was served by Arthur Bowser and Carl Kempf.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

212 W. Chicago
Tecumseh, Mich.
17 February '58

Dear Sirs:

While cleaning out my desk I came across a copy of a letter I sent into TIME a few months ago. They "thought it a good idea" but didn't publish it due to lack of space. It occurred to me you might possibly use part of it, as you see fit, for any article or editorial you might be planning this week in connection with "World Day of Prayer." I send it along for what it may be worth.

Yours truly,
Ruth B. Duffin
(Mrs. Richard G. Duffin)

Dear Editor of TIME:

Read your excellent cover article on DEFENSE; In this mad scientific race for time, let's not forget that we still hold the greatest weapon against Communist ideology — prayer. Advances in science are vital, but science and religion are inextricably woven together. Though we have proven in the past we can all pull as one when necessary, so can the Communists. Where does our real "edge" lie? Think what might be realized for the world if effort equal to the scientific one went into real prayer, corporate worship and the forming of prayer groups! Could this be "a giant step toward peace" for which the President asks in the preceding article?

Yours truly,
Ruth B. Duffin

Letter to the Editor:

In your recent article in connection with the banquet given our Mr. Herrick by the Adrian Chamber of Commerce "Hometown Seldom Notes Greatness," I am sure you are so wrong when you state Tecumsehite's appreciation of the many fine things done by Mr. Herrick are vague or forgotten. To us 'dyed in the wool' natives who have lived here to watch the start and expansion of the Tecumseh Products, all the fine things that have come our way through Mr. Herrick are most deeply appreciated. We realize that without his generosity the City would not be enjoying the many advantages it now has.

In this regard, many people will well remember a banquet given several years ago in his honor when he was designated Man Of The Year.

We still say "Hats off to Mr. Herrick."

Mrs. Dusine Service

Mrs. Lillian Rodgers and her committee met at the home of Mrs. Doris Exelby to complete plans for the fish supper to be held at the Congregational Christian Church Wednesday, February 19. Refreshments were served.

Superintendent's Desk

By JAMES McDOWELL

(Editor's note: This is the second in a series of two articles about the new junior high program, which goes into effect next fall as seventh and eighth grades take over the Central building and new elementary schools at Ridgeway, Tipton, Herrick Park and Tecumseh Acres are occupied.)

Parents who attended the orientation session two weeks ago were told that the balcony had been removed from the Central gymnasium.

The folding doors, formally used to divide the community room at Ridgeway, and make it into two classes, will be employed at Central to break the gym in two parts so that both girls' and boys' physical education classes may be held at the same time.

At Ridgeway, the folding doors will be replaced by a wall. The new building there will have an all-purpose room, thus taking over activities formally held in the community room.

At the Central building, the shower rooms are to be improved, science rooms outfitted and new shop and home economics departments installed.

The junior high library will be in the old library room as before conversion to an elementary school.

The funds to make these improvements will come from the sale of the Brownville school and other rural area property and will not be passed on to the taxpayers through additional taxes.

☆

THE DISCUSSION which followed the presentation of overall plans by myself and Mr. Dick was general in nature and was participated in by parents and teachers.

Only one phase of the program seemed to be disturbing to all: pupils choosing band have to miss something.

However, there will be over 400 pupils in the two grades divided into seven seventh-grade sections, and six eighth-grade sections.

Since many of these pupils come from remote regions of our 90 square mile district that are not yet old enough to apply for drivers' licenses, it is impossible for some of them to get home if band program is held after school hours.

Also, there is always a conflict between band and athletics if both are held after regular school hours so there seems to be no adequate solution except to hold the band during the regular school day.

It was suggested by some of the parents that a foreign language class for pupils in the band be held after school and that the parents would then pick up their children. This plan was agreed upon should enough pupils enroll to make a regular class.

ATHLETICS WERE discussed and all were pleased that the junior high weight teams in football would be continued, that junior high basketball would be continued, and that junior high baseball and track teams would be formed.

Parties will be held for junior high pupils only as in the past and other extra-curricular activities developed.

The group seemed well pleased with the proposed plans as completed following the discussion.

Since seven additional teachers will be needed to cut the size of the classes down to a reasonable number of pupils, new books and equipment purchased, renovations and alterations made to the Central school, and play areas developed, the Board needs to find additional sources of income before making final commitments on the total program.

The Woman's Ridgeway Cemetery Board met Thursday and elected the following officers:
President—Mrs. Gladys Griffen
Vice-President—Pirl Ash
Secretary—Mrs. Nina Taylor
Treasurer—Mrs. Maud Schmid
Sexton—William Fletcher
Trustees—Mrs. Marian Stone, Mrs. Ida Miller, Mrs. Nell Gray, Mrs. Gladys Smith, Mrs. LaRue Hoagland and Vern Thomas.

Housework Can Keep You Young, Healthy

Your housework can keep you young and healthy, says Coral Morris, Michigan State University extension specialist in home management.

You can get healthful exercise from your daily household tasks if you know how to work without strain.

When bending, stand with one foot slightly forward and bend through the knee and ankle joints until within easy reach of the task, suggests Miss Morris.

☆

TO LIFT SOMETHING, go down by folding your knee and thigh joints and rise with your load by straightening the joints, keeping your spine straight.

When you carry packages, don't always carry them on the same side, she warns. Spine and shoulder strain may result if you do. It's best if you carry things directly in front of yourself.

When you need to climb stairs, keep your body erect when placing your foot on the stair ahead. Then straighten the upbent knee and ankle joint. This way you use the leg as a jack—and rise as on an elevator.

The right kind of food eaten at regular times is as important to the homemaker as to any other member of the family, Miss Morris believes. It does much to provide the strength and energy needed for any job.

Brotherhood for Peace, Freedom

By JOHN S. KNIGHT
Chicago Daily News

This is published in the interest of Brotherhood Week, February 16-23, sponsored by the National Conference of Christians and Jews.

One need only to look back over the events of the last year, both at home and abroad, to be reminded forcefully of the continuing need to renew our devotion to the American ideal of brotherhood.

It is fitting that we have this opportunity each year to rededicate ourselves to the cause of understanding and fair play among our people—and among nations as well.

America is the home of the greatest experiment in liberty ever developed by man. Here we have demonstrated before the world the ability of men and women of good will to live and work together in peace and harmony, regardless of differences in race, creed or cultural background.

Despite the success of these efforts, there are times when we have failed to measure up. And because of this, it is important that we take inventory from time to time of our position in the struggle for human freedom.

It is to America that the free men and women of the world look for leadership and moral strength. Part of our tradition has been to stand up and be counted whenever and wherever freedom is challenged. And wherever the forces of darkness and oppression threaten the liberties of men, it is America that the world turns for counsel and succor.

When we have failed at home in any area, it is time to renew our faith in the great virtues of charity and tolerance. We must work everlastingly for that unity and cooperation among all our people, that has been a guiding principle of the American democracy.

Only by doing so can we properly assert the moral force that our neighbors expect of us. It is in the rededication to this cause that we observe Brotherhood Week.

Lenawee county is down for a total of $181,510.61.

Net receipts of the motor vehicle highway fund for the fourth quarter of the calendar year 1957 amounted to $41,834,661.00 — an increase of $570,058.21 over receipts for the Fourth Quarter of 1956.

ALL STATE gasoline, weight and Diesel fuel taxes and a small amount of miscellaneous fees collected under the above acts are deposited in the motor vehicle highway fund.

After deductions for non-highway uses and collection costs, the rest of the money is divided as follows:

- 35% to the counties for expenditure on county roads.
- 18% to the incorporated cities and villages for expenditure on their roads and streets.

NEW PRESS

a Miehle V-36 with a sheet capacity of 14x20 inches—has been doing most of the shop's commercial printing, even jobs more suited for smaller presses.

Folks, interested in seeing a fascinating piece of machinery, are invited to visit The Herald and view the new Heidelberg in action.

Regular job printing days are Thursdays and Fridays.

RATHBUN

Harold Nearhood, Aelred Kiser and Wayne Sowers.

Honorary bearers were the Lenawee Bar Association, the Judges Association, Bud Goodwin, Harold Moore, Eugene Olsen and Jake Fassezke.

Arrangements were made by the Collins-Corkery Funeral Home and burial was in Brookside cemetery in Tecumseh.

Come See Our New Press

A shiney, spanking new piece of machinery is always fascinating to view—at least, that's the way a fellow feels about it. Sort of the way a gal reacts to a sleek bolt of material.

In any event, folks at our shop were in a gay mood as our new Heiledberg was uncrated and eased into position last week.

Fellow from the Heidelberg printing press manufacturing firm spent most of Friday cleaning away the protective coating. And as he worked, our collective eyes were constantly on him.

Gang in the back shop happily oggled the machine which will help make their two job printing days each week more pleasant. Front office personnel kept finding tasks which took them into the back end—and a quick check on progress.

The press went into action Friday afternoon and in short order had chewed up several jobs. You could almost hear it asking for more.

The Herald plant is always open for your inspection and now that we have a Heidelberg, we're especially anxious to have guests.

The purchase of this major piece of equipment—the first in a series of capital improvements we plan—is another expression of our feeling towards the exciting future of Tecumseh.

Come see our new press.

Britton Folks Remember

When death called Rudolph Koczman in December, citizens in the Britton area were stunned.

Their superintendent of schools was only 34, had a lovely wife and three children.

People in the Britton-Macon district wanted to do something in memory of this man who, in a few short years, had become a vital part of their community.

Announcement of a Koczman Memorial Fund was made and almost immediately contributions began to roll in—many from school children in the form of dimes and quarters.

This week, the committee in charge drew a check on the total amount, $500. This was presented to Mrs. Koczman, who accepted with great sincerity.

The gift was a genuine expression to the memory of a man devoted to his work, his family and his community.

Beyond that, it was more evidence of the deep feeling man has for his fellow man.

It would seem to us that this reaction comes most often in United States cities, towns and hamlets where hundreds of such funds are raised with no pressure or high-powered sale talks.

As in the case of the fund in memory of Mr. Koczman, it was necessary only to mention where donations could be made and the flow of funds began.

Some of the gifts were substantial, but for the most part there was a little here and a little there. Added together they reached the amazing figure of $500.

We congratulate the folks of Britton-Macon and we wish the Koczman family all the very best.

Matt Lunn attended the MEA Public Relation of Commission on Friday and Saturday at Lansing.

'Sunshine Day' Finds Monday Club Giving Forty-Seven Treats

Sunshine Day, observed by the Tecumseh Monday club February 17, was described by one of the nicest things the club had ever done.

Following the meeting, which was held at the home of Mrs. Thomas O'Hara, the members distributed 47 treats of fruit, flowers and cookies to Tecumseh shut-ins.

Mrs. Lillian Hoagland was chairman of the event assisted by Mrs. E. H. McConnell, Mrs. Anna Morse and Mrs. Lee Purkey.

Only 15 members were present for the potluck dinner served before the meeting because of the sub-zero temperature that day.

During the meeting the club was asked for a donation to help buy furniture for the house at "Girl's Town" in Bellville; also the County Federation suggests that the club raise the county dues.

'Bible Quotations' Theme of Gathering at St. Peters Guild

"Favorite Bible Quotations" was the theme of the program presented by Mrs. Thomas O'Hara for the St. Peter's Guild meeting Thursday at the Parish House.

After each member had quoted her favorite verse, a discussion was held by the group.

Mrs. Arch Wray conducted the worship period. During the meeting, announcements were made of the South West Convocation to be held at St. Paul's Episcopal Church in Jackson February 18, when the speaker will be Alexander Wisner of Grosse Pointe, Michigan.

Mrs. Herman Koelbel and Mrs. Jessie Smith co-hostesses served refreshments.

The next meeting will be held February 27 at the home of Mrs. Glenn Driscoll. Mrs. Harry Crosby will be co-hostess and the program, "Church Music" will be presented by Mrs. John Keeney.

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Windy's "Sleep Machine"

"Call me lazy," says Windy Taylor, "but it's folks like me who are responsible for progress. Come see my latest invention."

Windy's latest consists of an old alarm clock, some door springs, a car battery—all wired up to the hopper of his cattle-feeder.

When the alarm goes off it closes a circuit—opening the chute and sending feed into the manger automatically. The clock's set at 12, so the cattle get fed midnight and noon while Windy sleeps (he takes a mid-day nap). They look fat and contented... and so does he.

From where I sit, I wouldn't call Windy "lazy." Far from it. It's just that he looks at things from every possible angle—and it seems to do him good. Windy keeps an open mind on all subjects. If you prefer buttermilk to, say, a glass of beer, he's not the type to "invent" ways of forcing his choice on you.

REALTY VIEWS

Several years ago, a man listed his house for sale. In filling out the listing, I asked him his reason for selling.

"I could give you a good-sounding reason," he said, "but I think I'll tell you the truth. I'm scared of a big depression. I want to get my hands on the cash I've got tied up in my house."

"Oh, I wouldn't worry. It isn't that bad," I replied.

"You HAVE to be optimistic in your business," the man replied, "but you wait and see. The price on property is going to change. Sell it for me."

Well, I sold it for $9,000. He was tickled and so was the buyer.

Last year, 4 years after buying it, the new owner was transferred. We sold the house for him for $10,750.

Well, like the cautious client said, "Prices will change." But instead of going DOWN, they went UP.

So renew your confidence in America. We honestly don't think "Things are going to go to thunder." Buy NOW if you need better housing.

Likewise, we wouldn't urge any home owner to list with us from FEAR. But, if you have a good, legitimate reason for selling, we sincerely believe we can HELP YOU.

Frankly, we need MORE LISTINGS. Won't you give us a call?

Shade Trees Can Be Transplanted in Winter Months

Thinking of transplanting a shade tree in your lawn?

That job can be done in fall, winter or spring, depending on the kind of tree, says Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

Trees are dormant in these three seasons, making transplanting possible for most trees except some with fleshy roots such as birch, sassafras, magnolia, dogwood and tulip poplar.

☆

AGENT HALL reports that a new bulletin on transplanting shade trees is now available in the county extension office. Copies are free for the asking.

Written by Harold Schick, Michigan State University extension specialist in park management, the publication contains information about where to plant trees, how and when to do it, what trees are desirable and how to care for trees after transplanting.

Ask for Extension folder F-250, "Transplanting Shade Trees."

Check Chimney, Stove Pipes Wiring in Home

The high fire rate season is upon us. We are in the heavy heating and electrical use months of the year.

And this means there are more chances for fires to get started in our homes, says L. G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

Heating hazards usually involve faulty chimneys or stove pipes. He recommends you inspect these items and make necessary repairs and adjustments.

Electrical hazards usually result from overloading of wiring. Check to see that the proper sized fuse is being used.

No more than 15 amp fuses should be used in most wiring, although some newer houses can use 20 amp fuses because they have number 12 wiring.

Next to heating and electrical hazards is trash. It is kindling for sparks to start fires.

Removing trash promptly will prevent most fires, safety specialists agree.

Other than trash, there is little around the house that sparks can set afire.

All members of the family know how to escape the home in case of fire. This will prevent much loss of life due to home fires.

MSU Students Now Can Obtain Degree in 3 Years

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University students will be able to earn a degree in three years under a new plan to put the university on a year-round schedule.

The proposal will be effective in 1959.

The plan will permit students to take a full quarter's load of 16 hours in an expanded summer term, thus making it possible to earn a bachelor's degree in three years, instead of four.

Summer school also will include a ten-week term and two five-week sessions.

Vice-President Dr. Thomas said it is estimated that summer enrollment will reach 10,000 within several years. Summer enrollment at MSU in 1957 was 6,600, an all-time high.

NEWS OF THE FARM

Farmers Have Until April 15 for Soil Bank

Michigan farmers have until April 15 to sign agreements to participate in the 1958 conservation reserve program of the Soil Bank.

There are several new features in this year's conservation program. Some farmers may find these changes make a more attractive contract than was available last year.

For example, beginning this year, farmers may enter into five or 10 year contracts for land devoted to trees or shrub plantings for shelter-belt, windbreak, or wildlife habitat purposes.

Previously, all tree and shrub plantings were under 10 year contracts.

The 10-year contract will remain in effect, however, for tree plantings for forestry purposes, Beer states.

The conservation reserve program is open to all farmers, whether o rnot they have an acreage allotment for "basic" crops.

Interested farmers should visit their county agricultural stabilization and conservation office to check over these and other new features of the 1958 conservation reserve program.

Decorated Cake Given to Youths in the Hospital

Children at the Herrick Memorial Hospital were delighted with the gift of a dainty doll cake presented to them by the Irene Circle of the Methodist Church recently.

The cake was decorated by Mrs. Frank Wroblewski, who with the assistance of Mrs. Carl Burch, has charge of the cake decorating classes at the Methodist Church.

Fourteen members graduated from the first class of the 1958 season Monday, February 10 and registrations are being taken for another class to begin February 17. Anyone interested may contact either of the above mentioned names.

Mrs. Wroblewski recently decorated a cake in the Valentine theme to be used by the WCTU in celebrating the birthday anniversary of their organization founded by Frances Williard.

4-H Club Leaders Are Being Honored at Annual Banquet

Two-hundred Lenawee county 4-H leaders will be recognized at their thirteenth annual banquet February 20 at the Madison school.

The 7 p.m. banquet being prepared by the Madison PTA is sponsored by the Lenawee County Banker's Association.

A state "Share The Fun" contest winner, Carol Soltis, Jackson county will provide dinner music on her accordion.

Russell Mawby, Assistant Director of Extension and State 4-H Club Leader, in Michigan, is the main speaker of the evening.

Don Wright, Addison, will be the toastmaster for the program which will include 4-H talent and recognition of leaders receiving pin awards.

The annual 4-H Leaders' Recognition banquet is a "thank you" to al lthe volunteer 4-H leaders of Lenawee county. These men and women lead local 4-H clubs with members ranging in age from 10 to 21 years in the 4-H projects, parliamentary procedure, and other 4-H activities to develop better citizens.

Feeders Won't Be Plentiful Until Summer

Lenawee county cattlemen looking for more feeders can't expect them to be very plentiful until summer declares Clayton C. Ingerson, associate agricultural agent.

Mr. Ingerson explains that slaughter prices are holding up well and midwestern farmers are hanging on to many feeders to use up big supplies of wet corn and sorghum grains.

The recent demand for feeder cattle has pulled prices up $2 from October levels.

The agriculturist goes on to say that the movement of feeders has been much later this year. The number of feeders in the corn belt on January 1, totaled 5,030,000 — only 3% below a year ago.

☆

FIVE PER CENT fewer cattle were on feed in Michigan and eastern corn belts states on the first of this year over a year ago.

More cattle and calves under 600 pounds are on feed now than in the last two years, Ingerson notes.

On January 1, slightly more than 1.5 million head were on feed in the 13 feeding states. About 12% fewer heavier cattle were on feed on the January 1 date over a year ago.

John Ferris, farm economist at Michigan State University, reports that cattle feeders in the 13 states intend to market fewer of the total now on feed in the next two months than they did a year ago.

Youths Complete Young Farmers Course at MSU

EAST LANSING — Norbert Marsh of Tecumseh, Roger Brooks of Manchester and Allen Bower of Britton completed the Young Farmers course at Michigan State University.

They are among 42 young farmers who will be graduating February 28.

The students have been instructed in methods of general agriculture and are given a chance to specialize in a field of their choice.

Having completed this two-year course, the student will be better able to cope with the many agriculture problems facing the young farmer of today.

Each year of the young farmer course is divided into two terms. Each ter mis of eight weeks' duration, one term coming before Christmas vacation and the other after the vacation period.

Keep Land in Shape

Here's an idea for a good conservation practice that can be used right now on corn stubble land that is being left idle throughout the year in the Soil Bank.

Broadcast a mixture of mammoth and sweet clover any time weather permits, about March 1.

Use 10 lbs - 12 lbs. seed per acre or slightly heavier than customary on spring seedings in wheat. Fertilizer could also be applied at this time on level fields of heavy soil.

About the first week in June the seeding should be showing and the weeds will have a very good start. This is the time to go over the field with a good stalk shredder.

This prevents the weeds from maturing and converts them along with the stalks to a protective mulch. Fertilizer can be applied also if not done at seeding time.

☆

ANOTHER MOWING in early August will assure further weed control and convert a crop of legume to soil humus. A good growth of legume should develop again before winter and a green manure crop is on hand to be plowed down the following spring.

The seed is available as a mixture and is less expensive than mammoth or alfalfa and more desirable than sweet clover alone. It makes an excellent green manure since mammoth has a fibrous root system and sweet has a tap root. The combination also makes a large volume of top growth.

This procedure was used on my own farm last year and worked very well, states Don Mitchell, soil conservation service.

Good Will Trucks Again Seek Paper

The Goodwill trucks are again picking up newspapers, magazines and other scrap paper along with good used clothing and repairable household items.

The dates the trucks will be in town are announced in the Calendar of Events in the Tecumseh Herald.

LANSING—At least 2,931 deer were killed b yautomobiles and trucks last year on Michigan highways—the second highest total on record.

Methodists Transform Sanctuary

Tecumseh Methodists are engaged in a program of change and renewal in their place of worship.

For the past months carpenters under the direction of Howard Truesdale have been rebuilding the chancel and choir lofts and the central archway in the sanctuary.

New light fixtures have arrived and will be installed within the next few days by Tecumseh Electric Co.

The new chancel furniture is now being manufactured under a special design for this church.

☆

THIS WILL include a central altar and dossal, pulpit, lecturn, clergy pews, and communion rail.

This furniture is to be delivered late in March. A church decorating firm will decorate the sanctuary and entrance within the next few weeks.

The committee working with the pastor, Rev. James D. Nixon, includes Mrs. Maynard Lucas, Mrs. Robert Bonner, Mrs. Clifford Deaner, Carlos Jones and Wlifred Waldron.

☆

THIS COMMITTEE meets to examine and plan the work every other Tuesday evening. It is hoped that the project will be completed by Palm Sunday.

The community Union Good Friday Service is to be held in the Methodist Church.

Mr. Nixon points out that in this church renewal project, Tecumseh Methodists are "moving from the idea of 'meeting house' to the idea of 'Sanctuary' in their worship.

"The people are enthusiastic over what is taking place," he adds.

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 21 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1958 | 16 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

READING OTHER FELLOW'S weekly newspapers is half the fun of being in this business—you'll see what I mean after you enjoy (I hope) the following lifted piece.

It appeared in "The Fox Den," column written by Jim Fox of The Millington Herald.

"Dear Mr. Secretary:

"My friend Bordeaux over in Torrenbonne Parish received a $1,000 check from the Government this year for not raising hogs. So I am going into the not-raising-hog-business next year. What I want to know is, in your opinion, what is the best kind of farm not to raise hogs on and the best kind of hogs not to raise? I would prefer razorbacks . . . but if that is not a good breed not to raise, I will just as gladly not raise and Berkshires or Durocs.

"The hardest work in this business is going to be keeping an inventory of how many hogs I haven't raised. My friend Bordeaux is very joyful about the future of this business. He has been raising hogs for more than 20 years and the best he ever made was $400 until this year, when he got $1,000 for not raising hogs. If I can get $1,000 for not raising 50 hogs then I will get $2,000 for not raising 100 hogs.

"I plan to operate on a small scale at first, holding myself down to about 4,000 hogs, which means I will have $80,000. Now, another thing: These hogs I will not raise will not eat 100,000 bushels of corn. I understand that you also pay farmers for not raising corn. So will you pay me anything for not raising 100,000 bushels of corn not to feed the hogs I am not raising? I want to get started as soon as possible as this seems to be a good time of the year for not raising hogs.

Octave Broussard,
Louisiana

P. S. Can I raise 10 or 12 hogs on the side while I am in the not-raising-hog-business, just enough to get a few sides of bacon to eat?"

WELL, THE CHEMISE IS about to hit Tecumseh with a resounding "wham."

Already, two ladies shops—the Vogue and Rushia's Apparel—have announced they'll handle the chemise.

Below we have Mrs. Robert D. Moore, who is one of the first ladies in town to step out and actually purchase the much discussed garb. She states that this model, which was $17.95, is not so severe as some.

For this week's paper, The Herald's Gladys Meyer did a little sleuthing and came up with a mighty cute yarn—complete with

Newest Citizen Can Speak 5

(Editor's note: Tecumseh has a newly-naturalized citizen, Fred Pokorny, a young Tecumseh Products engineer with a fascinating background. Mary Seager, The Herald's youngest and newest feature writer, was assigned to do an article on Mr. Pokorny's life. This is her story).

BY MARY SEAGER

When 20-year old Fred Pokorny landed at Idlewild Airport September 20, 1948, he bought a Coca-Cola.

In Turkey, he had read about the Coke in American magazines. He confesses that his first taste was pretty disappointing.

But that was about the only misgiving the youthful visitor found in his first visit to America.

Ten years later and now a full-fledged citizen of these vast United States, Mr. Pokorny looks about himself and likes everything he sees—Cokes, included.

☆

Although born in Istanbul, Turkey, he was a Czechoslovakian citizen because both of his parents were.

During summer vacation visits to his grandmother's in Czechoslovakia, he was a member of "that family from Turkey."

And until recently, he was a Czech citizen traveling under an Afadavit of Identity and Nationality in this country.

Even though the family is Czechoslovakian its members spoke German at home because Carl Pokorny was the Viennese-educated director of the Vienna Bank Union in Istanbul.

All told, Mr. Pokorny speaks German, Greek, French, English and Turkish.

French was learned from French-speaking neighbors and Swiss friends.

The Turkish came from following his mother from one end of Istanbul to the other looking for archeological specimens.

☆

AT FIVE HE was sent by his parents to a British kindergarten for boys where his study of English began.

A contributing factor to his feeling that he has always been an American in thought was his attendance at Robert College, from the age of 11 until he received his bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering at 20.

After his graduation he wanted to visit America. At the time it was difficult (now impossible) for Czech citizens to obtain passports to America.

Finally a friend of the family wangled a six-month passport for him.

During his studies at North Carolina State College in Rawlings, he recorded broadcasts in German for the Voice of America to be beamed to East Germany.

His decision to stay in the United States permanently technically made him a deserter from the Czechoslovakian army.

If he ever went back to claim considerable family property still remaining he would probably be thrown in prison for his defection.

☆

HE MET Jackie Harris in the Dennison, Texas, post office in the summer of 1952, asked her for a date.

She said, "Sure, if you'll come home with me and meet my mother first. (That usually got rid of them.)"

He did. They now have two adorable children, Ricky, four and a half years, and Margaret, 14 months.

By 1953 he had been in all but two of the United States through his work with Baldwin, Lima & Hamilton, a diesel field engine company. The two states were

Pension Payments May Not Be Taxed, But Better Check

If you receive a pension the payments you receive may, under certain circumstances, not be taxed at all, they may be taxed in part, or they may be taxed in full.

Payments which are fully or partially taxed should be reported on Schedule E, on Page 3 of the Form 1040. You cannot use the short form 1040A, if only a part of the pension is taxable.

Certain payments received, such as disability pensions, are not taxable at all and do not have to be shown on the income tax returns.

Examples of non-taxable payments are workmen's compensation payments, accident and health insurance payments (if you paid all the premiums), railroad retirement act pensions, veterans benefit to veterans and their families, Social Security payments and unemployment compensation.

If you are not sure about any payments you receive, call your local Internal Revenue service office for advice.

Many Tecumseh merchants are staging some exciting bargains in the first of a probable series of Friday and Saturday Savings Sales. Full details can be found on page 3.

Citizens Cooperate During Police Move

Citizens apparently didn't want to trouble police — this being moving week — and only one minor car accident took place.

Chief George Kilbourn and his force had the details of changing from their long-time headquarters on S. Evans street to the new city hall and were thankful it was a "light" week.

The one auto mishap took place on the Tecumseh Products parking lot when two drivers failed to see each other's car and collided.

Harold Stevens of Dundee pulled in front of Ronald Morden of rural Clinton and the Morden vehicle rammed the Stevens car.

Mrs. Staulter Faces Charges

Mrs. Edna Staulter of 408 E. Pottawatamie faces a charge of making a false complaint to police officers.

She has been ordered to appear Friday in a Jackson court, following a preliminary hearing last week.

Mrs. Staulter was arrested last week by state police while a spectator at a Jackson court session in which Rev. James Tingley was being tried on a fraud charge.

It was her action against Tingley which has brought about the current difficulties for Mrs. Staulter.

Last fall she entered charges against the Jackson spiritualist, saying he had bilked her of $325.

When called as a witness at Tingley's hearing, Mrs. Staulter unexpectedly dropped the charge.

THE WHOLE issue seemed to have been forgotten, when last week, Tingley was arrested for defrauding the Hayes Hotel of $36.45.

During questioning in Jackson police headquarters, he used a ruse to escape, but was later re-arrested.

Tried before justice court, Tingley was fined $100 or ordered to jail for 30 days. Another hearing was begun immediately on his escape charge.

Thomas Burton, also of Jackson, is slated for trial, alleged to have been with Tingley when the hotel bill was run up.

In the first Staulter hearing, defense counsel Owen Dudley, argued that the complaint against her should be dropped since it "charged no offense or crime known to the State of Michigan."

The court ordered the state to provide defense counsel with a bill of particulars outlining charges against Mrs. Staulter and release her without bond.

Prayer Service Held for Hapkins Infant

A prayer service was held Saturday at the Green Funeral Home for the infant James David Hopkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Delmar G. Hopkins of 410 S. Ottawa street.

He died at 1:30 a.m. that morning in Herrick Memorial Hospital.

He was born on Friday, is survived by his parents; three sisters, Diana Linn, Janice Elaine and Nancy Susan at home; one brother, Norman Francis; his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Hopkins of Willow Run and Mrs. Blanche Halberstadt of Tecumseh; his great grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Herst of Pleasant Lake.

Rev. James D. Nixon officiated and burial was in Brookside cemetery.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Anise Apples

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Rosy anise apples are an addition to any meal and so easy to make.

Printed below is the recipe that Mrs. Ralph Westgate of E. Kilbuck street uses to make these luscious delicacies.

Mrs. Westgate has always had an avid interest in cooking and as one of her admirers says, always knows just what to serve so that the foods blend and compliment each other.

She enjoys family dinners with her daughter and family, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Gallant, Jr., Sharon, Brenda, Thomas John and Mary Beth and also with a son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Wilson, who reside in Toledo.

Recently the Westgates returned from an 8,361 mile tour of the western and southern states, during which time they visited his parents in Tampa, Florida and a son who is with the Marines in California.

They saw Disneyland, Knotts Berry Farm, old Mexico, the Carlsbad Caverns and many other interesting points in the west before going to New Orleans where they made a 65-mile conducted tour of that city.

☆

THEY ARRIVED in Tampa just in time for the annual Gasparilla — the Pirate Festival — during which pirates take over Tampa Bay and the city for four days.

The first day, a pirate ship comes into the Bay and is received by about 400 other vessels with the citizens all in pirate costume.

The Westgates enjoyed the pagentry, floats and decorations put on by the merchants of Tampa.

Along with cooking and traveling Mrs. Westgate enjoys gardening in the summer and has her windows filled with blooming African violets at all seasons of the year.

Mrs. Westgate is an interested active member of the Order of the Eastern Star and was the worthy matron of the organization last year.

Since the Westgates find they have more room than they need in their lovely seven-room house, they share it with roomers and at the present have a waiting list of people who would like to live there.

☆

Here is the recipe:

Rosy Anise Apples

Put in heavy skillet
1 cup sugar
¾ cup water
red fruit coloring
3 or 4 drops oil of anise

Core apples before peeling and put in the above boiling syrup. Turn apples once to have an even color and boil until tender. Jonathan apples are fine for these. Put apples in serving dish and continue to boil syrup until thick, then spoon it over the apples for a glaze.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

The rise in temperature is certainly welcomed by Tecumseh citizens, both large and small, and the bright sunshine must surely herald the coming of spring.

Yes, and with the coming of a lovely warm day like Monday the housewives are turning their homes inside and out and laundering everything in sight.

"Run for your lives, you bugs and germs, you're about to get the mop of milady."

What a glorious feeling, to know that warm breezes, the birds with their melodious songs and the crocuses will soon come dancing along on the bright green skirts of lovely lady spring.

HE IS PRESENTLY employed in the engineering department of the Tecumseh Products Co., where he is in charge of the development of an air pump to be used in automobile suspension.

On his re-entry into this country from Toronto, Canada, in October '53, Hurricane Hazel followed him.

When he returned to Istanbul to visit his father in 1955 he had begun to believe that trouble went with him on his travels.

He and Mrs. Pokorny walked right into the middle of the Cypriot riots in Istanbul. During one street battle he dropped a pack of cherished cards — was able to recover all 52 of them, has them to this day.

When asked how he feels about America and if he felt it was a great change from Turkey, he said that going to an American school for 10 years before coming here meant that he has been an American for 20 years out of his 30.

He just feels that now he really has become a man with a country.

WOMEN of TECUMSEH

Eye the Chemise

By GLADYS MEYER

Just as women all over this nation are talking about it, women in Tecumseh are, too. We mean the newest item on the fashion agenda—the chemise.

Before we report what Mrs. Tecumseh thinks, I believe you'd enjoy this little poem, which appeared in my old hometown paper, The Mission (Texas) Times.

It was written by Martha VanSidener.

Of all of fashions' fricasees
The worst, by far, is the chemise.
I will not aid this style disease!
Why should I spare my calories
To hide my shape in a chemise?

So torture me with third degrees,
Or freeze me in an arctic breeze—
Worse—banish me in dungarees!
But do not make me wear, oh please!
This baggy, saggy "chic" chemise!

Whether you call it the chemise, the sack or the shift this loose fitting fashion is going to be with us in 1958.

You might call it "dramatic" or "drastic" but whatever you call it, this fashion, which got its biggest push from Paris, is the newest new thing.

Its development has been termed by one New York expert "as reaction, rebellion, and revolution — all against the molded sheath, the full skirt and the waistline."

The Herald has conducted a small survey on what women of Tecumseh think of the Chemise.

Here are some of the opinions and reactions we got: "Its for the birds." We won't name the gals who gave us this reply.

Mrs. Harold Easton: "Weelluh, as a woman, if everyone else wears them, I know that I will."

Mrs. Richard D. Coak: "I think this new style is going to be exciting. The chemise will emphasize the natural grace and rhythmn of the feminine form. Good contrast after these dresses emphasizing the full bosoms. The chemise gives a subtle suggestion."

Although Mrs. Allen Russell had not talked to Mrs. Allan Seager, their opinions were almost the same.

Mrs. Seager: "If you have a good figure the chemise hides it, and if you have a bad figure, it shows it."

Mrs. Russell added: "Clothes should be bought that have a good basic design. They can be worn through trends."

Mrs. Joseph Galazzi: "It is fine for those whose figures can take it for a change, and I don't think it will last. It is "chic," a thing for the young and slim to wear. In today's world we need something like this refreshing approach to style."

Mrs. George Green, Jr.: In modified forms, its all right."

Mrs. Larry Coscarelli: "Some variations are very nice. It's just like any new trend—takes a while to get used to. Definitely has to be properly fitted to get the full value of the style."

Mrs. Robert D. Moore; "Some of them are too exaggerated. The modified chemise probably will become popular. They are fun and comfortable to wear. One or two for variety would be enough. I hope they don't go back to the 20's altogether."

Mrs. T. Rentschler: "Strange looking, isn't it? Can't say that the "Chemise" flatters but it should be most comfortable, if it is anything like our 'ole chemise undies' which were the vogue in the early 1920's. My first impression is that the person has failed to finish dressing. However, the Chemise style of the spring dresses and suits seems to be modified and giving the appearance of outer garments. By the way, guess I'll go buy a new dress in the chemise style."

There you have it.

Bedford Defeated by Indians, 60-57

A 60 to 57 victory over Bedford last Friday night not only revenged an early season loss to the Mules, but cinched at least a share of third spot in the Southeastern League for the Indians.

Jumping off to a 15 to 7 first-quarter lead, the Indians were never headed. Tecumseh spurted to a 37 to 23 half-time margin, routing the visitors in the second quarter.

Bedford's sharpshooting Roger Rollman collected 13 of his team's 23 points in the first two periods.

The Mules spurted in the third stanza and at one time pulled to within one point of Tecumseh before slipping to a seven-point deficit at the end of the quarter.

☆

BEDFORD PRESENTED the Indians with two extra points in the third quarter when tempers blew and officials called two technical fouls on the Mules.

Late in the final quarter, Dave Elliott came through in the clutch twice, sinking a field goal with the Indians ahead by one point and then icing the game for Tecumseh with another goal after Bedford had crept up again.

Rollman tallied 17 points for Bedford and Martin Hammerstein 12.

Addison '5' Falls in Year's Finale

Tecumseh's Indians tuned up for the district tournament by stopping Addison, 75 to 67, Tuesday night.

Jon Elliott canned 28 points as Coach Vic Lawson's hoopsters finished the regular season with a 10 and 6 record.

Addison's Panthers tried pressing tactics most of the game—the defensive device which had previously caused Tecumseh so much grief.

However, Tuesday it didn't work as Coach Lawson had his back line use a fast weave bringing the ball up and over the ten-second line.

Bob O'Neil had 16 points, Larry Yoakum and Jack Sisson, nine each; Steve Kruger, eight; Gary Hanna, three and Dave Elliott, two to round out the scoring against Addison.

Addison center Bob Sanderson had 31 tallies.

Newspaper Advertising Helps Establish Store as Center for Quality

EAST LANSING — Newspaper advertising can help a retailer establish his store as a quality institution in the eyes of the consumer.

Retailers can also use newspaper advertising to stimulate consumer traffic and increase profits, according to Dr. Paul E. Smith, assistant dean for continuing education, College of Business and Public Service, Michigan State University.

Dr. Smith spoke to the second annual Conference for Newspaper Advertising Salesmen held this month at Kellogg Center.

"Institutional advertising is very effective in promoting quality merchandise," Dr. Smith pointed out. "Both private and name brands are especially adaptable to promotion by newspaper advertising."

☆

DR. SMITH explained that institutional advertising can also help the retailer in promoting low prices, wide assortments of merchandise, credit and other services, and can do much to level out sales "peaks and valleys."

The speaker emphasized the need for well-trained and informed sales personnel.

"Sales people should know their merchandise and should be aware of what is being advertised in the newspaper and displayed within the store," he added.

Letters to Editor

Gentlemen:

Please send The Herald to my son-in-law and daughter who are stationed in Amarillo, Texas. He is in the Air Force and they live off the base.

Their address is:
A/1c and Mrs. Gary B. Roberts
1005 Monore Apt. 5
Amarillo, Texas

Incidentally, allow me to congratulate you on the continued improvement The Herald has and is showing.

The growth of the community has indeed been aided by the interest and enthusiasm generated by your vivid and outright discussions and comments and stories concerning Tecumseh and its people.

I read with much interest Mards Gene's column and enjoy it very much. She should be very proud of her work.

The work of the high school and grade children is very good and your interest in our young people's to be congratulated.

The larger two section paper with more pictures of local interest I'm sure is appreciated by all.

Wishing you continued success I am

Yours very truly
Lester A. Handy

Coffee breaks may wake you up in the morning, but to "keep the doctor from your door," take an "apple" break. They're trying it at the New York State Experiment station. Each day a different kind of apple is available. They can keep this up quite a while, too—their fruit specialists have grown over 700 varieties.

A Tribute to George

By CLARA WALDRON

To the rest of Lenawee county and to much of Michigan he was Circuit Judge G. Arthur Rathbun. To Tecumseh he was "George."

Judge Rathbun, whose death occurred February 16, belonged to Tecumseh in a very special way. Here he grew up, not as a youth but as a lawyer.

Fresh from University of Michigan Law School in 1909, he was associated here with J. W. Whiteman and later with F. B. Wood, two men experienced and respected in the legal world, and here he made a lasting place for himself in the esteem of the town.

Tecumseh was proud of his record of 22 years on the bench and in 1953 was happy to welcome him back for the useful years following his retirement.

Probably no one was known to more people during his active years, for he was a friend as well as a lawyer. The more archaic term of "counselor" fitted him perfectly.

He was also sincerely interested in all local affairs, whether to help organize the Rotary Club or a homecoming celebration or to root for the town's winning team in the old South Michigan Baseball League.

No one who saw him will ever forget his role in the home-talent productions that were so much a part of that period. Whether interlocutor in a minstrel show, actor in an amateur musical or toastmaster at a banquet, his participation meant the event would be a success.

Judge and Mrs. Rathbun made their early home at 501 W. Chicago boulevard. The town is still grateful to them for their painstaking restoration of one of its prized houses.

The attribute most often mentioned by his friends was his kindness.

Clients remember friendly services far beyond the mere drawing of a legal paper.

On the bench, the justice he administered might have been stern, but it was never cruel and there are many known instances, and probably many more that never will be known, of his interest and help in the rehabilitation of those who came before his court.

After his retirement, a new field, for which he was eminently fitted, was opened to him, that of legal and financial advisor to the personnel of the Tecumseh Products Company.

Here too, his help often went beyond "the call of duty." Nothing could be more characteristic than his reply regarding what seemed an instance of undue trustfulness. "Well, I talked to him a long time and he seemed like a pretty good chap."

He never lost his faith in people.

TIPTON COMMUNITY CHURCH

By DAVID M. HOLLY, Pastor

The Tipton Community Church is the outgrowth of four different denominations working in Franklin township during the early years of that township.

These were the Presbyterian, the Congregational, the Methodist and the Baptist denominations.

The First Presbyterian Society was organized in 1837 and in 1839 this society erected a church building which is still standing and is the home of the Harold Anderson family.

Around 1845 there was much sentiment to leave the Presbyterian denomination and affiliate with the Congregationalists, but it was not until February 15, 1848 that definite action was taken to this effect.

A parsonage was erected in 1852 on the lot where the present parsonage stands. This dwelling was built between 1883 and 1886.

The present church building was erected in 1860.

☆

ONE OF THE first settlers of Franklin Township was Rev. Henry Tripp, who suggested the name of the township after Benjamin Franklin.

Rev. Tripp was also instrumental in the organization of a Baptist Church.

The Methodist Church was organized in 1846 and was made a regular appointment on the Tecumseh circuit.

Some services were held in a big log stable which had previously been a shelter for oxen and horses used while the Monroe Turnpike was being cleared and graded.

This building stood on the south side of what is now M-50 near Nortley highway.

☆

THE METHODIST Church building and parsonage in Tipton were erected on land given by Joseph Camburn.

The first parsonage erected by the Methodists was subsequently moved and is now the home of Roy Luce.

A new parsonage was built which is now the home of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Eisenninger.

The Methodist and Congregational Churches continued as separate groups until 1922 when a Federated church was tried for some time.

Finally on February 12, 1930 the Community Church was organized. The Methodist Church building was subsequently sold to the Knights of Pythias and the bell which had been in the Methodist building was placed in the belfry of the Community Church.

☆

IN 1952 A FULL basement was constructed under the Community Church building and an addition was made in the rear of the church.

More recent improvements have been the painting of the church exterior, the acquiring of land for additional parking space, the installation of a new hardwood floor and carpeting in the main auditorium and the refinishing of the pews.

A highlight of the church year will be the Light of Life Missionary Conference to be held the last week of March in cooperation with 14 other area churches.

EDITORIAL IN PICTURE — Just a few short days ago, biting cold blasts swirled across fields, stalled cars and gave us cause to thank the inventor of long johns. Now it would seem that spring is here and scenes like this one, taken February 18 along N. Raisin highway about a mile south of Tecumseh, are but a vague memory.

College President Speaks Before PTA

Dr. John Dawson, president of Adrian College, spoke to members of the Patterson PTA February 20 at the Patterson school.

In his talk, "Current Trends in Education," he urged parents to encourage their children to strive for a quality education.

Then, he said, there need be no fear for the future of American schools.

Seven members of the VFW Auxiliary presented flags to the teachers of the six new classrooms.

MRS. EARL KRUGER gave the presentation speech and Mrs. Harlan Boyes, Mrs. Harold Mead, Mrs. Gaza Kish, Mrs. Jack Braden, Mrs. Ted Sisson and Mrs. Carson House gave the flags to the teachers, along with flag etiquette books.

The Auxiliary then led the group in the Pledge of Allegiance to the Flag and the National Anthem.

Gibbs Barber conducted the business meeting. A nominating committee consisting of Orville Bishop, George Green, Jr. and Jack Puffer was appointed.

The attendance award was presented to Mrs. A. L. Van Winkle's second grade.

Refreshments were served by mothers of the second grades, taught by Mrs. Van Winkle and Mrs. C. R. Puffer.

250 Attend 1958 Spaghetti Dinner at St. Elizabeth's

The tables were decorated in the Italian theme with red and white place mats and candles held in bottles covered with dripped wax. The stage was attractive with flowers.

Two strolling accordion players added to the festive air.

Spaghetti was served cafeteria style while salads and desserts were served at the tables.

Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro was the chief cook in preparing the sauce for the spaghetti. About 120 pounds of hamburger was used.

Games were enjoyed following the dinner and aprons and other handmade articles sold.

Tecumseh Future Farmers Celebrate National Week

Future Farmers of America members — in Tecumseh and throughout the nation — are scheduling special activities to focus public attention on the work of their organization during National FFA Week, February 22-March 1.

Membership in the FFA is made up of boys who are students of vocational agriculture in high school.

The organization's activities are designed primarily to help develop rural leadership and good citizenship, and to stimulate the boys to better achievement in their study and work toward successful establishment in farming.

The Tecumseh FFA chapter has 48 members.

THE NATIONAL Future Farmer organization has 380,000 members, with 9,000 local chapters in the 48 States, Hawaii, and Puerto Rico. Membership in Michigan totals 11,000.

Future Farmers choose the week of George Washington's birthday each year for the observance of National FFA Week.

Although usually recognized as a Revolutionary War general and our first president, Washington's first love was the farm he called Mount Vernon.

There, he was one of the first in the nation to practice contour planting, crop rotations, fertilization, and other soil conservation and improvement methods.

It was more than a century after Washington's death before general use was made of many of the sound agricultural practices that he advocated.

☆

OFFICERS IN the Tecumseh chapter are:

President, John Dewey; Vice President, Wayne Lembrick; Secretary, Jack Allen; Treasurer, Jerry Munger; Reporter, LeRoy Burkson and Sentinel, Bob Long.

John Naser Pledges Beta Theta Pi

John Naser, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Naser, 307 N. Union street, and a freshman majoring in engineering at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana, has been pledged to Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

He is also the class's new treasurer.

Hunting License Up $1,635,000

LANSING—Revenue from sales of Michigan hunting and fishing licenses during the current fiscal year is up $1,635,844 over the figure for a year ago, as indicated by incomplete returns from license dealers through January 31.

The increase is attributed to higher license fees. Actually, the number of licenses sold is down for all types.

Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and son, Bill, attended the recognition of County Leaders Banquet at Madison school.

Area Ministers Meeting March 4

The Tecumseh Area Ministerial Association will meet Tuesday, March 4, at 9:30 a.m. at the Church of the Nazarene.

This association is made up of the ministers in the area who desire to participate.

It is in the nature of a "profession organization" of ministers in which they discuss certain technical, organizational and community questions from the minister's point of view.

At frequent intervals a layman is invited to a specific meeting to aid in the discussion.

Thomas Riordan of The Tecumseh Herald was a recent speaker.

The Association also sponsors community activities such as Holy Week services, Easter Sunrise Service, Thanksgiving Service, Daily Vacation Church Schools.

3 Million Fish Planted in State

LANSING—More than 3,166,000 fish — including 2,560,000 trout—were planted in Michigan waters from state hatcheries during 1957.

Plantings of hatchery-reared fish are made only in waters open to public fishing, to supplement natural reproduction.

Other plantings included 709,500 brook trout, 137,400 brown trout, 115,600 lake trout and 3,000 splake trout.

Almost 2,000,000 of the planted trout were legal-sized fish.

In addition to the trout releases, plantings during the year included 340,500 walleyes, 12,800 northern pike, 11,600 muskellunge, 95,300 largemouth bass, 12,900 smallmouth bass and 132,500 bluegills.

Joint Agreement Helps to Purchase New Chorus Risers

A joint agreement with the school board has resulted in new risers for the Tecumseh high school chorus.

Les Bennett, vocal music director, reports the risers have been purchased for the school choirs.

About half of the cost was raised last September at the Autumn Melodies recital at the Methodist Church and the school board provided the rest.

Total cost was approximately $169.

The new risers are portable fold flat for transportation and can be handled easily by one or two students as each of three sections weighs only about 85 pounds.

The 71-voice high school chorus will first use the risers for a public performance at the Easter assembly.

Mr. and Mrs. James Mitchell and Bill attended the county Grange banquet at Sand Creek Monday.

Ladies Aid of the Holloway Presbyterian church will hold a potluck dinner Thursday noon, February 27. Husbands are welcome. Missionary sewing should be started and be completed at once.

Progress Extension Members Hold Session

Township and city government was the project-of-the-day presented by Mrs. Robert Beard and Mrs. Avery Lee at the meeting of the Progress Extension Club Tuesday evening.

The meeting was held in the home of Mrs. Lee and the roll call was answered with gifts received for Valentine's Day.

During the meeting a bake sale was planned for March 15, the place to be announced at a later date. Kathryn Belch candy, Golden Crumbles, will also be sold.

The members selected the six most "wanted" programs, to be used in planning for next year.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Mrs. Edwin Bunge at 411 Center drive March 18 at 8 p.m. The lesson will be presented by Mrs. Lee on "Child Safety."

THURSDAY EVENING THE FHA held a Play Day that took the place of the regular meeting. They invited chapters from various near-by schools to attend.

About 40 girls from Britton, Dundee, and Clinton came. This was to help further their good neighbor policy.

Get acquainted games were played first. Basketball and ping-pong followed. A dance contest was also held. Refreshments were served after the entertainment.

Those on the Program Committee were Frances Short, Alice Neuman and Jane Spreeman.

☆

MOST OF THE TECUMSEH people who attended the Tecumseh-Bedford game last Friday night were probably glad that they come from Tecumseh not Bedford.

Granted some of the fouls called on the Bedford players may not have been their fault, but that's the way it goes. There was no need for them to become foul-mouthed over it.

The Tecumseh players were forebearing about the terrible-tempered Mules' behavior. The Indians got their own share of bad calls, but they weren't caught sassing the referees.

☆

THE DANCE HELD AFTER our victory was a huge success with more than 200 kids on hand. Art Allen from WABJ acted as disc jockey.

Two dance contests were held. Winners of the slow-dancing contest were Jon Weakly and Mary Colgrove. Earl Drummonds and Karen Knight won the jitterbug contest. Both couple were given free records.

Just before the dance was over at twelve free records were thrown out into the crowd.

The judges and chaperones were Mr. Paul Burns and Mrs. Helen Sisson. The dance was sponsored by the Senior Class.

In an emergency, the value of medicine can hardly be reckoned in dollars. Medicine is priceless when needed.

Yet it is an interesting fact that nationally the average cost of a pharmaceutical prescription is about $2.50 — and more than half of all prescriptions cost less than $2.00. Although higher than 20 years ago, the increase in the cost of medicine lags far behind that of other, and less essential, commodities.

When you purchase a prescription, you are sharing in the fruits of scientific research. You are getting today's best buy.

Osburn Building New Realty Office

Tecumseh realtor Jack Osburn plans to start construction this week on a new realty office for himself on N. Evans street, south of Brown street.

The frame building will be complete and ready for occupancy by the latter part of March or early April.

REALTY VIEWS

"Say, I'd like to talk with you," a businessman, Bill Rocket, said on the phone. "Are you going to be in for a little while?"

I assured him I would wait.

"My problem is this," Bill said. "I had to take over a house. The owner owed me a lot of money and couldnt' pay, so he deeded the house to me. Naturally, I had no intention of ever owning it. I've tried renting it but have had poor luck. Seems like I just get it fixed up when the tenant moves out, and I have to redecorate again. I'm tired of it. Would you get rid of it for me?"

An inspection established that a cash sale, at any figure close to the one Bill had in it, was out of the question.

"What do you suggest then?" Bill asked.

"First, fix it up. Put on screen doors, repair the bathroom, add a couple of storage cabinets, and for the last time, redecorate. Then we can sell it on a low down payment, or probably trade it on a less expensive home."

"Anything is O.K.," Bill said.

Within a short time, we found an acceptable prospect—a young couple traded their equity on the house because it offered them the extra space they needed. Then, we sold their former home on a small down payment.

"Thanks for solving my problem," Bill said with a broad smile.

May we solve your house-selling problem too? We NEED LISTINGS in all price ranges. Won't you please call?

GERTIE'S DUCKS

Last spring, anticipating a summer full of visiting grandchildren, Gertrude decided that once again it was time for the creek to have some ducks. A few years ago it had accommodated quite a large flock.

The children, and to be truthful, the grown-ups as well, found them interesting and entertaining.

The original flock was gradually depleted until only two stout-hearted souls were left.

These two outlived their contemporaries by several years and became important figures in our creek lore.

☆

IT WAS AMAZING how much personality those two ducks developed. Among other things they would come when called.

Gertrude could go down to the creek bank, call "Quack, quack, quack, quack!" and from wherever they were, the ducks would come paddling fast and furiously.

As startling as it was to hear Gertrude quacking at the ducks, it was even more so when several of the other 'creekers' tried it.

Always interested in a handout, the ducks came to whomever called, but it was always interesting to note that they came fastest to Gertrude's quack — they knew who was boss!

☆

WHEN A SUDDEN thaw or a particularly hard rain would cause the creek to rise the ducks were jubilant.

As the creek threatened to overflow its banks and the current ran faster and faster, the ducks excitement heightened. They loved nothing better than to hitch a ride on a fast moving current.

Strange as it seems, the ducks were, for some unknown reason, never named.

We all just called him "The Ducks"—when using a pronoun, we incorrectly, as it turned out later, used "he."

I say mistakenly, because suddenly along the creek bank, duck eggs began to appear. No little ducklings were ever hatched, but I understand that several breakfasts of scrambled duck eggs were enjoyed.

☆

THIS WAS PART of the tradition into which Gertie's two new ducks stepped. It would have been wrong to expect them to take up exactly where the old ones left off and, of course, they didn't.

In the first place their appearance was different. Whereas the "originals" were average duck size with orange-yellow bills and feet, the newcomers were huge and had red bills and feet.

Most shocking of all were their red heads!

To make the difference complete, they didn't quack! Their voices were rasping gutteral croaks—one's first thought was that they were choking to death. As some of you no doubt guessed, Gertie's new ducks were Muscovies.

Although never quite as entertaining as the old ducks, the newcomers did acquire several interesting traits. Each morning they appeared at Gertrude's back door for breakfast.

They would struggle up the steep bank, waddle through the back yard and wait patiently by the door for her to come out with their morning corn.

They also reached an understanding with the squirrels about the bird feeder and its contents.

Perching on the feeder, the squirrels ate the germ of each kernel of corn and dropped the rest to the ground. The ducks contented themselves with these leftovers.

☆

THEIR MOST unfortunate habit was wandering. A month or so ago they started taking long strolls on, around and across the boulevard.

Today's lightning-fast, horn-blowing traffic is not geared to accommodate wandering wildlife and certainly a peaceful life on the creek is no prepartion for a safari on our well-traveled streets.

So it was that on a dark, gloomy afternoon—January 25 to be exact—one of the ducks became a traffic fatality.

One lone duck now sits by the bank—how long he'll survive his mate and what his adjustment to bachelor living will be is for us to ponder.

Although he has given few visible signs of being lonesome, he somehow doesn't look fitted for the solitary life.

When the original ducks died there was a real sense of loss, the creek looked lonesome. We hope, of course, that the remaining duck will have no more tragedy in his life, but one does feel that when he leaves his loss will not be felt as much as perhaps it should be.

For some reason, the Muscovies were never the success that their predecessors were.

Larry Kohl Completes Navy Recruit Trainning

Larry L. Kohl, son of Mrs. Robert J. Holcomb, Tecumseh, has completed recruit training February 8 at the Naval Training Center, Great Lakes, Illinois.

Booklet on Corn Hybrids Is Free at Lenawee Agent

Choosing the best hybrid corn to grow on your farm is the main problem you face when buying seed, points out Louis G. Hall, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

Hybrids differ in their maturity, yielding ability, lodging resistance and other characteristics. The best test of a hybrid's performance is to compare it with other hybrids under equal soil and climatic conditions.

Extension Folder F-67, "Corn Hybrids Compared," just received in the Lenawee county extension office, shows the comparative performance of many of the hybrids sold in Michigan. Copies of the folder are free for the asking.

☆

DETAILS ARE included covering average moisture content in the ears of harvest time, average yield in bushels per acre of shelled corn at 15.5% moisture and average percentage of stalk loding.

Stalk lodging is recorded as the percentage of plants broken below the ear at harvest.

The folder gives instructions in how to choose a hybrid on the basis of performance ,adaption, maturity, for grain and silage. There also tips on measuring corn yield and a discussion of time of planting.

Minimum Tillage Saves for Small Grain Producers

Minimum tillage can save $5 per acre when used in small grain production, according to extension soils specialist James Porter of Michigan State University, reports Louis G. Hall, county agricultural agent in Lenawee.

According to Porter, Hall says, yields of oats and spring barley are as high or higher with minimum tillage as with the usual soil fitting practices.

Besides the yield and less time and expense, the farmer benefits from the better soil condition due to minimum tillage. The soil is more porous and takes up moisture better which also reduces run-off and erosion.

The recommended soil preparation method, then, is to plow when the soil moisture is right for easy plowing.

Work the land just enough so seed can germinate and leave the field smooth enough for the combine.

A leveling tool between the tractor and drill will take care of this and a cultipacker or a similar tool should be pulled behind the drill to firm the soil.

Bed linens may have a longer useful life if they are not allowed to whip in a strong wind or freeze stiff. These conditions weaken fibers.

Early Weaning New Trend in Lamb Care

Early weaning and pellet feeding may become the trend in the lamb feeding business says Clayton C. Ingerson, Lenawee county agricultural agent.

Pellet feeding can be used as a supplement to milk and pasture. Gains are faster with pellet feeding which means earlier marketing and a better price.

When good pasture is in short supply, pellet feeding can help with earlier weaning and with shifting the adult stock off the better pasture.

The lambs will maintain a fast rate of gain on pellets and good pasture. With the ewe running on the same pasture, milk production will drop and the gain per-day of the lambs will fall off.

☆

BLAKESLEE SAYS tests show lambs gain faster on pelleted feed than on the same feed in non-pellet form. The pellets are easy for the lambs to eat and are very digestible.

The pelleted form also allows control of the percentage of each segment of the ration and makes adding antibiotics and other ingredients easier.

Blakeslee recommends the pellets run up to 50% grain for lambs on pasture or running with their mothers. For lambs on straight dry feed, 45% is the top grain percentage that should be fed.

Million Drinking Fluoridated Water in Our State

LANSING — More than a million Michigan residents are now drinking fluoridated water, according to the Michigan Department of Health.

Six Michigan cities, including Tecumseh, began fluoridating their water in 1957, bringing the number of Michigan communities fluoridating to 58.

Drinking water containing fluoride reduces tooth decay by two-thirds among children who consume the water from birth.

Some of the fluoride becomes a part of the child's teeth while they are being formed, and the fluoride increases the resistance to decay throughout the child's life.

According to the state health department, water fluoridation costs about 10 cents per person annually. This cost, the department explained, is more than offset by the reduction in dental bills brought about by fluoridation.

'Opinion of Ownership' Is Presented to Group Written by Beardsley

A document, "Opinion of Ownership of the Boy Scout Cabin," written by the city attorney, James Beardsley, was presented at the recent meeting of the Tecumseh Scout organization held at the Cabin.

Mrs. Charles Irelan, president, read the document which was followed by discussion.

Committees including the auditing and the nominating committee will present their reports at the April 14 meeting.

Bud Fergus was appointed to the naminating committee to take the place of Mrs. Anna Grigg, who is not able to act in that capacity.

A discussion was held concerning the proposed new addition to the Scout Cabin, but no decision was made.

Mrs. Austin Pickford was appointed to study the community calendar and decide on a more suitable date for the future meetings to be held in the attempt to have a better attendance.

Committee Meets to Decide Pairings for Mayor Switch

LANSING — A drawing to determine pairings for the fifth annual Michigan Week Exchange of Mayors was to be held in Lansing on Wednesday.

Governor G. Mennen Williams, honorary Michigan Week chairman, along with Lieut. Governor Philip Hart and House Speaker George Van Peursem, the honorary co-chairman, will draw the first names in pairing the state's 503 cities and villages for the exchange which will be held on Monday, May 5.

Interest and participation in the exchange has increased each year with approximately 400 communities taking part in the program.

The event is not merely an exchange of public officials, but is recognized as an important program in which officials learn more about Michigan, its communities and the many problems municipal officials must solve.

In the first year the swap was almost exclusively one of mayors and village presidents, but last year it reached a point where many officials, civic leaders, club presidents and school officials joined in the exchange.

'Strep' Throat Can Signal Beginning of Rheumatic Fever

With the "strep" season at its annual peak, parents were urged today to be particularly alert to the signs and symptoms that might indicate a streptococcal sore throat, door opener to rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease.

The reminder was issued by M. S. Chambers, M.D., Flint, President of the Michigan Heart Association.

Dr. Chambers stated that a child's sore throat should be taken seriously by the parents because it may be due to a streptococcal infection which, in turn, may be the beginning of an attack of rheumatic fever.

The first precaution, he emphasized, is to call the doctor as soon as the sore throat appears in order that a correct diagnosis can be made and proper treatment instituted.

"First attacks of rheumatic fever can generally be prevented by use of penicillin or other modern drugs to eradicate the streptococcal infection which almost always precede it," he said.

Additional information on how parents can help safeguard their children against rheumatic fever is contained in the pamphlet, "Now You Can Protect Your Child Against Rheumatic Fever," which can be obtained from the Michigan Heart Association, a member of the Michigan United Fund, by writing to HEART in care of the local post office.

Doris L. Hetler Is First Winner of Scholarship

BRITTON — First Helen E. Dunning scholarship award will be made to Doris L. Hertler, an Eastern Michigan College senior majoring in Chemistry.

The award was announced by Susan B. Hill, dean of women, William Brownrigg and Lucille A. Marshall, members of the scholarship fund.

The fund was set up last April in memory of Mrs. Dunning by her husband, the late Lawrence E. Dunning, a teacher at Lincoln Consolidated schools, her mother Mrs. Jennie Lowe and friends.

This will be of interest to Britton people as the late Mr. and Mrs. Dunning were frequent visitors here and had many friends.

Mrs. Jennie Lowe resided here for many years.

New Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce Forming

Wheels went into motion this week to organize a new Tecumseh Chamber of Commerce.

A concise, long-range program is now being presented to potential members by a task force of men who have been working on a Chamber proposal for several weeks.

One of the number stated: "We have our new schools, new city hall, new homes, new hospital addition. Now to make greater use of these and other facilities, we need a new Chamber of Commerce."

He went on, "This group is spearheaded by business and professional people in Tecumseh, interested in attracting people to come and live in Tecumseh, locate industry in Tecumseh and have folks do their shopping in Tecumseh."

"This is a big undertaking," the committee representative explained, "But I think many will agree it is something that Tecumseh needs and needs badly."

According to a tentative schedule, April 1 has been established as the target date for the Chamber to be completely organized and ready to roll.

The present plan calls for an experienced, full-time executive secretary, who would set up a three-year Chamber program for Tecumseh.

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 22 | TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 6, 1958 | 16 PAGES — TEN CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

ALLAN SEAGER, TECUMSEH'S novelist and short story writer, has pieces appearing currently in Saturday Evening Post and Esquire.

His Post story, "The Marriage Wrecker," runs as the issue's first fiction offering, is illustrated with a full-page drawing.

"It's Hard to Recognize a Drowning Man", the Esquire yarn, provoked a letter from Switzerland.

It was from a man who told Mr. Seager he had just read Esquire and thought the Tecumseh writer might enjoy a picture which ran in The Sunday Express of London just after the magazine hit Swiss newsstands.

An eight-column photo, taken in Paris, showed an apparent suicide victim bobbing up in the River Seine as people along the shore seemed to ignore what was happening.

Headline over the pic read, "They Do Not Know This Man Is Drowning."

☆

You see, this is a special gavel.

It was fashioned from a piece of the old East Branch school stairway, which at one time was situated on the site of the new city hall.

Just 63 years ago this month, Oley started school at East Branch.

And if that's not enough, his wife, Mabel, began teaching in the same building 21 years ago.

☆

"IS THAT SO!" WAS THE name of a column Clara Waldron wrote for The Herald some years ago.

It touched upon the historical aspects of Tecumseh.

We're happy to announce that "Is That So!" returns to the columns of this newspaper as a regular feature once more.

Miss Waldron's first offering appears on page 2 of this issue.

☆

AS FAR AS WE'RE CONCERNED, the most exciting news this week is contained in the story which runs over the top of our nameplate.

Announcement that a new Chamber of Commerce is being organized caps everything else.

In the five months we've been in Tecumseh a lot of people have expressed the positive opinion that this city should have a Chamber.

Always with the comments came the proviso that old Chamber pitfalls must be avoided at all costs.

Out of the question, we have

MRS. FRED MARSH

Pythian Sisters Honor Member of Fifty Years

Mrs. Fred Marsh of 108 East Kilbuck street was recently presented a certificate for 50 years membership in the Pythian Sisters, Josephine H. Hall Temple No. 49.

She is one of the two members that have held a certificate of this kind. George Adamson's mother received one several years ago.

Mrs. Marsh has filled all the chairs in the lodge and was a member of the initiation drill team for a number of years, besides acting as the installing officer.

☆

MEMBERS OF the organization agree that she probably was responsible for bringing more new members into the lodge than any other one person.

She has always been an actively interested member since she joined March 8, 1908. She now belongs to the Past Chiefs Club as wel las being an honorary member of the Sisters.

In recalling past meetings of the Sisters Mrs. Marsh tells that they were held in what is now the Sage Hall and that it was customary for the attendance to fill two rows of chairs completely around the hall.

Often the average attendance was 65, many more than now regularly attend. She thinks the decline began when the first motion picture shows came to Tecumseh and the admission was five cents.

Spelling contests, minstrels and plays filled the programs following the meetings in those days. One in particular was the "Old Maids Convention" in which the late Lester Coller played a starring roll. Mrs. Marsh said the whole cast enjoyed the rehearsals because of his antics.

There were 73 charter members of the lodge, Mrs. Marsh joined a few years later when Ella Heck was past chief; Mrs. Guy Belding, record keeper, Cora Sisson, treasurer and Mrs. James Elliott, past chief.

READY FOR OPENING — Harvey Wilson, Plymouth-DeSota dealer here since 1953, is staging an open house Friday at his new display room and service center west of town on Chicago boulevard. The new layout offers considerable additional space, especially for customer parking. Among other points of interest, the open lot adjoining the building calls for 593 bulbs of the 75-watt variety.

Council Approves Station

Council approved a building permit for construction of a new Standard Oil service station Monday night at the first meeting held by the governing body in the new city hall.

The new station will be built at the corner of North Evans street and Herrick Park drive.

A representative from the company stated the present station on Chicago boulevard in the downtown section would not be torn down at this time, but would sometime in the future.

The council and Tecumseh Acre residents discussed running sewer and water lines into that area and Clerk Naomi Sallows was authorized to schedule a public hearing with the residents.

☆

A UNION representative questioned the acquisition by H. W. Dillon of the Tecumseh Hauling Service of the Hite trash pickup service.

Mr. Dillon explained that he had taken over the service, nothing was bought, and that he had previously discussed the acquisition with city manager Ed Nelson and council.

City Engineer Carl Zorn was appointed County Supervisor, succeeding Rev. Blair Bashore who had resigned.

Monroe CC '5' Has Big Edge Over Tecumseh

Southeastern League champions Monroe Catholic Central will be a top-heavy District Tournament favorite Thursday night to beat the Tecumseh Indians for the third time this season.

The lone advantage for the Indians, who finished third in the league, is the home floor.

This so-called edge failed to help Tecumseh here last month when CC trounced the Indians by 18 points.

The local tournament will wind-up Saturday night when the winner of the Monroe CC-Tecumseh clash meets the winner of the Bedford-Blissfiled game, played here Wednesday evening.

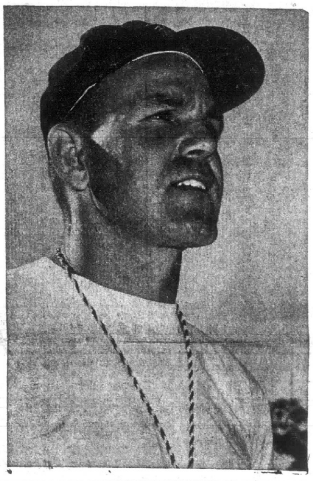
Duncan Leckta Takes Over Gridders in Fall

Duncan Leckta of North Muskegon has been named Tecumseh school head football coach, starting next September. He succeeds Robert Breniff who has resigned.

Mike Rotunno, former University of Michigan star, has been hired as his assistant.



DUNCAN LECKTA

The new head mentor graduated from Cadillac high school in 1939 and attended Western Michigan University from 1939 to 1941, at which time he entered the Naval Air Corps, serving as a pilot from 1942 to 1945.

After World War II, he attended Michigan State University, graduating in 1948.

☆

HE COACHED at Sparta high school from 1948 to 1951 when he became head football coach at East Lansing high school.

Since 1952 he has been head football coach at North Muskegon where he also coaches baseball.

Mr. Leckta is a member of the Executive Council of the Michigan Coaches Association and works for the Detroit Tigers as a baseball scout during the summers. He will receive his master's degree from Michigan State University this summer.

Besides his coaching duties here, he will teach physical education and social studies.

He is married and has two children, Mary Kathryn 13, and Muriel Ann, 11.

☆

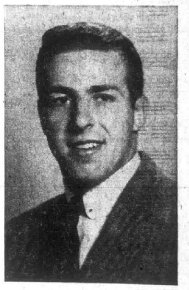
MR. ROTUNNO will assist Mr. Leckta, replacing Dermont Poley Jr., who will be director of athletics in the new junior high school.

The new assistant has been teaching American and Modern History at Glenwood high school, Canton, Ohio, and will teach social studies in Tecumseh high school.

He played fullback in high school at Canton and on the freshman team at U. of M.

He won his first two college varsity letters at an end position. During his senior year he was switched to center where he lettered and received All-American honorable mention.

After playing in the annual North-South game he was the seventh draft choice of the Cleveland Browns. He didn't play professional football.



MIKE ROTUNNO

He comes to Tecumseh with no high school coaching experience, although he assisted with the frosh squad at Michigan.

☆

CHARLES GROSS will continue to coach the junior varsity here and Jack Trudea will again coach the frosh.

To date, the junior high coaches have not been chosen, but all football coaches will be under the direction of Coach Leckta.

Vic Lawson, head basketball coach, continues as high school athletic director and basketball coach.

Halsey Eggleston Fractures Skull

Halsey Eggleston, owner of Eggleston's Cleaners, suffered a fractured skull Friday evening in a fall down the basement stairs at his daughter's home.

Mr. Eggleston was baby sitting for Mr. and Mrs. Cy Kring, his son-in-law and daughter.

When the couple returned home at 11 p.m. they found Mr. Eggleston at the foot of the stairs, unconscious.

He was taken to Herrick Memorial Hospital and then transferred to University Hospital where his condition Monday was reported as "improving satisfactorily."

He still is in a semi-conscious state.

As yet the Krings have no idea how the accident happened and are sure that no one had entered their home.

The Kring youngsters slept peacefully through the excitement as doctors, ambulance attendants and family came in and out of the house following the mishap.

Party on Sunday

Primary 3 Sunday school class of the Baptist Church will hold a party in the Youth House from 4 to 6 p.m. Sunday.

Mrs. Francis Packard and Barry Packard, teachers of the class will show pictures to the children.

It's Library Week

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

Consider Facilities In Tecumseh

(Editor's Note: This is Library Week and it affords an appropriate time to present a feature about Tecumseh's first-rate library.)

By ARTHUR COLLINGSWORTH

How would you like to borrow a Picasso, VanGogh or Renoir painting to hang in your home for a month?

You can — and it costs nothing.

The Tecumseh public library offers reproductions of these famous masterpieces and all you have to do is choose the painting you'd like, sign a library card.

Would you care to rent a record album of "The King and I" or "Oklahoma?" for a quarter you may for a week — another library service.

☆

OF COURSE the library's main job is books and it boasts some 12,000, also a variety of pamphlets, magazines.

It is equipped to serve everyone from the pre-school youngster to grandfather.

Even the hospitalized are regular patrons, thanks to a weekly visit of the book cart, which is constantly freshened with different volumes.

Schools throughout the Tecumseh district get considerable help from the library with branches set up in all buildings.

Several "extras" that are not too well known are the "answer service" — call 543 to find the correct answer to most any question — and the community calendar.

Area organizations contact the library when scheduling events, make sure there isn't something else planned for the same night.

☆

KEEPING ALL these things running smoothly is librarian Mrs. Conrad Fosbender, who has the library open Monday through Friday from 2 until 9 p.m. and on Saturday from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m.

She writes a column for The Herald, reporting all the new books and a brief summary of each.

Last year, the library reported that some 57,918 items were circulated. There are only, 2,500 registered borrowers on file.

☆

THE LIBRARY, started on a subscription basis in 1832, has progressed tremendously. The present building was constructed at its present location in 1904.

The lot was donated by the community and the building made possible with funds donated by Andrew Carnegie.

Its formal dedication was on February 10, 1905. Dr. L. G. North, was then president of the board of education and he appointed Joseph H. Smith chairman of the construction.

In the last four years new chairs, table tops, flooring and lighting have improved the appearance and efficiency.

The library is run through the board of education, has its own board, consisting of Allan Seager, chairman; Mrs. Laine Holden, Clara Waldron, Mrs. Jens Touborg and Mr. Joseph Galazzi.

Housewives, Be Neat Pleasant as You Work

An attractive appearance helps you have a happy, positive attitude toward homemaking tasks, believes Coral Morris, Michigan State University extension specialist in home management.

To keep your appearance neat, dress when you first get up. This way you avoid becoming the typical "pincurler housewife in an old wrapper."

Select clothes in becoming colors and in easy-to-care-for fabrics. Look for styles that give freedom of movement while you work but are not so loose as to catch on things.

A good figure is not just a matter of size nor weight nor years. Good posture counts, too, so groom your figure to bring out its best lines. The time for you to wear a good foundation garment is while you are doing housework, not just on social occasions.

☆

A MIRROR IN the kitchen lets you face yourself several times a day. It may remind you to take a few minutes to rest, smooth your hair or square your shoulders.

A touch of make-up, combed hair and carefully tended hands and nails should be a part of your daily beauty routine.

When you have rough, dirty work to do, dig your fingers into a soft cake of soap or good hand cream before beginning the task. This will protect your nails and make your hands easier to clean when the job is finished, says Miss Morris.

Housework is strenuous—bathing frequently and using a deodorant will contribute to making you an attractive homemaker.

According to Miss Morris, the next best thing to being born beautiful is to have a smart well-groomed look.

Baby Shower Held for Mrs. Roberts

A baby shower for Mrs Gary Roberts was an event of Tuesday, February 25 at the home of Mrs. Lester Handy when about 35 guests from Clinton, Lansing, Adrian Madison Center and Tecumseh were in attendance.

Mrs. Roberts is the former Joan Handy and is with her husband, who is stationed with the Air Force in Amarillo, Texas. During the evening the gifts were packed to be sent to them.

Games were enjoyed and prizes awarded followed by refreshments served by Mrs. Handy and her co-hostess, Mr. Harley Washburn.

Loretta Blanchard Becomes the Bride of Robert Bable

Loretta M. Blanchard and Robert L. Bable were united in marriage Saturday in Toledo's St. Paul's Methodist Church. Rev. Raymond Beale performed the ceremony.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George S. Blanchard of Tecumseh, was attended by Shelby Jean Crowe of Toledo.

Garland Holmes, brother-in-law of the bride, was best man.

The bride wore a floor length, full tiered gown of white with a lace filled bodice and long sleeves over taffeta. Its scalloped neckline was trimmed with seeded pearls.

Her floor length veil was held in place by a crown edged in pearls and lace. She carried a white orchid on a white prayer book.

A reception was held following the wedding which featured a square three tiered wedding cake cut and served by the aunt of the bride, Mrs. Milton Myers.

The couple will reside at 1648 Travis Drive in Toledo.

Chest Board Discusses Lenawee County Fund

The Tecumseh Community Chest board held a public meeting Monday night in the old council room and discussed the advisability of a Lenawee County United Fund and affiliation with such an organization.

Steve Hrisko, secretary of the county Citizens' Committee, acted as consultant.

Board members present were Owen Partridge, president, John Thompson, George Green Jr., Merlyn Downing, Mrs. Truman Rentschler, Vern Manwaring and Mrs. H. H. Hanna. Five other residents sat in on the discussion.

Is That So!

By CLARA WALDRON

A free rein to ride one's favorite hobby is a privilege not usually granted twice in a lifetime. Because the editors of The Herald are interested in Tecumseh's past and in stories of the "good old days" they think there are others who share that interest. Perhaps there are even enough to drown out those inevitable groans of, "Oh no, not that again" — we hope.

So much interest, not to say emotion, has been generated by the sale and impending removal of the Branigin house that one more review of its past seems timely. That past reaches right back to the roots of our community.

Over the years it has been known as Ketchum's Inn, the "old Tilden place," Moore's Antique Shop and most recently was referred to as Mrs. Branigin's Colonial Mansion.

The last must have caused some wry amusement among the shades of the early owners (not to mention Mrs. Branigin) for the pillars, which of course are the reason for the term colonial are a rather recent innovation in its history.

The house began life with nary a pillar and remained so for almost a century.

☆

EVEN SO, however, the word colonial might well have been appropriate in its original state for it was a very typical example of the architecture used by our New England forebears.

It was simple, almost austere and yet not lacking in beauty. Its good lines, the wide cornice with its decorative molding and the characteristic turned back gables, together with the well spaced windows and deeply recessed doorway, all combined to please the eye.

The doorway was of course the main point of interest, with its massive door, dignified columns and paneling and simple side lights. The house was perfectly suited to its setting beside a northern creek.

☆

DURING ITS years as Ketchum Inn it served not only as a home, but also as a lodging place for many of the migrating settlers whose wagons streamed across Michigan in the 1820s and 30s.

The family of Jacob Ketchum (sometimes written Ketcham) came to Michigan Territory in 1824, the year Tecumseh began.

They "took up" land that year, spent the winter in Monroe and returned to Tecumseh in 1825, when, records say they built "a house".

Unfortunately there is no documentary proof that this is the house.

However there is a letter which tells of newly arrived settlers being directed to Mr. Ketchum's house in September 1826 so perhaps the 1825 date is correct.

If so the house is older than our Evans house (built in 1826) which has been officially accredited as the oldest one in continuous use in Michigan.

Originally there was only the rectangular upright and the sloping rear wing so there could have been few private rooms for the paying guests, but accomodations were so scarce during the height of the westward migration that "the soft side of a board" was a welcome bed.

We are told that the inn had a rather large barn, which provided sleeping quarters for the men as well as the oxen and horses while the women found shelter in the house.

☆

THE ROAD, now M-50, was not even officially surveyed until 1832. It was known as the Plaisance Bay trail (because it started from the bay at Monroe) and for a long time it must have been just that — a trail, and as most people started west in the early spring, driving over it with a heavy load of household goods must have been a hazardous undertaking.

In fact one family record tells that progress from one mud hole to the next was so slow that the women of the party walked back to the same inn three nights in succession while the men slept in the open.

It is no wonder every house was said to be an inn during those years.

In these shifting days it seems almost unbelievable that a Tecumseh house could have only four owners in 130 years, but after the Ketchums sold it in 1849 it was the Tilden place for three-quarters of a century.

About 1885 the east wing, with its recessed porch was added, but there were few other alterations until after the death of "Uncle Joe" Tilden in 1922 when the farm was purchased by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moore.

☆

WITH THEM came the pillars and some other changes and restorations. It was all very skillfully done and while one usually mild-mannered but very meticulous architect was heard to mutter something about "architectural monstrosity", the result has been much admired.

The most radical interior change was the removal of the hugh double fireplace which stood between the present dining room and what had been the original kitchen.

It had not been used for sometime and was in bad repair, but showed plainly that on one side it had served as the main "heating unit" while on the other had been the ovens, spit, cranes etc. where meals had been prepared for the inn guests.

Of the many diverse personalities the house has known perhaps none was more "odd" than the man who spent 75 of his 93 years under its roof.

Joseph Tilden — "Uncle Joe" to all and sundry was a small, spare very erect man who during his later years walked down town every day with clock-like regularity.

He had very definite views, and was somewhat irascible at times, so when, after the house had been remodeled, a guest of the Moore family was holding an amateur seance.

He announced that there was someone in the spirit world who resented their presence there.

Those who had known Uncle Joe had little doubt as to the identity of the ghost.

What, one wonders, will be his reaction when his house rises from its foundations and moves away. Maybe the Irelans better lay in a stock of four-leaf-clovers.

"Kids have to obey safety rules. How come grown-ups don't?"

Presbyterians Staging Annual Spaghetti Meal

Duncan Oliphant, president of the Men's Council of the Presbyterian Church, announced this week that the Council is sponsoring a spaghetti dinner March 10.

Proceeds will help defray the expense of the local delegation to the tenth annual meeting of the National Council of Presbyterian Men.

The meeting is to be held in Chicago on March 14, 15 and 16.

The dinner will be held in Fellowship Center with serving beginning at 6 p.m.

Cost will be whatever the diner wishes to contribute. There will be a short program, allowing plenty of time for small children to get to bed early.

Besides taking one day from work the cost is approximately $55 per man, thus making the trip rather expensive for each one to pay on his own.

The spaghetti dinner provides an opportunity for members of the congregation to assist with the expense and at the same time enjoy a hearty meal and fellowship together.

"It has been a privilege to spend this time in America and learn about American living conditions and hospital and nursing administration.

"I wish to extend an invitation to any from Tecumseh visiting in Jordan to be my guests and learn about my country and people."

Charges Against Mrs. Staulter Are Dismissed

Mrs. Edna Staulter has been freed of a charge of making a false report to police.

Charges against the 68-year-old Tecumseh widow were dismissed in Jackson municipal court Friday.

"Mrs. Staulter did what she did without any intent to make a false report," said Judge M. Grove Hatch, "I think she, like a lot of other women, simply changed her mind."

Mrsr. Staulter claimed Rev. James Tingley of Jackson had defrauded her of $325, then withdrew the charge during the hearing against Tingley.

☆

The judge added, "I don't know what made her change her mind between the signing of the complaint and the preliminary examination of Mr. Tingley, but she obviously did. That, however, does not alter the fact that nothing has been shown here tody to indicate that at the time she made the complaint it was false."

Among the five witnesses called by the prosecutor was Tecumseh police chief George Kilbourn.

Defense counsel Owen Dudley, who argued that nothing had been presented which indicated Mrs. Staulter's charges had been false, called no witnesses.

Rev. Bashore to Speak at Hospital Auxiliary

Monthly meeting of the Herrick Memorial Hospital Auxiliary will be held Tuesday evening at 8 in the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall.

A game entitled, "Forty Thieves" will be played following the business session.

Each member and guest is asked to wear a pair of earrings that can be parted with and to bring two or more dimes.

Each "thief" may take the earrings of her choice by paying the wearer a dime — and hope that they are not taken from her with another dime!

At the end of the game period, players will be allowed to keep their "loot" while the dimes used to take earrings will be collected to enrich the auxiliary's "treasurer chest."

At 9, Rev. B. O. Bashore will speak on Civil Defense.

Rev. Bashore, as chairman of Lenawee County Civil Defense, will outline rules of attack alerts, group and personal survival.

A question and answer period will follow.

Refreshments will be served by Mrs. Harold Easton, Mrs. Albert Bagshaw, Mrs. Oakley Baxter, Mrs. John Curth and Mrs. Richard Eggleston, hostesses for the evening.

been told over and over, is the possibility of trying to have local businessmen undertake the active task of running a Chamber."

That calls for a competent, trained secretary who would actually propose a course, when it was OKed, dig in and do the work.

The men who have been laboring on the current organization apparently all agree on this vital point, have set their site high, aiming at an A-1 Chamber for Tecumseh.

Our opinion has always been that Tecumseh is a mighty fine place and it deserves the best — that goes for a Chamber just as it does for homes, governmental officials, schools and teachers.

MR. DALE GATES HAS involked the checking system on his Science classes. Each day there is a different student checker, shecking for talking in class and other disturbances.

☆

RECENT APTITUDE TESTS were given by Mr. John Pobuda to eighth grade students. These tests were in Mathematics, English and Science. These tests will aid in showing what subjects to take in high school.

☆

THERE WAS A PROFESSIONAL assembly, February 25 second hour in the high school gym. It was given by Mr. William Wallace, a man with a photographic mind.

He is a lecturer at schools, on radio and television. He was sponsored by the Student Council.

One of the amusing things Mr. Wallace did was pass out two Sears Roebuck catalogues to different members of his audience, after calling out any page number he told what was on that page. The student body enjoyed the performance very much.

☆

MR. DAVID J. DICK AND MR. James McDowell went to St. Louis for a meeting. Mr. Dermont Poley II took over his 8, IV Math. class and Mr. Dale Gates took over his 8th grade Science class.

I THINK THAT THE JUNIOR high should be thankful to Mr. Donald Berkley and Mr. Charles Gross for coaching the junior high game.

Through their efforts they have made two good teams, and I don't say this because of prejudice, just take a look at their winning records.

Rest Will Help Cows' Do Jobs

Dairy cows, like humans, usually work better at their jobs after they've had a "vacation."

Don Hillman, extension dairy specialist at Michigan State University, believes that cows should not be rebred until at least 60 days after calving.

The cow's body needs this long to return to normal after the event, Hillman explains.

Cows and heifers will come through the calving ordeal in better shape to enjoy their "vacation" if they are in good condition at calving time.

Good quality roughage and two to four pounds of grain fed six to eight weeks before calving will usually put cows in good shape. If roughage is of low quality, or the cow in poor condition, 10 to 12 pounds of grain may be needed the last month before calving.

MUSKRAT RAMBLES

Lately we have been watching the creek with extra care and attention. There's a muskrat around and he's proving most elusive! It almost seems as if he knows when we're watching and times his appearances so they won't coincide.

We have seen him only five or six times but from the many tracks we know that he is around quite frequently.

Mom saw him first—one afternoon she saw what she thought was a small stump or piece of tree floating on an open spot in the creek.

When the "thing" started to bob and swim, she excitedly exclaimed, "Oh, look, we have a muskrat!"

Sure enough! Just as if he wanted to establish his identity beyond the shadow of a doubt, the muskrat crawled out of the water, walked around on the ice for a few moments and then dove back into his swimming hole and disappeared.

He hasn't been as obliging since!

☆

LAST SPRING a big tree limb washed down the rain swollen creek and lodged against the bank. Succeeding high waters tended only to wedge it in firmer.

During much of the winter the log is completely frozen in — completely that is except for a small open spot at this end. This is the muskrat's entrance and exit hole.

He pops in and out and I'm sure takes great pleasure in doing so when he knows we are not looking. He forgets, however, when the snow is on the ground we can tell many things about his exploits on land.

We can tell, for instance, why he comes out. Last fall several wagon loads of apples were dumped over the creek bank. How convenient for the muskrat!

He now scrambles out through his hole, rambles up the creek bank, selects a tasty apple and scurries back to the safety and comfort of the creek.

We have only occasionally seen our forager on his apple-gathering expeditions, but a well worn path shows that he takes this route often.

☆

SLY, AND POSSESSED of a one-track mind, this year's muskrat is primarily interested in our creek bank as a source of food.

Last year, however, we had a happy carefree soul who enjoyed sliding on the bank. On bright sunny days we would watch him swim to his favorite climb-out spot and quickly scamper to the top of the bank.

He would then slide down, hit the water with a splash and crawl out to repeat the whole exciting process. He made a regular toboggan run for himself.

There is an interesting Indian legend which tells how the muskrats came to inhabit the marginal swamp lands and creeks.

It seems that one day the Indian sun god, Nanabojou, was saved from a great flood by a muskrat. In gratitude, Nanabojou asked the muskrat where he would like to live.

Being a good swimmer and fond of the water, he replied that the big blue lakes would be the ideal home. So they were given to him.

THE NEXT DAY, however, the muskrat was back asking for a new home; he missed the grassy banks with their succulent food supplies. So they were given to him.

On the third day, Nanabojou's patience was sorely tried when the muskrat appeared again with still another complaint. The grass lands were fine, but there was no place to swim.

To settle the problem once and for all, the sun god decreed that henceforth the muskrat would live in the marshes and creeks, the border land that is neither dry land nor open water.

So it is that whether in fact or fancy the muskrats are fun. We just hope that there is a city ordinance prohibiting trapping inside the city limits.

(Next Week: Sunday Visitors)

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Gilmore and family spent from Wednesday to Friday with her parents Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Carothers near Fayette, Ohio.

Teen Club Has Its Problems, As You'll Note After 'Tour'

COOL CATS — Dancing is one of many activities at the Teen Club. These are some junior high Teen Club members, Nancy Nixon and Norman Tucker.

By MARY SEAGER

Most of you mothers, who clean extensively in the spring and fall, have probably found a weird assortment of toys and other things that were tucked away by your children.

I'd be willing to bet that you have never discovered a stranger collection than the one I am about the describe.

Two coke bottles, a crushed 60-watt light bulb, two pieces of lumber over a foot long, twelve cents in change and about 100 stale potato chips.

These were all found under the Teen Club's sofa cushions.

What did we do with these things?

We swept out the potato chips and broken glass onto the floor, put the Coke bottles in the rack, divided up the change and left the lumber where it was.

The lumber trued up and leveled off some of the worst bumps in the lumpy couches. To you good mothers it would seem a cavalier way to treat furniture. You wouldn't think so, if you could visit the Teen Club.

LET'S PRETEND you are being taken on a guided tour of it. Your guide would probably be Dave Champanois, the Teen Club Tattler editor, who works at Wright's.

The Club's address is 116½ W. Chicago boulevard in the Sage Building.

You climb a flight of unlighted stairs and turn left where Dave unlocks a battered door. A dim light is turned on.

You look at the stairway and wonder how the Club can get anybody up it at all. There is no railing and there is about two square feet of the lath showing where plaster had been.

You go through a small anteroom with an out-of-order juke box in it and a twisted coat rack. He opens another door which leads into the main room.

☆

EXPECTING THE worst you are pleasantly surprised with it. The room is as clean as 10 dedicated Club members can keep it.

The room is about 40 feet long with three walls lined with broken-down sofas, lame chairs, and end tables.

There is a radio-TV combination that doesn't work, a piano and someone's portable phonograph at one end.

Dave leads you across the dance floor to the foyer where the chaperones sit. The ice blue paint job is proudly pointed out to you.

Asking why there are two large tubs on the floor, you are told that they are filled with ice and coke during a dance.

The Teen Club cannot afford a refrigerator of any kind. The ping-pong table is also kept in the refreshment room.

FROM THERE YOU go back across the dance floor to a room with what looks like a lot of lumber on the floor.

You are told that as soon as possible it will be put together into a pool table. Dave points rather sadly at the felt and says that it will have to be replaced.

As the tour ends and you go back down to the street you begin to ask questions of yourself.

☆

WHY HAVEN'T you heard about the Teen Club's trouble before Why don't they have better furniture? Why don't they have a refrigerator? Why isn't the stair railing repaired?

Why don't some of the adults help them? Why can't the Teen Club afford to do any of this themselves? How long has this been going on?

Mostly the reason that nothing much has been heard about the Teen Club trouble is that its officers are too proud to beg help of uninterested adults.

Some adults such as Mr. Sage who lets the Club have the rooms rent free and Mr. Bob Breniff, the club advisor, have been a great help, but it is a hard fight for two or three interested adults.

☆

THIS MONTH the Teen Club treasury has struck a new low, according to Treasurer Doris Oliphant.

The biggest continuing expenditure is for the heating. After all bills are paid there will be about $60 left in the savings and checking accounts combined.

As club women know, this is dangerously low for an organization of 260 members.

Since Mr. Breniff is leaving next year, Teen Club president Jon Weakly is looking for an adult who would be willing to act as an adviser.

Possibly a committee of five or six others would be kind enough to volunteer their services and advice to the Club.

This would mean that projects such as slipcovering the furniture and making enough money to cushion the hard knocks could be carried out.

☆

THE TEEN CLUB is only asking for a little adult time and interest in what they are trying to do. Parents should be glad to encourage this.

Then on Friday and Saturday evenings when their teenagers say, "I'm going down to the Teen Club," the parents wouldn't worry about them. They would know that their teen-agers were going to a well-supervised, well-run place because they themselves had made it that way.

SAD SOFA — Dave Champanois, Editor of the "Teen Tattler," the Teen Club paper, points out the rips in one of the sofas. He is sitting in an armless chair and because of inadequate heating, Dave is wearing his jacket.

New Honors Course to Be Introduced at Tecumseh High

By NEVILLE HART
Tecumseh High Principal

Tecumseh high school is planning to modify its program of studies so that the needs and interests of the group of students considered to be more able and ambitious in specific academic fields will be more completely met.

This effort is in line with the basic philosophy of recognizing individual differences of students and providing facilities and opportunities for all to achieve at their highest levels of ability.

Like most schools, we have provided opportunities for the more able to achieve in such pursuits as athletics, music, dramatics, publications and forensics.

It is only logical to provide similar opportunities for the academically superior.

☆

A FOUR-TRACK program of studies will be offered:

1—Honors College Preparatory.
2—Regular College Preparatory.
3—General.
4—Vocational.

The only change from the present program is the new Honors College Preparatory curriculum.

☆

TO BE PERMITTED to enroll in the Honors College Preparatory curriculum a pupil must meet the following criteria:

1. Above average intelligence.
2. Superior academic achievement determined by past marks.
3. Above average scores on achievement and prognostic tests.
4. Above average reading ability.
5. Emotional stability.
6. A sincere desire to enter this type of program, provided all of the above criteria can be met.

To remain in honors level courses the pupil must maintain grades of B or better. If this is not done, the pupil will be transferred to regular college preparatory classes.

COURSES IN English, mathematics, and science on an honors level will be offered starting in September, 1958.

Classes for the Honors group are not intended for acceleration. What the pupil achieves is greater mastery of subject matter, enrichment of subject matter and encouragement to elect more solid subjects and to extend himself.

Because they do not have to wait for slower learners, the Honors pupils are not tempted to drift and to loaf. They are stimulated to use their full abilities.

The St. Peter's Guild quartet sang two hymns and then the members enjoyed group singing.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held March 13 at the Parish House with Mrs. H. H. Hammel and Mrs. M. W. Wilson co-hostesses.

Rev. A. Peter Carroll of Christ Episcopal Church of Adrian will be the speaker.

Cubs Hold Blue—Gold Banquet

Seventy - three awards were presented at the Blue and Gold Banquet of the Cub Scout Pack 4 in the Baptist Youth House on February 24.

The dinner was served by the young people of the church and prepared by the ladies.

Following the invocation by Rev. B. O. Bashore, group singing was conducted by Orville Collins, District Scout executive.

Ralph Sherwood, District Commissioner, and Mr. and Mrs. Erwin Richardson of the planning commision, were also present.

☆

THE CHARTER for the Pack was presented to Rev. Bashore by Mr. Collins for the tenth year of sponsorship.

The program included a visit by Gay Wilson, a ventriloquist, and her friend, Jerry. Slides entitled, "Lest We Forget," taken and shown by Dr. Richard Dustin of the highlights of the last three years of Cub Scouting in the Pack, were shown.

He also presented a travelogue of a fishing expedition into Canada which he and several other Tecumseh people enjoyed.

☆

Cubby was presented to Den 4 with an 85.7% attendance and the knot-tying contest was won by Eddie Roe of Den 10 of Tipton.

Rev. James D. Nixon of the Methodist Church pronounced the benediction.

Roy Richard Is Grange Overseer

A potluck supper preceeded the meeting when several announcements were made. The Pomona Grange will meet at the Tecumseh Hall Wednesday, March 12 and the next dance wille be held Saturday night, March 8.

Members voted to hold a fish supper March 20.

With Tecumseh Teens

BY MARY V. SEAGER

IN THE REGIONAL FFA speech contest at Reading last Wednesday Tecumseh's entries did pretty well.

Darrell Lowry took a second place with his speech on "the Importance of Rural Leadership."

The Farm Forum team of Warren Cottrill, John Winzeler, Harvey Spreeman, Gail Kimerer, Ron Linden, Garry Dinius and Charles Rebottaro didn't place but since they are freshman it was a good experience.

☆

IN LAST TUESDAY'S GAA basketball game at Dundee, the girls playing in the JV game with the forwards' scores were: Kendra Ringman - 8, Doris Oliphant - 4, Peggy Robinette - 2, Joyce Partridge - 14, Grace Dennis, Camilla Grigg, Marilou Layton, Linda Hanna and Sandra Howard.

The Tecumseh JV team won, 29 to 25.

The varsity players and their scores were Marcia Kunkle - 8, Martha Owen - 3, Mary Colgrove - 2, Kendra Ringman - 0, Sherry Tucker - 17, Julia Boyce - 5, Carol Kapnick, Jane Colgrove, Sandra Howard, Jane Spreeman, Joan Wing and Linda Hanna.

The varsity won 39 to 10.

☆

THE SECOND HOUR FRENCH class traveled to the Toledo Art Museum Wednesday afternoon.

Members of the group took a guided tour of the Museum's French paintings.

After the tour they spent 45 minutes wandering around the Museum alone.

Drivers and chaperones were Nancy Cramer, Robert French and Mrs. Herman Dick.

☆

IN THE JUNIOR PLAYS, "HE Ain't Done Right By Nell," there has been a cast change. Ron Johnston is replacing Jack Braden as the villain.

The play, "Five in Judgement," a drama, is also being presented by the juniors.

This play tells about the evils of mob rule. Inthis case it amounts to a double lynching.

The people who are at the mercy of the mob are two college boys on their way to California. They are called murderers by the mob.

The play shows the contrast between the leaders of the mob and the fellow-travelers who are afraid to speak out for themselves. There is another contrast between the fellow travelers and the individualists who do speak out against the mob. In the play a study of scape-goating is made.

It presents an insight into the lives of people who were made bitter by the difference between hopes and the world's realities.

As "Five in Judgment" has some difficult places to interpret it calls for extra hard work from the cast and the directors.

☆

THERE WAS AN EXTREMEly well-attended dance at the Teen Club Friday night. Club members and guests danced from 9 until 12:30. Mr. and Mrs. LaMasters chaperoned.

☆

ABOUT FORTY OR FIFTY kide were at the Freshman Sock Hop Friday night. They danced to records from eight to twelve. Admission was 10c. Pop and potato chips were sold for a nickel each.

A combined jitterbug and slow-dancing contest was held. Clarence Champonois and his partner, Phyllis Anderson, tied for first place with Helen Miller and Jerome Kemp. Two 45 rpm record certificates were awarded to the winning couples.

Two door prizes of record certificates were given away as door prizes. Carolyn Dennis and Evelyn Beland won them.

The adult chaperones were Mr. Charles Gross and Sue Schoenlein, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Trudeau, Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Grigg and Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Smith.

Leptospirosis, a cattle disease that not so long ago was rated of little importance, has become the third most costly livestock disease in the United States, say veterinarians at Michigan State University.

Hay Driers Are Not Full Answer

A barn dryer won't solve all the dairyman's forage problems, especially when he's planning to add cows to the herd.

About 90 to 100 tons is all the forage the average barn drying system can handle. The exact limit depends on area in the barn and fan power that's available.

That's why Bob White, agricultural engineer at Michigan State University, believes that as the herd size is increased, dairymen should consider a combination dryed hay and silage program.

All the hay needed for a larger herd can not be handled in the typical drying system.

☆

A farmer using a heavy hay and light silage program going from a 40 to a 60 cow milking herd plus dry stock and heifers, would need 160 tons of hay and 240 tons of silage. With the 40 cow herd, he got by with 107 tons of hay and 160 tons of silage.

But the barn dryer could not handle the added tonnage of hay. If the feeding program were changed to moderate hay and moderate silage, 120 tons of hay plus 360 tons of silage would be needed to feed the herd. A drying system could probably handle the 120 tons of hay.

Problems of silage storage and handling would have to be worked out. But machinery can handle most of the silage feeding.

White emphasizes the need for completely planning a new operation. This will help avoid costly bottlenecks that are otherwise likely to develop later in the program.

Goodwill Truck Now Making Stops Once Each Week

The Goodwill Trucks will now come to Tecumseh every week to pick up donations of useable, repairable clothing and household furnishings.

It is hoped that by making the trip every week no one will be disappointed in not having their items picked because of lack of room in the trucks.

Mrs. Carl Burch has charge of the work in Tecumseh and she states "The pick-ups will be made alternately Mondays and Tuesdays for the next eight weeks and then a regular day will be set."

Pick-ups for the next three weeks will be as follows: March 11, 17 and 25.

Mrs. Burch had over 50 calls one day last week to seek an explanation of the pick-up system.

Patterson Pupils Ring Doorbells

Patterson pupils are out ringing doorbells like mad and the race is on to sell tickets for the annual Fair. Each room is eager to win the prize.

The apron and linen booth is bursting with news for those who want cute homemade articles.

Gertrude Miller and Nina Wright are co-chairmen, with La-Von Grove and Lucy Shutt helping them.

They tell of husband and wife barbarcue apron sets, mother and daughter sets and cobbler and tea aprons.

Also they will have towels, pillow cases, doilies, etc. Those who remember beautiful items of last year will want to hurry and make an early choice.

☆

DELORES SURRATT and Helen Kohler are co-chairmen of the pantry booth, they have lots of helpers in Janet Whitney, Raeola Lasky, Jean Callihan, June Hebb and Bertha LaPointe. LaPointe.

They have some of the best cooks in Tecumseh bringing various items to their booth. They will feature pies, cookies, bread, rolls, jams, jellies, pickles and canned goods.

Speaking of food, the candy booth will really make you drool. Norma Seidel and Jean Nettleman head this committee with Mary Hanna and Lorayne Pihl assisting.

They will have many tempting surprises in their booth, so be sure and stop by.

☆

THE MOVIES are under the direction of Orville Bishop, with Jesse Gray and Paul Surratt as assistants. They plan to have two different shows so that the small fry will not have to see the same show twice. The change of films will be at 4 p.m.

Mrs. Wallace Rutherford and Mrs. Stanley Rentschler are co-chairmen of the sunroom and will be assisted by Elaine Forrester, Jane Hensen and Audrey Belcher.

Those interested in potted plants, vines, attractive plant containers, seeds, bulbs and small fish bowls will want to look for this booth.

The fish pond promises many surprises for young and old alike. Mrs. Glenn Griewahn and Mrs. Alfred Dotson are co-chairmen with Mr. Griewhan, Mr. Dotson, Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Bryan, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Sinkey, Michael Fero and Paul Surratt helping to bait the hooks.

This yearly event is scheduled for March 22.

A paved barnyard is a big help in keeping a loose dairy housing system clean. It'll be easier to clean the yard if it is designed so the job can be done from the tractor, state Michigan State University farm economists.

From where I sit... by Joe Marsh

Sis "Puts on the Dog"

My paper's got two subscribers—Sis Harper and her brother Rip—out on lonely Sunset Mountain. A road goes by Sis' farm and both copies are mailed to her because Rip lives back in the woods.

Sis always ties her brother's copy of the Clarion—plus any mail—to an old hound who trots over to Rip's place. "Rip feeds the dog half of his dinner," Sis explains. "I give him the other half when he gets back. Speeds him along."

Thanks to Sis—I bet the Clarion's got the only dog-powered delivery system in the U.S.A.

From where I sit, Sis may live in the "backwoods" but she's got a wide-awake mind. Contrast that with some people who refuse to own up there's more than one opinion on any subject—like whether beer or buttermilk makes the best beverage. That mountain air sure keeps those "doggone communication channels" open!

THE TECUMSEH HERALD

VOL. 107 — ONE HUNDRED EIGHTH YEAR — NUMBER 23 TECUMSEH, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, MARCH 13, 1958 22 PAGES — 10 CENTS A COPY

THE LONG and SHORT of it

BY TOM RIORDAN

THOSE INTERESTED IN THE Chamber of Commerce movement will find an editorial on this subject on the first page of the second section.

This week's chubby edition — running 22 pages — is the largest printed by The Herald since the new ownership took over last fall.

As might be guessed, it was a back-breaker, but the saddest part of all is that we couldn't report a win by our Indians Tuesday evening.

☆

Things shaped rapidly as everyone connected with city government wanted to make sure that this would be a huge success.

We joined the promotional end of the project, fashioning a City Hall Supplement, which is found as the third section of this week's edition.

Supplements will also be used as souviner programs Saturday during the open house.

And just in case you'd like to get an extra copy to send a friend or relative, we ran off several hundred and have them at the office.

City employees have done a grand job in planning the open house and dinner and are to be congratulated.

We're sure you'll be extremely pleased with the new city hall. Take a look at it Saturday and if you have the chance, attend the banquet that evening.

☆

THE "PASSING TWINS OF the North" are being reunited.

The "Twins" are Vic Lawson, veteran Tecumseh high school athletic director and basketball coach, and the new THS football mentor, Duncan Leckta of North Muskegon.

Both young athletes were awarded scholarships to Western Michigan College where they played freshman ball together.

World War II interrupted their college grid careers.

While chatting about Vic, this column would like to add its congratulations for the excellent season, especially those wins over Monroe Catholic Central and Beford as the Lawsomen won the district.

Vic did a magnificent job in keying the boys for those tilts.

During the regular year, Monroe CC twice nipped Tecumseh, both times with apparent ease.

Tecumseh was a different club last Thursday, fighting and hustling over every square inch of hardwood — sheer determination fostered by the comments of a real master was the difference against CC.

☆

COMMENT FROM A FATHER for the fifth time: "Wow, we've got a full house — in more ways than one — three kings and two queens."

Making it was a grinning Bob Laidlaw, one of our town's dentists, shortly after wife, Della, presented him with their second daughter.

☆

SPRING IS DOING ITS BEST to arrive, made a serious bid Saturday and the sky above Tecumseh had the kites to prove it.

Dick Hicks, manager of the D&C, Dime Store, reports that 300 were purchased that day. He made no report on the sale of string, probably losing track by noon.

Red Hot' Specials

The highly-successful Friday and Saturday Bargain Days promotion, introduced in The Herald two weeks ago, is slated again for this weekend. A full page of "redhot" specials appear on page 3 of this section. Wise shoppers will want to make Tecumseh their buying headquarters Friday and Saturday.

The announcement was made in a talk he gave about CD here.

The monthly Auxiliary session was held in the Presbyterian Fellowship Hall Tuesday with $12 netted from the game "Forty Thieves."

A rummage sale in April was discussed.

West Branch PTA meets Thursday evening at 8. Mrs. Truman Rentschler will present the program.

City Hall Open House Saturday

Dedication of Tecumseh's new $95,000 city hall will be a gala affair.

An open house is being staged Saturday from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m. with a short, formal ceremony at 2:30.

A banquet, beginning at 6:30 p.m. in the United Product Workers Union Hall, will cap the day.

Citizens of the area are invited to take part in all of these events.

Banquet tickets are $2, can be obtained at the city hall or from any member of Rotary, Kiwanis and Exchange.

☆

BILLED AS a "hometown affair," the banquet features talks by three local men;

● James McDowell, superintendent of schools, will summarize progress of new school construction and educational advantages in the area.

● H. H. Hanna, city mayor, will relate changes in community government.

● Glenn Kohler, member of the Herrick Memorial Hospital board, is going to talk about the hospital improvements.

☆

REV. B. O. BASHORE is serving as banquet toastmaster and will be introduced by Bob Moore.

Invocation and benediction is being given by Rev. James Nixon, pastor of the Tecumseh Methodist Church.

Wallace Whiting of the Exchange Club will lead group singing and Mrs. Glenn Driscoll is going to present organ selections.

At the afternoon dedication, Rev. Alvin Brazee, pastor of the Iron Creek Community Church and long-time Tecumseh resident, will speak.

Scouts Will Hold Vesper Services

Parents, relatives and friends are cordially invited to attend the Brownie and Girl Scouts "own" Vesper Service to be held Sunday afternoon at 4 in the Presbyterian Church.

Entire service is planned by the Scouts and will close the observance of National Girl Scout Week in Tecumseh.

The Intermediate and Senior Scouts will be guests of the Clinton Girl Scouts at a movie on Saturday morning at 10:30 a.m. in the Clinton theater. They must appear in uniform or show their registration card for admission.

NOVEL BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT—When Mrs. Dave Ousterhout presented her husband with a son Sunday afternoon, there was considerable rejoicing in their family and that of the grandparents. Here was the first grandson. Dave rightly felt this called for something a bit special in the way of an announcement, so lettered it on the display window of the family flower shop on E. Chicago boulevard.

Tecumseh Jaycees Honor Three

TECUMSEH HERALD PHOTO

OUTSTANDING JAYCEES — Merlyn Downing, Dwight Helms, Jr. and Bob Breniff were honored last week for their contributions to the program of the Junior Chamber of Commerce during the past year.

Special honors went to three members of the Tecumseh Junior Chamber of Commerce at the groups "Bosses Night" meeting Thursday.

Winning awards were:

● Dwight Helms, Jr., "Spoke Award," for outstanding work in all Jaycee activities during his first year as a member.

● Bob Breniff, "Key Man Award", for contributions to youth activities, namely as advisor to the Teen Club, and for chairmanship in two Homecoming Carnivals.

● Merlyn Downing, "Special Recognition", for continuing interest in all Jaycee activities and chairmanship of outstanding Farmers program.

Bosses of members were on hand for the program which included a talk by Dick Meyerson, Michigan Jaycee president.

Mr. Meyerson pointed out traits needed to be a good Jaycee — enthusiasm, energy, pride and persistence.

7-Year Old Girl Burned Critically in Home Mishap

HOLLOWAY — Darlene Upell, seven-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Upell, was seriously burned Saturday afternoon when she reached over a gas stove and her dress caught on fire.

She suffered first, second and third degree burns on her hands, arms and on her body from her chin to her hips.

Darlene has been removed from the critical list, but is still in a serious condition in Herrick Memorial Hospital.

Her father and 16-year-old sister, Pat, were both burned attempting to smother the flames which had engulfed Darlene.

Mr. Upell, who is employed by Tecumseh Products Co. and Pat by Herrick Memorial Hospital, were unable to report for work due to hand and arm burns.

Earl Updike Is Honored by Mobil

Earl Updike was honored at a dinner March 6, given by the Pontiac District of the Socony Mobil Oil Company at the Elks in Pontiac.

He was presented with a bronze service plaque by A. G. Epker, branch manager for the district.

Harold Easton also attended the meeting.

"AMERICAN INDIANS"

The DAR will meet March 14 at the home of Mrs. Hoyt Whelan at 2 p.m.

Mrs. Joe Rice and Mrs. Fred Dickinson will be co-hostesses and the leader will be Mrs. Ellsworth D. Robinson with the topic, "American Indians."

Students Move Into New School Next Week

Two-hundred-fifty elementary students and their seven teachers will move into the $376,000 Herrick Park grade school Monday.

Furnishings will be transferred by school maintenance men from the Central and Brownville buildings on Saturday and Sunday.

The pupil move was completely worked out last spring, reports Earl Greene, elementary school supervisor.

It was known then that children from Herrick Park, River Acres, Burt street and some living along Maumee would make up the Herrick Park student body.

They were grouped into classes last fall when school opened and thus the tempo of learning will be uninterrupted.

Children who are being transferred will bring large paper sacks to Central and Brownville Friday — their final day in those buildings. Personal belongs will be placed in them, taken home over the weekend, then brought to their new quarters Monday.

☆

MRS. GORDON GARLICK will be principal of the new school, also teach its sixth grade.

Working with her will be:

Myrna Bugbee, kindergarten.

Mrs. Leo Neitling, first grade.

Mrs. Eleanor Schultz, second grade.

Mrs. William Weitenhagen, third grade.

Mrs. Steve Illeck, fourth grade.

Mrs. John White, fifth grade.

The school's library will be administered by Mrs. Conrad Fosbender the remainder of this year. Beginning with the 1958-'59 school year, Mrs. Robert Blanks will be in charge of all elementary libraries.

☆

BESIDE THE seven classrooms, the new structure has a multi-purpose room, which combines an auditorium and gymnasium with shower facilities.

There is a kitchen with range and refrigerator which will be used for PTA functions, but not to serve meals. All students will go home for lunch, explains Mrs. Greene.

This weekend's moving bee will be under the supervision of Harold Warren, head maintenance engineer.

He'll be assisted by Robert Purkey, William Every, Robert Glasscock, Dillard Atkinson, Richard Lent, Howard Hunt, Ed Underwood, Red Shaw and Douglas Fairbanks.

The playground area has not been developed yet dut to difficult weather conditions, but will be as soon as possible, says Mr. Greene.

RELEASED FROM HOSPITAL

Marion Morris who has been a patient in the Bixby Hospital has been released and is recuperating in his home.

Tourney Trail Ends

Inkster-Roosevelt ousted Tecumseh from the regional tournament Tuesday night at the Livonia-Bentley high school gym, 64 to 54.

A cold, or "one of those nights," hit the Indians early in the game as they outscored their opponents over the final three periods.

Tecumseh missed all 10 field goal attempts in the first period and hit only 3 for 26 during the first half. The first goal came midway in the second period.

☆

INKSTER jumped to a 22 to 9 first quarter lead, a margin the Indians were never able to close.

John Elliott, a senior playing his last game, topped the local scorers with 20 points, 14 from the free throw line.

Bob O'Neill hit 16 points and Larry Yoakum 12.

Ladies in Gray Learn of Duties

Mrs. Helen Miller, superintendent of nurses at Herrick Memorial Hospital, was a guest at the meeting of the Ladies in Gray Thursday evening when they met in the home of Mrs. Wayne Patton.

A discussion concerning the duties of the Ladies at the Hospital was conducted with Mrs. Miller as moderator.

Following the meeting a stork gift was presented to Mrs. Gerald Hendricks and refreshments were served to 13 by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Theodore Golat.

FLOWER SHOW TICKETS

Tecumseh Garden Club has tickets for the Detroit Flower Show which is to be held from March 22 through March 30. Tickets are now on sale at the Rosacrans Store for 90c. They will be $1.50 at the show.

Powell Becomes Partner of McCoy

Robert J. McCoy, Tecumseh's oldest realtor, and William Powell have formed a partnership to be effective Saturday.

Mr. McCoy has been dealing in local property for 37 years — starting here in 1921.

Mr. Powell has been a real estate agent for Mr. McCoy for approximately seven years.

Legal procedures for the partnership began three weeks ago.

6 Stitches for Mike

Mike Tucker, 14-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Tucker, was thrown from a motor scooter Sunday afternoon and received lacerations inside his mouth that required six stitches to close.

He was released from Herrick Memorial Hospital Tuesday.

Ground Is Broken for Kroger Store

Ground was broken at the site of Tecumseh's new Kroger super market Friday with top company officials on hand for the ceremony.

Mayor H. H. Hanna and city manager Ed Nelson bit into the earth with a "gold" shovel bedecked with ribbons.

Actual construction work was slated to begin this week, stated Robert A. Reid of Atlas Finance Co., Detroit, whose firm will build the store and lease it to Kroger.

Following the ceremony, the group had luncheon at Tecumseh Country Club. Carl S. Fuller, vice-president of Kroger's Toledo Division told guests:

"Tecumseh has been good to Kroger and Kroger wants to be good to Tecumseh."

☆

PARKING WAS one of the major reasons Kroger had to move to the west end, he explained, and car space will swell from the present 32 spaces to 120. In addition, land is available for 50 to 75 more places.

Square footage in the store will reach 11,000, as compared to the present 6,200.

Kroger is investing $170,000 in this new store and Atlas Finance $150,000.

The Tecumseh super will compare with any metropolitan layout, be completely air conditioned, have piped-in music, 80 feet of frozen food cases, 50 feet of self-serve meat counter.

The extra space will allow vast expansion of lines previously not available here.

Dick Myers, present Kroger manager, will be in charge of the new store, which is expected to be in operation about July 1.

The current staff of 23 will be enlarged, Mr. Fuller said.

WHAT'S COOKING IN TECUMSEH

Spaghetti Sauce

By DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

Mrs. Eugene Rebottaro is the lady who really knows the hows and wherefors of making spaghetti sauce. Her recipe is printed below.

Many Tecumseh people have already eaten this delectable sauce at the St. Elizabeth Catholic Church where she prepares it for the annual spaghetti dinners, one of which was held last month.

We don't propose that an amateur can make it to taste the same as she does, but we do believe that a delicious meal may be the result of their attempts.

Her selection and blending of herbs comes from the Old World School of Cookery.

She freshly grates imported cheese which her husband informs us is the secret of good spaghetti. He says, "If you want good spaghetti, you must use good cheese."

The grater has been used in the preparation of this succulent sauce for the past 34 years by Mrs. R.

A good many of the herbs used by Mrs. Rebottaro such as sage and rosemary are raised by her father, Louis Sinelli, who lives in the same Home.

His garden, which is the joy of his life, is a sight to behold all during the summer months. The plants seem to almost burst themselves growing to please and thank him for his tender care.

This garden plot lies near the road on the Rebottaro farm south and east of Tecumseh and many would enjoy seeing this bit of old Italy this summer.

The family came to Tecumseh in 1930 and moved to their present farm home in March of 1939.

Mrs. LaVern Fredrick of Hudson, Louis who owns his own farm near his parents, Mrs. Thomas Rice of Cincinnati, Ohio, Mrs. David Vanderpool of Tecumseh, Tony who is employed by the Tecumseh Products, Annie a student at Adrian College and Charlies, who is a freshman at Tecumseh high school, make up their wonderful family of seven.

Several grandchildren also make the days busy for grandma who frequently baby sits.

☆

onions — 2
shortening — 2 tbsps., 1 salt pork, garlic and parsley, 1 butter cloves, allspice, rosemary, salt and pepper, oregano.
tomatoes — ½ qt.
tomato paste — 1 can cheese — parmesan

Melt shortening, add onions and brown. Add hamburger and brown, add spices, add tomatoes and cook for a little while, then add paste and cook an hour or more.

Mrs. Rebottaro says that she uses a pinch of each spice, but the cook should season to the tastes of her own family. Some people like more of one spice than they do of another.

You Told Us

BY DOROTHY GRIGG
Herald Society Editor

"Oh, Paddy Dear, and did you hear the news that's going around?"

Soon we will see the "wearing of the green" all about town as well as hearing many Irish tunes over the air waves. And after the O'Donnells and the O' Rourkes have had their day then — oh — then will come spring.

In fact the next issue of The Herald precedes the first day of spring by one day.

The tulips are growing and the pussy willows and other spring buds are just waiting to burst out in all their glory. With the first warm day that's what they promise to do. Isn't it wonderful?

The people in new homes whose lawns have not yet taken root are happy about the spring weather too. The mud is simply —muddy.

Hearts in The Herald office quickened Wednesday morning when a subscriber called to find out why her issue had not been delivered. When reminded that she was one day early, she went back to her work in the happy anticipation that her paper would be delivered on time as usual. Such enthusiasm on the part of readers is indeed a moral booster for The Herald staff.

When You Buy . . . Tell them why

Each issue of The Tecumseh Herald carries the advertising of reputable merchants who offer you their best values, services and products. They strive to garner your patronage and "good will."

These merchants know that their Herald advertising pays by measuring the results produced in increased sales. However, one result of their advertising is not subject to definite measurement — the intangible factor of "good will."

A friendly word from you, the reader-buyer, will assure the merchant that his advertising is appreciated and is producing the desired results.

Next time you buy — tell your merchant why — tell him you saw his "ad" in The Herald.

And if your favorite merchant is not a Tecumseh Herald advertiser, why not mention the market possibilities he is missing.

Patronizing Tecumseh Herald advertisers helps keep down the cost of your subscription.

Indian Hoopsters Take District with Brilliant Wins

Tecumseh Indians, upset winners over Monroe CC last Thursday night in their best game of the season, copped the local district tourney championship here Saturday night for the second straight year, turning back the Bedford Mules, 63 to 52.

Saturday's victory was practically taken for granted after the dramatic upset over CC ,twice conquerors of Tecumseh and Southeastern League champs.

In the championship tilt, Tecumseh jumped off to an early lead and was never headed, although the Mules twice tied the count.

☆

THE BIGGEST LEAD the Indians enjoyed occurred in the waning seconds when the Mules tried to press Tecumseh for control of the ball.

Twelve of Tecumseh's 22 points in the final period came from the free throw line where the Indians capitalized on Bedford fouls, resulting from desperation to overcome the Tecumseh lead.

Four Indians broke into the double figure column with Larry Yoakum and John Elliott each netting 14 points.

Four of Sisson's points came in the final period, his second bucket when the Indians lead by only three points.

☆

COACH VIC LAWSON'S crew tumbled Monroe before a capacity crowd, astounded by the scrappy Indians who turned the fray into a route.

The Indians were sky-high for the fray and turned the bi-partisan crowd into a frenzy shortly after the second period started.

The bewildered CC five, unable to stop Duke Elliott's scoring and to feed its top scorer, Harold Goethe, saw a 14 to 14 first quarter tie melt away to a 35 to 24 deficit at the half.

All Tecumseh players starred in victory, either on defense or offense, ball-hawking, breaking through a full-court press which proved only disasterous a month ago, or rebounding.

☆

ELIOTT STRIPPED THE nets for 28 points and was easily the offensive star of the game. Bob O'Neill tallied 17 points.

Monroe's Goethe, held to three points for three quarters, broke loose in the final eight minutes for 19 points and 22 for the evening.

A fourth quarter surge once carried the visitors to within six points, but the Indians then took over in the waning seconds for a 10-point win.

CROWD REACTION — This section of the Tecumseh cheering section emotes with varied reactions to play on the floor against Bedford. The crowd had plenty to cheer about as the Indian five turned in one of its best performances this season.

DISTRICT CHAMPS — Neville Hart, Tecumseh high school principal and district tournament chairman, presented the championship trophy to coach Vic Lawsou momenis after the Indians finished off Bedford Saturday night. And just as quickly, Vic passed it along to his players, who turned in such fine performances in the tourney.

WE WON IT! — As the horn sounded Saturday, bedlam broke loose in Tecumseh high school's gymnasium. The Indians had just stopped Bedford, 63 to 52, and captured the district tournament. Coach Vic Lawson stares blankly, happy it's over. His players go wild and in a few minutes had hoisted him onto their shoulders and carried the coach off the floor.

Reseal Program Announced for 3 Grains

Announcement has been made that a reseal program to permit keeping 1957-crop corn, barley and oats in farm-storage under reseal loans for another year and extending loans for another year on farm-stored 1956-crop corn now under reseal.

The reseal program is similar to those in past years. Under the program, farmers will be able to extend their farm-storage loans on these grains or to convert their purchase agreements on 1957 crops to loans for another year.

Storage payments will be earned by farmers for the period of reseal or extended reseal.

By holding these grains on farms for another year instead of delivering them to the Commodity Credit Corporation at maturity, the amount of storage space needed by CCC at takeover time for 1957 crops should be reduced.

ELIGIBILITY requirements for grains under the reseal program will be the same for quality and storage as under the original loan.

Application should be made at the county ASC office before the loan maturity date. Maturity date for oats and barley is April 30, 1958, for corn July 31, 1958.

Storage payments for the full year's reseal or extended reseal will be 16c per bushel for corn and barley, 12c per bushel for oats.

If the farmer redeems his resealed grain prior to the maturity date, his storage payment will be prorated.

☆

FARMERS WHO have 1956-crop corn under reseal will receive the full storage payment for the 1957-1958 storage period at the time they extend their loans. They will receive another storage payment for the period of added extension.

Storage payments on grains under reseal will provide supplementary income to producers who have storage in excess of their needs this year because of soil bank participation or unfavorable weather.

Reseal provisions will apply both to loans on corn produced in compliance with acreage allotments or produced on noncomplying acreage.

Price Supports Are 70 Percent of Parity Prices

The Department of Agriculture recently announced that price supports for 1958-crop oats, barley, rye, and grain sorghums will be at levels reflecting 70% of February parity prices as announced January 31, 1958.

Supports for the 1957 crops of these four grains were also at 70% of parity.

The national average dollars-and-cents supports for 1958 are:

Oats — 61c per bushel for Grade No. 3.

Barley — 93c per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better (except mixed barley).

Rye — $1.10 per bushel for Grade No. 2 or better, or No. 3 on test weight only.

Grain Sorghums — $1.83 per hundredweight for Grade No. 2 or better (except mixed grain sorghums).

☆

PRICE SUPPORT eligibility requirements and operating provisions will be substantially the same for these four 1958 crops as they were for 1957 crops.

Support will be carried out through Commodity Credit Corporation loans on farm and warehouse stored grains and by purchase agreements.

These will be available through county Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) offices from harvest time through January 31, 1959. Oats barley, and rye loans will mature on April 30, 1959, and grain sorghum loans March 31, 1959.

Beef Cattle Feeders Should Begin Planning

According to Bill Finley, beef specialist at Michigan State University, there are two general ways to handle a feeding operation. The choice will depend on the individual and his set up.

One way is to buy cattle with a definite selling margin in mind. This is when farmers buy at one price with the intention to sell when prices get at least so much higher.

The other general method is to use beef cattle as a way to market home-grown feeds.

☆

WHY START planning now? Finley says the feeder and the fat cattle market tells a farmer when to buy and sell under the margin plan. Also, in order to hit a certain market, cattle may have to be "pushed" to meet the market deadline.

In other cases, the farmer might want to hold the cattle until the next expected upswing in prices.

Different feeds are needed to meet these purposes. And a farmer will want to make sure he'll have on hand at the end of the growing season those feeds that fit the program. This may mean some special planning.

The feeding and marketing program also dictates which grade of feeders to buy. With a grain program, feeding to a higher grade will usually pay off. A roughage program usually calls for a lower grade of feeders.

By knowing the kind of a program a person wants to operate, he can then produce the feed and buy the grade of cattle best suited to that plan, Finley concludes.
